The trolley committee of the Board of Freeholders met at South Amboy yesterday to consider the application of the Jersey Central Traction Company to cross the Cheesequakes bridge. It developed at the hearing that the Jersey Central Company plans to connect Plainfield with the shore, by way of South and Perth Amboy.

This, says the New Brunswick Home News, is significant when taken in connection with the Middlesex and Somerset Traction Company's intention of going over the same route. A right of way is being secured by the latter company and it is believed by some that the two companies are working in harmony. Certainly no evidence of hostility has shown itself as yet between these two companies. It is believed that if one or the other gets the right to cross the Amboy bridge that both will be satisfied.

The Central Company is building a line at present from Keyport to South Amboy, over a private right of way, and has almost completed it. Its route is almost parallel with the Keyport and Amboy road, which is now being macadamized by Middlesex.

This road crosses Cheesequakes creek over the famous Cheesequakes bridge, famous because it requires so much county attention. The trolley company does not want to build its own bridge, and so has asked the county to permit it to run along about 200 feet on the public road and then cross the bridge, after which it will go along the public road another 200 feet, when it will branch out on its private right of way again and go to South Amboy, following the line of the New York and Long Branch Railroad.

The company has already secured the consent of the Monmouth County Freeholders to cross the Matawan bridge.

At the last meeting of the Board of Freeholders the company presented a petition to the board and the matter was referred to the trolley committee to investigate and report back. The committee met at South Amboy yesterday at Freeholder Welsh's hotel. Mr. Welsh is chairman of the committee. The Freeholders then went over the proposed line.

The committee is opposed to granting any franchises unless the company agrees to strengthen the bridge, the present structure not being heavy enough to stand the extra strain of cars running over it.

The fact that the Central Company is backed by Philadelphia capitalists has given rise to an impression among some people that the promoters of the Trenton and New Brunswick "fast line" are behind this road, too. Thomas B. Hall, a Camden lawyer, is president of the Central Company. T. H. Paist is secretary.

The Central Company has an ordinance pending at South Amboy which, if granted, will give it a franchise direct to the Amboy bridge approach.

NEW HEADLIGHTS.

Acetylene Lights to be Used on the Jersey Central—No Danger in Accident or Wreck.

After about six months' trial, the New Jersey Central has adopted the lens mirror acetylene light for all engines, in place of the old-fashioned oil headlight. As rapidly as possible the new light will be applied to all engines. There is never more than a few cubic inches of gas on hand at a time, and in the event of a wreck the little gas flame would be instantly blown out. The generator contains but eight pounds of the large carbide lumps, each weighing a pound or more. These large lumps can be made to give off gas only very slowly, even when water is poured over them, and could not possibly cause or add to a fire.

WANT MEETINGS OPEN TO PUBLIC

A Movement on Foot to End Secret Sessions of Borough Board of Education.

WILL BE BROUGHT UP

Subject Will be Considered at the Borough School Meeting Tuesday Evening—Terms of Four of the Trustees Expire Then—Who Will be Elected?

That there is some dissatisfaction over the methods of conducting the educational matters in the borough schools is now quite apparent, and the annual school meeting to be held Tuesday evening promises to be one of the most interesting in the history of that municipality. As this meeting affords the only time during the year when the taxpayer is allowed to attend a school meeting, the sessions of the Board of Education being private, it is very important that every taxpayer who is interested or who has any complaint should attend and give free expression to his opinion.

No one charges the members of the Board of Education with being dishonest, but there are many citizens who believe that everyone should have full and free knowledge of the business of this educational body. As said, the meetings of the board have always been secret not even reporters being allowed to attend the sessions. At the meeting Tuesday night a resolution will be introduced calling for open public sessions to be held in the Borough Council rooms, instead of in the office at the school or someone's private home.

It is a well-known fact that the present school accommodations are not adequate and no doubt the question of erecting a new school will be discussed. As one taxpayer expresses it, "The parents of some children are tired of having them farmed out in stores, private dwellings, etc., and it is necessary that proper facilities are given."

It is said that, through the failure of the proper official, the assessor was not informed of the amount he was supposed to assess for school purposes in 1901 and that that amount was doubled up last year, making really a double assessment. If the assessor had made the proper assessment in 1901 the tax rate this year would not have been so large.

This year the terms of Henry A. McGee, George D. Hallock, John H. VanWinkle and John Valiant expire, the latter having been chosen to fill the unexpired term of S. St. John McCutchen. It is reported that Mr. McGee will not consent to continue in his position for another term, and it is possible that, unless Mr. McGee consents to run again, Mr. Hallock may also refuse. Mr. VanWinkle and Mr. Valiant, it is believed, will stand for a renomination. Among others who have been mentioned as possible candidates are Samuel Townsend and George H. Fairchild and it would not be surprising if their names should be brought up at the meeting.

There is no desire on the part of the leaders in borough affairs to increase the tax rate, but if another school is needed in the borough they believe that it should be made known. An attempt will be made to carry out this idea at the school meeting.

Another important thing to be considered will be that of having an itemized report of the school money, so that every taxpayer can know exactly how much money has been given to the Board of Education and how much in detail is expended. It is said that the Board of Education expends about $35,000 a year, while the whole borough expense is less than that by $10,000. For this reason it is argued that there is all the more reason why a detailed report should be made.

Operation Successful.

Edwin H. Addis, son of William H. Addis, of 333 East Second street, was operated upon Tuesday for the removal of an abscess on the neck. The operation was performed by Dr. Marcus L. Clawson, assisted by Dr. J. Hervey Buchanan, and the young lad is doing nicely.

Day of Meeting Changed.

At a business meeting of the Christian Endeavor Society, of the East Third street chapel, Thursday evening, it was decided to change the time of holding the weekly meeting from Sunday evening to Thursday evening.

CLASSES PLAY EVEN GAME

Sophomore - Freshman Five Won Second Game by Single Goal—Play Off of a Tie.

Decidedly sensational was the second of the interclass basket ball games played by the boys of the North Plainfield High School yesterday afternoon at Reform Hall. As in the first contest, the sophomore-freshman combination won, but this time, instead of being a one-sided game, it required five minutes extra play in order to decide a tie. The final score was 13 to 11 in favor of the sophomore-freshman team.

There was a surprise in store in the first half. The players of the senior-junior team started off at a pace that took their opponents off their feet. There was a semblance of team work and aggressive guarding combined with more accuracy in goal throwing saw the half end with a score of 7 to 0 in favor of the senior-junior five.

Early in the second half, the senior-junior team was weakened by the retirement of Humble with a sprained ankle while McCullough, who played such a fine game for the lower class contingent the week before, was put at his old place at guard. Then the younger players started a scheme of team work that told. Goal followed goal and the half ended with the score 11 to 11. Play was continued for five minutes when Nischwitz tossed the winning goal

The line up was:

1903-04.		1905-06.
Armstrong	right forward	Nischwitz
Humble.
Powlison	left forward	Mundy
Martin	centre	Webster Ovens,

Score—1905-06, 13; 1903-04, 11. Goals from the field—Armstrong, Humble (2), Martin, Nischwitz (5). Mundy. Goals on fouls—Armstrong (3) Nischwitz. Fouls—1905-6, 6; 1903-04, 4. Referee—Kenneth Robbie. Umpires—A. L. Clark and Ralph Lane.

VILLAGE FILLED.

The Progress of the State Village for Epileptics Depends on the Size of Appropriation.

At the regular meeting of the Board of Managers of the New Jersey State Village for Epileptics, held at the village yesterday, the superintendent, Dr. H. M. Weeks, reported seventy-two patients, male and female, filling the institution to its utmost present capacity. Two cottages are now in course of construction, one for women, one for children, beside two industrial buildings, which latter have long been needed. Many minor improvements are under way and the farm is constantly being developed.

The question of appropriations is now before the Legislature and upon the liberality of these depends the progress of the village, an institution which greatly contributes to the honor of New Jersey.

New Pipe Line.

Six inch pipe for the new line of the Tidewater Oil Company is being distributed through Califon. The work of laying these pipes is made difficult on account of the line running across mountains, many places being hard to reach. The company is putting in a 1,000-horse power engine at the pumping station near Changewater and this has made the additional line of pipe necessary. Formerly the oil was received at the station faster than the pump could push it over the mountain at that point.

Purchased Property.

D. Foster Updike, the real estate agent, has sold the Suydam property on East Front street, where Vail & Gardner's grocery store and Fowler's candy store are located. The purchaser is Wm. S. Fairchild, of East Orange, and it is his intention to put the property in good shape.

All Debts Paid.

All debts of the Eastern Bottling Company, which recently applied for a receiver, have been paid by the Ballentine Company, of Newark. There are now no outstanding obligations although the application will be given a hearing at Newark on March 24.

Orange Trees in Blossom.

Chauncey Colthar, of Duer street, received in the mail yesterday a box of orange blossoms from his old friend, George M. Park, of Emerson, Ga., who is now postmaster at that place. Mr. Park was a former resident of North Plainfield.

DECLARES TAX RATE MUST BE INCREASED

So Says a Man Well Acquainted With City's Affairs—His Reasons Why.

CANNOT PREVENT IT

HE THINKS INCREASE MAY AMOUNT TO TEN POINTS.

Says Raise in Different Departments Cannot be Made Up for by Any Increase in Taxable Valuations—The Situation Today.

"The tax rate in Plainfield is going up." So spoke a man prominent in municipal affairs and well acquainted with the existing conditions. "Mark me," he continued. "The tax rate this fall is going up and there's no use denying the fact. I honestly believe that it will rise at least ten points and it may go higher." For obvious reasons, the speaker required the promise that his name would not be used before he spoke further.

"It's all right," he explained, "for the members of the Common Council to say that there will be no rise in the tax rate. They may believe it but I know better. Have you noticed that the Council has already provided for increases in several of the different departments and others are to come? They say that the property values will increase sufficiently to make the revenue large enough to meet the increase demands. It might if the increase was only a few hundred dollars but Plainfield is not growing fast enough to meet the increase that the Council is preparing to make this year.

"Just look for yourself. The taxable valuations in Plainfield last year amounted to scant $9,000,000. That means that the tax rate is going to increase a point for each $900 additional raised by taxation. The police patrol system is going to raise the rate four or five points of itself, then there are increased salaries and other things, all of which will combine to put the tax rate up at least ten points.

"Don't get the idea, however, that the expenditures are not worthy ones. I do not believe that the present Council has spent a cent that will not make proper return to the city. The fact remains, however, that they are increasing the city's expenses and that the tax rate has got to go up.

"It may be that the people will be wlling to pay the extra amount when they learn that they are getting their money's worth. There has been some objection, that I know of, from certain city officials who have believed that this was not the proper time for starting some of these expenditures on the ground that it was inevitable that the tax rate would go up. But their counsels didn't go for much and the Councilmen went ahead. It's foolish, however, to try to claim that the tax rate is not going up. It's bound to Time will show the truth of that claim."

That is the story told by a man who is thoroughly familiar with the affairs of the 'city. Remarks of a similar nature have been heard before. It has been generally reported, however, that the Council did not intend to raise the tax rate although, as far as is known, no definite statement to that effect has been made.

FREE LECTURE.

To be Given in the Y. M. C. A. Hall by An Interesting Speaker.

Edward W. Hearne, State secretary of the Y. M. C. A., of New Jersey, will give a free lecture on the Philippines at the Y. M. C. A. Hall Monday evening, March 16, at 8 o'clock. Mr. Hearne, who is a pleasing speaker, has already spoken at two local churches and at the Association building. He was formerly a lieutenant of the U. S. Volunteers in the Philippines. Men and women are invited to be present at the lecture which will no doubt be an interesting one.

In January 1900, Mr. Hearne was engaged by the International Committee in charge of the Army and Navy Department for the Philippine Islands. During his second period in the Philippines Mr. Hearne was seized with the fever and was obliged to return to this country for health. He is a man of marked ability and experience and will be sure to interest a large audience.

In Justice Moffett's Court.

Judgment and costs for the complainant was the decision of Justice Moffett in his court, yesterday, on the contract case of Clacey against Noah W. Pike.

ROUSING CLOSE OF HOPE MINSTREL SHOW

Final Performance Last Evening Was Witnessed by a Very Large Crowd.

EVERYTHING PERFECT

HOPE Y. M. A. WILL NET $500 FROM THE THREE PERFORMANCES.

Crowd Well Pleased—Everything Went Without a Single Hitch—Two Changes in the Programme—New Verse to Topical Song.

When the curtain rose last evening at the last performance of the Hope Y. M. A. minstrels, Hope chapel was crowded with people as it has been on each night on which the play was given. When it fell after the final act in which the troubles of "The Night Clerk" were portrayed the large lecture room rang with applause from the thousand people present; crowning the efforts of the members of the Young Men's Association of Hope chapel with approval and commendation. It was one of the greatest amateur productions ever given in this city and its entire success was perhaps never before equalled.

If there is any comparison to be made between the three performances given, it is safe to say that the performance of last evening was even better than those which preceded it. The rough edges had been taken off and those who took part entered into the spirit of the show heartily and with enthusiasm.

There were but two changes in the programme. In the quartette, which comprised the Messrs. Tallamy, Fred Tallamy was confined to his home by illness but the selections were rendered by the other three, Bertram, Louis and William, and were received with hearty applause. In the olio, Joseph Loughead was unable to take part with his banjo selections. These were the only changes.

As on the previous evenings, one of the features in the olio was the illustrated songs given by Elmer Cutting, with William Schorb operating the slides. He was encored twice and gave three selections as follows: "When Kate and I Were Coming Through the Rye," "A Dream of the Golden Past" and "In the City of Sighs and Tears."

The topical song given by Thomas Muir was received with still greater enthusiasm than on the previous evening and the audience refused to be satisfied until eight verses had been sung, the new one being as follows:

"When the baseball league was started, we were in the swim
But things are different now.
We thought we'd have the pennant hanging in the gym.
But things are different now.
We'll ne'er again be caught in such a fix,
This year we'll show the people some new tricks,
The other people won't be one to six,
For things are different now."

Following the close of the show, the members re-assembled in black face for the first part and were photographed by George Fountain and J. Hervey Doane.

The Hope Y. M. A. for which the show was given, will net about $500 from the performances. This excels last year's profits by about $150. The money will be added to the association treasury and will be used for several improvements in the gymnasium, which has now become almost too small for the membership.

Credit for the complete success of the show is largely due to the untiring work of City Judge William N. Runyon, who had general supervision and acted as director and Will Holbert, who served as coach.

Park Sisters to be There.

Le Figaro (Paris) says: "The Misses Park, four talented American girls, made their appearance in Paris after a year's absence and created much enthusiasm." Two of these young women will assist in the musical service at the Y. M. C. A. Hall tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock. Tickets of admission may be obtained free of charge at the drug stores and at the Y. M. C. A. Admission by ticket until 3:55 o'clock.

First Drill.

The City High School battalion held its first drill of the season yesterday morning in the school yard. The time was spent in company drilling under the direction of the various captains. Major VanAuken will assume command of the battalion at the drill next Friday.

LINCOLN SCHOOL BOYS GIVE INDIAN PLAY

Dramatization of Garland's "Sitting Bull's Defiance" Was Cleverly Rendered.

AT THE LINCOLN SCHOOL

WAS DRAMATIZED BY MISS MOREY AND GIVEN BY HER CLASS.

Programme of Exercises Held at School Yesterday Afternoon—The Parents and Friends Were Well Pleased With Entertainment.

One of the most interesting affairs of the season took place at the Lincoln Public School, yesterday afternoon. It consisted of a little Indian play enacted by the pupils of Miss Morey's class, together with songs and recitations. The class had been studying about the Indians and the early settlers.

The story of "Sitting Bull's Defiance" was read to the children which so pleased them that Miss Morey undertook the task of dramatizing it, with the result that they had a very creditable performance, which would have done credit to children of an older growth.

Collis Huntington Case, as Sitting Bull, stepping out of the tepee wrapped in his Indian blanket, would have aroused the enthusiasm of even Col. Cody. For these little Indians were in full war paint, and never did Col. Cody give more attention to details in his arrangement of the wild west show than was displayed in the tepee, the forest, and all trappings, necessary for the portrayal of this realistic scene. Never came out of the west more typical trader in cow-boy costume than Burnett Doane with his daring and courage as he faced the Indians.

James Crudup, as Uncle Sam's emissary acting as commissioner, with tact and policy in obtaining an interview with the Indians, would doubtless have won the approval of President Roosevelt had he been present.

Although these boys did exceedingly well, yet all the performers won deserved applause by entering into the play with enthusiasm and pleasure.

Quite an appreciative audience, consisting of the parents and friends of the children, was present. It is a well-known fact that Miss Morey takes great pride and interest in her pupils, showing a personal interest in each child. She is one of the brightest young women among the public school teachers. Aside from her ability as a teacher she is a fine elocutionist and has shown no mean ability in the literary field.

The following is the programme given yesterday afternoon:

"Our Flag," chorus; "A Mortifying Mistake," recitation by Harriet Cardner; "Sea-Saw," chorus by six little girls forming a human see-saw, Fredrica Connett, Harriet Cardner, Mary Hoffmeister, Beatrice Bedford, Anna Whelan, Bertha Binn; recitation, "Story of Putnam and the Wolf," Beatrice Bedford; "Story of Daniel Boone," Mary Hoffmeister; "There Are Many Flags in Many Lands," chorus; recitation, "Pine Tree Shillings," Rebecca Crudup; recitation, "Lady Yeardley's Guest," Fredrica Connett; recitation; "Hiawatha's Childhood," Collis Case, (in costume); choruses, "Fire-fly Song." "Owlet Song."

Scene from Hiawatha, "Hiawatha," Tommy Griffin; "Iagoo," Willie Conway; "Nokomis," Elizabeth Bowser; "Wabasso," Beatrice Bedford; "Adjidaumo," Bertha Binn; "blue-birds," Sarah Roscoe, Anna Whelan; "robins," Rebecca Crudup, Fredrica Connett.

"Sitting Bull's Defiance," a story written by Hamlin Garland, dramatized by Miss Morey. "Commissioner," James Crudup; "Wolf," Tony Paretti; "Clarke," Burnett Doane; "Gall," Alphonsus Stebor; "Black Moon," Harry Henry; "Sitting Bull," Collis Case.

Act I, A Council of the Commissioner; Act II, A Visit to the Indian's Tent; Act III, Sitting Bull's Defiance.

In Justice Huff's Court.

The contract case of George Baldwin against the Jolly Ten Social Club, of Garwood, will be tried before Justice Huff, Thursday, March 19. Francis J. Blatz represents the plaintiff.

Junior Dance.

The W. G. Holton Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., of Dunellen, is planning to conduct a dance in that town on March 27. The committee is making the necessary plans and Suhr has been secured to provide the music.

YEAR AMONG ENDEAVORERS

ANNUAL MEETING OF THE ENDEAVOR SOCIETY OF FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH.

J. Henry Crane Elected President—The Other Officers—Reports Were Received.

The annual meeting of the Christian Endeavor Society of the First Baptist church was held last evening, when all the reports were presented and officers elected for the coming year. The past year, it was shown, was not as successful as some others, but new life was taken on last evening and the new year opens auspiciously.

The report of the treasurer, Miss Carolyn H. Combs, showed the receipts to be $54.70 and the expenditures $43.66, leaving a balance of $11.04. The missionary fund showed receipts to be $23.77 and expenditures $14.50, with a balance of $9.27. The present membership includes sixty active and three associate. Four new members were added during the year.

The following officers and chairmen of committees were elected:

President, J. Henry Crane; vice president, Herbert DuBois; recording secretary, N. Douglas Drake; treasurer, Miss Carolyn H. Combs; corresponding secretary, Miss Hattie Mattison; junior superintendent, Miss Elizabeth Wilson; chairman lookout committee, Mrs. Hannah Flanders; prayer meeting, Mrs. M. A. Pierce; social, Miss Hattie Mattison; missionary committee, Miss Florence Marsh; flower, Miss Bessie TenEyck; music, Miss Carro Bird; Sunday-school, L. H. Biglow, Jr.; welcome and press, Miss Mabel A. Smith.

TWO SCHOLARSHIPS.

Just Awarded to the City High School by the University of New York.

New York University has recently complimented the Plainfield High School by the unsolicited offer of two prize scholarships at the former institution. One of these scholarships is for $400 and the other is for $100. Both these scholarships will be accepted as tuition and are to be awarded by the principal to any pupil of the graduating class who ranks in the first third of his class in scholarship.

While it is possible for a pupil who stands well in his studies to secure a scholarship at any of the colleges and universities, a further condition usually imposed is that the student and his vouchers certify that the parents are in moderate circumstances. In women's colleges this scholarship aid is usually withheld until the beginning of the sophomore year. The scholarships offered by the New York University, however, are to be given wholly without reference to the financial condition of the recipient, and are based entirely upon proficiency in school work.

KICKED BY HORSE.

James E. Martine Had Head Badly Cut by Hoof of Horse.

A favorite horse, belonging to James E. Martine, came very near ending the career of its owner yesterday afternoon. When in its stall in the barn at Cedar Brook Farm, Mr. Martine attempted to buckle a girth about it. The animal suddenly raised its hoof and struck Mr. Martine right above the left eye. The forehead was badly cut and Mr. Martine was knocked down and stunned. Mr. Martine is able to be about today.

Crescent Avenue's Organist.

Arthur G. Drake, of Bound Brook, has been engaged as organist for the Crescent Avenue church. The new choir will be composed of Miss Rita Faxon, of Chattanooga, Tenn., soprano; Miss Grace J. Carroll, of the borough, contralto; Rhys Thomas, of New York, tenor; Hermann Greinert, of New York, bass. Mr. Thomas will be choir-master.

Boys' Banquet.

The boys' work committee of the Y. M. C. A. met Thursday evening and talked over plans for the banquet which is to be given at the Y. M. C. A., March 24. The boys will read reports at the banquet and an out-of-town entertainer will be present.

Cake Sale.

A cake sale will be held this afternoon at the Grace M. E. church under the auspices of the King's Daughters of that church. Fancy articles and candy will also be on sale and the proceeds will be devoted toward the King's Daughters nurse.

Good Shad Fishing.

Already the shad fishermen along the Delaware river are preparing for the approaching season, which promises to be the best in many years.

SPIRITS FIGURE IN WILL CASE

Remarkable Stories of Seances and Spirit Rappings Told on Witness Stand.

IN OLCOTT WILL CASE

Testimony Taken in the Somerset County Court at Somerville Yesterday—Attempt to Break Will Which Gives Bulk of Fortune to Daughter—The Witnesses.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, March 14 — Probably never before in the history of the ancient Court House here has a more remarkable will case come up than the one that was started yestreday.

Spiritualism in every sense of the word was brought out in the taking of testimony in the case of Frank N. Olcott, who is trying to break his father's will.

When Joseph H. Olcott, of East Millstone, died he left an estate valued at about $30,000 and the bulk of this was willed to his daughter, Mrs. Joseph Korff. There are three sons, Frederick, of Los Anglees, Cal., Frank N., of New York, and Sands O., of East Orange, and they were cut off with a mere pittance so to speak. They allege that their father, and the daughter, their sister, were both believers in spiritualism and that he would not trust anyone to receive or transmit messages to or from the spirit world but his daughter, Josie. Through their mutual belief in spiritualism, the brothers claim, the daughter unduly influenced her father in the making of the will.

An ouija board, mystical slates and other paraphernalia used by the Olcotts in communicating with shades were exhibited in the court room. There was a large number of spectators, many of whom were clergy eager to hear of any new revelations that might be forthcoming from the Olcott's experimenting in thing spiritualistic.

Sands Olcott was probably the most interesting witness. He said that many years ago when he was a young man and first went to his parents' home at East Millstone after coming from the west he was surprised to learn that his father had a sound faith in spiritualism and soon tried to make the young man believe in the same thing. After he had been home several days his father invited him into the library and with his sister, Josephine, acting as medium the ouija board was used. It spelled out the message "Go to see Slade" and was signed Edgar Allen Poe. The address in New York where they were to see Slade was given.

To make his son believe in spiritualism, Joseph Olcott took him to the address named next day and sure enough there was Slade, a noted spiritualist, who had just come from abroad. While there they bought a folding slate and as Slade, the father and Sands had their hands on it they could hear a pencil writing within.

When it was opened what was before a clean slate held a message from the young man's Uncle "Ab," who had been dead for many years and the handwriting was the same as that of the dead uncle.

The witness told of many times when they had communicated with the spiritual world. Josephine always acted as medium and sometimes a few of the Olcott's most intimate friends were invited to the seances. One of those mentioned was Miss Maude Virginia Carter, principal of the Carter Young Ladies' Seminary at East Millstone. When the ouija board was not used the company would sit around the table and wait for raps, hands clasped to hands. The medium Josephine repeated the alphabet and the letters on which the raps were drawn when put together formed the communications from dead relatives and friends of the party. The witness when he called for a message almost constantly received replies signed "Lilith" although he had never know anyone by that name.

Sands related how his father had been troubled with an elemental spirit, and uneducated spirit so to speak, who seemed to suppress the old man's breathing. A noted specialist for $150 drove this "rough diamond," as Counselor Bergen, termed it away. After that his father had been troubled still by spirits who would throw the bed covers off at night, feel of

PROGRESS ON NEW JERSEY

BATTLESHIP NOW UNDER CONSTRUCTION AT FORE RIVER.

Work is Progressing Very Rapidly, and Ship Will be Ready to Launch in the Fall.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Boston, March 14—The battleship New Jersey, and her sister, the Rhode Island, building side by side in the Fore River shipyard at Quincy Point, Boston Harbor, are advancing rapidly toward the completion of their hulls, being now about one-third finished. It is expected that the New Jersey will be ready to launch early in the fall.

The New Jersey is slightly ahead of her twin vessel, if there is any difference between them. The nickel steel armor is being riveted to the slope of the protective deck, outside of which the hull has begun to rise, and the whole midships section is closed in. The upper frames and beams for the gundeck are being set and many of the interior divisions of the ship are already indicated by walls of steel plating.

The tremendous sheets of armor plate that are to make the New Jersey a well-nigh impregnable floating fortress are accumulating in the Fore River yard. In addition to the signal towers and scores of flat and curved sections of the armor belt and redoubts, the communication tubes that will connect the towers with the engine rooms and will contain speaking tubes, electric wires, etc., are already on hand. At present the armor plates, which are very large and heavy, are carried to the yard on lighters, being discharged from the cars in Boston. A branch railroad track connecting Fore River with the New Haven near Braintree is under construction, however, and will be open by the time the bulk of the New Jersey's armor is needed for immediate use by the shipfitters.

WHAT OTHERS SAY.

Clippings From Other Newspapers Which May be of Interest to Plainfield and Its Citizens.

For ten years there was a cry for a reformatory for juvenile criminals and first offenders. The Rahway Reformatory came to satisfy the demand. In the course of four years this institution has become filled with prisoners, and it is a question whether to build an addition to it or construct another reformatory. And while the Legislature is solving the problem the Rahway Reformatory needs a fat appropriation to properly care for its wards.—New York Press.

John Burke, the popular backstop of this city, has signed with Westfield and will fill his old position there this season. Burke has played great ball for the last two years with the Westfield team and is a great favorite with the Westfield followers especially the women. Burke's absence from the Westfield Club would mean a falling off in the attendance of the fair sex, consequently the Westfield manager had an eye to business when he attached Burke's name to a contract for this year, at the close of last season. Burke has kept in training all winter, having been a member of Herman Heyes' gymnasium class, consequently Jack will be in old-time form when the umpire yells play ball at Westfield.—Jersey City Journal.

Mayor Newton B. Smalley, Republican and aggressive annexationist, was on Tuesday reelected mayor of North Plainfield by the greatest majority ever given him. He was supported by many of those who last year voted against annexation, but who have since then changed their minds. A petition signed by 130 of those who voted against annexation last year, has been sent to the Legislature, asking that the bills repealing the annexation and consolidation acts of last year be left on the statute books and not repealed. The sentiment in North Plainfield has very materially changed in the last six months, and is changing still. Annexation and consolidation are in the near future. The repealer bills will not be passed.—Elizabeth Journal.

Plainfield is getting after its Street Railway Company. The latter has not fulfilled a promise to spend $250,000 in improvements. A resolution was introduced in Council meeting to the effect that if the improvement work is not started in sixty days the franchise will be revoked. The resolution being put to a vote, a tie resulted and the matter was turned over to the street committee and will be reported at the March meeting. If what the resolution charges is true, the traction company has acted in complete disregard of its pledges and should have been brought to terms without delay. But a traction company is generally powerful enough in any community to stave off embarrassments like the one proposed in the Plainfield resolution.—New Brunswick Home News.

Senator Cross, of Union county, who is chairman of the joint committee on appropriations, is said to be rapidly winning the reputation of being the "watch dog of the treasury." And it is a good thing to have such a watch dog on guard over our State's opulent accumulations. A watch dog may sometimes bite too deeply into a proposed appropriation, but that is better than to allow the flock of cormorants which is constantly hovering over the tempting flesh pots at Trenton to grab everything they want at their own sweet will. Senator Cross is sometimes even called a crank. But a crank has its uses. The Senator from Union is really one of the best men in the public service if his demeanor toward people seeking appropriations does sometimes fit his name.—Paterson Press.

THE DUKES ACQUIRE FARMS

HOCKENBURY FARM WAS ONE SOLD TO "MYSTERIOUS SYNDICATE."

Brother of the Tobacco King Has Control of Large Tract Near His Brother's Estate.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, March 14—There has recently been recorded in the County Clerk's office at Somerville, the transfer of the farm of Elisha L. Hockenbury, of Branchburg township, to Benjamin N. Duke, for $5,500. This is one of a group of five farms comprising several hundred acres which were purchased about a year ago by agents for Mr. Duke, whose identity at the time was kept a secret.

Lately Mr. Duke's name has been revealed as the "mysterious syndicate" about which there was much speculation at the time overtures were being made for the purchase of the farms. No doubt the name of the real purchaser was kept secret owing to a tendency to jump the price of the property over the real value every time the name of Duke is mentioned as a likely purchaser of a farm. All of the property has been purchased at a nominal figure. It is beautifully situated on the banks of the North Branch river. To what purpose the vast tract will be converted by Benjamin Duke is as yet a matter of conjecture. There is a report that he will at once transform it into a beautiful estate that will rival that of his brother, James B. Duke. This report is offset by a well authenticated statement that no improvements will be made to the property for the present. An effort is now being made to lease several of the farms for a year to their original tenants who were informed at the time of the sale that they would be obliged to vacate next spring. It is said that this change of plans is due to temporary indecision on the part of the Duke family about making the banks of the Raritan their permanent home.

A NEW SANDY HOOK FLYER

THE ASBURY PARK WILL OUTRIVAL ITS SISTER CRAFT.

Jersey Central is Building Another Steamer for the Sandy Hook Service.

When the twin screw propeller Asbury Park slips from her cradle at the shipyards of the Cramps, the latter part of this month, the Central Railroad of New Jersey believes it will have a companion for the steamboats Sandy Hook and Monmouth that can reduce the running time between the city and Atlantic Highlands by ten minutes.

Work on this, the fleetest of neighboring river craft it is hoped, was begun last fall and according to the contract the Asbury Park should be delivered to the railroad company on June 1, so that she will go into commission and be ready for the coming season for the commuters along the New Jersey coast. Of more recent construction than the Sandy Hook and the Monmouth, the Asbury Park will have all of their good features, with the addition of later day improvements.

In length the new steamboat will exceed that of the Monmouth and Sandy Hook by forty feet, the Asbury Park being 307 feet long. Her beam will be fifty feet and her draught eleven feet. The contract calls for a vessel that can make twenty knots or twenty-three miles an hour, and she will be licensed to carry three thousand passengers.

ANOTHER MINSTREL SHOW.

Unity Lodge Will Entertain Its Friends With Professional Talent.

At its twentieth anniversary which will take place the twenty-sixth of this month, Unity Lodge, No. 102, K. of P., intends entertaining its guests with a professional minstrel show furnished by New York talent. It will probably be held in Reform Hall and a banquet will follow. Visiting Knights will attend from Perseverance Lodge, of this city, and organizations in Bound Brook, Somerville and other places.

TEA TABLE TALK.

Short Sketches That Are Not Always News, But Just as Interesting.

At the dance of the Independent Fife and Drum Corps, held in Saengerbund Hall, Friday evening, Suhr's Imperial orchestra made a decided hit with a march entitled, "The Imperial," written by Chris Sorensen, Jr., a recent addition to the musical organization. The march has not yet come from the printers and the musicians played from manuscript. The composition is now being played by the same means by the leading theatre orchestras of New York and it has brought Mr. Sorensen into prominence in the musical world. This is his second attempt at composing, another march having made a distinct hit and is still being sold.

Under the caption "The Newcorn Reforms Commended," the following communication appears in the New Brunswick Home News:

To the Editor of the Home News:

I write to express my approval of the way in which you editorially advocated the Newcorn bill calling for a more stringent supervision of the building and loan associations. A few years ago in New Brunswick certain irregularities were discovered in a local loan which were certainly unfair to all shareholders who were not officers. I mean the practice then in vogue of relieving the officers from borrowing when there was a surplus and putting the burden upon the ordinary shareholders.

We cannot have too many safeguards around our building loans, and I have heard no argument worthy of the name against the Newcorn reform. If officers of our local loans resent the extra work it would be proper for them to resign or to ask increased compensation. Citizen.

An observing citizen who believes in fair play and honest work would advise the town merchants who employ small boys to distribute the notices of their special sales to learn whether the business is conducted on a wholesale or retail basis. When a servant finds twenty-nine duplicate notices under a door mat, as happened yesterday the inference is that the distributor has gone into the wholesale business. Straws indicate which way the wind blows, and when piles of notices are found packed in corners and under door mats, there is a hint of the beginning of the evil that calls for such action, as the street trades bills now before the Legislature of New York and New Jersey. Arthur W. Bishop, president of the New Jersey State Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children, arguing for a child labor bill in New Jersey says: "I find that over 30 per cent. of the street newsboys and bootblacks become inmates of our penal institutions."

The annual construction supplement to "The Railroad Gazette," published this week, will show that there are 2,058 definite pieces of railroad work proposed in the United States, Canada and Mexico, representing, in different stages of advancement, 1,684 companies. Of this number 1,797 are the projects of 1,490 companies within the United States; 197 representing 142 companies in Canada, and sixty-four projects by fifty-two companies in Mexico. The total number of projects under contract or building is this year 25 per cent. more than last year, and larger than has ever before been recorded.

The supplement also contains a list of over two thousand bridges which are to be built on this continent, and for which contracts have not yet been let. It is noted that there are more than seventy bridges proposed, the cost of which will reach over $100,000 each, every one of which appears to have a good prospect of being built. There are about fifteen structures, the cost of which will reach more than $1,000,000 each. Most of these bridges, however, will be found to be structures costing from $20,000 to perhaps $60,000 each.

NEW FERRY BOATS.

Erie Railroad Has Followed Others Example and Ordered New Ones.

The Erie Railroad Company recently awarded the contract for the construction of three new ferryboats to be used in connection with the rapidly-increasing train service. They will be among the finest craft of the kind on the North river. The seating capacity will be 790 on each boat. Seats will be placed crosswise and accommodate three each.

The boats will be of the double-decked type and the contracts calls for their completion within one year. The designer of the boats is J. W. Willard, 32 Broadway, New York. One of the boats is being built at the plant of Messrs Harlan & Hollingsworth, Wilmington, Del.; a second at the Nixon plant, Elizabethport, and the third at the plant of Messrs. Burke, Port Richmond, N. Y.

Amos Gray, of Elmwood place, is recovering from an attack of the grip.

INSTRUCTION IN SUMMER

A SUMMER SCHOOL FOR SUNDAY-SCHOOL TEACHERS.

Preparations Are Now Being Made for Gathering at Asbury Park Next June.

The tenth annual session of the New Jersey Summer School for Teachers (formerly the Summer School of Primary Methods), will meet, as usual, in the Beach Auditorium at Asbury Park, Monday, July 6, and will close on Saturday, July 11, at noon. A course for intermediate teachers (teaching pupils of ages 12 to 16), is offered, in addition to all the work hitherto given for beginners, primary and junior teachers.

Eleven lessons in blackboard sketching will be given by Miss Darnell. Each student will have free use of a lap blackboard for practice. In addition, five lessons in pad sketching will be given, for teachers of small classes who cannot make use of a blackboard. Following are some of the instructors:

Edward P. St. John, of Clark University, extension lecturer for the Bible Normal College, child study; intermediate lesson analysis; Sunday-school graduation.

Rev. William Byron Forbush, Ph. D., Boston, author of "The Boy Problem;" editor of "Men of Tomorrow;" work for boys of all ages.

Rev. Dr. Jesse Lyman Hulburt, Morristown, lessons on the Old Testament; intermediate supplemental work.

Mrs. M. S. Kennedy, Philadelphia, intermediate and junior work.

Miss Florence H. Barnes, Philadelphia, sketching.

Mrs. J. Woodbridge Barnes, Newark, lesson construction.

Miss Louise Westwood, Newark, music.

Rev. E. M. Fergusson, Mrs. Alonzo Pettit, Miss J. L. Baldwin, Miss Paxton, Miss Lawson, Miss Thomas, Mrs. W. L. Smith, Miss Cairns, Mrs. Rogers, Miss Caroline Davis, and many others who have learned how to help their fellow teachers.

The State primary superintendent, Miss Josephine L. Baldwin, 32 Elizabeth avenue, Newark, will mail full programme after April 15 on application.

THEATRICAL.

William A. Brady last week succeeded in getting a New York theatre, the Herald Square, for a time sufficiently long to admit of the run he expects Grace George will enjoy on Broadway in "Pretty Peggy." Bookings in Louisville, St. Louis and other western cities were cancelled immediately, and Miss George will begin her metropolitan engagement on March 23. The original intention was to remain on the road until next September. Miss George's supporting company includes Robert Loraine, Annie Ward Tiffany and Norah Lamison.

Tom Nawn & Co., head the list of fun makers at Keith's Theatre, New York, next week in their laughable comedy sketch "One Touch of Nature." The Three Nevarros," in their startling acrobatic feats, and Troba's juggling, are distinctly out of the ordinary line. Mr. and Mrs. Thorne in refined comedy; Oswald Sisters, neat song and dance specialists; Adair and Dahn, the daring wire walkers; Cooke and Clinton, expert rifle shots; Matthews and Ashley, comedians; Harry Le Clair, in character impersonations; Ramza and Arno, grotesque acrobats, and many others of equal merit, all go to make up an exceptionally strong bill even for Keith's.

TO GIVE ENTERTAINMENT.

Cup-Bearers' Circle Will Give An Affair at the Casino.

The members of the Cup-Bearers' Circle of King's Daughters, of which Mrs. L. H. Biglow, Jr., is the president, are arranging for an entertainment and sale to be held at the Casino, Tuesday afternoon, April 4. The affair will be given for the benefit of the King's Daughters' work in this city and will be quite elaborate.

The members of the Circle are as follows: The Misses Molly Perkins, Dorothy Averil, Aurelie Gaston, Gladys Biglow, Marion Brown, Lucy Budlong, Louise Booth, May Faber, Bessie Flanders, Anna Garrigues, Madeline Reed, Florence Stewart, Gladys Peck, Ray Hooley, Mabel Hooley, Alice Haven, Marion Hall, Antionette Hill, Hope Ivins, Lillian King, Josephine LaTourette, Frederica Mead, Norma Northrop, Louise Saunders, Marion Smith, Helen Stephens, Alice Titus, Kathryn Titus and Ruth VanVliet.

WAGE SCALE HITCH

Soft Coal Miners and Operators Cannot Agree.

TWENTY PER CENT INCREASE RESISTED

Instead of the Amount Demanded the Operators Offer but Ten Per Cent Advance—Eight Hour Day Ridiculed.

ALTOONA, Pa., March 14.—The coal operators and miners of the bituminous district No. 2 are deadlocked on the wage scale. The miners met in convention yesterday and considered amendments to the constitution. An amendment to admit boys under sixteen years of age met with serious objection, but as the national organization permits the admission of boys under sixteen it was decided to allow the amendment to pass. An amendment was carried providing for the payment of dues through the district and subdistrict secretary-treasurers instead of through the locals. The consideration of the constitution was concluded at the afternoon session, the amendments being of minor importance.

The joint scale committee met, with National President Mitchell and National Secretary Wilson in attendance. Both spoke on the demands of the miners, characterizing them as conservative and fair.

For the operators James Kerr and Colonel J. L. Spangler did the principal talking. The operators are resisting the 20 per cent increase demanded by the miners and instead offer a 10 per cent increase. The operators also strenuously object to the 10 per cent differential and the eight hour day. No progress toward the adjustment of these disputed points was made at the morning session.

The joint scale committee after a fruitless effort to come to an agreement referred the whole matter back to the joint conference of miners and operators. At this conference National President Mitchell, National Secretary Wilson, Executive Board Member Bernard Rice, National Organizer Edward McKay, President Gilday and others spoke in behalf of the miners.

Mr. Mitchell said the miners made a mistake in not asking for a 50 per cent increase, for if they had done so the operators would willingly have given them a 25 per cent increase.

Colonel Spangler ridiculed the demand for an eight hour day. He said it was a surprising innovation not demanded by conditions existing in the district.

After a two hours' discussion the joint conference referred the scale back to the joint scale committee, which is wrestling with the subject behind closed doors.

Hagaman's Body Exhumed.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., March 14.—The body of Theodore Hagaman, who died under peculiar circumstances at the Waldorf-Astoria hotel, New York city, two years ago, has been disinterred and the vital organs removed for chemical examination to ascertain if possible whether his death resulted from the causes set forth in the death certificate. There is a suspicion that he may have been poisoned. His brother Isaac alleges that none of the members of his family was admitted to the sickroom while he was ill. His death involves "Dr." R. C. Flower, who induced Mrs. Hagaman, now Mrs. Delabarre, to invest $350,000 in the mining enterprise on account of which Flower was arrested. "Dr." Flower was his physician.

Rutgers Won Debate With Union.

SCHENECTADY, N. Y., March 14.—The second annual debate between Rutgers and Union colleges was held in this city last night and was won by the former. The subject was: "Resolved, That it is for the public interest that every man should be able to do any lawful work at any rate of wages which may be agreed upon between himself and his employer." Rutgers took the affirmative and Union the negative.

Good Reports From Day's Bedside.

WASHINGTON, March 14.—The reports from the bedside of Justice Day of the supreme court, who has an attack of pneumonia, are encouraging, and the family are hopeful that despite his frail health he will recover. His physician is endeavoring to confine the limit of infection to the locality where it now exists, and the fact that no unfavorable symptoms have developed is considered encouraging.

ITHACA, N. Y., March 14.—Professor Charles DeGarmo, head of the department of pedagogy at Cornell university, has left Ithaca for Porto Rico. He will deliver a series of lectures on education throughout the island by invitation of Professor Lindsay, commissioner of education there.

New Independent Tobacco Factory.

DETROIT, Mich., March 14.—The Free Press says that a new independent tobacco factory, with a capital of $5,000,000, furnished by eastern capitalists, is to be built in Detroit and that John A. Gerow, formerly with Daniel S. Cotton & Co., is to be its manager.

SENT TO HONDURAS

Admiral Coghlan's Squadron Receives Sailing Orders.

REVOLUTION BECOMES SERIOUS.

Protection of American Interests Rendered Action by Navy Department Necessary—Olympia and Four Other Vessels In Fleet.

WASHINGTON, March 14.—The Caribbean squadron, under command of Admiral Coghlan, has been ordered to Honduras, where the revolution is assuming serious proportions, to protect American interests. Late yesterday afternoon Acting Secretary of the Navy Darling sent the following cable instructions to Admiral Coghlan at San Juan:

"Proceed with squadron—Olympia, Panther, Marietta, Vixen and Brutus, collier, protection American interests

ADMIRAL COGHLAN.

Puerto Cortez and Ceiba, Honduras. Communicate with minister. Authorized to leave Vixen, tender, under commandant at San Juan."

The navy department decided to send Admiral Coghlan to Honduras on the theory that a flag officer present on the scene would be in a position to take such steps as may be necessary for the protection of American interests without constant reference to the department here. The presence of a squadron instead of a single ship, it was thought, also would have a salutary effect.

Minneapolis Gets the Statue.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., March 14.—Nine prominent citizens of Minneapolis have purchased the fine allegorical statue of the Mississippi now being finished in Carrara marble by Parker G. Head, the American sculptor, at Florence, Italy. The statue originally was ordered eighteen years ago and was intended as a private gift to New Orleans, but financial reverses prevented carrying out the project. St. Louis has endeavored to secure the statue for the exposition and St. Paul for the new capitol, but the Minneapolis men secured it and will present it to the city. It is planned to remove the old city hall, park the area and put the statue in the center. It is made from a single block of marble, weighs nineteen tons and is nineteen feet long. Professor Head has been at work on it for seventeen years.

Porto Rican Legislature Deadlocked.

SAN JUAN, Porto Rico, March 14.—At 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon the legislature was in session notwithstanding the fact that the law provides that it expired Thursday. There was a deadlock all night on the appropriation bill, the house desiring to cut out about $100,000, mostly salaries. An agreement was reached in the morning on a compromise so as to enable the house to adjourn as soon as possible. The $5,000,000 loan bill failed to pass the council by five to six votes. All the Americans opposed it, and the natives favored the measure. The house unanimously passed the memorial to congress asking that Porto Rico be made a territory, but it failed in the council by three to eight votes after a warm debate.

Many Lives Lost In Mine Explosion.

CHICAGO, March 14.—A special to the Journal from Springfield, Ill., says: "Fifteen men may have lost their lives in an explosion in a mine at Cardiff, Livingston county. In a telegram received by Secretary Ryan of the United Mine Workers' union three bodies are reported as being recovered so far. There is little hope for the other twelve men who were working in the mine unless they can make their way to the surface."

Four Miners Drowned.

DETROIT, Mich., March 14.—A special to the Free Press from Iron Mountain, Mich., says: "Four men are known to have lost their lives and four others are missing as the result of one of the worst fatalities of recent years in the mining region. The men were drowned by a rush of water which flooded the level in which they were working.

Governor Murphy Signs Bills.

TRENTON, N. J., March 14.—Governor Murphy has signed a number of bills, among which was the bill increasing the salary of the banking and insurance commissioner from $4,000 to $6,000 a year, and the bill authorizing the changing of the county seat of Atlantic county from Mays Landing to Pleasantville.

Successful Safe Blowing.

ATLANTA, Ga., March 14.—Safe blowers cracked the safe of the local office of the Standard Oil company here and secured $500 in cash and $2,000 in checks. Nitroglycerin was used. There is no clew to the robbers.

THE COUNTY JAIL.

It has long been a subject of pride that Union county possessed one of the best county jails in the State. Not only was it kept in the best of condition and the prisoners particularly well cared for, but it was managed economically, much more so than many jails through the State that were by no means its equal.

Now the controlling power has changed from the Board of Freeholders to the Sheriff. This is according to law or else the Union county board would have never relinquished its control without a contest. It admitted the validity of Sheriff Coriell's claim and he is now in possession. It looks, however, as if he was going to continue it on the same lines as before, retaining for the present at least Warden Dodd, who has been a very efficient officer.

The subject which is now troubling both the Sheriff and the Freeholders is the question of compensation. The county will have to allow Sheriff Coriell a certain amount per prisoner per day. Just at present, the Sheriff believes he should get more than the Freeholders are willing to give him. He is in possession, however, and that may make some difference in settling the dispute. The Freeholders have the advantage, however, of holding the purse-strings.

A MOSES NEEDED.

If we are to believe all we hear it really looks as if Somerset county was going into the Democratic column for good. The Unionist-Gazette comes out and, evidently speaking for the Thompsonite Republicans, openly threatens to throw Somerset county Democratic if the Legislature does not run North Plainfield's affairs to suit the county seat. This threat loses somewhat of its force, however, when one hears that the Republican leader at Somerville has just failed to lead and that his candidates in his own bailiwick have been defeated.

Last November's election gave practical illustration of how the people of North Plainfield feel at outside interference. That movement, instead of dying, is growing stronger every day. With North Plainfield to assert its rights on one side and Somerville to attempt to control North Plainfield's future on the other, it is difficult to see how Somerset can keep out of the clutches of the Democrats for sometime to come.

It may be, however, if Leader Thompson hies himself over to the Democratic fold that a Moses may appear in the G. O. P. and lead his party back to the promised land and victory. Just at present the name of Thompson doesn't carry the weight in G. O. P. circles that it did once.

Here comes a proposition to compel telephone, telegraph and electric light companies in cities of over 15,000 inhabitants to put all their wires underground. A bill to that effect has been introduced into the Legislature. It is not likely to pass, however. Wires are going underground all over the State and, in most cases, without compulsion. A few ice storms like that of a year ago have proved so expensive to corporations having wires above ground that they are only too anxious to put the wires where the elements cannot get at them even if there is considerable expense occasioned.

It will not be very long before the police patrol signal system will be installed. Then it will be necessary to get a horse and patrol wagon for they are part of the system. Permanent quarters for the police department, as recommended by Mayor Jenkins in his message, will then be secured. As it is intended to pay for such an establishment with a bond issue, the cost to the city will not, it is said, be increased as the funds now going for rent will then be devoted to paying interest and starting a sinking fund.

An attempt was made to wreck a train on the Lehigh Valley Railroad near South Bethlehem a few days ago. The engineer observed the automatic signal and stopped in time. He wasn't notified in advance that there was likely to be such an attempt. He simply watched the signals and stopped when they were against him although it wasn't according to schedule. If we only knew when wrecks were likely to occur and could be warned in advance of them, how much suffering could be averted.

Where most cities are content to boast of even one crack whist team, Plainfield has shown that it possesses two which are to be ranked among the best in the State. The Park Club veterans had no idea of reentering the whistic arena but fate was against them and now they are there, they are too good sportsmen to withdraw without a fight.

It is noticeable that the newspapers throughout the State are beginning to see the justice of North Plainfield's request that the "repealer" be killed and the annexation and consolidation acts left on the statute books. Truth will come to the fore eventually.

TO NATIONAL CAPITAL.

Boys' Secretary Robbie Plans to Take Boys to Washington, D. C.

An excursion is being planned by Secretary Kenneth Robbie, of the boys' department of the Y. M. C. A., to take a party of members of his department to Washington, D. C., early next month to spend three days there. Among those who will go are: Martin Stutsman, Irving Buckle, O. F. Mueck, Rex. Shoemaker, John Scofield, George Rittenhouse and several others. The trip will embrace three days and the start will be made April 13. An enjoyable time is anticipated.

Broken Ground for Factory.

Ground was broken yesterday at Dewey Park for the erection of the new plant for the Aluminum Press and Plate Company. F. J. Hubbard is the engineer in charge and C. M. Meeker the contractor. A gang of thirty men is now employed in excavating the cellar. The work will be pushed as rapidly as possible.

Unity's Big Time.

It has not yet been definitely decided as to the place of celebrating the anniversary of Unity Lodge No. 102, K. of P. At the meeting Thursday evening the committee reported progress. The celebration will be held Thursday evening, March 26, and professional talent will entertain.

Crosswalk Relaid.

Under the direction of Street Commissioner Gavett, the crosswalk at the corner of Park and North avenues has been relaid. Similar work is being done at Fourth street and Park avenue.

ONE EXTRA NIGHT.

Friday Night Club Will Entertain With a Vaudeville Performance.

Bowling was one of the principal features at the meeting of the Friday Night Club, held last night at the Casino. The attendance was large.

Miss Capron won the silver vase as the winner of the bowling tournament.

Next week will be the last of the regular sessions of the club. The committee of arrangements has arranged to hold an extra meeting on March 27, when there will be a vaudeville performance for the members.

Badly Scalded.

Mrs. Richard Perrine, a sister of Roundsman Wm. Mattox, was severely scalded this morning at her home at 15 Harmony street. She was in the act of lifting a wash boiler from the stove when the handle pulled out and she was covered with scalding water. Her hands and limbs were almost parboiled. Dr. Hughes was called in and dressed the woman's wounds.

Canoeing Club Planned.

Arrangements are being made to organize a canoeing club among the members of the boys' department of the Y. M. C. A. It is planned, if such a club is organized, to take part in the canoe races at New Market this summer and several excursions will be made up some of the rivers and creeks in the neighborhood, camping out en route.

COLUMN FOR THE SHOPPERS

SOME OF ATTRACTIONS TO BE FOUND AT LOCAL STORES.

A Few Interesting Items Concerning Greater Plainfield's Merchants

Spinach, kale and oranges, both California and Florida, are among the offerings announced by F. H. Firstbrook, at his Liberty street store for the coming week.

The Frucht Cycle and Export Company, 218-220 Park avenue, quote some prices in their ad on the eighth page of this issue which will interest you, if you intend to purchase a new wheel or supplies.

T. L. Walsh, of North avenue, is making a specialty of fresh vegetables and foreign and domestic fruits. No where in the city can be found a better display or lower prices. Walsh delivers all goods.

Oysters R still in season. And they are in Plainfield too, beauties, at Rogers & Company's market. Speaking of seafood, Rogers has a stock that's replenished every day. Early morning deliveries.

If you are interested in pianos it will pay you to inspect the various makes at G. H. Kenyon's piano store on West Front street. Workmanship, quality and finish are the best, while they can be purchased on easy terms.

Summer dresses are not complete unless they are properly trimmed with lace and embroidery, and to be strictly in fashion these adornments should come from Peck's store. His stock is of a superior character, as everyone knows.

The extract of malt which E. S. F. Randolph has carried and recommended for the past five years, has proven the most satisfactory spring medicine. Just a few days ago a fresh assignment arrived and he will now be able to supply all demands for this popular remedy.

John P. Powers, proprietor of the Somerset Pharmacy, says: "After the severe winter just passed, the majority of people are in need of a good tonic to tone up the system. Powers' sarsaparilla is one of the best spring tonics to be had. It can be obtained at the Somerset Pharmacy."

The warmth of the air and the early piping of birds suggests spring and Mother Earth's coming attractiveness. Plainfield always presents a pretty appearance in this season, owing to its many well kept residential grounds. Why not put yours in condition. The Belleview nursery will furnish plants, shrubbery and suggestions.

Woodhull & Martin's big store is headquarters for housefurnishing goods and now is the time to select these goods from the large stock on hand. Mr. Vanderhoef, manager of this department, is proud of the showing he is making and he invites everybody interested to inspect the goods. In the carpet department Mr. Johnston is showing an assortment of carpets hard to equal. The designs and quality, as well as the price are such as to appeal to intending buyers.

—Upright piano for sale, actor going abroad must dispose of a nearly new magnificent case and rich tone piano at a reasonable offer. Piano now in storage. The instrument is the best that money can buy and is fully warranted by the manufacturers. Write at once for particulars to P. O. Box 716, Plainfield, N. J.

Miss Fanny C. Hammerstein, formerly of this city but now of Newark, visited Miss Schneider, of Somerset street, yesterday afternoon.

It is Easy to Say

"Be careful," but we must all go from heated houses into chill outer air, and the change sets us coughing and wheezing. Avoiding winter colds is difficult; curing them is not hard if you take Allen's Lung Balsam. Better begin when the cold is young and not wait until it settles deep into the lungs, for then, even with Allen's Lung Balsam, complete relief will be slower.

NO AUTUMN SESSION

Senators Think the President Will Not Call Congress.

HE IS ANXIOUS FOR CUBAN TREATY

Would Have It Ratified and Made Effective at Once and Has Even Considered Advisability of a Spring Sitting.

WASHINGTON, March 14.—Senators who have talked with the president believe it to be unlikely that an extraordinary session will be called next autumn. They say many reasons might be cited why such a session should not be held, the principal one being that some important state elections are to be held in November, and members of congress will be busy with political affairs in their own states.

They point out that on the eve of a presidential campaign it is highly important that every effort be made, especially in doubtful states, to maintain the strength of party organizations. In such circumstances, it is said, it would be possible only with difficulty to maintain a quorum of either branch of congress at an extraordinary session. If this session were not called until November, they say, it would be so close to the regular session as practically to render it unnecessary.

When President Roosevelt was informed that it was the intention of the senate so to amend the Cuban reciprocity treaty as to render action upon it by the house of representatives necessary to make it effective, he said to some members of the senate that he would hold himself free to call an extraordinary session of congress in order to secure action upon it. No definite time was mentioned by the president for the meeting of the extraordinary session.

The president is much in earnest in his desire to have the Cuban treaty ratified and made effective. It can be said that so strong is this desire he even has considered the advisability of calling congress into extraordinary session this spring if the senate should permit the Cuban treaty to fail through lack of a quorum. That, however, is a contingency which he considers improbable.

The Republican steering committee of the senate has considered the general condition of business in the senate. The opinion is expressed that it will be possible to fix the day for the final close of the session not later than next Friday or Saturday. No resolutions to that effect, however, will be introduced until an effort shall have been made to name a day for voting on the Cuban reciprocity treaty.

It has been arranged that Senator Spooner shall make the last speech in the Panama canal debate.

The Democratic senators will caucus to decide on a course to be pursued in the senate with reference to amendments to the pending treaties.

Charged With Poisoning Husband.

PHILADELPHIA, March 14.—Charged with having poisoned her husband, William G. Danze, who died eighteen months ago, Mrs. Catherine Danze of 2525 North Fourth street has been committed to prison without bail, and George Hoossey, a negro "herb doctor" and fortune teller, who, it is charged, sold poison to the woman, was also held without bail as an accessory to the alleged crime. The woman has been under arrest several days, but, pending a further investigation, she was not arraigned until yesterday afternoon. The principal witness against her was a private detective who was detailed to look into the manner of the husband's death.

Central Pacific Gets an Injunction.

CINCINNATI, O., March 14.—In the contest between the Keene and the Harriman interests in the Union, the Central and the Southern Pacific Railway companies the former has secured a temporary restraining order and notice was served on the latter that at Nashville on April 1 there would be a hearing of cause why an injunction shall not be issued as prayed for. As the date for the annual meeting of the stockholders of the Southern Pacific is April 8 it was desired to have the petition heard before the next election of directors.

Hardships For Snowbound Travelers

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., March 14.—Two women passengers on one of the trains snowbound in the interior of the island have just reached this city after a month's detention. They were imprisoned in the cars in the snowdrifts until the blizzard ceased and then were transported across forty-five miles of snowy wastes on dog sleds until they reached the railroad line. They were four days on the railway making the journey here. An American engineer named Courtney and his wife also traveled seventy miles by similar conveyance to reach the railway.

Indictments In Grave Robbing Case.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., March 14.—The grand jury has returned new indictments against Dr. Joseph Alexander of the Central College of Physicians and Surgeons and Rufus Cantrell, the alleged ghoul. Dr. Alexander will be tried under the new indictment, despite the fact that there is now pending in the criminal court a case against him in which a jury failed to agree.

Toledo Teamsters Threaten to Strike

TOLEDO, O., March 14.—Officers of the Teamsters' union have announced that unless a settlement is effected with the Toledo Cartage association a sympathetic strike will be called and every teamster in the city called out. Members of the union in other cities will be requested to refrain from handling freight sent out of Toledo.

KODOL

Digests What You Eat.

Weak Hearts

Are due to indigestion. Ninety-nine of every one hundred people who have heart trouble can remember when it was simple indigestion. It is a scientific fact that all cases of heart disease, not organic, are not only traceable to, but are the direct result of indigestion. All food taken into the stomach which fails of perfect digestion ferments and swells the stomach, puffing it up against the heart. This interferes with the action of the heart, and in the course of time that delicate but vital organ becomes diseased.

Kodol

Digests What You Eat

Mrs. Loring Nichols of Penn Yan, N. Y., writes: After eating, my food would distress me by making my heart palpitate and I would become very weak. Finally I got a bottle of Kodol and it gave me immediate relief. After using a few bottles I am cured.

Kodol cures indigestion, dyspepsia and all stomach disorders, and gives the heart a full, free and untrammeled action.

THE WORLD AGAINST HIM

BY WILL N. HARBEN.

It is a copyrighted story, published in this paper by special arrangement, and we congratulate our readers upon being able to offer it to them. It is a story of life in our Southern States, and is well written and thoroughly interesting.

WILL APPEAR SOON IN THIS PAPER.

Men Teachers Scarce.

The number of men employed as teachers in the public schools of this country is slowly but steadily decreasing. According to William T. Harris, United States commissioner of education, the percentage of male teachers in the public schools in 1870 was 41 per cent. In 1900 the percentage was only 29. The reasons for this decrease are easily found. The work does not offer as great inducements to men as it once did. Teachers in secondary schools are now required to be specialists, and the salaries are not enough to attract men to make a life career in this field. Women in increasing numbers have gradually taken their places. In point of training they are as well fitted for the work, and in point of temperament better adapted to handle children.

Slaughter of Birds.

Forty thousand birds, mostly sandpipers, are reported to have been killed recently on the North Carolina coast for millinery purposes.

FASHION NOTES.

Loose Coats—Silk Fringe For Trimming—Pale Shades.

Tucked silk and chiffon with stitchery between corded lines and spaced tucks are all used for tea or coffee coats with chiffon frills or flounces of lace.

White and cream tones, together with all the pale shades, are the rage for southern wear.

As the days become warmer we shall see a great deal of alpaca and serge.

GOWN OF WHITE AND SILVER.

These will be a change after the sibelines and faced goods which have been worn so much during the winter.

Silken fringe is one of the favorite trimmings, and lace of the fine as well as the coarse make is greatly used, black chantilly being particularly chic.

In cloth most of the coats are of the loose Chinese order. These are trimmed with fur, lace or embroidery. The same style of coat is very effective in Irish lace and is very often lined with cloth or for evening wear with satin and chiffon.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

FOR DRESSY WEAR.

Evening Trimmings—Net Gowns. Contrasts In Color.

Single artificial flowers are used to border flounces or outline the decolletage, and chiffon roses or lisse poppies made by the dressmaker are appliqued on to lisse and satin gowns.

The fine gossamer net generally known as tulle is less fragile than it appears and acquires a cloudy appearance when mounted on one or two layers of chiffon over a foundation of satin. Contrasts in color are much affected, and dark velvet pansies are set on a pale pink or blue gown or clusters of purple lilac or iris on a pale green.

The little sack boleros of lace or net, which are known as coffee coats, are extremely dainty and pretty for evening wear and are invariably made transparent to admit of variation when worn with different blouses.

The picture shows a very smart black spangled gown.

ONLY A SORE TOOTH.

Missionary Came Four Thousand Miles to Have It Pulled.

NEW YORK, March 14.—The Rev. William W. Waddell, a missionary sent out by the Presbyterian board, has just ended a 4,000 mile trip from Bahia, Brazil, to this city in order to have a tooth drawn, though much more serious consequences seemed to confront him. Two eminent Brazilian physicians told the clergyman that what he supposed was an ulcerated tooth was well defined epithelioma, or cancer, and advised him to take the next steamship for this city, where he could be treated in a hospital.

It happened that there was a steamship in port that day, and another was not expected for two weeks. Mr. Waddell's wife urged him to start at once, and he hurriedly went aboard. It took eighteen days to reach this port. Mr. Waddell arrived and went at once to the Presbyterian hospital.

"I think you need a dentist," said Dr. Ellsworth Elliot, Jr., after a microscopical examination. "You have an ulcerated tooth." Dr. Eliot recommended a dentist, who drew the tooth, and Mr. Waddell said that he was better.

Mr. Waddell has been stationed in Brazil for several years.

M'CORMICK'S RECEPTION.

American Ambassador Entertains High Society at St. Petersburg.

ST. PETERSBURG, March 14.—United States Ambassador McCormick last night gave a formal reception to the diplomatic corps and Russian official society. The office of imperial ceremonies, according to custom, drew up the list of guests. Ambassadors are never allowed to suggest changes in this list or invite any one except members of their families and the staffs of their embassies. The list last night consisted of 1,800 men and 700 women, and upon all those able to attend the reception Ambassador and Mrs. McCormick must make a personal call. Such receptions are never attended by members of the imperial family.

To comply with the requirements of this formal initiation the ambassador's house must always be large enough to accommodate 1,000 guests, without counting 200 footmen, for whom refreshments and places to sit down must be provided. This scale of magnificence only applies to ambassadors. No entertaining is required from ministers.

Last night's reception commenced at 10 o'clock and lasted until past midnight.

Secretary Shaw Goes South.

WASHINGTON, March 14.—Secretary Shaw has left here for Beaumont, Tex., to look after his rice property interests and while south will examine the subtreasury, custom house and mint at New Orleans and also will inspect proposed sites for the new public building in that city. He expects also to visit Atlanta, Ga., on the same mission. He will be gone about ten days. The trip is purely one of business, although his wife and daughter will accompany him at least as far as New Orleans. Before leaving he authorized a denial of all rumors of his intention to purchase bonds or to increase deposits with national banks.

Venezuelan Rebels Again Defeated.

CORO, Venezuela, March 14.—The revolutionary forces under General Riera and General Juan Penaloza, numbering about 1,250 men, which during the course of the Anglo-German blockade were reorganized in the neighborhood of this city, were attacked last Monday by the government troops under General Castillo at Cumarebo, 180 miles northwest of Caracas, and after a fight lasting three days were defeated and their intrenched and fortified position captured. General Riera fled in the direction of Piritu, a port in the Bermudez province.

Another Typhoid Victim.

ITHACA, N. Y., March 14.—Mrs. H. G. Smith of University avenue is dead of typhoid fever. Drilling has been started on two more artesian wells in the valley to the southeast of the city at the instance of Ithaca's committee of one hundred. These wells are being drilled to determine whether or not a sufficient supply of artesian water is available. A plan for burning all the garbage of the city, which Dr. Soper has had under consideration for some time, is announced, and an incineration plant will be located at the base of West hill.

Five Hurt In Wreck.

FORT DODGE, Ia., March 14.—In the wreck of the Chicago limited, westbound, on the Illinois Central railway at Pomeroy five passengers were injured. The chair car and one sleeper left the track, the former being overturned. The train was running at high speed when the accident occurred. The cause of the wreck is unknown.

Boy Took His Life.

COOPERSTOWN, N. Y., March 14.—Homer Walrath, the seventeen-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Walrath of East Springfield, near here, committed suicide by shooting himself twice in the stomach with a rifle. Young Walrath imagined his sweetheart had jilted him, and he became despondent. He died almost instantly.

Local Option For Delaware Defeated

DOVER, Del., March 14.—By a vote of 15 nays to 14 yeas, with three declining to vote and three absent, the Delaware house of representatives defeated a local option bill for the state. In view of the uncertain character of the vote an attempt at reconsideration may be made.

Rifles Seized at Hongkong.

HONGKONG, March 14.—Five thousand rifles ready for conveyance into the interior have been seized here.

SPORTING JOTTINGS.

Progress on the Shamrock—Walthour Retains Championship.

GLASGOW, March 14.—The spars for the Shamrock III. are finished and ready for stepping after the launch of the challenger for the America's cup. In designing the sail plan William Fife was influenced by the difficulty experienced in keeping the long gaff and boom of the Shamrock I. to stay aboard and work satisfactorily in a breeze, and he abandoned altogether the long, low sail plans which were characteristic of his boats. The challenger's sail plan is of the Columbia type. It is high and narrow and has a striking development designed to give extra sail area without extra rating measurement.

Munroe Too Much For Jenkins.

NEW YORK, March 14.—"Jack" Munroe, the miner pugilist of Butte, Mont., at Madison Square Garden won a handicap catch as catch can wrestling match from "Tom" Jenkins of Cleveland. The conditions governing the match were that Jenkins must throw Munroe four times in one hour. He succeeded in downing the miner but three times. Munroe proved to be clever in defensive work, but knew little of the art of attack. The advantage Munroe had of height and reach also stood him in good stead. Jenkins secured his first fall in 19m. 51s., the second in 20m. 3s. and the third in 17m. 1s.

Yale Ratifies Athletic Agreement.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., March 14.—There was a very small attendance at the Yale university mass meeting called for the purpose of ratifying the athletic agreement drawn up by the committees representing Yale and Harvard. After the agreement had been read a vote was taken, and there was not a dissenting voice. The agreement, therefore, so far as Yale is concerned, will stand.

Baltimore Baseball Club.

BALTIMORE, March 14.—The organization of the Baltimore Baseball company has been completed by the election of officers for one year in the office of Martin Lehmeyer, attorney for the company. The capital stock of $20,000 was paid. Baltimore will be represented next year by an Eastern league team, the franchise of the Montreal club having been purchased some weeks ago.

A New England Trotting Circuit.

WORCESTER, Mass., March 14.—A New England half mile track circuit for trotting races in 1903 has been organized here, with Nashua, Providence, Woonsocket, Holyoke and Worcester as members. Richard J. Healey of Worcester was elected president and R. P. Donoghue of Holyoke secretary. A schedule of trotting meets was adopted.

"Farmer" Burns Won at Wrestling.

BALTIMORE, March 14.—"Farmer" Burns of Iowa had no trouble in disposing of Adolph Miller (Russian giant) of New York in a finish wrestling bout here last night. Burns gained the first fall in eight and the second in nine minutes. In the preliminaries Joe Grant of Washington threw three local lights in short order.

Two Favorites Beaten.

NEW ORLEANS, March 14.—Safe Guard and Denny Duffy were the only beaten favorites. Jena and Honey Brook were sold at private sale to M. Goldblatt. E. Wight bought Emshee at a reported price of $4,000 and Fickle Saint at private sale. Weather clear, track heavy.

Raced In the Rain.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 14.—Rain fell on the Oakland course, and the races were run on a very sloppy track. Long shots were again in front. Pupil won the first race at odds of 15 to 1. In the last event Davids, the favorite, bolted at the start and was left.

Walthour Retains Championship.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., March 14.—In the race here for the middle and long distance championship of the world between Bobby Walthour, holder of the record, and Harry Caldwell, the Manchester giant, the race was awarded to Walthour.

English Team's Challenge Accepted.

NEW YORK, March 14.—At the meeting of the executive committee of the United States Lawn Tennis association it was voted that the challenge of the English Lawn Tennis association for an international match be accepted.

Ward Gets Decision at Detroit.

DETROIT, Mich., March 14.—Mike Ward, the lightweight champion of Canada, was given the decision over Henry Fagin of Chicago at the end of the tenth round at Light Guard armory.

One of Lincoln's Officials Dead.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., March 14.—Robert G. Hedrick, commissioner of Indian affairs under President Lincoln and brother-in-law of Caleb S. Smith, Lincoln's secretary of the interior, has just been buried here. He died in poverty. He was born in Baltimore in 1821.

CONDENSED DISPATCHES.

The work of recoining Hawaiian money was begun in San Francisco.

Whitecaps terrorize parts of Arkansas. Eleven arrests have been made at Wynne.

Negro laborers in Florida turpentine camps had a general battle. Eight reported killed.

Mexican bandits held up a stage in Sonora and killed the six passengers and the driver.

August Krauss, the Bellefontaine (Mo.) farmer who killed his wife and six children, died.

Consul Sawter, who refused to take post at Guayaquil because of yellow fever there, arrived in New York.

Do You Wish To Borrow Money?
New Jersey Central.

In order to accommodate all classes of borrowers (those who cannot borrow at a bank, as well as those who can), the Mutual Loan and Investment Company, of 118 Market street, Newark, N. J., has a department for handling quickly and confidentially loans ranging from $50 to $500 on furniture, pianos, storage receipts, etc.

The security is not removed from your possession or in any way disturbed. The honest, careful and conservative borrower will try and decide two points before borrowing. First, where he can get the best terms. Second, where he can get fair and square treatment.

This company is in a position to give you by far the most satisfactory terms ever offered by any concern or individual negotiating this class of loans.

With this company you are assured of getting the lowest rates, easiest payments and longest time for repayment. The whole transaction from the time the application is made until loan is paid is entirely confidential. We give you another advantage in case you take the loan out for six months or a year, and wish to settle the same before the time expires; we charge you only for the time you have had the money. We also take up loans from other companies and advance more money.

Kindly call and let us explain our simple and up-to-date methods. If not entirely convenient for you to call, please write and our representative will call and give you any desired information. Remember it costs nothing to make application. Loans promptly made in Elizabeth, Plainfield, Westfield, Roselle, Rahway, Perth Amboy and all suburban towns.

Brisk Spring Trade Assured—New Pig Iron Record.

NEW YORK, March 14.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade says:

Reports from all sections of the country promise a brisk spring and summer trade. Orders are coming forward on a large scale, and frequent requests for prompt shipment indicate that stocks are low and requirements urgent. The statement has been made repeatedly of late that traffic blockades were ended; but, as a matter of fact, the relief was in every case of a local nature and almost immediately followed by so much new business that congestion returned.

Notwithstanding the fact that supplies of coke fell short of demands and many blast furnaces were only able to operate from day to day, pig iron production on March 1 was at the rate of 355,333 tons weekly, according to statistics prepared by the Iron Age. These figures establish a new record, slightly surpassing the previous top point of 353,800 tons on Jan. 1.

Wheat receipts at primary markets were 2,718,569 bushels for the week against 2,681,891 a year ago, while exports from all points, flour included, amounted to 3,716,676 bushels, a splendid increase as compared with 2,598,472 bushels a year ago. Corn receipts for the week were 3,868,836 bushels against 1,803,950, and Atlantic coast exports make a still more striking comparison, 3,405,229 going out this year against only 96,179 bushels a year ago.

Great excitement has continued in cotton, with wide fluctuations in option prices.

Eastern producers of footwear report new business in fall shoes quiet as yet, but very heavy sample lots have been sold, and the outlook is satisfactory.

Failures for the week numbered 229 in the United States against 232 last year and 22 in Canada against 34 a year ago.

MISSISSIPPI FLOODS.

River Still Rising—Levees Generally Holding Out.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., March 14.—The river gauge is 36.5 feet and rising. This is an advance of seven-tenths of a foot in twenty-four hours, and the weather bureau predicts that the rise will continue at an increased rate until night, when a stage of more than thirty-seven feet is expected. The bureau still continues to anticipate a stage of more than thirty-eight feet and possibly more than thirty-nine.

Captain Lucas has just returned from a trip of inspection down the river and reports the levees on both sides of the Mississippi in good shape except near Modoc, Ark., where a serious break occurred in 1897 and which never has been completely repaired. Captain Lucas says the engineers are hopeful that the embankments will hold despite the fact that a higher stage of water is looked for than that of 1897.

All steamers arriving have brought in large numbers of refugees.

Ojibways Visit Miss Longfellow.

BOSTON, March 14.—A delegation of Ojibway Indians in all their tribal glory of raiment paid a visit to Miss Alice Longfellow, daughter of the poet, at the Longfellow home in Cambridge and left as a remembrance a belt of wampum. Miss Longfellow, with her two sisters, Mrs. Dana and Mrs. Thorpe, entertained the visitors, and the gathering in the old fashioned library was a picturesque one. The delegation was headed by Chief Wabunosa. Before departing Miss Longfellow was invited to visit the tribe at Garden River reservation, Ontario, next summer.

SPORTING NEWS

GOLF.

This is going to prove an unusually active golf season in New Jersey. Taking the preliminary announcement of the Metropolitan Golf Association as a criterion the competitive phase of the royal sport will begin early and end late. Several important tournaments have been sanctioned and other dates are to be announced shortly. Baltusrol will have its share of events. There is the New Jersey State championship slated to begin there on June 4, and the open championship of the United States on June 26 and 27. The date of the Metropolitan championship, to be held over the Deal links, has yet to be decided. Here is a list of some of the open events and championships already arranged:

April 16 to 18 inclusive — Open spring tournament, Golf Club of Lakewood.

May 20 to 23 inclusive—Open tournament, St. Andrew's Golf Club.

June 4 to 6 inclusive—New Jersey State championship, at Baltusrol.

June 10 to 13 inclusive — Open tournament, Knollwood Country Club.

June 26 and 27—Open championship of United States, at Baltusrol.

September 1 to 5 inclusive—Amateur championship of United States, at Nassau Country Club.

September 29 to October 3 inclusive —Women's championship of the United States, at the Chicago Golf Club.

ON THE DIAMOND.

In an article on baseball in Sandow's magazine, this week, a fine picture appears of Warren McLaughlin, taken in company with the entire Pittsburg baseball squad. The photo is an excellent one and "Warrie" shows up well.

There was baseball practice by the team of the City High School on Hope Common yesterday afternoon and this afternoon. Captain Van-Auken announces that he will soon select the team for the season and regular practice by the selected team will be commenced next week. The baseball uniforms have been ordered and are expected to arrive in a few days.

BASKET BALL.

The I. C. T. basket ball team failed to put in an appearance at the Y. M. C. A. to play a game scheduled in the Plainfield Amateur Basket Ball League series, last evening, and instead there was a scrub game between teams from the Y. M. C. A. As an extra attraction a practice game of "Charlie Horse" polo was played during the intermission.

ANNIVERSARY OF LEXINGTON

DAUGHTERS OF AMERICAN REVOLUTION PREAPRE FOR THE EVENT.

Afternoon Entertainment Planned at Residence of P. V. R. Van-Wyck, April 18.

The Board of Management of Continental Chapter, D. A. R., met yesterday at the home of the regent, Mrs. David Prescott Hall, of Madison avenue. It was arranged to have the commemoration of the anniversary of the battle of Lexington, April 18, take the form of an afternoon entertainment, with music, a patriotic recitation and light refreshments.

The members of the reception, tea and other committees, will be asked to appear in costume of the period of the Revolution, a room furnished in old colonial style, will be a feature of the day. Mrs. Philip V. R. Van Wyck, one of the vice regents, has kindly offered her house for the occasion, to which it will be brought to impart a genuine air of the olden time.

The following chairmen of committees were chosen: Tea, Mrs. Van Wyck; music, Mrs. J. Kirtland Myers, founder and first regent of the chapter; loans, Mrs. Isaac Field; invitations, Mrs. Edward O. Chickering; registrar, printing and press, Mrs. Hall, regent.

The public will be invited, and the proceeds of the entertainment will go to the fund already raised for a suitable monument at Washington Rock.

FED THE TROUPE.

Supper Given to Participants in Minstrel Show at Which Much Was Said and Done.

In recognition of their faithful services in making the second annual minstrel show a success, the officials of the Y. M. A. escorted the members of the troupe to Timbo's restaurant after the show, last evening, where the main dining room had been set aside for their use. After an excellent supper had been served, an impromptu performance was given that was witnessed by a large number of favored guests, among them being Mayor Newton B. Smalley.

Many new solos were sung by the principals, jokes were cracked at the expense of Interlocutor John H. Cose, while Lusardi and Bowers danced until almost exhausted. A speech was made by Mayor Smalley in which he thanked the members for their hits in behalf of annexation and complimented them upon their success. Other remarks were made by City Judge Runyon, William W. Warnock and George E. Firstbrook.

his feet and follow him when he walked in the street.

The witness read from a book many messages that had been received from different people long since dead. Many of these were of a very intellectual nature.

Incident after incident was told of by Sands Olcott of how they had investigated things spiritual and of his sister Josephine's part, but when he came to tell of being at the death bed of his father Josephine Korff became hysterical. Her moans and cries were heard throughout the court room and she had to be carried to the open air.

The brother Frank corroborated the story of Sands and the latter's wife told how she had visited the Olcott home and of the firm belief of the aged Olcott in the manifestations of shades.

William V. Stelle is counsel for Frank Olcott and Hon. James J. Bergen for Mrs. Josephine Korff, the appellee.

Further testimony of a startling nature will be taken next Friday.

PROGRESS OF COURT HOUSE

LITTLE DOUBT THAT IT WILL BE COMPLETED ON TIME.

Arrival of Spring Weather Has Resulted in the Work Taking a Fresh Start.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, March 14—With the arrival of spring weather the work on the Union county court house has taken a fresh start, and will be rushed. There has been considerable progress during the winter, and most of the foundation and basement walls are completed and ready for the steel girders. This condition exists as to the rotunda portion. The foundation walls for the wings are not so far advanced, and there is still some excavating to do. With the indulgence of the weather prophets the contractors hope to be ready for the cornerstone laying in about two months.

The facing of the court house will be of granite. Six thousand tons of it are now being quarried at North Jay, Maine, and Redstone, New Hampshire.

Great quantities of the granite are already on the ground, and the steam hoisting machine is in readiness to lift the massive blocks to their places. The North Jay stone is similar to the stone in Grant's monument. The pink or New Hampshire granite will start about two feet below the ground and will be used to the first floor, and will be about one-fifth of the whole granite used in the building's construction.

John H. Parker & Co., of New York City, who have the general contract, will make the structure practically fireproof. Save for sash and door, lumber has been eliminated in the plans. The iron and steel used in its stead, which will amount to many thousand tons, is to be supplied by the Phoenix Iron Company, of Pennsylvania.

January 28, 1905, is the date which has been placed as a time limit for the completion of the court house. Superintendent George Dennick, who is now on the ground, representing John H. Parker & Co., said that unless hindered by unforeseen obstacles, the building would easily be ready for occupancy by that date. There is a penalty of $50 per day imposed for each day the construction is delayed beyond the limit, and a premium of $50 per day for the time it may be furnished before that date.

With few exceptions all of the men to be employed upon the court house in its various stages of construction, are residents of Elizabeth or immediate vicinity. It is estimated that in the next two years they will draw considerably over $100,000 in wages.

Acid Didn't Prove Fatal.

Miss Marjorie Thomas, the young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis T. Thomas, of Watchung avenue, who was given a dose of carbolic acid Friday night by mistake, is now out of danger and her recovery is assured. The poison was given the child by the mother through a mistake.

Bicycle Thief Returns.

Grenville F. Strong, of Washington avenue, reported to the police, last night, that a bicycle had been stolen from the vestibule of his home, yesterday afternoon. It is described as a Columbia chainless with upturned handle bars.

Trouble in West End.

The West End is greatly stirred by the incidents of the last few days which have resulted in the breaking up of the homes of two well known young men of that section. Discoveries made Wednesday implicated two prominent men.

HIGH SCHOOL JUNIORS GAVE CLEVER PLAY

Scenes From "Cranford" Were Presented at Franklin Hall Saturday Evening.

LARGE AUDIENCE THERE

YOUNG WOMEN, OF CLASS OF 1904, WON MUCH DESERVED PRAISE.

Success Largely Due to Careful Training by Miss S. Lena Bass, of Faculty—Those Who Assisted in the Production.

The young women of the class of 1904 of the City High School won lasting laurels for the class by their clever presentation of "Cranford Dames" Saturday evening at Franklin Hall. The play given was a dramatization of some of the best parts of Mrs. Gaskill's famous story "Cranford" and the scenes were laid in England, about the year 1833.

The cast follows:

Miss Matilda Jenkyns, the rector's daughter, Frances VanDeventer
Mrs. Jamieson, sister-in-law to an earl, Wilhelmina Patton
Mrs. Forrester, the widow of a major, Martha Robert
Miss Pole, a friend of Miss Jenkyns, Dorothy Fleming
Miss Mary Smith, Miss Jenkyns' young cousin, Eloise Haven
Miss Betty Barker, a retired milliner, Mae Batchelor
Martha, Miss Jenkyns' maid . . . Jean Douglass
Peggy, Miss Barker's maid . . . . May Murray

Each member of the cast deserves much credit for the splendid success of the affair. All took their parts with an ease of bearing and speech which showed careful rehearsing. At the end of the third scene, Miss S. Lena Bass, of the High School faculty, was presented with a large bouquet of white carnations. The flowers were presented by VanWyck Brooks, president of the class, in the name of the cast in appreciation of Miss Bass' untiring efforts in the perfection of the play. Though valuable suggestions were offered by several, the success of the evening was almost entirely due to the careful training of the cast by Miss Bass.

There were over three hundred present at the performance and a neat sum was netted. This money will be devoted to the interests of the class, and it is possible that part may be given to the Athletic Association of the school.

Interludes between the scenes were rendered by Suhr's orchestra. Home made candy was sold at a beautifully decorated table in charge of Miss W. Grace Wilcox and Miss Lillian Walsh.

Seats were provided by a corps of ushers consisting of Jose L. Tweedy, Francis K. Anderson, VanWyck Brooks, George L. Babcock, Harold C. Fenno, Arthur F. Conant and Alden E. Moore. The ushers were in charge of Ralph S. Lane.

The scenery used was secured through the efforts of George L. Babcock, the stage manager. Mr. Babcock was assisted b a stage committee composed of H. C. Fenno, F. K. Anderson and J. L. Tweedy.

Dancing concluded the evening.

Wants to be Remembered.

Chief T. O. Doane, of the Plainfield fire department, has received a souvenir postal card from Former Chief Auguste Saltzman from Vlisbaden, Germany, in which he says he has just arrived there and wished to be remembered to "all the boys." He asked for some Plainfield papers which, he said, were always welcome.

Transferred to Phillies.

Rather unexpectedly Warren McLaughlin, who signed to play with the Pittsburg National League baseball team this season, has been transferred to the Philadelphia National League team and he will join the team at Richmond this week. The Philadelphia Press published an excellent photo of "Warry" Saturday.

Injured in Basket Ball.

While playing basket ball Friday afternoon in Reform Hall, Arthur Humble, of Somerset street, sprained his ankle and was taken home, where he has since been confined. The injury is not a severe sprain and it is believed that he will be able to take part in the games which have been scheduled for future dates.

Fraternal Call.

A delegation of members from Martha Washington Council, No. 23, Daughters of America, paid a fraternal visit to Star of Elizabeth Council, No. 37, of Elizabeth, Friday evening. The Plainfielders were entertained royally and report having had an excellent time.

BETTER HOURS; BETTER WORK

PROF. CHARLES ZUEBLIN TALKS ON "WORK AND WEALTH."

He Believes Shorter Working Days Was Necessary to Better Results.

The fourth of the university extension course of lectures was given Saturday evening at the Y. M. C. A. Hall by Prof. Charles Zueblin, of Chicago University.

His subject was "Work and Wealth" and he treated it in a very masetrful manner.

Public employment generally recognizes the need of a standard, he said, and during his lecture he showed that a shorter working day was necessary to better results. The proper observance of Sunday was also shown to be prolific of better results than by working men seven days a week and three-fourths of a day and sometimes more. Saturday, he affirmed, should be set aside for a half holiday for working men, as they would then have an opportunity of doing their shopping during the afternoon without obliging clerks to work Saturday nights.

Wealth, said the speaker, should make some concessions to labor and if these are granted, in the way of shorter hours, Saturday half holidays and summer vacations, wealth would soon follow the increased amount of work turned out by mechanics.

SERMONS ON THE CHRIST

FIRST OF SERIES PREACHED BY REV. DR. CORNELIUS SCHENCK.

"The Incarnation of Christ" Was His Subject at Yesterday Morning's Meeting.

Yesterday morning at Trinity Reformed church, the pastor, Rev. Cornelius Schenck, Ph. D., preached the first of a series of five special sermons to be given on succeeding Sunday mornings. The subject yesterday was "The Incarnation of Jesus Christ," and the pastor explained that in this act of grace Christ took on himself the form of man. He then divided his topic into four parts as follows: "The Fact of the Incarnation," "The Form of the Incarnation," "The Necessity of the Incarnation," and "The Benefits of the Incarnation."

Continuing Mr. Schenck said that the fact that Word became flesh was not only a Scriptural truth, but it appeals to the reason. When Christ was born it was the fulfillment of the expectation of men. Regarding the form the pastor said that in that the second person of the Trinity incarnated himself in human flesh the divinity of Christ was not lost, neither were the two natures merged. They existed side by side. As to the necessity of the incarnation Mr. Schenck said that if the need had not existed God would not have employed the means he did. God was revealed in the person of Christ that all might know him. His mission was to give life to all who would have it and to seek and save that which was lost.

In conclusion Mr. Schenck spoke of the benefits of the incarnation, showing that these are incalculable, that Christ is the helper and friend of all who would serve him, that His heart is touched with the troubles and burdens of His followers, and that He is always ready to give life, happiness and peace to those who see Him.

BUSY TIMES.

I. C. T. Club Has Many Things to Interest Its Members.

This week will be a busy one for the I. C. T. Club. Tonight the members, accompanied by many friends, will go to Elizabeth, where the basket ball team will play the Y. M. C. I., of that place. A dance will be held afterward. Tomorrow evening an important meeting is to be held, when all arrangements will be completed for the dance March 26. Wednesday evening the entire club will journey to Westfield as the invited guests of N. Goltra, at his home.

Visitors From Stirling.

A number of boys, accompanied by Mr. Salaiman, an Armenian, visited the Y. M. C. A., Saturday morning, and enjoyed the privileges of the building. The party came to this city from Stirling and during the morning Mr. Salaiman gave a short talk to the boys on appreciating the things of every day life.

Cheaper Coal.

According to the opinions of the local coal dealers the price of coal will probably take a drop of 50 cents April 1. Plenty of the anthracite is being mined, while the demand is not so great.

SCHOOL MEETING IN BOROUGH TOMORROW

Decrease in the Amount of Appropriations That Will be Asked For.

THE AMOUNT IS 16,950

COST AND TIME REQUIRED FOR THE MANUAL TRAINING DEPARTMENT.

Exhibition of Work Begins at the School This Afternoon and Continues for Two Afternoons More—Those in Charge.

The borough school election will be held tomorrow evening when reports will be read and three members of the school board will be elected, three for three year terms and one member to fill the unexpired term caused by the resignation of Samuel McCutchen. The appropriations for the ensuing year will also be voted upon at that meeting. They are a little over $1,000 less than that asked last year, in spite of the fact that several new courses in manual training have been introduced during the past year.

Last year the appropriations asked were as follows: Teachers' salaries and current expenses, $14,900; textbooks and supplies, $1,400; manual training expenses, $1,700. The appropriations asked this year will be found to be much less when it is seen that $500 less has been asked for teachers' salaries this year; $200 less for books and supplies and $350 less for the manual training department. The difference in the sum total of the appropriations for this year and for those of last year amounts to $1,050. The appropriations asked this year are; Teachers' salaries and expenses, $4,406; text-books, $1,400; manual training, $1,350.

There has been much opposition among some to the introduction of the new branches in the manual training department of the North Plainfield school. Basketry has been recently introduced in conjunction with the cooking, sewing and woodwork classes. The ground of complaint is that it is much more expensive and it takes too much time from the studies in the ordinary curriculum. This, it is claimed by the school authorities, is contradicted by figures.

Taking for example the woodwork department, which is considered the most expensively conducted department, considering the enrollment, the average cost per pupil for one year, (counting all material and expense in buying tools and supplies), amounts to 8½ cents. The enrollment in this class is 318. In the drawing department, which has the largest enrollment, it amounting to 1,004, the cost per pupil per year is 11 4-10 cents. In the basket work department the actual figure of expense is a little less than one cent per year per pupil.

There has been objection to the manual training department on the ground that too much time has been taken from the regular work of the other class work. The actual time occupied in the manual training class is between sixty and sixty-one minutes per week. Taking for the week's total number of school hours, twenty-five, it is apparent that only 1-25 of the pupil's time is taken up with manual training.

On this, Tuesday and Wednesday afternoons an exhibition of the work accomplished in the manual training classes of the school will be open to the public between the hours of 2 and 4. This comprises specimens of the work of the pupils in all branches of the manual training department of the school. This consists of carpenter work, sewing classes, drawing, both mechanical and free hand, and basket making, including some hats made by the pupils. These latter, in many instances have been purchased, that is, by paying the school for the materials used, and have been trimmed and worn by the pupils with no little pride. The exhibition is an interesting one.

Those who have arranged the exhibition are Miss Laura Sydenham, Robert Sanders, Miss Bessie Taylor, all of whom are teachers in the manual training department.

Granted Absolute Divorce.

Mrs. Bruce, of Brooklyn, has been granted an absolute divorce from her husband, George Bruce, by the courts. Mr. Bruce is a lawyer and formerly practiced in Plainfield.

Pastor Shott Preached.

The pulpit at the Park Avenue church yesterday was occupied by Rev. Gideon M. Shott, of Scotch Plains.

WENT HOME FOR REPAIRS

MICHAEL WALSH DIDN'T APPEAR AGAIN, SO CASE WAS LAID OVER.

Little Difference of Opinion in West End Will be Explained in City Court Tomorrow.

Patrick Boyle and Michael Walsh, two West Enders, differed in a debate of some kind, last night, at the former's home, and sought to clinch the argument by grabbing each other. More than two or three blows were struck, each one accompanied by a yell that brought Patrolman McGinley to the battle ground.

Boyle was taken to police headquarters while Walsh was allowed to remain at home so his face could be patched up in time for his appearance in court, this morning. He failed to do so and the hearing was put off until tomorrow, Boyle in the meantime being released on his own recognizance.

James Lawrensen, who claimed Dunellen for a residential place, was found helplessly drunk at the corner of Watchung avenue and Fifth street by Patrolman Quass at 4 o'clock this morning. He explained to City Judge Runyon in court that he had been carried through on a train from Bound Brook and lost his way. Sentence was suspended with a warning.

BURNED BY BLAST OF FLAME

ALEX. OLIVER TWIST, PORTER AT HILL & SHUPP'S STORE, INJURED.

Was Attending the Furnace, When, As Door Was Opened, Flames Burst Out.

Alexander Oliver Twist, the porter at Hill & Shupp's store, met with an accident this morning which might have cost him his life. He was attending to the furnace in the basement, and in opening the door a volume of flame burst forth severely burning Twist about the face and arms.

Temporary aid was given by the clerks at the store and the man was sent at once to see a physician. It is not believed that his eyesight will be affected. The burns about the face and arm are exceedingly painful and it will be some days before he will recover.

The fire in the furnace was allowed to burn very low on Saturday owing to the mildness of the weather and in rebuilding the fire this morning, some difficulty was experienced in getting it up to the proper temperature. Finally, Twist succeeded in his efforts and while the flames were roaring within he opened the door to put on more fuel. It was then that the flames burst forth and burned the porter about the face and arm. The man screamed with pain and fright and it was some minutes before he regained composure.

NOVICE ATHLETES COMPLETE

THIRD NIGHT IN Y. M. C. A. INDOOR ATHLETIC CONTEST.

W. Bently Won Three Standing Broad Jumps, and Two Tied in Running High Kick.

The third night in the novice indoor athletic contest at the Y. M. C. A. was held Saturday evening. The two events which were run off were the standing broad jump and the running high kick.

The three standing broad jumps brought out some good work and the scores were as follows: W. Bently, 26 feet 2 inches; Ray Smith, 25 feet 6 inches; W. Swam, 24 feet 1 inch; Walter McNaughton, 24 feet; Ralph Collins, 23 feet 8 inches; H. Brokaw, 23 feet 4 inches; Chauncey Koons, 23 feet, 2 inches; Richard Tice, 23 feet 1 inch. The first place was taken by W. Bently.

In the running high kick Wilbur Bentliff and Walter McNaughton tied at 7 feet 10 inches. In the kick off McNaughton made 8 feet 1 inch and Bentliff made 7 feet 9 inches. The other scores were: Herbert Brokaw, 7 feet 9 inches; Ray Smith, 7 feet 5 inches; Ralph Collins, no score; Chauncey Koons, 6 feet 1 inch.

Saturday evening the fourth group of the events will be run off and they will be the standing high jump and the rope climb.

Thought It Mad.

A small dog, which cavorted about Front street and Watchung avenue, yesterday morning, led many people to believe it was mad. Patrolmen McCarthy and Overbaugh were summoned and soon dispatched the canine.

NEW BOROUGH COUNCIL MEETS THIS EVENING

Mayor Smalley Will Then Announce Some of the Appointments to be Made.

MAY BE SOME CHANGES

COUNCILMAN VAN ARSDALE WILL TAKE MR. CODDINGTON'S COMMITTEES.

Both Thos. Doud and Francis J. Blatz Talked Of for Borough Recorder—C. A. Reed Will be Reappointed Borough Counsel.

The first meeting of the new Borough Council will be held this evening in the Council chambers at the corner of Craig place and Somerset street, when Mayor N. B. Smalley will make his appointments for the new term. The appointments this year will be but few.

M. C. VanArsdale will fill the vacancy in the councilmanic committees caused by the expired term of Harrison Codington. Mr. Codington was the chairman of the stationary and supplies committee and was a member of the street and lamps and fire committees. There has been some demand for a change in the office of borough counsel and George Bird has been spoken of for the office but there will probably be no change in that office, at present. The present incumbent is Charles A. Reed.

There will be a change in the office of assistant chief engineer of the borough fire department which is now filled by Charles Keller, of the West End Hose Company. Mr. Keller has served two terms. His successor is not known yet although he will be a member of the West End Company. Changes will be made in the police department but they will not be made until next month. The office of borough recorder has to be filled. It is reported that Thomas Doud will be reappointed but it is quite possible that the honor will go to Francis J. Blatz.

It was said this morning that a change would be made in Warren Engine Company in the position of engineer. John Schenck, who now occupies that position, said that on account of ill health he will be unable to accept the position for another year and his successor will be named tonight.

Outside of the appointments named above it is not likely that there will be any others, although other matters of importance will no doubt come up before tonight's meeting.

ANOTHER PICTURE.

Presented to City High School As Result of Turner Art Exhibit.

The second picture to be placed on the walls of the City High School, as a result of the efforts of the pupils in selling tickets for the Horace K Turner art exhibit recently held in Franklin Hall, was formally presented to the school this morning. The picture is a photogravure entitled "Automeden, yoking the horses of Achilles" and is after the famous painting by Renault. The original painting is in the Boston Museum. Miss Ellen K. Cumming, of the school faculty, spoke of the historical significance of the work to the school.

Like It Elsewhere.

Edwin H. Forbes, Ph. D., Torrington, Conn., in speaking of talent to appear in the next entertainment in the Y. M. C. A. Star Course, says: "Every seat in the house was sold, and people were standing. Entertainment a grand success. People delighted. Certainly it was a big hit. Applause after applause greeted 'Little Phil.' Many people say Bertha Webb is equal to Leonora Jackson."

Hearing on Insurance Bill.

Assemblyman S. S. Swackhamer has secured a hearing on his insurance bill before the legislative committee on banking and insurance, which will be held in the speaker's room at Trenton, tomorrow afternoon at 1 o'clock. The insurance companies are against the bill, and it is expected there will be considerable discussion.

Surprise to Miss Bodine.

A pleasant surprise party was tendered to Miss Katie Bodine at her home on Jackson avenue, Friday evening. The evening was passed in playing games and listening to vocal and instrumental music.

Church Musicale.

The choir of the First Presbyterian church, under the direction of Clifford Braider, organist, will give a musicale at the church Tuesday evening, March 31.

THOUGHT BABY WAS DYING

ITALIAN HURRIED INTO ARMSTRONG'S PHARMACY SATURDAY AFTERNOON.

Was Afterwards Taken to Muhlenberg Hospital, Where Illness Was Found Not to be Serious.

An Italian, carrying an infant child, ran through North avenue Saturday afternoon to T. S. Armstrong's pharmacy, where he excitedly asked Mr. Armstrong to call for a doctor. He explained that his child was very ill and needed medical aid at once. Dr. M. B. Long was called and after he examined the little one, which lay in a semi-conscious condition, he advised the father to take his child to the hospital, where proper attention could be given.

The man was a stranger in Plainfield, being on his way to Philadelphia to meet his wife, when the infant was taken ill. He did not know where the hospital was, but a kind woman, who happened to be near and who took much interest in the case, called a carriage and sent the pair to the hospital. It was learned later that the child had an acute attack of indigestion.

Early Saturday evening the father resumed his journey to Philadelphia with his child. The man at first was extremely nervous and he seemed unable to check his sobbing. He was fearful lest the child die in his arms.

HE TOLD OF THE CHINAMEN

ILLUSTRATED LECTURE BY REV. DR. RHOADES AT FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH.

Related Entertainingly of Subject of Which He Had An Extensive Knowledge.

The illustrated lecture given in the First Baptist church last evening on "China" by Rev. Dr. C. L. Rhoades, of New York, was one of the best ever listened to. The speaker's extensive knowledge of the subject and his attractive and entertaining manner of telling about it held the closest attention of the large congregation throughout.

Dr. Rhoades commenced by showing the relation of all other countries to China and how they were faced toward the east. He told of the wonderful achievements of the Chinese and what a remarkable people they are.

In speaking of the Chinese that come to this country, the speaker said that they represented the poorest class yet, notwithstanding the fact that everything in the line of law and government was against them, they always succeeded. He explained that they were never seen begging, rarely were arrested for crime and that they are never seen in an intoxicated condition. Considering that this class is the poorest, Dr. Rhoades did not wonder that the better class at home is so clever and that they are able to cope with the other powers of the world.

In conclusion Dr. Rhoades told briefly of the mission enterprises and what is being done to acquaint the foreign nations with a knowledge of Christ.

The lantern slides were operated satisfactorily by Charles E. Vail, assisted by his son.

WELCOMED BACK.

A Cordial Reception at Stamford, Conn., to Rev. J. W. Richardson.

The Daily Advocate, of Stamford, Conn., of Saturday, gives an account of the reception tendered to Rev. and Mrs. John Wilbur Richardson by the members of the Baptist church at Stamford Friday night, in recognition of Mr. Richardson's return to the pastorate of the church. The article states that the church was filled to overflowing with members and friends, all of whom wished the pastor and his wife great success in their work. The reception was attended not only by members of the Baptist church, but members from many other churches at Stamford. The affair was said to be one of the most notable gatherings ever held by the church.

Carpenters' Ball.

Local Union, No. 155, Brotherhood Carpenters and Joiners, will hold a ball April 23 in Gesang and Turn Hall, for the benefit of Muhlenberg Hospital.

Tenor Solos.

E. Maxwell Honeyman sang two tenor solos at the First Presbyterian church, yesterday morning, in a very acceptable manner.

ORANGE BOYS WERE GUESTS OF Y. M. C. A.

Delegation From Association at Orange Came Here and Spent Saturday Afternoon.

PLAYED BASKET BALL

PLAINFIELD JUNIORS DEFEATED TEAM OF ORANGE JUNIORS.

Then Leal's School Boys Beat School Team From Orange—A Pleasant Afternoon Was Spent by the Visitors—Other Details.

Orange Day was observed at the Y. M. C. A., Saturday, when a large delegation of members of the Orange association were present and enjoyed the afternoon and the freedom of the building extended to them by the members of the local association.

A basket ball game was played between the junior members of the two associations and another was played between the students of the Orange Association and members of Leal's School. The result of the game between the juniors was 8 to 6 in favor of the local team, and the score of the game between the Leal's and the Students was 23 to 5 in favor of the Leal's.

The line-up of the first game was:

Y. M. C. A.		Orange Juniors.
Steiner	right forward	Livingston
Douglas, Quinn	centre	Williams
Webster	right guard	Wachenfield

The line-ups of the game between the Leals and the students was:

Leals.		Orange Students.
Bigiow	right forward	Tappin
S. Abbott	centre	Slater
R. Abbott	right guard	Condit

In the first game C. E. A. Heywood was the referee and C. M. Chestly and Kenneth Robbie were the umpires. Mr. Chestly was the referee and Mr. Robbie and Mr. Heywood were the umpires in the second game, which was an exciting one.

After the games a social time was enjoyed in the parlors of the association during which refreshments were served by several women of the auxiliary, who were Mrs. Harry Gee, Mrs. S. H. Tugwell, Mrs. John Stewart and Mrs. N. Y. Hall.

FOR THE LANDLORD.

Decision in Suit Regarding Heating of a House.

Before an eleven-man jury in Justice Moffett's court, Saturday, a verdict for the plaintiff was given in the demand for premises case of Hand against Apgar. The matter is one that had a previous trial, in which the jury disagreed. It is a question of heat in the house. I. P. Runyon represented the plaintiff, Charles H. Hand, and Mrs. Apgar's interests were in charge of S. S. Swackhamer. The jury was composed of Cornelius vanHerwerden, John H. Kitchen, Andrew Carpenter, W. S. Alpaugh, H. B. Paul, Nathan Pennington, James Clarkson, D. H. Pound, J. Tilby, Abram VanCleef and Jonathan Smith.

FILLING PULPIT.

While Regular Pastor is Preparing to Move to This City.

Rev. Mr. Linstrom, who recently arrived from Sweden, preached last evening at the Swedish Pilgrim church. There was a good sized attendance and the discourse was a helpful one. Rev. L. T. Lindholm, who is the present pastor of the church as successor to Rev. O. G. Norseen, lately resigned, is in Connecticut where he is preparing to bring his family to this city. While he is away his pulpit will be supplied with out-of-town ministers. He will reside, when he comes to this city, on Orchard place.

Death of Howard Walton.

Howard Walton, who died at his home, 117 West Fifty-eighth street, New York City, yesterday, was a son-in-law of William Hookhill Potts, formerly of West Seventh street. His wife was Miss Edith Potts. The funeral services will be held at St. George's church, New York, tomorrow morning and the interment will be at Lakewood.

Wagner Musicale.

The second Wagner musicale will be given at the home of Mrs. Charles W. McCutchen, tomorrow morning, by Miss Estella Neuhaus. Those who heard this talented musician at the first musicale, last week, will no doubt want to hear her again. The subject for tomorrow will be "Die Walkure."

The Stomach Is the Man.

A weak stomach weakens the man, because it cannot transform the food he eats into nourishment. Health and strength cannot be restored to any sick man or weak woman without first restoring health and strength to the stomach. A weak stomach cannot digest enough food to feed the tissues and revive the tired and run down limbs and organs of the body. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure cleanses, purifies, sweetens and strengthens the glands and membranes of the stomach, and cures indigestion, dyspepsia and all stomach troubles. L. W. Randolph

WOMEN'S CLUBS.

Spring Meeting of Federation Will be Held at Madison, May 6.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Madison, March 16 — Preliminary plans have been made for the spring meeting of the New Jersey State Federation of Women's Clubs to take place here. The date has been set for May 6, it having been decided that the early part of the month was preferable to the latter part, when the meeting is usually held. At this meeting Miss Mary McKeen, the president, will preside for the first time since her election last fall.

The programme is being arranged under the chairmanship of Miss Belle R. Snyder, of Montclair. It is probable that the general trend of that meeting will be along "household economic" lines, as this question is to be taken up and studied thoroughly under the present administration.

A feature of the spring meeting will be the introduction of the president's hour instead of an address. The president's hour has hitherto been a special feature of the fall meeting, and has been utilized for the introduction of guests of honor, the president's own speech to the club women and whatever matters she wishes to bring before them.

TEA TABLE TALK.

Short Sketches That Are Not Always News, But Just as Interesting.

The United States Geological Survey, in co-operation with the States of New Jersey and New York, is about to issue the New York City Geologic Folio No. 83, which covers one-fourth of a square degree, equivalent in this latitude to 905.27 square miles. The folio is the joint work of Messrs. F. J. H. Morrill, N. H. Darton, Arthur Hollick, R. D. Salisbury, P. E. Dodge, Bailey Willis and H. A. Pressey. The map is divided into four atlas sheets, called the Paterson, Harlem, Brooklyn and Staten Island sheets. The district lies in two States, New Jersey and New York, and comprises parts of the counties of Passaic, Bergen, Essex, Hudson and Union in New Jersey, and Westchester, New York, Kings, Queens, Nassau and Richmond in New York. Within it lie many towns and villages, as well as the cities of Paterson, Newark, Jersey City, Hoboken, Yonkers, Mt. Vernon, New Rochelle and all of New York City except a small part of Long Island, east of Little Neck Bay and Far Rockaway.

THEATRICAL.

Henry W. Savage will have another musical comedy on Broadway when the new Pixley and Luders piece, "The Prince of Pilsen" opens Tuesday night, March 17, following "The Silver Slipper" at the Broadway Theatre. "The Prince of Pilsen" is said to be the brightest of new musical comedies. It has scored successes in two of the large cities, Boston and Chicago, where it ran for more than eight months, and for that reason it is almost a foregone conclusion that New York will take kindly to Mr. Savage's latest offering.

The enormous success of "The Sultan of Sulu" since coming to Wallack's Theatre, New York, nearly three months ago, is responsible for the general opinion that this merry musical satire by George Ade will rival the long record engagements on Broadway before the public has enough of Comedian Frank Monlan and his quaint "R-E-M-O-R-S-E" song, "Since I First Met You," "My Sulu Lulu Loo" and the other catchy numbers in the opera. This week, the twelfth of "The Sultan of Sulu" engagement will complete the first century of its metropolitan run. Eight regular performances are given each week and with three extra holiday matinees and the special performance at the Harmonie Club, the opera, Saturday night, will have been heard exactly 100 times since Dec. 29. Crowds have been turned away each night since the opening, and the pretty music is the favorite selection on all cafe and hotel orchestra programmes in town.

—Henry Snyder, of Martinsville, will enter the employ of Stonewall Jackson, of Somerset street, this week.

Mrs. William Bartel, of Watchung avenue but formerly of Martinsville, visited her home at the latter place Saturday and Sunday.

A Remarkable Case.

One of the most remarkable cases of a cold, deep-seated on the lungs, causing pneumonia, is that of Mrs. Gertrude E. Fenner, Marion, Ind., who was entirely cured by the use of One Minute Cough Cure. She says: "The coughing and straining so weakened me that I run down in weight from 148 to 92 pounds. I tried a number of remedies to no avail until I used One Minute Cough Cure. Four bottles of this wonderful remedy cured me entirely of the cough, strengthened my lungs and restored me to my normal weight, health and strength." L. W. Randolph.

AMERICAN TRACT SOCIETY.

Reports at Annual Meeting Show a Vast Amount of Work Done.

WASHINGTON, March 16.—The annual meeting of the American Tract society was held last evening in the Metropolitan Presbyterian church, Rev. Dr. George N. Luccock, pastor. Mr. Justice Brewer of the United States supreme court presided. The Rev. Judson Swift, field secretary at New York, gave a brief report, and General O. O. Howard delivered an earnest and eloquent address. The report said that the society was organized seventy-eight years ago "to diffuse a knowledge of Christ as the redeemer of sinners" by means of printed pages.

During the year publications have been issued in English, German, Italian, Bohemian, Polish, Hungarian, Spanish, Bengal, Bulu, Fang and Marshall island, and the number of distinct publications is nearly 9,000, of which over 2,000 are volumes. The whole number of tracts and periodicals reaches nearly 800,000,000, which does not include the millions of tracts and volumes issued at missionary stations in foreign lands. The number of periodicals printed and distributed in the past twelve months aggregate 1,750,000, and the number of languages or dialects in which the society has published is 155.

Union missionary colportage carries the gospel message on the printed page to those in spiritual destitution, combining the press and voice. It is a house to house visitation. A colporter in a year visits about 12,000 souls and leaves in their homes about 2,000 volumes. The results of colportage for sixty-two years show 15,166,743 family visits and 16,436,477 volumes distributed.

Princeton Students Turn Vandals.

PRINCETON, N. J., March 16.—One of the big bronze lions which guard the entrance of historic Nassau hall was so badly disfigured by a crowd of young alumni and upper classmen that it cannot be satisfactorily repaired. The lions were presented to the university by the class of 1879, of which President Wilson is a member. The undergraduates are highly indignant over the affair and charge the parties responsible for the damage with having been entirely too inconsiderate of the respect that should always be shown to historic "Old North." It is expected that a new lion will replace the one destroyed. An act of vandalism was also committed on the new gymnasium, the damage to a winding staircase being estimated at $200.

Colonel Cody Sends a Warning.

WASHINGTON, March 16. — The president has just received the following letter from Colonel W. F. Cody: "For the benefit of future generations the timber and especially the underbrush must be protected now before it is too late from the sheep devastating the mountain watersheds, as they have already done the valleys and table lands. If sheep are allowed to browse on the underbrush of our mountains, in less than five years from now the home seeker, the man behind the plow, the actual taxpayer, will have to leave the Big Horn basin for want of water to irrigate his land. No one knows this better than yourself, for you are familiar with all of the west."

Explosion Did Much Damage.

NEWARK, N. J., March 16.—An explosion followed by a fire did damage amounting to $75,000 at the works of the Arlington Manufacturing company, Arlington. The explosion occurred in a brick building. When it blew up, it contained 51,000 pounds of "seasoning," a highly inflammable and explosive material used in the manufacture of pyralin, a composition resembling celluloid, which is made into novelties by the company. The concussion shattered glass in every direction for a distance of a quarter of a mile, but no person was hurt.

Memphis Saloons Closed on Sunday.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., March 16.—By agreement among the liquor people of the city all saloons in Memphis closed Saturday night at 12 and remained closed till 12 midnight Sunday. This action was brought about by the active campaign of the ministers here for some weeks. Chief of Police Mason gave notice that any saloon man violating the agreement would be promptly arrested.

Newfoundland Road Still Blockaded.

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., March 16.—A working train with a crew of sixty men has been dispatched to attempt to clear the railway line across the country, cut out the express train which has been snowbound in the interior for the past thirty days and enable traffic over the railway along the western slope of the island, which has been abandoned for a month, to be resumed.

Italy to Exhibit at St. Louis.

ROME, March 16.—The minister for foreign affairs has formally notified Ambassador Meyer that Italy has decided to officially participate in the St. Louis exposition, appropriating $100,000 to that purpose. A bill providing for this appropriation will be presented to parliament about Easter. A warship will be used to transport part of the Italian exhibit.

King Talks With Chamberlain.

LONDON, March 16.—King Edward yesterday afternoon received Colonial Secretary Chamberlain at Buckingham palace and talked with him on his tour in South Africa. The queen was also present.

New York Police Capture London Promoter.

THE PRISONER EXPRESSES SURPRISE

Career of Man Who Floated Eleven Companies, All Now Defunct, With a Capitalization of $60,675,000.

NEW YORK, March 16.—Whitaker Wright, the man wanted in London on a criminal charge in connection with the failure of the London and Globe corporation, was arrested in this city on the arrival of La Lorraine from Havre. Mr. Wright said to a reporter:

"I cannot express to you my amazement at my arrest. It is an outrage, and those who are responsible for it will be made to suffer to the full extent of the law. The entire charge against me is technical, and in this country no one would ever think of making it."

The London police authorities had cabled to the New York police headquarters that Whitaker Wright and a lady supposed to be his niece sailed on La Lorraine under the names of Mr. and Mrs. Andreoni, but they were unable to say whether the lady's name was Browne or not.

The crash of the companies floated by Whitaker Wright came in December, 1900. There were eleven of these, including the parent company, entitled the London and Globe Finance corporation, with a total capitalization of $60,675,000. Wright was the managing director.

Few millionaires lived in the same princely style as Whitaker Wright. In Park lane, London, he had a miniature palace, in the drawing room of which was a copy of the famous "Cabinet du Roi of Louis XV." It took three years to complete and cost many thousands of pounds. At Godalming he owned a country seat, in beautifying which 600 workmen were engaged. It contains costly fountains and statuary brought from Italy. Wright's stables alone cost a small fortune. They have upholstered oak and leather settees and polished gun metal fittings, while valuable paintings and bas reliefs adorn the stalls. His private yacht was fitted up with similar luxuriousness, and at one time he was credited with the intention of constructing a racing yacht to beat Sir Thomas Lipton's Shamrock.

One of the victims of the crash was the late Marquis of Dufferin and Ava, formerly governor general of Canada and British ambassador at Paris. He consented to be chairman of the London and Globe and had 25,000 shares in the different companies. With Lord Dufferin on the board of directors were also Lieutenant General Gough-Calthorp, who was colonel of the Fifth Dragoon guards, and Lord Edward William Pelham-Clinton, master of the late queen's household and son of the fifth duke of Newcastle. When the crash came, Lord Dufferin was severely censured for his connection with the Wright companies, but in a frank speech to the stockholders of the London and Globe corporation he declared his position and won the sympathy of the country. His wealth, at one time large, was believed to have been swallowed up in these companies.

Much American money was lost in the failure of the Wright companies. There was a great outcry against the attitude of the authorities in not prosecuting Whitaker Wright and his fellow directors of the London and Globe, and in January last a petition was circulated on the London Stock Exchange signed by many influential men demanding the prosecution of Wright, as it was considered that the credit of the city and of the London Stock Exchange demanded a thorough investigation.

On March 10 action was taken against Wright. Justice Buckeley in the chancery division of the high court of justice made an order directing the official receiver, as liquidator of the London and Globe Finance corporation, limited, to prosecute on a criminal charge Whitaker Wright and utilize the assets of the London and Globe to pay the costs of the prosecution. The following day a warrant for Wright's arrest was issued. When the police officer went to his home, he was informed that Wright had gone to the continent on account of his health.

How Wright Was Traced.

LONDON, March 16. — Whitaker Wright was traced to Paris by the bank notes which he cashed there at the offices of the French steamship line and elsewhere. When he left his country seat at Godalming, he traveled by way of Southampton and Havre to Paris, taking pains to conceal his movements by the redirection of his luggage and other means. This procedure was apparently quite successful, for it was only Saturday morning that the detectives got the clew as to his movements through the numbers of the bank notes he had cashed after they had been vainly watching for days the principal British ports. This clew was easily followed up, owing to Wright's marked personal appearance. Miss Browne joined him at Havre on the eve of their sailing. It is reported that she has a large sum of money in her possession. Whitaker Wright's wife is living in comparative seclusion near Godalming. She was interviewed last evening. She looked ill with anxiety. She reiterated her belief that her husband was on the way to Egypt for the sake of his health, the doctors having declared that a rest was imperative. When told that Whitaker Wright had been arrested in New York, she said she supposed he must have met friends in Paris who persuaded him to change his mind and go to New York, perhaps on his way to the mines in British Columbia.

IMPORTANT REPORTS

Insurance, Labor and Taxation In New York.

TO BE PRESENTED TO THE SENATE

Nearly $15,000,000 Fire Loss Paid In 1902—More Factory Inspectors Are Needed—Many Tax Reforms Urged.

ALBANY, N. Y., March 16.—At the close of the year, according to the report of State Superintendent of Insurance Hendricks, to go to the senate tonight, the fire, fire marine and marine insurance companies doing business in this state were possessed of $361,298,011 of admitted assets, not including assets held abroad nor premium notes of mutual companies, an increase of $20,393,198 as compared with 1901. The liabilities of these companies, excepting scrip and capital, were $181,955,126, an increase of $13,948,211 over the return of the preceding year. The income was $232,315,497, and the disbursements were $187,493,520, an increase as compared with 1901 of $46,798,065 in income and an increase of $16,765,350 in disbursements. The total number of companies reporting in 1902 was 165, being one less than 1901.

The fire premiums received were $31,154,605.57, fire losses paid $15,134,746.92, fire losses incurred $14,748,832.33, showing an apparent net excess of fire premiums received over fire losses incurred of $16,405,773.24.

The superintendent urges the passage of the two bills now before the legislature to compel the Lloyd insurance companies doing business in this state to use the standard form of policy and to compel them to make an annual report to the superintendent similar to other companies.

LABOR COMMISSIONER'S REPORT

Commissioner of Labor McMackin in his annual report, which includes that of the bureau of factory inspection, to be submitted to the legislature says that thirty-seven complaints were made against corporations for noncompliance with the weekly payment law, and twenty-six of them were sustained. The commissioner recommends state supervision of private employment agencies and that laws prohibiting the employment of children under fourteen years of age be amended so that they shall be required to attend school throughout the school year. The force of thirty-seven inspectors, he says, is inadequate, and he recommends that they be classified in two or more grades. The salary of $1,200 is pronounced insufficient.

The number of accidents to factory workers increased 50 per cent above any other year since inspection began. The proportion of factory workers employed ten hours a day decreased 1 per cent, the nine hour workers increased .8 per cent. The proportion of eight hour workers decreased slightly. Seventy-seven mines were inspected and found safe.

STATE TAX COMMISSION.

Taxation of mortgages, no deductions from personal taxation for debt, a flat tax of 1 per cent upon all personal property, including stocks of goods in store, and no deductions for debts; publicity of all assessments by advertising, taxation at higher value of all unimproved property and vacant lands so as to stimulate and encourage improvements, increase of per diem of local assessors, providing that appeals from local taxation made be made direct to the state tax commission, the decision to be final.

These are some of the recommendations made in the annual report of the state tax commission to go to the senate tonight.

The report is in a great measure devoted to discussion of tax "dodging" by wealthy men, and the commission expresses very broadly its opinions.

A vague indication of the tangible wealth of the state is given in the total individual deposits of its financial institutions. From the latest reports the following is disclosed: State and national banks, $983,114,396; trust companies, $734,342,838; savings banks, $1,077,383,743; aggregating $2,794,840,978.

The appointments and furnishings of the households of the state unassessed and untaxed undoubtedly represent billions in actual value. Few and small are the entries upon tax rolls of stocks of goods in stores and ledger credits. These are assumed or represented to be offset by ledger debits. In some, if not all, cities it has become fashionable to maintain a mortgage upon the store structure for deduction utility against goods assessment. In provision against the transfer or "death" tax envelopes are found to contain in securities advance apportionment among heirs of large estates, awaiting deathbed or later delivery.

There was an increase of $121,343,809 in the value of real estate in this state last year, while at the same time there was a decrease of assessable personal property to the extent of $28,812,737, leaving a net general increase of $92,531,072.

Peacemaker Stabbed to Death.

QUINCY, Mass., March 16.—While endeavoring to stop a street fight here Fred Peterson was killed by a knife wound in the heart, nearly every particle of blood leaving his body. The crowd scattered as soon as Peterson fell, but the police arrested later in the day Konstand Crobeck and Victor Luama on a charge of murder.

Colorado Strike Partly Settled.

DENVER, March 16.—A partial settlement has been effected in the mill men's strike at Colorado City, which has been on for nearly a month and on account of which the state troops were ordered out. One of the features of the settlement is an agreement that the troops shall be withdrawn at once.

The Exposition of Pre-eminent Modes

—IN—

Millinery, Costumes, Wraps, Waists

and General Wearing Apparel for Women and Children, as prescribed by that erratic woman "Dame Fashion," is now in progress. The showing this year is particularly fine, embracing in its assortments the very choicest productions of the world's foremost designers, presenting an exclusiveness of style and character that can only be found in this big store, whose influence in the mercantile world is as potent in the fashion centres of Europe as its strength is recognized at home.

The domestic manufacturer vies with his foreign cousin in the dissemination of style, and the collection is worthy of every consideration. Of course, as yet "TO PARIS WE MUST GO" for our exemplification of all that is modish.

You find our Costume Section resplendent with the handiwork of such eminent artists as Paquin, Doucet, Beer, Savoye, Raudnitz, Corne and Agnes, of Paris.

Berlin sends us suggestions from H. Gerson, and Russell & Allen, and Viola, of London, are last but not least.

While the Exquisite in Millinery presents attractive features in many instances exclusive from the studios of Lewis, Vimont, Georgette, Maison Carlier, Ester, Meyer, Maison Virot, Camille Rogers and others.

As a whole, it's a "Costume Show" that should be viewed by the ladies of New Jersey ere their thoughts turn New Yorkward, where the upward price tendency forces a condition that presents the same identical garments at a much higher ratio of selling.

The Temple of Fashion

Presenting the Costume "To Be Made" for My Lady Fair.

There is so much of all that is new and seasonable throughout our big store that it is almost impossible to, even in a space occupied by the announcement today, do justice to the sections represented. This big store is the personification of progressiveness on the part of the managers, and ever alive to the interests centered in them and, keenly appreciative of the judgment of the public, must of necessity keep abreast of the times and—most important of all—competition.

This year extraordinary preparations have been made that, compared with our past efforts, cause them to fade away into insignificance—and to the end that you may see for your own satisfaction the result of our labors, we invite you to visit this great store.

Our early Spring offerings in Dress Goods comprise a bewildering assortment of the latest fabrics from the looms of the best foreign and domestic manufacturers. Among the leaders we find: French Voiles, Crepe de Paris, Wool Crepe de Chines, Vigoreaux Crashes, Knickerbockers, Etamines, Grenadine Voiles, Homespuns, Eoliennes, Snowflake Suitings, Albatross, Canvas Cloth, Mistrals, Crepe Egypts, Challies, etc.

IN OUR MATCHLESS SILK DEPARTMENT

A FEW OF THE LEADING WEAVES ARE:

Shantung Pongee, Pongee Checks, Liberty Brilliant, Moire Antique, Grenadines, Moire Damesse, Broche Taffetas, Black and White Fancies, Panne Velvets, Peau de Cygne, Changeable Mervelleux, Louisines, Wash Silks, Crepe de Chine, Shantung Embroidered, Armure Brilliant, Wash Taffetas, Printed Warp Louisines, Jasper Pongee, Satin Liberty, Louisine Checks, Glace Taffetas, Peau de Soie, Foulards, Plaid Taffeta, Japanese Silks.

When in town drop into our restaurant and have luncheon. Best cuisine and most reasonable charges. Free deliveries by our own wagons, and to all railway stations in New Jersey and Greater New York.

BRITISH VISIT CUBA

Squadron of Admiral Douglas In Havana Harbor.

GENERAL EXCHANGE OF SALUTES.

Secretary of the Navy Moody and the British Admiral Exchange Visits—Heroic Act of Dolphin's Crew Commended.

HAVANA, March 16.—The arrival of the British squadron, consisting of the warships Ariadne, Indefatigable, Retribution, Tribune, Fantome and Columbine, yesterday from Kingston, Jamaica, gave the harbor a naval aspect. The morning was occupied with exchanges of salutes and calls. The Ariadne, Vice Admiral Sir Archibald Douglas' flagship, on entering the harbor saluted the fort with twenty-one guns, to which Cabanas fortress replied. The Ariadne then saluted Secretary Moody, who had just arrived here with a congressional party on the United States steamer Dolphin, with seventeen guns. The Dolphin responded by a similar salute.

The Dolphin then saluted Vice Admiral Douglas with fifteen guns, and the Ariadne acknowledged the compliment with the same number of guns. Vice Admiral Douglas then summoned the commanders of the British warships to his flagship, and the party proceeded to the Dolphin and paid their respects to Mr. Moody. The Dolphin fired fifteen guns on their departure. Secretary Moody then visited Vice Admiral Douglas, and the Ariadne saluted him with seventeen guns. The saluting ended by the firing of thirteen guns by the Dolphin in honor of a call on Mr. Moody by General Rodrigues, the commander of the Cuban army.

In the afternoon while Mr. Moody and his party were making an informal visit on shore a squall of tremendous violence swept over the harbor. It became as dark as night, and the wind and the downpour were terrific. Commander Stoney of the Dolphin, realizing the peril to the small boats in the harbor during such a squall, called for volunteer rescuers. The entire crew of the Dolphin responded. Boats were instantly manned and sent off. The launch returned with four half drowned Cubans and the captain's gig with another, who was lifted aboard apparently lifeless, but was later resuscitated.

The courage and prompt action on the part of the Americans are especially commended, as the British ships did not rise to the emergency, although one of the capsized boats was much nearer to the Ariadne than to the Dolphin. Secretary Moody today summoned the Dolphin's crew and commended them for their pluck and presence of mind.

Secretary Moody and party also visited President Palma and the members of his cabinet today. Tomorrow they will proceed to Bahia Honda and on returning to Havana will go to Santiago by rail and return on the Dolphin. They will look over the site for the naval station and general situation at Guantanamo.

The officers of the British squadron will be entertained in various ways before their departure for Bermuda.

National Congress of Mothers.

NEW YORK, March 16.—The annual conference of the National Congress of Mothers will be held this year at Detroit, Mich., May 5 to 8. To the board of management the congress has intrusted the conduct of its business for three years, thus giving more time for valuable conferences, lectures and discussions. An important feature of the work of the congress is to secure the co-operation of home and school, which has been effected in hundreds of schools on plans outlined by the congress. These parent-teacher associations are regarded as most valuable members of the congress, and among their corps are hundreds of parents who have received eagerly the practical and scientific thought given at their meetings to the benefit of both home and school.

Sunday Sham Duels Near Paris.

PARIS, March 16.—A novel encounter in which eight gentlemen fought with dueling swords without buttons under the same conditions as prevail in actual duels and in which four of the combatants were slightly wounded took place yesterday afternoon in a private inclosure at Neuilly, a northwestern suburb of Paris, in the presence of 150 persons, among them being Santos Dumont, Maxime Dreyfus, Robert Charvey and other well known Parisian clubmen. The police attempted to interfere, but the commissary of police was induced to believe that the affair was an ordinary fencing match with buttoned foils, and he departed.

Heavy Increase In Freight Rates.

HOUSTON, Tex., March 16.—A heavy increase in freight rates from St. Louis and New York to Texas common points will become effective today. From New York the class rates are raised from 1 to 6 cents, and from St. Louis the increase ranges between 3 and 8 cents. A number of articles also are taken from the commodity rates and put in higher rate classes, which makes the increase much heavier.

Ohio River Subsiding.

CINCINNATI, March 16.—One rise has followed another so closely during the past month that a flood stage has been kept up in the Ohio river. The river is now falling from Pittsburg to eastern Indiana, and the weather bureau reports no other rise to follow.

Recorder Brown Dead.

PITTSBURG, March 16.—Recorder J. O. Brown of this city, who tendered his resignation to Governor Pennypacker on Friday last, died suddenly at his home here late yesterday.

NO SECRET SESSIONS.

Ever since North Plainfield was a borough, it has been the custom for the Board of Education of that municipality to hold all its sessions in secret. The public has depended on the newspapers for its knowledge of the work of that board and the newspapermen have been compelled to await the pleasure of the members of it who have given out only what they see fit. The sessions of the City Board of Education are public. While it is seldom that anyone but the reporters attend, the public is enabled to keep fully acquainted with the work of that board through the accounts of the meetings in the newspapers.

Nobody questions the honesty or integrity of the members of the Borough Board of Education. They are all citizens of reputation and they have undoubtedly done what they thought was for the best interests of the community. It happens, however, that they have the power to expend a large amount of the public funds and have the direction of one of the most important of the departments of the borough.

The School Board is not a private corporation. The members are the representatives of the people and are looking after the public welfare. For every act, they are responsible to the voters of the borough and it rests with the latter to decide whether or not they shall continue in office. Having such a direct interest in the work of the board, it is but right and proper that the public should know what is done and how it is done.

There are certain questions in the conduct of school affairs which are of a private nature. Public discussion of infractions of rules by pupils would probably do more injury than good. There is much preliminary committee work which, if made public, would defeat its own aims. The transactions of the board should, however, be open to the public gaze. There should be no bar against newspapermen at any meeting of the board.

It is reported that this subject is to be discussed at the school meeting in North Plainfield tomorrow night. It is sincerely to be hoped that the citizens of the borough will act. "Star Chamber" sessions in any public department are dangerous. When public affairs reach that state that the public is not allowed to know what its servants are doing, it is time that something happened. Let the people of the borough express themselves tomorrow night on the subject and make it compulsory that all meetings of the Board of Education shall be open.

WHAT TO DO.

No one seems to question for a moment that the Westfield disaster and the Newark disaster have pointed out the need of some action. The only question seems as to what should be done and on that question there is a decided difference of opinion. Six of Plainfield's best citizens looked carefully into the subject. They found that there were certain questions raised but how those questions should be answered they did not pretend to say. They advised, however, that a commission of experienced men be appointed to carefully consider the subject and discover what should be done.

This idea of a railroad commission was advocated by the New York Tribune immediately after the wreck. The verdict of the coroner's jury was to strongly urge the formation of such a commission as The Tribune has suggested. There are now before the State Legislature two bills providing for such a commission. Nothing has been done with either of them. In regard to the need of immediate action on that subject, the New York Tribune says:

"The coroner's jury which investigated the Westfield wreck recommended the creation of a State commission, and the Newark trolley tragedy emphasized the need of it and the extension of its powers so as to include all railroads. It is practically certain that if the commission bill doesn't pass nothing will be done—in other words, that the lawmakers, with those terrible lessons before them, will simply shrug their shoulders and do nothing. How many Senators and Assemblymen wish to put themselves in that position? How many are anxious to be singled out as caring more to obey lobbyists and political 'grafters' than to heed the wishes of the intelligent men and women of New Jersey? It is clearly up to the Legislature to do something."

The Daily Press publishes a communication from W. J. Conroy, defeated candidate for mayor of North Plainfield. Mr. Conroy lays the blame of his defeat on two stories that were, he claims, circulated about the borough just previous to his election. While Mr. Conroy may be perfectly honest in his belief, we cannot but feel that his defeat was caused by other far more important issues and that no stories of that nature could have made any appreciable difference in the general result. Nearly every candidate for office has to encounter just such things and it will be remembered that Mayor Smalley had even more than his share.

Although the Hope Y. M. A minstrel show was continued three nights, there is no doubt that another production given in the Casino would attract a large crowd. Such a performance for Muhlenberg Hospital would permit the young men of the West End to do something for an institution to which many of them are much indebted. It would ably serve to materially aid one of Plainfield's most valuable institutions in a time when help is most needed.

The general passenger agent of the Burlington Railroad says, according to the Philadelphia Record, that he finds a handsome booklet a good means of advertising "when it supplements newspaper advertising." He considers the booklet to be for the few, the newspaper advertisement for all

It certainly looks as if the salutary lesson of Mayor N. B. Smalley's election in North Plainfield was not without its effect on the members of the State Legislature.

PERSONAL.

Mrs. Samuel Dreier, of West Front street, is seriously ill with heart trouble.

Samuel J. Cosgrove, of Madison, was entertained by friends in this city over Sunday.

Thomas Meaney, of Elm place, left yesterday for Jutland, on account of the illness of his mother.

J. T. S. Hunn and H. Hunn, of Prospect avenue, leave for New Mexico next Monday to be away a year on business.

Walter L. Hetfield, Jr., who has been in Worcester, Mass., on account of the illness of his brother, will return home today.

Company K Meeting.

There will be a meeting of Company K this evening, at which time it is expected that Col. Kline, of Burlington, will be present.

CRACKED HIS SKULL.

Fell Off Trolley Car Platform and Landed on His Head on Hard Macadam.

The sudden jolting of a trolley car on East Fifth street, between Watchung avenue and Washington street, threw James Rogers, forty-three years old, of Bayonne, who was standing on the rear platform. His head struck on the hard macadam and he was rendered unconscious.

The crew had him carried to Dr. Browning's office but efforts to revive him proved futile. He was afterward taken to Muhlenberg Hospital where it was learned he had sustained a fracture of the skull at the base. He is conscious only part of the time and his condition is regarded as serious.

TWO DEATHS.

Dunellen Loses Two Aged Women —Both Old Residents.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Dunellen, March 16—The death of Mrs. Agnes C. Dickason, wife of Charles Dickason, occurred Saturday evening, at her home here after a long illness of gangrene of the foot. She has resided in this town for thirty-five years and was a member of the Presbyterian church. She was in her seventy-fifth year. She leaves no children. The funeral will be held this evening at 8 o'clock and the interment will be in Bound Brook tomorrow morning.

Mrs. Agnes Jackson, an old resident of this place, died here Saturday evening after a long illness. She was eighty-one years of age and had resided here almost all her life. The funeral will be held this afternoon at 3 o'clock and the interment will be in the Seventh Day Baptist cemetery at New Market. She is survived by one son and two daughters.

Returned to Owner.

W. L. Perrin, of Rockview terrace, complained to the local police, yesterday, that while out walking his cocker spaniel was picked up and taken away by a young man. The animal was shortly after found and was returned to the owner.

SUBURBAN NEWS

A Department Devoted to the Minor Events in Greater Plainfield's Suburbs by Our Own Correspondents.

DUNELLEN.

Raymond Apgar, who is recovering from injuries received in the Westfield wreck and is yet unable to be out, had another narrow escape from serious injury on Saturday morning. He had just left a room where the stove, by which he had been sitting became overcharged with gas and exploded, scattering the hot coals about the room. Luckily help was at hand and the coals were extinguished before anything caught fire.

There was a large attendance at services yesterday morning in the Methodist church. The pastor's topic was "When God is for Us, What Can Man do Against us." Only $285 of the church debt remains to be collected and that will be in by April 1.

George Smith will manage the local baseball team this year. The field will probably be at the same place and a strong schedule of home games will be arranged.

The Borough Council will meet this evening in the Borough Hall. The new members will then be sworn in and an organization will be affected.

Mrs. Charles Dickson, who is ill, is in a very critical condition and it is thought she cannot last but a few days.

Fred Dickerson will entertain a number of his young friends tomorrow afternoon at a birthday party.

A meeting of the Literary Circle will be held tomorrow evening at the home of Mrs. Edmund Teel.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Giddes, of Philadelphia, spent Sunday at the home of Isaac Giddes.

Regular services were held yesterday, both morning and evening, in the Presbyterian church.

The young child of Joseph Hague, of Jackson avenue, has been ill for the past few days.

A large new house is being erected on the place formerly occupied by David Lowrie.

William Winges has sufficiently recovered from an attack of pneumonia to be out.

Frederick Giddes, of Philadelphia, spent Sunday at his home in this place.

The banjo club will meet this evening for the regular weekly practice.

Miss May Vail entertained several out-of-town friends yesterday.

A. A. Lake is fast recovering from his recent illness.

NEW MARKET.

An excellent practice game was held by the local ball team, Saturday afternoon. A large number of candidates were out and several made an excellent showing. Practice will be held from now on, on all possible occasions.

Regular services were held yesterday in the First Baptist church, Rev. Frank Fletcher preaching at both services. The regular cottage prayer meeting was held Friday evening at the home of Eugene Runyon.

A meeting will be held this week by the Township Board when the new members will take the oath of office.

F. P. Vail and family have returned to "Vailmere" after a stay in New York city.

There is no barber in town at present, but a good place for one to locate.

Stanley Day visited friends in Plainfield Saturday morning.

W. B. Smith's house on the hill is almost ready for occupancy.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

Those interested in the formation of a baseball team to represent the village upon the diamond during the coming season, met in the parlors of the Central Hotel Saturday night to discuss the financial end of the game as well as the make-up of the team. The plan adopted last season of seeking weekly subscriptions from those interested and charging ground admission at all games was decided upon. Last year's weekly subscriptions amounted to an income of nearly $15 per week. This season gives promise of being even larger. Manager Johnston has full power to get the best team possible together and from the material he has on his waiting list the cranks will not be disappointed in the make-up. The line-up of the team will be announced in about a week. The season will open on Saturday, May 2.

The family troubles of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Clark, of Graceland, are to be aired again in Judge Clark's court. Saturday night Mrs. Clark had her better half before the judge, charged with non-support. The court adjourned the hearing until Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

The weekly shoot of the Brookside, held Saturday afternoon, was well attended, nearly all the members taking advantage of the fine weather to enjoy the sport. Some of the work at the traps was very good for amateurs, some scores being 75 breaks out of a possible 100.

Rev. G. M. Shott, of the Baptist church, occupied the pulpit of the Park Avenue Baptist church, of Plainfield, at both morning and evening service Sunday. Mr. Shott's pulpit was occupied by Rev. Mr. Shaw, of the Seventh-Day church, of Plainfield.

The pleasant weather of yesterday brought out the automobiles, motor cycles and bicycles in large numbers. The steady stream of vehicles through the town during the day gave one the impression that spring was really here.

An interesting meeting of the B. Y. P. U. was held in the parlors of the church last night. Mr. Jenkins, of Plainfield, led the meeting.

Mrs. John R. Cochrane, of Brooklyn, who has been spending a few days with Miss Susie Parse, has returned home.

The members of the Epworth League held their regular weekly meeting in the church last night.

Miss Lizzie Reick, of Plainfield, spent Sunday with her sister, Miss Nettie Reick.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter McDonough have been entertaining friends from out of town.

Jeremiah Cash, of Plainfield, was the guest of friends in town Sunday.

Asa Collier, of Plainfield, visited friends in town Sunday.

Wm. H. Lee lost a valuable horse Saturday from colic.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

Rev. W. A. Spinney will preach at the Baptist church this evening. The singing books used in the special meetings are Penticostal Hymns, No. 2.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilroy Voorhees were entertained yesterday at Mrs. Voorhees' parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Manning.

Mrs. Catherine Brantingham will sell her personal property at public vendue, Thursday, March 19.

Miss May Ayers has returned from a visit with the Misses Grace and Hattie Vannest at Alton.

Miss Hattie Dickerson has returned home from a visit with her friend, Miss Nellie Manning.

Mr. and Mrs. William Voorhees and son spent yesterday with Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Thorn.

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Vanpelt visited Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Thorn yesterday afternoon.

Melvin Teeple is suffering with a severe attack of quincy sore throat.

George Ryno has been making repairs on his house.

—The annual meeting of the Plainfield Building and Loan Association will be held Monday evening, March 23, at 8 o'clock, at 126 Park avenue.

—A meeting of the committee, which has charge of the dance of the Independent Gun Club, will be held this evening at the home of Harry Dreier.

—Of the many hundred sales made, Neuman Brothers have yet to hear of their Old Government Java or Mocha and Java coffee not giving satisfaction. They are unequalled.

COLUMN FOR THE SHOPPERS

SOME OF ATTRACTIONS TO BE FOUND AT LOCAL STORES.

All who wish to celelebrate St. Patrick should call at Harper's, 411 Park avenue, and buy a badge.

James C. Hansen, of East Front street, is ready to quote rates for spring painting. Orders should be placed early before the rush begins.

When it comes to getting the best spring medicines, those which really tone and build up the system, B. J. Schreiner, at the corner of Park avenue and Second street, is the one to go to.

Harry Dreier, the West Front street sporting goods man, is closing out his stock of ping-pong sets. It affords an unequalled opportunity to secure one of these popular games at a small cost. He is now taking orders for baseball uniforms.

T. S. Armstrong, the apothacist at the corner of Park and North avenues, makes a specialty of filling prescriptions and he is prepared at all times to fill them at the shortest notice. He also carries a full and complete line of toilet articles and sponges.

Bonn, the West Front street milliner, is displaying an attractive line of seasonable hats of the best quality and correct shape. Before making your selection it will be to your advantage to inspect this stock. Bonn's specialty is that of selling hats that are becoming to the wearer.

The terrors of wash day disappear when a reliable laundry is found. If housekeepers only knew that G. Meissner, at 432 Watchung avenue, makes a specialty of family washing, at his laundry, there would be fewer torn clothes come home from the washery on Saturday.

Two of the best coffees ever placed on the market are Mocha and Java and Old Government Java. They are sold in this city by Neuman Brothers and the firm guarantees either to be unsurpassed in quality and flavor. The best way to start the day right is by drinking a cup of the beverage brewed from one or the other.

Without doubt one of the most complete stocks of women's suits, separate skirts, shirt waists is to be found at the Paris Cloak Store on West Front street. There is also a fine showing of silk coats for women and children. These are in the ready-made stock, but if you prefer to have your suits to order this will be done and to your satisfaction.

PERSONAL.

Miss Ada VanHorne, of Grove street, was the guest of friends in Newark, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Feickert, of Fairview avenue, were the guests of friends in New York over Sunday.

Miss Mabel Terhune, of East Milford, N. J., has been the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Braider, of West Front street, for a few days.

Miss Oleson, of Franklin place, and Miss Freda Anderson, of East Front street, expect to sail on a White Star Line steamer for Europe June 1.

Mrs. N. W. Pike, of East Front street, has returned home after a month's visit in Baltimore with her sister. Washington and Annapolis were also included in the trip.

What's In a Name?

Everything is in the name when it comes to Witch Hazel Salve. E. C. DeWitt & Co., of Chicago, discovered, some years ago, how to make a salve from Witch Hazel that is a specific for Piles. For blind, bleeding, itching and protruding Piles, eczema, cuts, burns, bruises and all skin diseases, DeWitt's Salve has no equal. This has given rise to numerous worthless counterfeits. Ask for DeWitt's—the genuine. L. W. Randolph.

President Brush Praises the Giants. Famous Race Horse Bought.

INDIANAPOLIS, March 16.—John T. Brush, president of the New York Baseball club, has returned to Indianapolis from New York, where he attended the recent National league meeting. He held a conference in New York with Manager McGraw and says that Mr. McGraw is satisfied that the Giants will be able to stay in the first division during the season. Mr. Brush was also asked about a report that Barney Dreyfus will soon announce that another syndicate is being formed to buy out John T. Brush's interest in the New York club. Mr. Brush said:

"Stranger things have happened." He would not state, however, whether or not there is any truth in the story. He said he expected to spend much of his time the coming summer in New York and personally will look after much of the interests of the New York Nationals.

Foster Has Bought Dr. Rice.

NEW YORK, March 16.—Fred Foster, the well known turfman, received a cablegram from his representative in Germany saying that he had bought for Mr. Foster the Brooklyn handicap winner, Dr. Rice. Dr. Rice was once before owned by Foster, who sold him to Baron Bleichroder, the Berlin banker. The recent death of the baron in an automobile accident caused the offering on the market of all the baron's horse interests except the horses in training, who must finish their German racing engagements. The cablegram further said that Dr. Rice had been shipped to America.

A BOLD ROBBERY.

Masked Men Bind Inmates and Ransack House For Treasure.

WAPAKONETA, O., March 16.—A bold robbery took place near Cridersville, six miles north of here. Fourteen masked men entered the house of Mrs. Jacob Reischelderfer, an aged and wealthy widow, and took possession. With Mrs. Reischelderfer are living her granddaughter, Blanche, aged twelve years; George James and his wife and their son, Joseph James, a young man. Mrs. Reischelderfer was known to be afraid to trust her money to the banks.

The robbers first knocked down the elder James and bound him and the two women hand and foot with ropes and tied them to beds in separate rooms. When Joseph James returned from town, the robbers seized and bound him in the kitchen. At the point of a shotgun they made the little girl tell where the money was to be found. They secured $1,200 in cash and $7,000 worth of notes and securities from an old chest and proceeded to ransack the house. They took possession of all the jewelry and silverware and secured a month's wages from the elder James' pocket. They blindfolded all but the little girl.

After dividing the money some of the robbers left at midnight, and the others stayed until 2 o'clock, helping themselves to wine and eatables. They called all their victims by their first names and are supposed to have come from Cridersville and vicinity and appeared to be familiar with the house.

Floods on Lower Mississippi.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., March 16.—The flood situation between Caruthersville, Mo., and Baton Rouge, La., is serious. The river is rising rapidly, and it will be a little short of marvelous if the levees hold the great volume of rushing water. The gauge at Memphis marks 38.5 feet. This is the highest water ever recorded here, and those interested have been warned to prepare for a stage of forty feet. The situation in and around Memphis is becoming more serious.

Wreck on Southern Railway.

CHARLESTON, S. C., March 16.—The Southern railway vestibule train No. 34 was wrecked at a switch eight miles north of Camden. The front trucks under the baggage car jumped the main track and threw the train into the side track, all the cars being completely derailed except the Pullman, which had one set of wheels off. One man, an unknown tramp, supposedly asleep on the siding, was killed instantly.

Venezuelan Rebels Again Defeated.

CARACAS, Venezuela, March 16.—A body of government troops was sent from Margarita island March 13 to attack the rebels at Carapano, which during the blockade was taken by them. After three hours' fighting the government forces reoccupied the town, recapturing the guns and Mausers and taking sixty-three prisoners, thirty-nine of whom were wounded.

Another Cornell Student Ill.

ITHACA, N. Y., March 16.—J. W. Knapp of Syracuse, a senior in the College of Law at Cornell university, has been taken to the City hospital suffering with typhoid fever. Knapp was Cornell's champion high jumper last year, and his absence from the team will weaken Cornell materially on its western trip, which will be taken during the Easter vacation.

Cash Ready For Germany.

CARACAS, Venezuela, March 16.—The amount of the first payment due to Germany under the Washington agreement has been deposited in a safe at the treasury and will be paid on the order of the German minister, Herr von Pelidram. The latter is expected to arrive here tomorrow.

Ninth Victim of Easton Explosion.

EASTON, Pa., March 16.—E. A. Darling, thirty-seven years of age, has died at his home in New Village, N. J., from burns received in the explosion at the Edison Cement works on the 2d inst. He is the ninth victim of the accident. Mr. Darling was a graduate of Cornell university.

BREAK THE NEWS GENTLY.

Turkish Papers Have a Queer Way of Carrying Out the Edicts of the Sultan.

There is no such thing as "yellow journalism" in Turkey; the journalism of that country is of the bleached variety. The sultan of Turkey has a censor who is a censor net. He has views, and his views "go."

Sometime ago a traveling company attempted to play "Othello" in Constantinople, and the play was presented to the censor as a mere matter of form. It was not supposed that he would find any objection to it, but he did, and a very serious objection, moreover. He objected strongly to the statement that Othello, was sent to Cyprus, for the political reason that as the island belonged to Turkey no Venetian had a right there, and the manager of the company had to send Othello to some other island before the performance was allowed.

It is a rule of the sultan that no ruler can die what is called a violent death, and the newspapers have to state such occurrences in a very careful manner. The Fourth Estate has found in a newspaper of Turin some examples of the methods employed to evade the facts of royal assassinations.

When King Humbert was assassinated at Menza, the Turkish newspapers announced this sad event in this form: "King Humbert left the hall amid the frantic cheers of the people. The king, much affected, bowed several times, and to all appearances was immediately dead." Now that was an extremely clever way of stating a distressing fact.

THE PULQUERIES OF MEXICO.

Picturesque Resorts of the City Which Attract the Tourists' Attention.

"The pulqueries of the City of Mexico are a unique feature of the life in that country that never fail to catch the eye of the tourist and attract the attention of visitors," said A. S. Chewning, of El Paso, Tex., to a Washington Star man. "There are nearly a thousand such places and they dispense many carloads of pulque every day. These pulque shops are open every day in the year, and surely present a picturesque appearance. The walls are decorated with the most extraordinary pictures, representing bull fights and prize fights. The extraction of the pulque from the stems is done by hollowing out a sort of cup in one end and letting the sap flow into it, which is done very quickly. Then it is emptied into a gourd, which is carried by the pulque dealer. A plant will yield from three to ten gallons. Every pulque shop in the City of Mexico has a name peculiarly its own, such as 'Delights of Life,' 'The Smile,' 'The Charmer,' 'The Hope,' 'The Rainbow,' 'The Image of Jesus,' 'The Inspiration' and a lot of others of a similar nature. Pulque when taken in large quantities is intoxicating. It forms the principal drink of the Mexicans, and is a thin, whitish fluid, with the odor of sour milk."

ORIGINATED RAILWAY MAIL.

The Great Service First Thought Of by a Postmaster at St. Joseph, Mo.

"I ran across an old memorandum in looking through the files the other day that showed very clearly the origin of the vast railway mail service now in vogue in the United States," said a post office official to a Washington Star man.

"The man who started what is now an elaborate system was the postmaster at St. Joseph, Mo., at the time, appointed to the position by President Buchanan. His idea grew out of the old 'pony express,' which also had its origin in St. Joseph. He evolved an ingenious system of boxes for handling his mail expeditiously on the arrival of the 'express' by rigging up a lot of partitions in an old dry goods box, and labeled each hole with the name of an office served by the 'express,' on the arrival of the 'rider' he would sort out his mail and tie up the packages in the different partitions. When baggage cars were first in vogue, the bale-box idea was used, and, crude as it was, it added greatly to the rapidity with which the mail could be handled. From this crude beginning has been evolved the most elaborate railway mail service in the entire world, and from the one man who originated it it now takes nearly 30,000 men to carry it on."

SNUFF, BUT NO TAKERS.

Uncle Sam Buys Five Pounds Yearly for the Members of Congress.

Ever since the United States senate held its first session, snuff has been provided for the members. The secretary of the senate buys five pounds every year. The snuff is kept in two boxes, one on each side of the entrances from the lobby. Any member who wants a pinch is free to take it.

There are no snuff takers in the present senate although in the old days, of course, nearly every senator took it. The snuff in the present boxes stands untouched from one year's end to the other, but it is always there and always fresh. The snuff is provided under an old rule that has never been abrogated.

In the last report of the expenditure of the contingent fund of the senate stands this item: "Five pounds of Copenhagen snuff, $29.60.

Germany's Ships.

Germany has built the finest, fastest vessels afloat, although she is not geographically a maritime country, and no other country is so largely dependent on others for the raw materials which enter into the making of a ship.

COFFEE AND TEA JACKETS.

Sack Effects Popular—Inexpensive Lace Coats.

The lace coat is a delightful innovation for evening wear, as it may be worn over a soft blouse of ordinary make or with a sleeveless slip cut with a low neck. The bolero of lace with hanging frills is usually termed a coffee coat, but the longer garment, which is drawn into the waist in some fashion, is generally described as a tea jacket.

During the sales lace is sold at a tempting price, and a clever cutter can make a little coffee coat from two yards of twenty inch lace, or two and a quarter yards is ample with ordinary care. If there are stole ends, these require extra lace, and a very heavy make of lace will often split down the middle to provide the ends; therefore eighteen or twenty-seven inches extra should be allowed for these.

A pretty sack coat costume seen recently was of sear brown cloth, with collar and cuffs of ivory cloth embroidered in blue and gold and revers of ermine. The skirt was finished with shaped frills which did not cross the front, and lines of trimming ran down each side and were continued on the flounces.

A dainty lounging robe is the subject of the illustration.

SEEN ON THE STREET.

Smart Models In Cape Ruffles—Zibeline Wraps.

The pelerine is now prepared for spring wear and is really a new form of cape ruffle. It will doubtless achieve popularity in its more elegant and costly form and when copied in cheap materials will soon vanish from the world of fashion.

A rich emerald panne arranged on three shaped straps, one above the other, had a deep flounce and lappets, or tails, of drab lace, and another had a narrower border of mink on the shaped stole and a deep plaited frill of brown chiffon.

Zibeline cloth is a decidedly welcome material, as it is smart in the lighter tones both for evening and carriage wear and in the darker tones makes a useful country or driving wrap. Fawn zibeline, with touches of brown panne and coarse Arab lace, gives a very smart effect, and ivory white trimmed with chiffon and soft fur makes the daintiest of evening wraps.

A useful coat is shown in the cut.

LESSON FOR SNITCHERS.

Police Teach Them to Be More Careful About Locking Their Windows at Night.

About three a. m. Mrs. Snitcher was awakened by noises in the kitchen. She shook Mr. Snitcher violently. Mr. Snitcher, says the New York Sun, rolled over and drowsily muttered:

"Leggo."

The stairs creaked.

"John, John!" whispered Mrs. Snitcher, again shaking her husband. "Wake up, John. There are burglars in the house."

"Huh?" asked John, rubbing his eyes.

At that moment the door swung softly open and two black, shadowy forms crept silently into the room.

"Help!" gasped Mrs. Snitcher, and she sank back on her pillow in a swoon.

Mr. Snitcher was about to do likewise when one of the intruders struck a match and calmly lit the gas. The very audacity of the thing caused Mr. Snitcher to sit bolt upright and stare at the supposed burglars.

"Well," said one of them, removing the black mask which covered his face, "this ought to teach you folks to be more careful. We're detectives from the two hundred and twenty-fifth precinct, an' th' captain sent us around to show you guys how easy it would be for real crooks to break in. After a good philanthropic object lesson like this, I guess you'll remember to fasten your back windows better. Good night."

Soon after the men had gone Mrs. Snitcher came to.

"I knew they weren't real burglars," said Mr. Snitcher, "the moment I heard their footsteps."

He had rather a hard time next morning, however, trying to convince Mrs. Snitcher that the carrying off of all the silverware was merely the policemen's way of making their lesson more impressive.

A CHICAGO INVENTION.

It's a New Game, Named Typhoon Poker, and It Certainly May Be Called a Hummer.

"They're playing a new game of poker in Chicago," said a traveling man who has just got in from the west to a New York Sun reporter. "It's called Typhoon poker, and it certainly is a hummer.

"The game is a simple one to play, and I understand that it has already broken up a few Windy City families. Not more than five persons can play it, and it is a good deal like stud poker.

"Supposing that there are five persons playing, the dealer hands out four cards, face down, to each player. The fifth card is face up, and then the betting begins, the man who has the highest face card making the first bet on what he considers the value of his entire five cards. There is a limit, of course, but it needn't be high to make the game lively.

"When the betting is over on the first five cards each man is dealt another card face up. The betting begins again and keeps up until each man is satisfied that he has had enough.

"Once more the same operation is gone through, and by that time, each man having eight cards from which to make the best poker hand of five cards, there are some pretty stiff hands out. The betting increases in accordance with the value of the hands, and each man is ready to bet his pile.

"The next card, the ninth and last, is dealt face down. That means that four of the cards held by each player are exposed to those around the board and the rest are concealed except to the player.

"Now anyone who has played poker knows the sort of combination that can be made out of nine cards. And knowing that it isn't hard to figure out the kind of plunging that is done in Typhoon poker."

CURIOUS COURTSHIP.

Rich Miner Paid Attention to Daughter and in the End Married the Mother.

Many men have tried to win the daughter by courting the mother and have not found the plan a good one. The daughter never seems to like it. Don W. Farris, an old Richmond boy, who is now visiting in that place, reversed the plan, writes a Kansas City correspondent to the Chicago Journal, and it worked like a charm.

Farris is a rich young miner. Most of his holdings are in Old Mexico, and he is said to have cleared up as much as $130,000 in a single year. Six years ago he was at Excelsior Springs, Mo., dinking the waters for malaria.

One Sunday morning he was strolling about, when he saw a pretty little girl sitting on a bench. He sat down beside her, and noticed she was reading a Sunday school paper. A bootblack asked to shine his shoes. "No, I don't believe in having that kind of work done on Sunday," he replied. The little girl looked up. "And you don't, either, do you?" he added. "No, I don't," she answered. The miner and the little girl soon became good friends. Presently her mamma came up, and the miner concluded he liked her even better than he did her little daughter.

When he returned to Mexico he wrote the little girl a letter, and they corresponded until last spring, when, Farris being in the United States, Mrs. Nye invited him to come to see her daughter in St. Louis. The result of all which is that Farris and the widow are now wedded and visiting in Richmond, and the pretty little girl is his stepdaughter.

Farris has had an interesting career. He ran away from home at 16, and worked as a miner in the southwest. He caught smallpox in New Mexico, and John Sillman, the bandit, nursed him back to life, for which service Farris gave him every dollar he had. He has been making money quite rapidly since then.

ROMANCE IN BALLOON.

Dashing Aeronaut Wins Love of Kentucky Maiden While Making an Ascension.

A Kentucky correspondent of the Chicago Tribune is authority for the statement that Henry Prater, who thought he would figure as a bridegroom, is now acting only as a relator of facts. Another man is the bridegroom and Prater is interesting only because he tells the story. He was engaged to marry a beautiful young woman. He says she was beautiful, and Kentuckians are supposed to be believed. Everything was set for their marriage, when one day they went to a country fair.

A balloonist was preparing to make an ascension. Just before the ropes were cast off he looked about him and asked if some young woman, some pretty young woman preferred, would not like to make the trip with him. It was only a dare, but the young woman at Prater's side said she would do it. Prater did not offer objections, and she was helped in the car.

Off went the balloon. That was the last Prater ever saw of his bride-to-be. They have not been killed. There is good evidence to prove that they descended and made away safely. While up in the neighborhood of the clouds the balloonist found opportunity to make love to the young girl. She was attracted by him. A balloonist must be much like a soldier in attractiveness. Anyway, she could not resist him. By the time they alighted they were engaged to be married, and they hastened away for a marriage license —"just for the romance of it."

Do You Wish To Borrow Money?

In order to accommodate all classes of borrowers (those who cannot borrow at a bank, as well as those who can), the Mutual Loan and Investment Company, of 118 Market street, Newark, N. J., has a department for handling quickly and confidentially loans ranging from five to one hundred dollars on furniture, pianos, storage receipts, etc.

The security is not removed from your possession or in any way disturbed. The honest, careful and conservative borrower will try and decide two points before borrowing. First, where he can get the best terms. Second, where he can get fair and square treatment.

This company is in a position to give you by far the most satisfactory terms ever offered by any concern or individual negotiating this class of loans.

With this company you are assured of getting the lowest rates, easiest payments and longest time for repayment. The whole transaction from the time the application is made until loan is paid is entirely confidential. We give you another advantage in case you take the loan out for six months or a year, and wish to settle the same before the time expires; we charge you only for the time you have had the money. We also take up loans from other companies and advance more money.

Kindly call and let us explain our simple and up-to-date methods if not entirely convenient for you to call, please write and our representative will call and give you any desired information. Remember it costs nothing to make application. Loans promptly made in Elizabeth, Plainfield, Westfield, Roselle, Rahway, Perth Amboy and all suburban towns.

A POISON SHOP.

Wagon Load of Drugs Found In a Supposed "Murder Mill."

PHILADELPHIA, March 16.—With the arrest of George Hossey, a colored spiritualistic medium and "herb doctor," and Mrs. Catherine Danz, charged with the murder of her husband, detectives who have been working on the case believe they have evidence of the existence of a "murder mill" in this city.

The man is charged with being an accessory to the alleged murder and, with the woman, was held without bail to await the action of the coroner.

From the house of the small, white haired negro was taken a wagon load of drugs, consisting mainly of arsenic and rat poison, and efforts will be made to show that the "herb shop" took an active part in reducing the city's population.

Mrs. Danz emphatically denies the charge of murder, but admits having visited "Dr." Hossey's shop for the purpose of obtaining a concoction that would cure her husband of the drink habit. A private detective who has been working on the case for the last six weeks called on the negro and told him he was having trouble with a woman. After a little conversation the "doctor," according to the detective, volunteered to sell him a powder that would kill the woman in three days. The negro said further that he had given a woman some powder more than a year ago to get rid of her husband.

A MEDICAL SWINDLE.

Indiana Physicians and Business Men Think They Were Duped.

INDIANAPOLIS, March 16.—J. C. Wilson and H. G. Barrows, two young men who came here last summer and claimed to be agents of what is known as the "Medical Alliance of America," have not been seen for about six weeks, and their patrons, some seventy-five physicians and about 100 business men and others, believe they have been duped. Wilson incorporated the concern and then explained the scheme to many physicians. The doctors were to pay an initiation fee of $10 and $1 a year dues and furnish a list of their patrons to the "alliance."

The agents went among the patrons of the physicians and induced many of them to become members of the alliance by paying an initiation fee of $1 and weekly payments of 15 cents. In return the patrons were promised free medical attention.

The merchants were next visited and induced to become members on the payment of $2 upon their agreement to allow the patrons of the alliance a discount of 5 per cent on articles furnished. The "Medical Alliance" also issued policies for the payment of death benefits. About $5,000 was secured by the men.

Letters have been written to the home office of the "Medical Alliance of America" in Montreal, Canada, and answers have been received that an investigation will be made.

Mule Spinners on a Strike.

PAWTUCKET, R. I., March 16.—The Rhode Island Mule Spinners' association at its branch in Woonsocket, in accordance with a unanimous vote, struck today in the four mills of the Manville company, three of which are in Woonsocket and one in Manville, R. I. The spinners ask for an increase of 10 per cent, but General Secretary James Cliffe of the Rhode Island Mule Spinners' association states that there are other grievances which extend back for some time. One of these is that men are transferred from one loom to another; also that kerosene lamps are used in the mule room at Manville instead of electric lights.

President's Western Trip.

WASHINGTON, March 16.—It is almost certain now that President Roosevelt will start from Washington on his western trip April 1. Several senators have discussed the subject with him, all of them being anxious to induce him to make stops in their states. The itinerary of the journey, which will occupy at least two months and perhaps a little longer, is being prepared. Indeed many of the details already have been worked out tentatively on the basis of starting on the 1st of April. The greater part of the month of April will be spent by the president in the Yellowstone park in rest and recreation.

A Mysterious Shooting.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., March 16.—Anthony McHugh, a freight conductor on the Lehigh Valley railroad, and James Kearney were found on the main street of Pittston bleeding from gunshot wounds. Both men were on their way to work when they were shot. McHugh died shortly after being discovered. Kearney was taken to the City hospital, where it was found that he was shot near the heart, and his recovery is doubtful. The shooting is a mystery, and the police are unable to find any trace of the murderers.

Dr. Webb Ill In San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 16.—Dr. Seward Webb of New York, who, with a party of friends, reached southern California from the east several days ago, has arrived unexpectedly at San Francisco and is now in seclusion in his apartments at the Palace hotel. Dr. Webb is ill, a fact which his physicians have tried to conceal, as they attempted to conceal the fact of his presence in San Francisco.

Justice Day's Condition Hopeful.

WASHINGTON, March 16.—The condition of Justice Day of the United States supreme court, who is ill here with pneumonia, continues encouraging. Dr. B. L. BASKET BALL.

One of the most interesting games of basket ball which have been held at the local Y. M. C. A. this season, outside of the league games, will be played this evening between the Y. M. C. A. team and one from the Orange Y. M. C. A. The game will be called at 8 o'clock.

Another interesting game in the Plainfield Amateur Basket Ball League will be played this evening at the Hope chapel gymnasium between the Hope Y. M. A. and Reform Club teams. The game is called for 8:15 o'clock. After the showing that the Y. M. C. A. made against the Reform Club, the Hope boys are anxious to see what they can do. Then the Reformers want to redeem themselves.

ON THE DIAMOND.

The Plainfield Amateur Baseball League will hold the first meeting of the season, Saturday night. Preliminary plans for the summer will be made and officers will be elected.

SHOT POLICEMAN.

Colored Man, Wanted for Assaulting Mrs. VonTwistern, Adds Another to His List of Crimes.

Word has been received by the local police that a colored man, who yesterday shot and mortally wounded a policeman in Philadelphia, was none other than the negro who committed the brutal assaiut on Mrs. Peter Von Twistern at the Dunellen trolley terminus a few weeks ago. He is described as being one of the most dangerous criminals at large and the police of a dozen cities are after him.

In addition to the two mentioned crimes, he is wanted for shooting a policeman in Orange, assaulting and robbing a Chinaman at Bound Brook and for several hold-ups at Newark. After yesterday's affair, when it was thought his capture was certain, he eluded the Quaker City police and all trace of him has been lost.

Cake Sale at Grace Church.

The most successful cake sale ever held at the Grace M. E. church was held Saturday afternoon by the King's Daughters for the benefit of the King's Daughters' nurse. The sale netted $12. It was very largely attended and as was shown by the profits the patronage was generous.

LIBRARY WORKERS AT SHORE

PENNSYLVANIA AND NEW JERSEY ASSOCIATIONS TO HOLD JOINT MEETING.

Will Take Place March 27 and 28 at Atlantic City—Some of the Speakers.

The plans for the seventh joint meeting of the Pennsylvania and New Jersey State Library Association at Atlantic City March 27 and 28, are practically completed.

The plans provide for three busy business sessions as well as several social functions.

The important themes to come before the meeting are "How to Promote Serious Reading," through public libraries, university extension methods, universities, women's clubs and bibliographical enterprises.

A notable array of speakers has been invited to take part. Among them are Dr. George McLean Harper, professor of belles-letters, Princeton; Herbert Putnam, congressional library, Washington; Horace Wadlin, librarian, Boston public library; Thomas L. Montgomery, State librarian, Harrisburg, Pa.; Mr. Peoples, Mercantile library, New York; Frank P. Hill, Brooklyn; Miss Winser, Newark, N. J., public library; Miss Kroeger, Drexel institute; B. Lansing Collins and W. W. Bishop, Princeton.

Mrs. Thurlow, representative of the Women's clubs, and Mrs. John Nolen, secretary of the university extension, will speak of the work of these organizations for the encouragement of the reading habit and the taste for better reading.

¶ The aims of the gathering are to do much in a definite way to clear the public mind of misapprehensions regarding the sort of reading that is fostered by the public library system. Although so great a proportion of library circulation is fiction, it is pointed out that it does not necessarily follow that it is all light reading, as much of the so-called fiction is books written with a purpose and conveying invaluable information in a way to fix it in the reader's memory, as well as to stimulate higher standards of living.

YELLED MURDER.

'Twas Only a Small Boy Who Found He Was Locked Out.

A small boy with an over developed pair of lungs caused no end of excitement in the vicinity of Putnam avenue and Richmond street, shortly before 10 o'clock last night.

Returning home from church, he found all the doors locked and unable to waken the family he set up a long drawn howl interspersed with yells of "murder." Several bluecoats rushed up to the residence with visions of a real hard battle before them while nightcapped heads appeared in a dozen upstairs windows. When the boy stopped blubbering long enough to tell what ailed him, he was hustled inside, the cops said a few things under their breaths and the windows descended with a bang.

THE STORIES DEFEATED HIM

W. J. CONROY EXPLAINS HIS DEFEAT FOR MAYOR OF NORTH PLAINFIELD.

Says Stories That He Opposed Catholics Are Utterly False and Defeated His Candidacy.

Plainfield, N. J., March 16, 1903.

To the Editor of The Daily Press:—Will you kindly allow me space in your paper to set myself right before the citizens of the borough of North Plainfield, especially the members of St. Joseph's Roman Catholic church.

A story was passed around a week ago Sunday among the members of that church that I was opposed to Catholics and that I did not vote for Wm. J. Demond at the fall election when he was running for surrogate because he was a Catholic. Another story was put in circulation that I ridiculed Mayor Smalley because, as the story goes, he attended a dinner given by the Knights of Columbus and sat next to Father Miller.

In answer to the first story I want to say that I voted for Wm. J. Demond for surrogate and worked for him at the polls, and can bring Republicans who will testify to the fact that I told them that it was the best ticket in the field and was worthy of their support.

The other story I know nothing about. I did not know that the Knights of Columbus had given a dinner, I do not know where it was given and have never mentioned Mr. Smalley's name in that or any other connection with the Catholic church. I have no religious prejudices nor have I ever had especially against Catholics whom I number among my best friends.

These stories are cruel and false and have no foundation in fact, and the only excuse I know of for them, is that I with others, was elected delegate to the county convention last fall and the North Plainfield delegates supported Mr. Spencer for the nomination for surrogate instead of Mr. Demond, whom I had never met before that day. Mr. Demond was said to be a Catholic.

These stories are responsible for my defeat last Tuesday and were circulated by an ardent annexationist who is now ready to claim that the late election was a fair expression of the voters of the borough. I know a number of voters that would have cast their votes for me who voted for Mr. Smalley after they heard these reports, and they not only voted against me but also used their influence against me at the polls.

Any fair minded citizen will agree with me when I say that this man has defeated his own ends for it would not be right to keep these facts away from the public or from the Legislature of the State. In closing I want to say that the methods used by this man were unfair in the extreme. He knew that I would have no chance to deny his charges or check their course before election was over. We condemn lynch law because it does not give a man a chance to defend himself. Is not this something akin to lynch law? I want to emphasize the fact that I am a better friend to the Catholic church than any man who stirs up religious prejudices and hope that the members of St. Joseph's church will accept this statement which is the truth.

W. J. Conroy.

Committee in Charge.

The entertainment and supper given in Mt. Olive Baptist church last Thursday evening, was under the management of Mrs. Robert Yetman and a very efficient committee, and not Miss Lulu Dempsey and Mrs. E. E. Jackson, as was previously stated. The affair proved very successful from a social and financial standpoint.

Change in Store Staff.

Miss Mabel Wilson is temporarily filling the position of cashier at Hill & Shupp's store, in place of Miss Elizabeth Day, who resigned. Miss O'Keefe, who has been one of the saleswomen in the store, will have the position permanently as soon as she becomes acquainted with the details of it.

Gift to His Wife.

Abram G. Nelson, of New Market, transferred to his wife, this morning, as a present, a handsome house, located in the village, which he had built last summer. It contains all modern improvements and is valued at $4,000.

Social at Business College.

There will be a social at the Plainfield Business College, Friday evening, for the students.

LETTER CARRIERS TO MEET

ANNUAL MEETING TO BE HELD AT ELIZABETH IN MAY.

Decoration Day is Time Set—Some Important Questions to be Considered.

The annual meeting of the New Jersey Letter Carriers' Association will be held in Elizabeth, Decoration Day, and already the men connected with the local office are making extensive preparations for the entertainment of their several hundred guests of that day.

Nicholas A. Flynn, of Elizabeth, is president of the State organization. The delegates will be looked after by the Elizabeth carrier members of branch No. 67.

This will be the first time the State association will have met in Elizabeth. Decoration Day last year the postoffice clerks of New Jersey met there, and the local force secured so favorable a reputation as entertainers at that time that the carriers' committee, as soon as the invitation was tendered, accepted it.

Several important matters will be discussed at this year's session, among which will be the question of increased salary, graduated according to term of service. At present a carrier in his first year gets $600. In his second year he receives $800 and in the third year $1,000. Thereafter there is no advancement for him. The carriers are anxious to better this state of affairs. They are at work, all over the country, in a movement to have salaries increased on a graded system until it reaches $1,200 a year.

LAYING GAS MAINS.

Pipes Now Being Laid in Residential Part of Bound Brook.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Bound Brook, March 16—The extension work of laying gas mains in the residential section of the town has begun here and in a short time not only the business slection but the residential part of the town will be supplied with gas. The Somerset Gas Company has recently laid pipes from the gas plant in Somerville to Bound Brook and heretofore the business part of the town has alone enjoyed the gas light, the residential section being lighted with electricity.

The main line was completed last summer but owing to a scarcity of pipe there has been some delay in completing the laying of the conduits in town.

COMPANY K WON.

Defeated Team From Company C, Fourth Regiment, by Single Point.

A team from Company K, consisting of Captain Martin, A. I. Littell, A. R. Phillips, C. B. Pope, Richard Evans and C. H. Bilyeu, went to Jersey City Saturday and took part in a match with a team of five from Company C of the Fourth Regiment, in charge of Captain Turria. The Plainfield team was victorious by one point, the score being 508 to 507. The match was held on the 75 yards' range.

LITERARY.

The Cosmopolitan Magazine for March contains a number of noteworthy articles. "The Police Systems of Europe," by Avery D. Andrews, formerly Police Commissioner of New York, embodies many of the results of the investigations of the author on his recent official visit to Europe, where he went to study the police systems of the leading countries. It is capitally illustrated. "The Selection of a Home," by Clarence A. Martin, professor of architecture at Cornell University, is the first of twelve articles on the general subject of "How to Administer a Household." Other articles are: "The Young Napoleon," by Field-Marshal Viscount Wolseley, K. P.; "Mankind in the Making," by H. G. Wells; "Insurance as a Profession," by Charles F. Thwing, LL. D., President of the Western Reserve University; and "Beauty in the Modern Chorus." The March Cosmopolitan also contains four complete stories in addition to Henry Seton Merriman's new novel, "Barlasch of the Guard."

"Denis Dent," a novel of thrilling adventure in the Australian gold fields, by E. W. Hornung, who wrote the Amateur Cracksman stories, begins in the March number of Leslie's Monthly, which also contains the first account of the U. S. Expedition to explore the depths on the Pacific ocean, clearly and vividly told in photograph and story, and the history of the rise and present power of one of the newest and greatest of trusts, the tobacco combine. There is a story of graceful sentiment by Roy Rolfe Gilson, with drawings by Jessie Wilcox Smith, and an animal sketch by C. G. D. Roberts, with drawings by Charles L. Bull. Two other stories of sentiment and humor; a biting tale by Maarten Maartens, and an article on Theatrical First Nights, richly illustrated, and one on the Dismal Swamp. A clever satire, called "The Literary Graveyard," and an article on "Limericks" enliven the end of the magazine.

The March McClure's will not only be read; it will be talked about for many days to come. Lincoln Steffens's "The Shamelessness of St. Louis" is an article that can't be dodged; it is, indeed, as Mr. Steffens says "something new in the history of American municipal democracy." Of distinct importance, also, is Samuel Moffett's article "The War on the Locomotive," which is a surprising revelation of what the trolley people are up to, in the new inter-urban development of electric travel. Miss Tarbell's fifth chapter of Standard Oil History treats of "The Price of Trust Building," and must certainly not be missed. Stewart Edward White begins his new series of "Blazed Trail" stories with "The Scaler," a logging tale such as Mr. White knows best how to tell. "The Conversion of Father Cassidy" is the best of all Herminie Templeton's Irish stories. "Love Among the Blackboards," by Myra Kelly, recounts the very diverting experiences of "Teacher" in an East Side society. Arthur Stanwood Pier's new novel, "The Triumph," is in its second instalment, and promises to be as good a story as is anywhere running serially today.

The high authority of the series on the Government of the United States now appearing in Scribner's Magazine is again shown in the March number by the article on "The Supreme Court of the United States" by Hon. David J. Brewer, Associate Justice. The instant favorable reception given to John Fox's serial, "The Little Shepherd of Kingdom Come" has been marked by a flood of personal letters to the author and by enthusiastic praise in the press. The third instalment shows that Mr. Fox has got his pace and keeps it. Here "Chad" has many amusing experiences at school in the Bluegrass, where the customs of the mountaineer seem strangely out of place. This century is spoken of generally as one of utility and not of beauty and yet in an article on "The Twentieth Century City" John Corbin reveals many of the strikingly picturesque aspects of modern life. His text is fully borne out by a series of reproductions from remarkable photographs by the chief of our amateurs, Alfred Stieglitz. E. C. Peixotto, the artist, has been making studies abroad of Punch-and-Judy shows, and he writes very entertainingly about them, and illustrates them in his article entitled "Marionettes and Puppet Shows." There are four illustrated short stories.

Mrs. J. V. Beekman, of West Eighth street, has gone to Waterbury, Conn., on a visit with friends.

MAYOR MAKES APPOINTMENTS

At the First Session of the New Borough Council—Little Other Business Done.

ADDRESS BY THE MAYOR

Mayor Smalley Hopes for Sewers Soon—Favors Continuation of Widening of Somerset Street, and Wanted Plans for Engine House Carried to Completion.

Appointments were made and confirmed at the first meeting of the Borough Council for the fiscal year when that body met last evening in the Council chambers. There was a large attendance at the meeting which lasted but an hour. The time was occupied in swearing in the new appointees and in getting in shape for another year's business.

When the meeting opened Mayor Smalley said that during the four years in which he has served the people of North Plainfield as their mayor the Council has supported and stood behind him and he hoped that the friendly relations would continue. He touched briefly on the sewerage question and said that he hoped a settlement of this important question would be made, thus providing the borough with this much needed improvement. He also touched upon the streets and said that he looked for many improvements especially since there had been an increase in the appropriation and referred to the widening of Somerset street north of Jackson avenue, an improvement which, he said, was necessary to the progress of the borough, and he was ready to go ahead with the improvement as soon as the Council should think it was advisable to do so.

In regard to the proposed new engine house he said it was his wish and hope that that matter would soon be straightened out and the plans of the original proposed house be carried out to completion.

The appointments made by Mayor Smalley were as follows: Borough clerk and auditor, Frank Rowley; recorder, Thomas Doud; counsel, Charles A. Reed; overseer of the poor, William G. Debele; chief engineer of the fire department, J. J. Stahl; first assistant engineer of the fire department, Herman Klinsman; engineer of Warren Engine Company, Louis Feiring; electrician, Alonzo Brokaw; janitor of Warren Engine Company, George Steward; janitor of the West End Hose Company, Frank Perry; chief marshal, William Campbell; regular marshal, Lawrence Fahn; borough physician, no appointment.

The following committees were named by the mayor:

Streets and public health—James K. Arnold, chairman; Robert Clark, Jr., Morris C. VanArsdale.

Fire, water and lamps—Robert Clark, Jr., James P. Northrup, Charles A. Lee.

Auditing and finance—Charles L. Nichols, James P. Northrup, James K. Arnold.

License and marshals—Charles Lee, Morris C. VanArsdale and Robert Clark, Jr.

Lamps, ordinances and taxation—James P. Northrup, Charles L. Nichols, James K. Arnold.

Stationary and supplies—Morris C. VanArsdale, Charles L. Nichols and Charles A. Lee.

H. C. VanEmburgh and Frank J. Hubbard were appointed borough engineers. All the work on the west side of Somerset street will be given to Mr. Hubbard and all that on the east side will be in charge of Mr. VanEmburgh.

Several important resolutions were offered and adopted. By Councilman Nichols: That the rules governing the Council in 1902 remain as the standard of government in 1903.

By Councilman Lee: That Councilman Northrup be chosen president of the Council. By Mr. Lee: That the

ASSESSOR FRENCH'S REASON

SAYS THAT THERE WAS NO FAILURE ON HIS PART TO ASSESS TAXES.

No Harm Resulted, He Says, Because More Than Enough Was Unexpectedly Received.

Assessor French stated in an interview this morning that the statement published recently in the Review to the effect that in 1901 he failed to assess $2,000 which the Borough Board of Education had ordered him to assess, and that, consequently, that amount had to be doubled in 1902, is absolutely false.

He declared that he assessed in 1901 every dollar which he was directed to assess and one of the principal members of the School Board had admitted that there was no doubling up in 1902. If the clerk of the School Board failed to notify him that $2,000 more was needed in 1901, he explained that no harm resulted from that because the School Board unexpectedly received from the State more than enough to make up this amount in that year. The result is, he said, that the borough tax payers were saved $2,000 in 1901 and the tax rate in 1902 would have been just the same in any event as no less than 97 cents on the $100 would raise the amount which the Board demanded in 1902.

SWORN IN.

Dunellen's New Council Began Its Work, and Mayor Made His Appointments.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Dunellen, March 17—The new Borough Council held a meeting in the Council chamber last evening and organized. All the new members were present and took the oath of office which was administered by Former President of the Council J. Newton Apgar. As it now stands the Council consists of the following members: Mayor William Wyckoff, John Moynihan, Wilson Fredericks, Lewis Schneider, Albert N. Randolph, Cornelius Ryno, and John Kenney.

Quite a crowd gathered to witness the oath taking, after which Mayor Wyckoff took the chair. He delivered a short speech and then announced his committees. They are as follows: Streets, Moynihan, Schneider and Randolph; sidewalks, Schneider, Moynihan and Ryno; lights, Randolph, Schneider and Fredericks; auditing and finance, Fredericks, Moynihan and Ryno; law and ordinance, Moynihan, Fredericks and Kinney; fire and water, Kinney, Ryno and Schneider; building, Ryno, Kinney and Randolph Of these committees the building committee is a new one but will doubtless serve its purpose well. H. Brewster was re-appointed borough counsel; C. W. Blaine, pound keeper; W. H. Cole, overseer of the poor, and P. C. Staats, superintendent of highways. Joel DeGroff was re-appointed borough clerk.

After the appointments were made a regular meeting of the new body was held and some routine business was acted upon. A number of bills were then ordered paid, after which the Council adjourned until the regular April meeting.

PRINCETON DINNER.

Will be Held at Park Avenue Hotel March 26.

The annual dinner of the Union County Princeton Alumae Association will be held at the Park Avenue Hotel, Thursday evening, March 26. Among the speakers who will be in attendance are Dr. Thomas C. Hall, of New York; Robert McCarter, of Newark, and Paul VanDyke. Samuel St. John McCutchen, of the borough, will respond for Yale. The committee which has the affair in charge consists of Walter Gaston, Dr. B. VanD. Hedges and Dr. W. H. Murray.

Prepared for Anniversary.

The Retail Clerks' Mutual Aid Association met last evening and completed arrangements for the first anniversary to be celebrated next Monday evening. The affair will be chiefly of a musical nature, but a social time will follow and refreshments will be served. The affair will be given for the members and their friends. During the evening there will be the drawing for the silver tea set.

To Make Aprons and Neckties.

The Willing Workers of Trinity Reformed church will hold a social, Thursday night at the home of Miss Stella Boss, of Somerset street. The social is to be known as an "apron and necktie" gathering and a most enjoyable time is anticipated.

Give a Supper.

The Woman's Society for Christian Work of the Seventh-Day Baptist church will hold a supper in the parlors of the church tomorrow evening.

CHARGES OF WASTE AT THE REFORMATORY

Commission Has Spent $678,000 Since 1899, and Now Wants More.

EXPENSIVE BUILDING

ARCHITECT DICKSON EXAMINED THE REFORMATORY IN 1899.

At That Time, He Said, the Buildings Could be Completed for 230,721—Senator Strong Wants Another Estimate of Cost.

Charges of extravagance in the management of the reformatory at Rahway is again before the State Legislature. Senator Strong, of Middlesex county, has demanded a halt and is urging the passage of a bill to employ a State architect to determine what should be done to stop the wasteful extravagance at the reformatory.

In 1899 Senator William M. Johnson, of Bergen county, demanded similar action. Senator Johnson was then chairman of the appropriation committee and on authority of the committee employed Henry Dickson, of Newark, to go over the plans of the Reformatory Commission and determine what should be done.

Mr. Dickson did this and his report is now on file, or should be on file, at Trenton. Mr. Dickson estimated that the work could be put in satisfactory shape for $230,721. This was in 1899. Since that time $678,000 has been appropriated by the Legislature and spent on the building at Rahway, and still they ask for more.

According to Mr. Dickson's estimate, the cost of the work laid out by the Reformatory Commission would be $527,558. The commission had already expended $180,000 and the building was then far from being ready for occupancy. These plans were laid out on a most elaborate scale, the buildings were far removed from each other, and the cost of maintenance and operation would be very heavy.

The Reformatory Commission carried out the plans as originally designed, and it is the extravagance connected with the work that Senator Strong, of Middlesex county, now protests against. In 1899, the appropriation for work on the reformatory was $230,000, but the work was to be done subject to the special approval of the Governor, and the commission, after they secured control of the money, did about as it pleased.

The appropriations by the Legislature for the last three years have been as follows:

For the year 1900	$230,000
For the year 1901	230,000
For the year 1903	218,000
Total	$678,000

The commission now demands another big appropriation from the State. In his report Henry Dickson's estimate of the cost of the work, if done in accordance with the modification of the plans suggested by him, was $230,721.

This included the erection of the second wing to the main building, and the placing of floors in the great dome, so that the vast space there could be utilized. It was also proposed by Mr. Dickson that the buildings should be placed near together and thus avoid a great loss of time and waste of material in the operation of the reformatory. Instead of this the buildings are now all spread apart.

Gun Club Dance.

The Independent Gun Club is planning to hold a dance in Saengerbund Hall in May. The committee which has charge of the arrangements have arranged for a most complete programme and a very successful event is promised. The committee comprises: Frank Keller, Charles Jensen, William Mills, Charles Keller, Harry Dreier and Adolph Bohren.

Annual Meeting of Equal Suffragists.

The annual meeting of the Equal Suffrage League of Plainfield will be held in April when it is expected that a prominent speaker from out of town will be present. It is expected that a large number of people will be present to listen to the address which will, no doubt, be an interesting one.

Musical Entertainment.

A musical entertainment will be given by the members of the G. G. Social and Whist Club at Odd Fellows Hall, Thursday evening, March 19. The entertainment will be for the benefit of Friendship Band, House hold of Ruth, No. 1825, G. U. O., of O. F.

GOLF AT HILLSIDE.

That Course Will Open for Play May 1—Plans for Season to Come.

The formal opening of the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club course is scheduled for May 1. It is expected that there will be the usual weekly competitions, together with many other competitions for cups. The course will be in the best of condition by the opening day. It is also intended to make tennis a strong feature this season and several competitions will be arranged.

George P. Mellick, as president of the club, will undoubtedly plan for a season of much activity socially and otherwise. Within a short time the schedule will be out and plans will be made known. Steward Lord will probably not return. He is now in Brooklyn. It is said that negotiations are now under way toward securing another steward.

SICK BENEFITS.

Will be Considered at Annual Meeting of the Hope Y. M. A. This Evening.

In addition to the election of officers, the annual meeting of the Hope Y. M. A. which takes place this evening, will be of unusual importance. The management of the baseball team for 1903 is to be selected and the captain is to be appointed.

Another matter to be definitely determined upon, is the payment of sick benefits to members not in arrears. This has long been a feature kept in view by the officials and it is thought will be gladly welcomed by the young men.

Howell Division Entertained.

Howell Division, No. 97, Sons of Temperance, entertained its members and friends, last evening, with the following programme: Organ selections, Lydia Edgar; remarks, G. W. P. Pische, of Elizabeth; remarks by John R. Naylor; song by Irving Manley; recitation by Ada Von Ohle; song by Madeline Edgar; remarks by John Manley; song by Hattie Edgar; remarks by C. M. Raybert; song by Lorrain Schell.

Cleaning Borough Streets.

Wm. Emmons, under the supervision of Chairman of Street Committee James K. Arnold, of the borough, had a large force of men at work on the streets this morning and yesterday cleaning up after the winter snows. The work will be continued on all the streets that are in need of cleaning until the accumulations of the winter have been removed.

Now at Cavite.

Nelson Giles, of Madison avenue, has received a letter from his son, "Dolph" Giles, who is now at Cavite. Enclosed in the letter was an excellent photo. Mr. Giles has enlisted for another year and he will probably not return home before his time is out.

Plainfielders Lost.

The I. C. T. basket ball team journeyed to Elizabeth, last night, and played a game with the Y. M. C. I., of that place. The Plainfielders were defeated by a score of 28 to 9. After the game a dance was held and supper was served at midnight.

Gold Watch Gone.

While the members of the family were seated on the piazza, Saturday, a sneak thief entered the home of Miss M. V. Stickle, of East Fifth street, and purloined a gold watch. There is no clue to the thief.

Acted As Pianist.

Miss May Vincent Whitney, who was for two years in charge of the musical department in Drew Ladies' Seminary, Corneli, N. Y., last night was pianist for one of the Literary Societies of the institution.

Dr. Luther to Preach.

Rev. Dr. Luther, of Orange, will occupy the pulpit at the First Baptist church next Sunday. He was at one time pastor of one of the largest Baptist churches in Newark and is a very strong preacher.

Board of Trade Meeting.

The regular meeting of the Board of Trade is not to be held this evening, owing to numerous other affairs demanding the presence of the members. It will take place, instead, one week from tonight.

Made Supreme Court Commissioner.

John H. VanWinkle has been appointed a Supreme Court Commissioner by the Judges of the Supreme Court of this State. His commission bears the date of March 16, 1903.

Next Council Meeting.

There will be an adjourned meeting of the Common Council Monday evening, when a number of important matters will be considered.

—Neuman Brothers have just received a consignment of extra fine olive oil. They import it from France and guarantee it to be the best.

TURNED TABLES ON CRACK ORANGE FIVE

Plainfield Y. M. C. A. Basket Ball Team Won After a Cleverly Played Game.

THE SCORE WAS 11 TO 7

WHEN TEAMS MET AT ORANGE, PLAINFIELDERS WERE BADLY BEATEN.

Good Clean Play Decided the Game for Home Team—A Social Time Followed the Game, But the Visitors Couldn't Stay.

While it was a bitter disappointment to the basket ball five from the Orange Y. M. C. A., to lose last night's game with the local Y. M. C. A. five, it was a cause for much rejoicing on the part of the victorious team. A few weeks ago these same teams played a game at Orange and the home team won by the unusual score of 53 to 7. The Orange boys expected to carry off the honors last evening, but they failed, being defeated in a closely-contested match by a score of 11 to 7. The game attracted a very large number of people interested in the popular sport and from start to finish there was no lack of interest and applause.

Man for man, the visitors weighed more and averaged greater heighth than those of the home five, but the winning team played the strongest game. The guard work was fine and equalled that of the Orange five. It must be remembered that the visiting team has had more practice and is considered to be one of the strongest fives in the Metropolitan district. There was little or no rough play.

In the first half Denton threw two goals from the field, Neal threw one from the field and Patten threw one from a foul, making the score 6 to 2 in favor of the home team. In the second half Denton threw three goals from fouls, Heinecke threw one from the field, Griffing and Blarhley each one from the field and Parnham one from foul, thus making the final score 11 to 7 in favor of the Plainfield five. Percy Hand took Edward Neal's place in the second half playing a forward position. Throughout the contest the home boys played a sharp and aggressive game, winning on good straight work.

The teams lined up as follows:

Plainfield.		Orange.
Denton	right forward	Griffing
Scull	centre	Parnham
Neal	right guard	Wright

Score—Plainfield, 11; Orange, 7. Goals from the field—Denton (2), Neal, Heincke, Griffing, Blachley, Patten. Goals on fouls—Denton (3), Parnham. Fouls—Plainfield, 3; Orange 4. Referee—C. H. A. Heywood. Umpires—A. M. Chesley, Orange, and Robert Meeker, Plainfield. Scorer—John H Doane. Timers—Harry Thompson, Plainfield, and E. H. Austin, Orange.

After the game the Plainfield team and a few friends adjourned to the boys' parlors, where Miss Bass and Mrs. J. A. Robinson served sandwiches, cake and coffee and a social time was enjoyed. Much to the regret of all the Orange team did not have time to partake of refreshments, being obliged to take an early train.

FOR HER BIRTHDAY.

Fifty Friends Dropped In to Surprise Mrs. Schleif.

A pleasant surprise party was tendered Mrs. Steven H. Schleif, at her home on Park avenue last evening in honor of the birthday anniversary of her birth. There were about fifty people present and a most enjoyable time was spent.

During the evening several members of the local lodges of Odd Fellows, of which Mr. Schleif is a member, made speeches of congratulation. John Becker made a short address, Miss Ficke, of East Front street, recited and Miss Beetham rendered a solo very acceptably. Mrs. Harvey Schmeyer sang several selections, and John H. Carney, recited several times in his humorous German dialect. Refreshments were served during the evening.

The social gathering was arranged by Mr. Schleif and Harvey Schmeyer.

Drawing Room Talks.

The first of the series of drawing-room talks, under the auspices of the City Union of King's Daughters, will be given Thursday morning from 11 to 12 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Frederick G. Mead, of East Front street, by Mrs. Isabella Charles Davis.

Sunday-School Institute.

A Sunday-school Institute is being planned at Rahway for this week. The members of the Primary and Junior Sunday-school Teachers' Union will probably attend.

TALKED ABOUT TENNYSON

FIRST OF SERIES OF LECTURES BY PROF. LEON VINCENT.

Dealt With His Early Life, and Remarked on His Fortunate Surroundings.

The first of a series of three lectures on Tennyson and his works was given in the Casino, yesterday afternoon, by Professor Leon Vincent, before a large sized audience of women. It dealt with Tennyson's early life and included many interesting facts about the gifted poet.

In the course of his lecture, the lecturer laid stress upon the fact that Tennyson was peculiarly fortunate during his entire career, not only amid his boyhood surroundings, but from his very birth and when he became poet laureate. He had many advantages that did not fall to the lot of others as gifted as he and he seemed to have the happy faculty of being in the right place at the right time. Some of his earlier works were mentioned and commented upon.

The next lecture will be given on March 30 and will be on the poem, "In Memoriam." The third will be on "The Idylls of the King" on April 20. The series is under the auspices of the Monday Afternoon Club.

HAD A KEG.

Patrolman McGinley Assisted Memory of Participants by Furnishing Other Details.

A desire to show his neighborhood friends just what kind of a home he had erected was what led to the appearance of Patrick Boyle in the city court, this morning, together with one of his guests, Michael Walsh.

The showing off took place Sunday night and between times a keg of beer was tapped. Walsh remembered taking eight glasses of what it contained and Boyle kept pace with him. After the last one neither remembered anything but Patrolman McGinley said each had tried to pat the other "out of business."

This morning City Judge Runyon lectured the men severely and then let them go on their promising to entertain a better regard for the Sabbath and postpone house-warmings and fist fights until week days.

ARRANGE FOR CONFERENCE.

Employed Officers of Y. M. C. A. for Northern New Jersey Met Here.

There was an executive committee meeting of the employed officers of the Y. M. C. A. for Northern New Jersey at the Y. M. C. A. building yesterday afternoon. State Secretary Hearne, of Newark; W. H. Beebe, of Rahway and C. E. A. Heywood, of the local association, were present. Mr. Heywood was made chairman of the meeting, the object of which was to plan the programme for the conference to be held in New Brunswick Monday, May 11. No idea of the programme was given, it being the purpose of those in charge to give a surprise to the attending persons.

Y. M. C. A. Orchestra Plays.

The Y. M. C. A. orchestra will give its sixth public rehearsal this evening at the Y. M. C. A. Hall. The entertainment will begin at 8:15 sharp and it is hoped that there will be a large assemblage. There will be no admission charged but tickets may be secured free at the Y. M. C. A. building of Mr. Manning or Mr. Robbie. A silver offering will be received.

Uninvited Guests.

Dorsey Hyde, Jr., and Frank Slocum, of Netherwood, were arraigned before Justice Huff, last evening, charged by George J. Brown, of Belvidere avenue, with malicious mischief and entering his home during his absence. The defendants pleaded guilty and were released with a suspension of sentence. They were represented by W. A. Codington.

To Reconsider Its Troubles.

A motion to reconsider the bill for making New Orange a borough, which was killed in the Assembly recently, came before that body last night, and was unanimously adopted. It was placed on the calendar for a hearing. Francis J. Blatz, of this city, is appearing for the New Orange citizens who desire the change.

Arpasia Was Not Sold.

In a recent article in The Daily Press appeared a statement that Arpasia, the fast trotting mare, which covers a mile in 2:18, was sold to a New York party for $400. This, it is learned, is not so.

To Elect Officers.

There will be an important meeting of the Reform Athletic Association this evening when officers will be elected and other matters considered.

A CONTEST LIKELY AT SCHOOL MEETING

Two Tickets Have Been Prepared for Borough School Meeting This Evening.

A CIRCULAR SENT OUT

CALLS ATTENTION TO THE PRESENT HIGH SCHOOL TAX RATE.

Present Trustees Suggest a Ticket, While Opposition Has One Ready—A Very Lively Meeting is in Prospect in the Borough.

There promises to be an interesting session this evening at the annual school meeting in North Plainfield and the probabilities are that an entirely different ticket will be chosen than that suggested by the present school trustees. This morning a circular was posted to nearly every tax payer in the borough. The circular was sent out by those who are opposed to the system now in use and in it it says that at the meeting this evening a large sum of money will be voted which, it goes on to say, will effect the tax rate. It says that in 1902 the special school tax rate was 97 cents; the State school rate was 17 cents making a total rate of $1.14 for school purposes on each $100. It finally compares the rate in Plainfield in 1902 the special school tax rate was 69 cents on the $100 to the rate in the borough.

Further on the circular states that this is the only meeting of the year at which the tax payers can make their views effective by electing men who will carry them out. The circular closes by saying that it is important that a full attendance be present.

The opposition has placed a ticket in the field for members of the Board of Education and the names thereon are as follows: John Valiant, Samuel Townsend and Hiram Woodruff; for an unexpired term, Murray Burtis.

The ticket framed by the school board is as follows: John H. VanWinkle, George Hallock. A third man has not yet been named although there has been mention made of Horace J. Martin. Mention has also been made of Alfred Taft, of Grandview avenue.

TAKING TESTIMONY.

Witnesses in Thatcher Divorce Case Examined Before Special Master.

The taking of testimony in the divorce case of Thatcher against Thatcher was begun yesterday before Craig A. Marsh, a special master. Mrs. Thatcher has applied for a divorce from her husband, Herbert Thatcher, on the grounds of desertion. The witnesses examined yesterday were Mrs. Julia Thornton, Joseph Allen, Mrs. S. J. Fesmire and Rev. J. B. Cleaver. Lawyer Isaac P. Runyon was present to represent the petitioner. The decision will not be known for a few days.

Sixth Birthday Celebrated.

A pleasant birthday party was tendered to Ruth Adele Frey in honor of her sixth birthday by a number of her little friends at her home on Richmond street, yesterday afternoon. Those present were the Misses Marjorie Fitch, Isabella Garvey, Edith Lowery, Margaret Hope, Margaret and Isabella Loizeaux, Mabel Wyckoff, Dorothy Smith, and a number of others. Games were played and refreshments were served.

Boys Discuss Basket Ball Team.

A meeting of the cabinet of the boys' department of the Y. M. C. A. was held yesterday afternoon when there was a large attendance. The proposed excursion to Washington was discussed and the question of placing a baseballteam on the field was also a matter of debate. A practice game of the baseball team was decided upon for Wednesday. The meeting was presided over by President Martin B. Stutsman.

Birthday Party to Little Ones.

The teachers of the Monroe Avenue M. E. church are planning to give a birthday party to the members of the primary department of the Sunday-school in honor of the little ones who have recently been promoted from the infant department to the primary grade. The party will be held Saturday afternoon between the hours of 4 and 7.

Not a Color Dance.

The plans for the dance which is to be given by the I. C. T. Club in their rooms on March 26 are rapidly maturing. This will not be the second of the series of three color dances but it will be none the less enjoyable.

TEA TABLE TALK.

Short Sketches That Are Not Always News, But Just as Interesting.

Nelson A. Cromwell, of the law firm, of Sullivan, Cromwell & Curtis of New York, which firm recently received two millions of dollars from the United States government for transacting the law business in connection with the recent Panama canal dispute, is a former resident of this city. The fee received by the firm is said to be the largest ever paid out to any law firm or lawyer for business transacted for the government.

A well known citizen of this city was seated at a restaurant in a nearby town a few days ago when a man stepped up to him and called him by name and conversed with him for a few moments. After he had gone another man who had been sitting at the table said to the Plainfielder, "You are from Plainfield, I presume," to which the citizen said that he lived in that city. "Then I suppose you know Al Staats."

The stranger said that he was on the first car which was ever run between Elizabeth and Newark and the person who acted as motorman was Mr. Staats, who was then the proprietor of the Sheridan house at Elizabeth.

The re-election of N. B. Smalley as Mayor of North Plainfield is a decided victory for the annexationists. It still remains to be seen whether it can be made a fruitless one by the lawmakers at Trenton. N. B. should cause some of the members of the Legislature to take notice of the situation of affairs in the borough at the present time.—Newark News.

THEATRICAL.

Managers Sam S. Shubert and Nixon and Zimmerman have just issued through the firm of Ad. Greenfield & Co., a beautiful souvenir book of "A Chinese Honeymoon." Between the highly illuminated covers of this book are two-score of the prettiest half-tone engravings which have been turned out in recent years. The engravings show some of the most interesting scenes in the famous Casino success and the faces of the principal players and prettiest among the show girls and understudies.

The high character of the entertainment at Keith's Union Square Theatre continues to afford thousands every week enthusiastic enjoyment. One of the many features of the lengthy bill next week will be the Rossow Midgets. The work of these liliputians is always a novelty and their comedy and acrobatic work is hard to improve upon. If music is desired the Miles Stavordale Quintette will furnish it as does no other combination in vaudeville today. The Baggassens in their exceptionally clever juggling act, will demonstrate agility, while Callahan and Mack, Davis and McCauley, Brown and Nevarro, will attend to the comedy, and all are great fun makers. Aurie Dagwell sings the old time songs in her inimitable way, and Genaro and Bailey and others will complete an entertainment to suit all tastes.

Following a successful engagement of six months at the Broadway Theatre, New York, "The Silver Slipper," a musical comedy by the authors of "Florodora" is booked for a week's engagement at the Newark Theatre, Newark, beginning Monday, April 6. During this engagement, John C. Fisher will present the original New York production, the same in every detail as that which is just ending a long run in the Metropolis. The cast will be the same and include the most talented and popular actors and actresses in musical comedy or light opera. There will be the same background of pretty and graceful young women with their expensive costumes; the same dazzling scenic and lighting effects and the same exquisite stage mountings, all of which tended to make "The Silver Slipper" the most successful musical play produced this season.

—Miss Mabel Symons, of East Third street, resigned her position at the local telephone office last Saturday.

—Mr. and Mrs. William R. Shanks, whose wedding took place last week and who have since been on a wedding trip to Philadelphia, have returned. They will reside in Somerville, where Mr. Shanks is superintendent of the Somerville woolen mills.

In reply to inquiries we have pleasure in announcing that Ely's Liquid Cream Balm is like the solid preparation of that admirable remedy in that it cleanses and heals membranes affected by nasal catarrh. There is no drying or sneezing. The Liquid Cream Balm is adapted to use by patients who have trouble in inhaling through the nose and prefer spraying. The price, including spraying tube, is 75 cents. Sold by druggists or mailed by Ely Brothers, 56 Warren street, New York.

Mrs. Valentine Utzinger, of 75 Grandview avenue, says: "I suffered from kidney complaint for six years. I doctored and used various kinds of medicine with little or no result. I had almost a constant sharp darting pain across my back, and if I ever exerted myself or took cold I suffered severely. I always felt it most when the weather was damp. While in this condition I saw Doan's Kidney Pills recommended and my son bought me a box from L. W. Randolph's drug store. I started to use them at once, following directions closely. They helped the pain in my back and relieved my other difficulties. I give all the credit for this relief to Doan's Kidney Pills, for they are beyond a doubt a grand medicine for kidney trouble."

ROOSEVELT'S TOUR.

Western Itinerary to Occupy More Than Two Months.

TO LEAVE WASHINGTON APRIL 1.

A Rest of Two Weeks in Yellowstone Park and Visits to Nearly All Important Points in the West and Northwest.

WASHINGTON, March 17.—The itinerary for President Roosevelt's approaching tour of the west and northwest has practically been completed with the exception of the time of the arrival and departure of the president from a few places.

The party will leave Washington on the morning of April 1 and proceed directly via the Pennsylvania railroad to Chicago, arriving there the next morning. April 2 will be spent in Chicago, but the programme for the president's entertainment there has not been completed. From Chicago the president will go to Madison, Wis., where on the morning of the 3d he will address the legislature in the statehouse. Thence he will go to Waukesha and after a brief stop there will proceed to Milwaukee.

The next morning, after a two hours' stop at Lacrosse, the president will go to St. Paul and thence to Minneapolis, leaving the latter city late that night and arriving at Sioux Falls, S. D., next morning. After a brief stop there he will go to Yankton, Mitchell and Aberdeen, S. D., and Edgeley, N. D. On the morning of April 7 he will reach Fargo, N. D., and during that day will visit Jamestown, Bismarck, Mandan and Medora, all in North Dakota. He will visit Livingston, Mont., on Wednesday, April 8, and arrive at Cinnabar, Mont., at noon of that day.

Cinnabar is at the entrance of the Yellowstone park. The president's train will be sidetracked there until Friday, April 24. President Roosevelt, accompanied by Secretary Root and John Burroughs, the poet naturalist of New York, who has been invited to accompany the party on the trip, will make an extended tour of the Yellowstone National park under the guidance of Major Pitcher, the park superintendent. On this trip the president will be escorted by a picked detail of soldiers.

On Friday, April 24, the president will leave Cinnabar and after passing through Livingston, Mont., and Billings, Mont., will arrive at Alliance, Neb., late on the afternoon of April 25. After a short stop there he will proceed to Grand Island, Neb., where the party will spend Sunday. During Monday, April 27, the president will visit in the order named Hastings, Lincoln, Fremont and Omaha. He will spend the night at Omaha and reach Shenandoah, Ia., early on the morning of the 28th. During that day he will make a brief stop at Clarinda, Van Wert, Osceola, Des Moines, Oskaloosa and Ottumwa, all in Iowa. Passing the night on the train, the president will arrive at Keokuk, Ia., on the morning of the 29th and on that day will visit Quincy, Ill.; Hannibal, Mo.; Louisiana, Mo., and Clarksville, Mo. He will arrive at St. Louis late in the afternoon. That night and Thursday, April 30, the president will remain in St. Louis, participating in the ceremonies incident to the dedication of the Louisiana Purchase exposition grounds. He will arrive at Kansas City, Mo., on the morning of May 1 and remain there several hours, visiting Kansas City, Kan.; Lawrence, Kan., and Topeka, Kan., the same day. The night will be spent at Topeka. He will make several brief stops the next day and will arrive at Sharon Springs, Kan., late in the evening.

Sunday will be passed at that place. On Monday, May 4, the president will visit Cheyenne, Wells, Denver, Colorado Springs, Pueblo and Trinidad, all in Colorado. He will be in Santa Fe and Albuquerque, N. M., on May 5. The greater part of May 6 will be spent at Grand Canyon, Ariz. After a brief stop at Seligman, Ariz., on the night of May 6 the president will proceed to Barstow, Cal., arriving there the morning of May 7. Redlands and San Bernardino, Cal., will be visited, and he will arrive at Riverside, Cal., late that day and spend the night there. On May 8 he will stop at Claremont and Pasadena, Cal., reaching Los Angeles early in the afternoon, where he will remain until the next morning. On May 9 he will visit Ventura, Santa Barbara and San Luis Obispo. Sunday, May 10, will be spent at Monterey, Cal. Pajaro, Santa Cruz and San Jose will be visited on Monday, May 11. During the morning of May 12 the president will stop at Palo Alto and Burlingame and will arrive at San Francisco early in the afternoon. The remainder of that day and Wednesday and Thursday, May 13 and 14, will be spent in San Francisco, Oakland and Berkeley, Cal. The president and party will then go to Raymond, Cal., where four days will be spent in the Yosemite valley and big tree region. On the morning of Tuesday, May 19, the president will enter Nevada, stopping at Reno and Carson.

That evening he will return to California for a few hours' stay at Sacramento. On Wednesday, May 20, he will be at Redding and Sisson, Cal., and at Ashland, Ore. Thursday morning, May 21, he will spend at Salem, Ore., reaching Portland early that afternoon, where he will remain until the next morning. From Portland the president will go into Washington, stopping at Chehalis, Centralia, Olympia and Tacoma. At Tacoma the president and the entire party will take a boat trip Saturday, May 23, on Puget sound, touching at Bremerton and Everett, the trip ending at Seattle late that afternoon. The special train will be run empty from Tacoma to Seattle.

Sunday, May 24, will be passed in Seattle. Other Washington cities will be visited on May 25 in the following order: Ellensburg, North Yakima, Pasco, Wallula and Wallawalla. Early on the morning of May 26 the president will arrive at Spokane, remaining there for several hours. During that day he will stop at Tekoa, Wash., and Harrison and Wallace, Ida. The next morning he will reach Helena, Mont., and during the day will visit Butte. He will go into Idaho on Thursday, May 28, stopping at Pocatello, Boise, Nampa, Mountain Home and Shoshone. Early on Friday, May 29, he will reach Salt Lake City, remaining there several hours. During the afternoon and evening he will stop at Ogden, Utah, and Evanston, Wyo. On Saturday morning, May 30, Laramie, Wyo., will be reached. At this point the president will leave the train. He will spend May 30 in a manner suitable to Memorial day and will rejoin his train at Cheyenne. Sunday, May 31, will be passed at Cheyenne.

On Monday, June 1, the trip homeward to Washington will begin. The only stop that day will be at North Platte, Neb. The president will enter Iowa early on the morning of June 2, touching at Council Bluffs, Denison, Fort Dodge, Cedar Falls and Dubuque. At the last named place he will spend the night. The next morning he will make brief stops at Freeport, Rockford, Rochelle, Aurora, Joliet, Dwight, Pontiac, Lexington and Bloomington, all in Illinois. The night of June 3 will be spent at Bloomington. On June 4 he will visit Lincoln, Springfield and Decatur, Ill., and will arrive at Indianapolis that night. Thence he will proceed directly to Washington via the Pennsylvania lines, making only necessary stops and arriving here on the evening of Friday, June 5.

TREATY UNAMENDED.

Morgan's Efforts Against Panama Convention of No Avail.

WASHINGTON, March 17.—The senate spent six solid hours in executive session yesterday in its effort to pass on the amendments to the Panama canal treaty in preparation for the final vote on the treaty. The greater part of the day was devoted to debate on the matter of insuring American defense of the canal, the Democrats contending that the United States should be given the initiative in that respect and the Republicans urging that the interests of this country are sufficiently safeguarded by the terms of the treaty as it stands.

A substitute for the provision of the treaty placing the defense of the canal primarily in the hands of the government of Colombia resulted in a test vote. As a result of their frequent conferences since Senator Gorman's assumption of leadership the Democrats cast a solid vote in support of the amendment, the Republicans voting as solidly against it. The vote was 24 for the Democratic amendment to 46 against it.

During the day Senator Morgan offered a number of his amendments, but none of them received more than ten or twelve votes. The treaty will be ratified today by a very large majority and without amendment. On the final vote many of the Democratic senators will vote for it.

There were many individual conferences between senators over the Cuban reciprocity treaty, and as a result of them it is stated, with much confidence, that the extraordinary session of the senate will adjourn finally before the close of the present week. One hopeful Republican senator fixed tomorrow as the date of final adjournment, and none of either party expect the senate to sit after Friday.

HOPE AT WATERBURY.

A Conference Between Trolley Officials and Strikers.

WATERBURY, Conn., March 17.—The outlook in Waterbury is more promising than it has been for some time past. Yesterday afternoon W. D. Mahon, president of the Amalgamated Association of Street Railway Employees; Treasurer Harry Orr and Chairman Dilworth held a consultation with Warren L. Hall, state president of the Business Men's association; Mayor Kilduff and two or three other business men of the city, and as a result of the conference the entire party proceeded to the office of Colonel Burpee, attorney for the trolley company.

The conference was in session some little time, and at its conclusion it was announced that Colonel Burpee and General Manager Sewell, representing the trolley company, and Messrs. Mahon, Orr and Dilworth and the executive committee of the strikers would meet for the purpose of discussing the situation.

These officials met this morning at 10 o'clock. No definite results have yet been announced, but the feeling is hopeful.

Sawed Out of Jail.

JACKSON, Miss., March 17.—Four prisoners confined in the city jail here made a sensational escape by sawing their cell bars. The men were George Thomas and John Burns, United States prisoners; J. E. Leland, an alleged burglar, and W. F. McDonald, serving a sentence for bigamy. It is said that the men were assisted by a mysterious woman dressed in black and who is said to have visited the jail previously. Leland had been confined on a charge of burglary and McDonald was under a sentence of fifteen years for bigamy.

Tuberculosis Among Insane Patients

OGDENSBURG, N. Y., March 17.—The increase of tuberculosis among the patients of the St. Lawrence State Hospital For Insane has been called to the attention of the state lunacy commission of the visitation board. Of 1,704 patients 77 have tuberculosis. A recommendation will be made for the erection of an isolation building on the hospital grounds for tuberculosis patients.

A CIVIL WAR ROSTER

War Department Begins an Important Work.

RECORD FOR BLUE AND GRAY ALIKE

Publication Will Be of Great Size and Involve Much Time and Labor—Southern Governors Asked to Aid.

WASHINGTON, March 17.—By direction of Secretary Root the war department has embarked on the extensive work of compiling and publishing a complete roster of the officers and enlisted men of the Union and Confederate armies. This is the secretary's own project, and he succeeded in impressing congress with the idea that it would be only just and fair to the south to place on the official lists the names of the Confederate soldiers in order that their descendants may trace their family histories with accuracy.

The north through separate state publications has covered pretty well this ground for its own soldiers. But the southern records and archives, never very complete, were scattered and destroyed, owing to the outcome of the war, and it is known that many frauds are practiced on the benevolent, and many families lack important links in their histories because of the loss of these records.

Secretary Root in calling this matter to the attention of congress said that the department was constantly in receipt of appeals from state officials, historical societies and patriotic or memorial associations for transcripts of the military records of state troops, to answer which would cost more than $1,000,000, so that the most economical way would be to publish a complete roster.

The publication will be enormous in size, including no less than thirty volumes as large as the rebellion records. The northern names will be published with the southern, because it is desired to have all of these data in one compilation instead of being scattered through various state books. Moreover, it is felt to be a graceful thing to bracket the names of the men who wore the blue and the gray.

In order to carry out this purpose Secretary Root has sent a letter to the governors of all the states which furnished troops for the Confederate armies inviting their co-operation with the department in an effort to make this compilation as nearly complete as it is possible to make it and asking for any suggestions that they can make as to the manner in which that end can be best attained.

The work will be in the immediate charge of Brigadier General F. C. Ainsworth, chief of the record and pension office of the war department.

Florida Bank Closed.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., March 17.—The First National bank, the oldest national bank in Florida, which yesterday was closed by order of the comptroller of the currency, is in charge of James W. Norvell of the treasury department as receiver. The suspension is due to three large loans which the bank has been carrying for more than ten years. On the recommendation of the examiner some time ago the bank proceeded with the hope of collecting the outstanding indebtedness, but the crash came unexpectedly to the officials. The president of the bank, James M. Schumacher, is a native of Herkimer county, N. Y. He came to Jacksonville in 1874 and in connection with his father-in-law, General Francis E. Spinner, formerly treasurer of the United States, established the bank in that year.

Serious Conditions In Portugal.

MADRID, March 17.—According to a dispatch to El Liberal from Coimbra the Portuguese government has prohibited the sending out of news regarding the rioting, but it is known that the tax collector has fled and that a veritable revolution exists. El Liberal adds that a state of siege was proclaimed at Coimbra four days ago, and the disturbances continue. Eight inhabitants, it says, were killed, and a number of persons, including several soldiers, were wounded.

Hall to Meet Railway Employees.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., March 17.—President Hall of the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad company has sent a communication to the joint committee of the employees of the road announcing that he will meet the joint committee this afternoon at 2 o'clock. The committee has accepted the invitation and therefore will not announce the result of the poll of votes taken on the question of a strike during the past few days.

Earthquake Shocks In Georgia.

ATLANTA, Ga., March 17.—Advices received from Dalton, Ga., ninety miles north of this city, state that five distinct earthquake shocks were felt by the people of that vicinity Sunday morning. The shocks were accompanied by a dull roar. The first shock was the most severe, causing the windows in the houses to rattle.

Ex-Congressman Candler Dead.

BOSTON, March 17.—Former Congressman John W. Candler of Brookline is dead of heart disease at the home of his son-in-law, David S. Baker, in Providence, R. I. Mr Candler was interested largely in the Florida Southern and other railroads. He was born in 1828.

General Miles In Boston.

BOSTON, March 17 — Lieutenant General Nelson A. Miles, U. S. A.; Mrs Miles and Colonel Samuel Reber, secretary to General Miles, are here to attend the exercises incident to Evacuation day in South Boston today.

INQUEST AT BUFFALO

Daughter of Late E. L. Burdick on the Stand.

NO LIGHT ON THE MURDER MYSTERY

Family Physician and Servant, Also Several Others, Testify, but Nothing Is Elicited to Aid In Clearing Up Case.

BUFFALO, March 17.—Miss Marion Burdick, the pretty, rosy cheeked daughter of the late Edwin L. Burdick, was the most interesting witness at the inquest before Judge Murphy yesterday. Marion is sixteen years old and bears a striking resemblance to her mother. Like Mrs. Hull, she volunteered no information. She answered in monosyllables whenever possible. It was "Yes" or "No," or when those replies would not suffice she used as few words as possible. She was not easily confused, and there was no sign of agitation or emotion when the district attorney questioned her closely regarding the events that occurred at the time her father was murdered.

Mr. Coatsworth began by speaking kindly to the girl and carefully choosing his words in putting questions to her. Later he fired questions in rapid succession, all of which were met with replies both sharp and decisive. At one time when the district attorney asked the same question several times Marion caused a murmur in the courtroom by raising her voice sharply in a clear emphatic "I don't know." Nothing of importance was elicited from the young girl while she was on the stand, and the district attorney gave her up in despair.

Dr. William M. Marcy, the family physician and the first person to see the dead body after the murderer covered it up, was the first witness of the day. Dr. Marcy admitted that he told Dr. Howland, the medical examiner, that if it was suicidal or looked suicidal it would be all the better for the family to make it out a case of suicide. Later he agreed with Dr. Howland that suicide was untenable.

Katie Koenig, the second servant of the Burdick household, was asked if Mrs. Hull had been near the furnace on the morning after the murder. She did not know.

Hackmen Delahunt and Jeddo and Patrolman Meyer were the other witnesses examined. Their testimony was brief.

None of the testimony elicited during the day gives promise of materially aiding the authorities in clearing up the Ashland avenue mystery.

Democrats Meet In Chicago.

CHICAGO, March 17.—Prominent Democrats from every part of the country gathered last night to attend the annual Jackson day banquet of the Iroquois club at the Auditorium hotel. Preceding the banquet many notables in the party held long talks together, discussing suggestions for the presidential campaign of next year. The speakers at the banquet made strong pleas for a unified party and the adoption of a platform that would meet general approval. Mayor Carter H. Harrison, who was yesterday renominated by the Democratic city convention, was the first speaker. After welcoming the visitors to the city he responded to the toast "The City of Chicago." He was followed by Edward M. Shepard of New York, who spoke on "Present Duties of a Patriotic Opposition."

Princeton Students Sorry.

PRINCETON, N. J., March 17.—In contrition over their actions on Saturday night, when one of the famous lions on the steps of Nassau hall was badly broken, a party of graduates and upper class men appeared before the university curator, made a full confession and agreed to restore the lion and to pay for the damage done at the new gymnasium. One of the party was also delegated to make an apology to President Wilson. On condition of their pledge to pay all damages Curator Thompson decided not to make public the names of the offenders. Six seniors and four graduates are said to have been in the party.

Suspected of Many Murders.

PHILADELPHIA, March 17.—The police authorities have directed the opening of thirty-four graves, having secured evidence which leads them to believe that George Hossey, the negro "herb doctor," is responsible for at least that many deaths. Hossey is in jail as an accessory to the murder of William G. Danze, whose widow is charged with having administered to her husband slow poison furnished by the negro.

Justice Day Doing Well.

WASHINGTON, March 17.—Reports from the bedside of Justice Day of the supreme court continue favorable. The most satisfactory change noted in his condition is that his temperature, which has given the physicians some concern, has dropped to normal.

New Trial Denied Sullivan.

KINGSTON, N. Y., March 17.—Judge Betts has handed down a decision denying the motion for a new trial for "Whitey" Sullivan, now at Dannemora prison awaiting execution for the murder of Night Watchman Matthew Wilson at Cobleskill Nov. 27, 1900.

Safe Robbery In North Carolina.

CHARLOTTE, N. C., March 17.—The safe in the postoffice at Lincolnton, N. C., was blown open early in the morning and $700 in money and stamps secured. There is no clew to the robbers.

RAHWAY REFORMATORY.

Like many other State buildings in New Jersey and other States, the Rahway Reformatory is proving rather an expensive institution to build. Already more than half a million of dollars has been expended and the commission in charge of that institution has asked for an additional appropriation to complete the work. Some of the legislators are beginning to wonder where the end is to be and they have asked that an architect examine the buildings and give some idea how much more funds will be needed to complete the reformatory. It has seemed unfortunate that State buildings could not be built as economically as structures for private corporations and individuals. Yet such seems to be the case. The Rahway Reformatory is no exception One cannot help wondering, however, if the reformatory had been built for some private corporation, if the work would have dragged along the way it has and whether the board of directors of that company would have been called upon for additional appropriations so often.

A State reformatory is an excellent thing and the present institution seems to have filled a much needed want in Jersey. There is even talk of a reformatory for women. If the latter is to be built, however, it is sincerely to be hoped that some different arrangement will be made whereby it will be constructed promptly and on economical lines without making so much trouble for the State Legislature as the present reformatory has. The present building should certainly be finished but the work should not cost any more than is necessary.

SCHOOL MEETING.

It is sincerely to be hoped that there will be a large attendance at the annual school meeting in North Plainfield this evening. This is the only opportunity that the voters of North Plainfield have of voicing their opinions of school affairs. Every man, who has ever had a word to say, either for or against the present policy, should be on hand to either support or turn down the present administration. The members of the Board of Education are the representatives of the people and they should be chosen with a view toward seeing that the wishes of the majority are carried out.

Another subject of importance which will probably come up will be that of making public the sessions of the Board of Education. Everyone cannot fail to see the justice of allowing the public to know just what the board is doing. Instead of desiring secrecy, the members of the board should court as much publicity in their sessions as possible. When the school affairs are being conducted as they should be, what possible reason can there be to permitting the public to watch the proceedings for themselves. Of course there are certain questions in the executive direction of the public schools which it would not be well to bring before the public. They are but minor details, however, in the duties of the board. The public, through the newspapers, knows of what happens at the sessions of the City Board of Education. Isn't the borough public to be trusted as well?

A hearing before the Common Council will take place Monday evening when the advantages and disadvantages of the proposed sewer extension in the south-western part of the city will be discussed. Nobody doubts for a minute that the section of the city in question should eventually have sewers. The only question appears to be whether this is the proper time. The city has started a number of new projects this year that are going to make it necessary to raise more money by taxation. Considering this, will it be wise to undertake this proposed improvement at present? Arguments for and against this proposition will be brought up at the hearing. The members of the Common Council are particularly desirous of obtaining as complete an idea of public opinion on the subject as possible.

The California fruit-growers have long been enthusiastic advertisers, remarks the Philadelphia Record, but it is only recently that they have used newspaper space. It is announced that the Cured Fruit Association of that State will expend $60,000, mostly in newspaper space, to promote the sale of prunes.

There was a decided increase in the attendance at the University extension lecture Saturday evening. With such a promnient speaker as Prof. Zueblin, there ought to be an audience at each lecture that would tax the seating capacity of the Y. M. C. A. Hall.

MAYOR MADE APPOINTMENTS

regular marshal's bond be $500, and that the regular meetings of the Council be, as they have been in the past, on every first Friday in each month.

By Councilman VanAsdale: That the clerk and auditor give a bond of $1,000.

The Mayor announced the rates of salaries for the various borough officials as follows: Borough clerk and auditor, $500; counsel, $350; recorder, $200; borough physician, $125; chief marshal, $720; marshal, $600; special marshals, 25 cents per hour or $2 per day while on duty; chief engineer of the fire department, $100; engineer of Warren Engine Company, $50; janitor of Warren Engine Company, $75; janitor of West End Company, $25; electrician, $150; overseer of the poor, $150.

The only business transacted besides the naming of the appointees for the new fiscal year was the offering of the resolution by Councilman Arnold for the advertising for bids for crushed stone, flagging and curbing, which was adopted. The bids will be opened at a meeting of the streets committee at some future date.

The meeting adjourned until the first Friday in April.

To Preach at St. Joseph's.

Rev. Father McKenna, of the Dominican Order, in New York, will be present and preach at St. Joseph's R. C. church Wednesday evening, March 25. Rev. Father McKenna preached on New Year's Day to an audience of 7,000 people in New York. He is a speaker of exceptional ability and he is sure to be greeted by a large audience when he comes to this city.

Boys' Mission Band Meeting.

The annual meeting of the Boys' Mission Band, of the Crescent Avenue church, will be held in the large parlor of the church Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock. Reports for the year's work will be presented and there will be an address by William D. Murray. All the members and their friends are urged to attend.

Will Not Accept Office.

Miss Pauline Denton, who is now president of the Young Ladies' Missionary Society, of the First Baptist church, has declined to accept the position for next year and she will probably be succeeded by Miss Ada Fountain.

DUNELLEN.

Wm. G. Holton Council, No. 55, Jr. O. U. A. M., has planned to hold a dance for the good and betterment of the order March 27 in Apgar's Hall. A committee, consisting of Fred Vail, chairman, Albert Giddes, John Peters, Frank Humpston and Willard Apgar, has charge of the affair and everything is being done to make the affair a success. Suhr's Imperial Orchestra has been secured and dancing will be started at 8:30. Tickets may be secured of any member of the committee.

Funeral services over the remains of the late Agnes C. Dickason, wife of Charles Dickason, were held last evening from her late home. The deceased was a member of the Presbyterian church and the services were conducted by Rev. N. J. Sproul. The funeral was attended by a large number of friends and neighbors of the deceased who had sympathized with her in her long and trying illness. The body was interred at Bound Brook this morning.

A number of the young men of this town recently met and organized the Watchung baseball team. Fred Vail has been elected manager and Charles Lake captain. The manager would like to arrange games with all teams in this vicinity averaging less than twenty years.

SOME OF ATTRACTIONS TO BE FOUND AT LOCAL STORES.

Andrew Roach is ready to lay your flagging or curbing promptly and at the lowest prices; yard, 300 Richmond street, residence, 204 East Fourth street.

Estimates on practical tile setting will be cheerfully furnished by R. B. VanArsdale, of Central avenue. He has had years of experience and is capable of doing the finest work.

Fowler manufactures all the candy sold on his premises. Chocolates and bon bons are made fresh daily and their equal for deliciousness is not to be had. Ice cream and water ices. Orders delivered free.

Thinking of buying a spring suit? Here you are; Harry Werner is ready for the trade. His new line is now on display, the pick is yours. Top overcoats? Oh, yes, beauties, too. All shades, all weights. Prices to suit.

Spring generally means a changing about of household furniture. Often some of it will be found wanting. It can be replaced readily at small cost if Powlison & Jones are consulted. Their spring designs are now ready for delivery.

In replenishing your stock of shoes for the spring and summer wear examine the large stock of shoes at John H. Doane's store on West Front street. He carries footwear for men, women and children in all sizes. You can trade at this store and save money.

Have you ever tried a cup of the delicious tea sold by P. G. Dubois at his Oriental tea store, on West Front street? Lovers of good tea pronounce it the best. While enjoying a cup of tea take a look at the many pretty things in the store. Mr. Dubois will be pleased to show you his large stock of desirable goods and have you for a patron.

Spring without flowers would lose half its charm and as now is the time to think of what is to be placed in the flower garden to make it attractive it is necessary to secure the assistance of a reliable florist. Charles L. Stanley, of North avenue, with many years' experience, is best qualified to assist in selecting plants and flowers.

The anniversary sale at Hill & Shupp's store has been a great success, affording an opportunity to hundreds of people to secure countless bargains. This sale has not by any means depleted the stock, but on the contrary the firm is prepared in every department for a large spring and summer trade. An attractive department is that devoted to millinery and a superior line of hats will be offered. The house furnishing goods department is just now the centre of interest and a more complete line of goods is seldom seen.

PERSONAL.

Miss Minnie Trueman, of Central avenue, has returned from a stay at Wilmington, Del.

J. B. Higgins, of West Front street, has recovered from a three weeks' illness with the grip.

Rev. Dr. and Mrs. Wm. R. Richards, of New York, were guests of Plainfield friends last evening.

Martin Hulse, of Brooklyn, was entertained yesterday by Henry F. Windham, of East Front street.

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Gordon, of West Front street, are entertaining relatives from Grey Court, N. Y.

Geo. Bedford and family, of East Second street, have returned from Waterbury, where they have been spending a few weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Gordon, of Newark, have returned home after a visit with the Misses Sadie and Annie Searing, of Orchard place.

George B. DeRevere, former proprietor of the Park Avenue Hotel, but now in New York, was in town yesterday renewing old acquaintances.

Mr. and Mrs. William Austin and son, Edward Austin, and Miss Mamie Reddington, of Orange, were guests yesterday of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. A. Heywood, of Jackson Court, West Front street.

A son has arrived at the home of Mr and Mrs. William Jeffery, at 185 Somerset street. The little stranger arrived last night at 10 o'clock and the mother and son are doing nicely under the care of Dr. T. S. Davis.

RELIANCE HER NAME.

Cup Defender's Title Announced by Secretary Iselin.

NEW YORK, March 17.—The name of the new cup defender to meet the Shamrock III. will be Reliance. This is officially announced by the secretary of the New York Yacht club in behalf of Mr. C. Oliver Iselin.

The intended cup defender is now about two-thirds finished. The workmen in the Herreshoff shops are working with such vigor that it is generally believed the boat will be ready for the water on April 11, when the tide will be favorable.

It develops that some of the nickel steel plates on the topsides of the boat are extremely thin. This, however, carries out the plan of Mr. Herreshoff in the present yacht of putting the greatest weight in the framing and reducing it in the plating.

The deck of the boat is now almost covered in and the plating along the topsides well advanced.

Harvard's New Athletic Field.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., March 17.—Plans for the new athletic field on Soldiers' field at Harvard are now nearly ready to be placed in the hands of contractors. The chief feature is the stadium, an area surrounded by permanent banks of seats the like of which is not to be found in this country and in the old world only in a few of the ancient cities of Greece and Italy. The structure, which is to cost $175,000 and to have a seating capacity of 30,000 people with auxiliary accommodations for 10,000 more, is to be given to the university by the class of 1879 and will stand as a memorial of the twenty-fifth anniversary of that class, which is to be celebrated at commencement, 1904.

New Orleans Races.

NEW ORLEANS, March 17.—The local racing has passed into the control of the New Louisiana Jockey club. The weather underwent an agreeable change to fair, but the track showed comparatively little change, particularly next to the rail. True Blue and Worthington were the only winning favorites. The Worthington race showed such a reversal of form that the stewards ordered Jockey Phillips under suspension and reserved the race for investigation.

Vanderbilt Horses Won at St. Cloud.

PARIS, March 17.—W. K. Vanderbilt's stables made a notable showing at yesterday's opening of the racing season at St. Cloud, Cleopatra II. winning the Prix des Troenes, Edna getting second place in the Prix d'Ouverture and Quos Ego running fourth in the Prix des Pierriers. Nash Turner rode Cleopatra II. and J. Rausch had the mount on Edna. McIntyre, MacAginn, Thompson and Rigby were among the American jockeys who had mounts.

English Wrestler Won.

BUFFALO, March 17.—Jim Parr, the English wrestler, defeated August Gustavson, the Swede, at the Olympic Athletic club last night in two straight falls. The first fall came in 50m. 21s. after a bruising struggle, and the second followed in 23m. Parr was favorite at 11 to 5.

Sloane Won Grand Prix.

MONTE CARLO, March 17.—In the pigeon shooting here Tod Sloane, the American jockey, won the Grand Prix de Littoral, receiving $1,197 and a gold medal. Five other contestants tied for second place.

Liquor Legislation.

ALBANY, N. Y., March 17.—In addition to the bill introduced by Senator Raines adding 50 per cent to all liquor license fees Senator Green last night presented one prepared by the state excise department. The notable features of it are the creation of a second deputy commissioner, the putting back to old figures of license fees for druggists from $100 down to $10, the material increase of the powers of the state commissioner with reference to special deputies, the saving to the state of interest on undivided liquor tax moneys on deposit and the strengthening of the restrictions upon places licensed.

Palma Praises American Sailors.

HAVANA, March 17. — President Palma sent a letter expressing his appreciation of the gallantry shown by the sailors of the United States steamer Dolphin Sunday in rescuing several Cubans whose small boats were overturned during the squall in Havana harbor and inclosing $100 to be distributed among the life savers. The American sailors requested Captain Stoney to convey their thanks to the president and return the money, with the request that it be given the parents of a youth who was drowned during the squall.

A Mountain of Iron in Peru.

LIMA, Peru, March 17.—A government commission of mining engineers has discovered sixty-five miles northeast of the Piura railway a mountain of iron sesquioxide which is 50 per cent pure. The surrounding country is full of the same metal.

CONDENSED DISPATCHES.

Prayer ended a church fight in Spencer, Mass.

The British naval estimate for the year calls for nearly $180,000,000.

Five men were killed by an explosion in the Cardiff coal mine near Springfield, Ill.

The Chicago Democratic city convention renominated Carter H. Harrison for mayor.

The bill providing for a municipal electric plant for New York city is to be presented in the legislature.

Five miners were sentenced to prison at Pottsville for participation in the riot at Shenandoah in which Joseph Beddall was killed.

LIFE OF FUR TRAPPERS.

They Have Plenty of Pure Air, Wholesome Food and Good Times in Their Camps.

"You admire furs," commented an old trapper, as he sat contentedly smoking his pipe, relates the New York Tribune; "you should go where we get them. Ah, that is the life—pure air, plain, wholesome food, and then, after the season's work, that brigade of fur-loaded canoes going off down the lakes. Every canoe is loaded, you know, almost to the gunwale, and they string out one behind the other, a long line of them. They usually start out early in the morning and paddle, paddle, paddle, hour after hour, down the stream, through that lake, and so into civilization.

"But they don't forget to eat—oh, no! About noon they go ashore. They 'snub' the canoes to overhanging trees and hunt around for a good flat rock on which to start their fire. But those fellows don't take an hour for luncheon. Time is too valuable to them. They take a drink of tea, a bite of pork—that is about all. Then they are off again. The men spell each other at the paddles, and occasionally the canoes are bunched by steersmen for a good smoke.

"When night comes the brigade goes ashore and pitch their camp. Tents are put up, camp fires lighted and the supper prepared, great clouds of black flies and mosquitoes hovering around. Some of the men busy themselves preparing the great brown flapjacks for the next day, while others dry their moccasins or get their blankets ready to bunk in. Perhaps a canoe has to be patched the next morning before the start can be made.

"Oh, it is a great life up there in the wilds of Canada, where they get the furs. You should try it."

AN ARCTIC MEAL.

The Eskimo Method of Preparing a Supper on a Polar Sheet of Ice.

Dogs were unhitched and fastened, as usual, and then each of the Eskimos climbed over the icefoot with his snow knife and disappeared behind the parapet, where the other two were already cutting snow blocks. I fastened my dogs, got out their ration of pemmican, cut it up, and fed them, standing up with whip in hand to see that there was no bullying, and that each dog got his share, says Outing.

Then I unpacked the cooker, oil can and kitchen box, passing them up the icefoot as high as I could reach. I did not wait for the completion of the igloo to commence my preparations for supper, but with a few strokes of the spade excavated a niche in the snowbank, put the cooker in out of the wind, filled the lamp with oil and the boiler with ice, placed a few snow blocks around it for still better shelter, and lighted up.

By the time the igloo was completed I had enough water melted for the tea, and supper was entirely ready by the time my men had fed the dogs; and they lost no time in freeing their clothing of snow and joining me in the igloo. Still less time was consumed in putting away the tea and biscuit and penmmican, and less again in falling off to dreamless slumber.

OPENING "BUCKING" SAFES.

Professionals Who Right Matters When the Strong Boxes Get Out of Order.

The broncho buster of the western plains has a counterpart in New York, though his business is not to tame recalcitrant mustangs, but to open "bucking" safes, says a New York exchange. Every big concern dealing in strong boxes employs a professional safe breaker against those frequent and often costly occasions when the safe sold to some consumer "gets out of whack." The work of opening a bucking safe is usually a matter of minutes with the professional, but occasionally he is obliged to send for a half ton of tools before he is enabled to procure the magic sesame. Often a half hundred clerks are kept idle for hours and business managers spin around like tops while the safe breaker leisurely pothers about with the combination. When the safe or vault is finally opened it is usually discovered that some one connected with the firm is to blame for altering the combination and then keeping the matter to himself. The professional safe opener frequently has calls from out of town, and on these occasions he usually finds that some merchant who has just bought his safe changed the combination and then forgot it.

Cost of Wireless Messages.

The average rate of transmission by Atlantic cable is 34 words a minute. Marconi promises 200 words a minute through the air. The cable companies charge 25 cents a word. Marconi's contract with Canada stipulates ten cents a word as the maximum cost, and his prophecy is that the rate will be one cent.

America Invades India.

The Times, of Bombay, India, says: "Already there are signs, very distant, that the Americans have commenced their invasion of the commerce of this country in earnest. To every department of commerce America is contributing her quota. She has already laid the foundation of a prosperous business."

Microbe of Lockjaw.

Kitasato, a Japanese microscopist, first showed that the pin-shaped microbe of lockjaw lives in the earth. In order that it may multiply and poison the blood it must be deep in a wound so that air does not reach it.

FOR SPRING WEAR.

Pelerine Effects In Tailor Mades. Chiffon Stoles.

Bias strappings of panne are much used on fine cloth, and narrow braid, gathered ribbon, silk cord or strappings outline panne bands.

The pelerine effect is shown on tailor made gowns, and smart veiling or collenne costumes are finished with a deep cape collar of bruges lace edged with fur and sometimes bordered with plisse chiffon which matches the gown.

Chiffon, lace and panne muffs and stoles are seen with touches of fur and marabou trimmings. In some muffs there is a little opening well protected by a silk lining for bouquets of real flowers.

The chatelaine purse is quite a costly accessory. The most useful and economical are made of steel beads. The enamel mountings with gilt chain purses are very elegant, and so are those in gold or oxidized silver set in turquoises.

EVENING SKIRTS.

Yoke Effects—Short Boleros For Street Wear.

Some of the newest evening skirts are set into a close yoke, which is powdered with lace motifs or covered entirely with lace.

the yoke, the bodice being treated in the same fashion and finished with a bertha of lace.

The short loose bolero which reveals the waist is quite the style in Paris and Vienna, and this style is infinitely more distinguished than the belted blouse in Russian style and looks more suitable for outdoor wear.

Gray is to be much worn this spring, and there is a fancy for costumes all of one color.

A gown of spangled net with raised embroidery in chenille and silver tissue is shown in the picture.

WRIGHT ARRAIGNED.

English Promoter Willing to Return, but Asks Time.

NEW YORK, March 17.—Whitaker Wright, the English promoter who was arrested when he arrived here on La Lorraine, charged with having swindled English investors out of $111,000,000 through the crash of the Globe Finance corporation two years ago, was arraigned before United States Commissioner Alexander in the federal building yesterday.

When the hearing began, Mr. Untermeyer in behalf of Wright asked that a few days be allowed his client to ascertain the exact character of the charges made against him.

"Mr. Wright is willing," said the lawyer, "to stay these proceedings and return tomorrow, because he is confident that he can establish his innocence, but on advice of counsel he asks for a little time to look into the character of the complaint against him. The charges were made while he was on the high seas, and he is in entire ignorance of them."

Charles A. Fox, counsel for the British consul, wanted an adjournment for two weeks to allow the papers to come from the other side. It was finally agreed to let the case go over until tomorrow, when Wright will decide whether he will waive further proceedings. Otherwise the case will go over until the papers arrive from England.

RIVER OVER LEVEE.

Lower Mississippi Situation Grows More Threatening.

MEMPHIS, March 17.—The steamer Sun has returned from Holly Bush, Ark., and reports that at Trice's Landing, two miles north of Holly Bush, the St. Francis levee is overtopped by the water for a distance of three-quarters of a mile. Water is flowing over the embankment in a stream almost six inches deep for this space, and there is every indication that a crevasse of this length will be made before morning. A force of 500 men, under personal charge of President Killough of the St. Francis levee board, is making a heroic effort to sack the levee and stop the flow of the water, but it seems that their efforts will be in vain, as the river is rising at a rapid rate.

A dispatch from Natchez says that the fifteen foot embankment of the Texas and Pacific railroad at Bougere, thirty-five miles below Vidalia, has broken, and a gap of two miles in length was cut by the river in a few hours. This gap was followed by a break in the lower Bougere levee, which lapped the railroad embankment on the south end, and the water is running into and filling Bougere swamp.

SIX HUNDRED LIVES LOST.

Further Particulars Regarding Hurricane in Poumoto Islands.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 17.—The steamer Mariposa arrived here yesterday from the Samoan islands, bringing full particulars of the terrible hurricane which visited the Poumoto group of islands in January. In all over 600 lives were lost, and the financial loss will exceed $500,000. The Poumoto group of islands numbers about 100 island divisions. Relief measures have been instituted, and everything possible is being done at Apia and other places in the Samoan group to relieve the sufferings of the Poumoto islanders.

The hurricane in the Poumoto group is the second which has wrought destruction in this part of the world in the last fourteen years.

Do You Wish To Borrow Money?

In order to accommodate all classes of borrowers (those who cannot borrow at a bank, as well as those who can), the Mutual Loan and Investment Company, of 118 Market street, Newark, N. J., has a department for handling quickly and confidentially loans ranging from $10 to $500 on furniture, pianos, storage receipts, etc.

The security is not removed from your possession or in any way disturbed. The honest, careful and conservative borrower will try and decide two points before borrowing. First, where he can get the best terms. Second, where he can get fair and square treatment.

This company is in a position to give you by far the most satisfactory terms ever offered by any concern or individual negotiating this class of loans.

With this company you are assured of getting the lowest rates, easiest payments and longest time for repayment. The whole transaction from the time the application is made until loan is paid is entirely confidential. We give you another advantage in case you take the loan out for six months or a year, and wish to settle the same before the time expires: we charge you only for the time you have had the money. We also take up loans from other companies and advance more money.

Kindly call and let us explain our simple and up-to-date methods if not entirely convenient for you to call, please write and our representative will call and give you any desired information. Remember it costs nothing to make application. Loans promptly made in Elizabeth, Plainfield, Westfield, Roselle, Rahway, Perth Amboy and all suburban towns.

MUSEUM WITHIN A MUSEUM.

Pennsylvania Institution Has a Small But Valuable Collection of Sixth Century Relics.

It is a long reach from the sixth century before Christ to the present day, but the University of Pennsylvania museum has just incorporated a museum of that date which was discovered by Prof. Helprecht. The museum is not very big, being entirely contained in a large earthen jar, but the contents are very valuable from an historical standpoint, and show that the ideas of the early curator were very much like those of present curators, reports the Philadelphia Record. Whether the specimens were excavated or purchased is not known, but they undoubtedly represent a collection which must have been made during the time of Belshazzar, since it was found in one of the upper strata at Nippur. The best specimen in the jar is an inscription containing the titles of Sargon the First, who lived about 3800 B.C. There is a black stone votive tablet of Ur-Gur, 2700 B. C., which tells that this king built the great wall around the city of Nippur. Then there is a terra-cotta brick stamp of Bur-Sin, which is the first yet found of that king. Another tablet states that the large hall of the temple was called Emakh, and also that there were 24 other shrines to gods in the temple besides the ones that have been found of Bel and his consort Beltis. An interesting tablet gives some astronomical observations on Virgo and Scorpion. The little museum contains 19 pieces in all, and the collection will be placed separately in the university museum.

UNDERMINED BY WORMS.

Foundations of Milwaukee Business Houses Damaged by a Singular Insect.

"Milwaukee buildings are being imperiled by a worm eating away the foundations and there appears no way of preventing it," said Raleigh T. Jacobs, of the western city, to a Washington Star man recently. "The city building officials are much worked up over the effects of the worm, which is known to science as the limnoria. The attention of the building department has been called to the sinking of buildings and the bulging of walls on business blocks, and in many instances it has been necessary to brace the buildings with heavy beams to keep them from falling.

"The old buildings, mostly of brick, which line the sides of the river in Milwaukee were built upon what builders call floating foundations. First a layer of railroad ties was laid and the stone foundation was placed on them. It is on these ties the worms are apparently at work. The worm floats along the surface of the water, and when the water recedes the worm is left stuck to the docks and walls. It works its way inside the foundation and bores continuously, so it can very readily be seen the amount of damage that can be done. The newer buildings erected on piles covered with cement are not affected by the worms."

PRECEDENCE IN AUSTRALIA.

Recent Distinctions Conferred by the King Stir Up Contentions Among Officials.

The recent distinction conferred by the king on the cities of Melbourne and Sydney in giving their chief magistrates the enhanced dignity of lord mayor and the title of right honorable has raised some questions of etiquette and precedence, says the London Chronicle. It is contended in some quarters that the title of right honorable gives the lord mayor of Melbourne, the temporary capital of the commonwealth, rank and precedence over the president of the federal senate and the speaker of the house of representatives, who are only honorables. If at the next great vice regal function the lord mayor of Melbourne attempts to go in ahead of the first commoner of the whole of the commonwealth, complications may arise. But perhaps in the meantime the herald's college in London will be consulted on this and kindred points, and an amicable solution arrived at. By the way, Montreal and Toronto, the leading cities of Canada, are inquiring why they also should not have lord mayors. Well, if they bestir themselves and request Lord Strathcona to prefer the request in the right quarter, doubtless their ambition will be gratified. The Canadians are not so pushful in "making representations" as the Australians.

Germs of Epizootic.

The foot and mouth disease (epizootic aptha), which has appeared after an absence of 30 years, is propagated by germs and is highly contagious. Persons carry the germs on their clothing or shoes, dogs can transport them and they can be taken into the systems of a healthy herd which passes over the same road that a sick animal passed over a few hours previous. Cattle are not the only animals subject to it, for it is contracted by sheep, swine, horses, poultry, and sometimes by man.

The Chinese Peach Bloom.

Neither the blight nor the early frosts can affect the value of the Chinese peach bloom, even if these things do affect the American fruit growers. This is because the Chinese peach bloom appears on small vases made 200 or 300 years ago. One of them, six inches tall, sold in New York for $3,200, enough to buy a good-sized peach orchard in Delaware or California.

Most Valuable Medal.

The most valuable medal in existence is the Blake victory medal, struck in 1683. It is of gold, oval in shape and its original cost was $1,500.

BASKET BALL.

Dr. W. Kempton Browning is organizing a business men's basket ball team which he hopes to have registered so that a game with the Reform Club team can be arranged within a short time.

Because the officials failed to appear, the basket ball game scheduled for last evening between the teams from Hope Y. M. A. and the Reform Club at Hope gymnasium, was not played. The game was postponed and the executive committee of the Plainfield Amateur Basket Ball League will have to arrange for a future date.

PRAISE FOR COMPANY K.

Lieut. Col. Cline and Major Dungan Spoke Highly of Local Company.

Lieutenant Colonel Cline, of Burlington, and Major Nelson Y. Dungan, of Somerville, reviewed Company K last evening when the company held its weekly drill.

After the drill, Colonel Clime said that he had never seen in any of his military experience, such execution in loading, firing and charging bayonets as shown by the local soldiers. He noted marked improvement in the company since it has been under the captaincy of Captain William B. Martin. It being the first time that Major Dungan has visited the local company since that company made its fine showing in the State rifle practice, he congratulated the members of the company on securing that envious distinction of being the finest marksmen in the State.

TWO CLAIMANTS.

Surrogate Fitzgerald, of New York, Will Hold Hearing to Decide Which is Widow.

Surrogate Fitzgerald, of New York, has set aside March 24 as a day on which to take testimony and decide who of the two claimants as widow, is entitled to the estate of George E. Reed, of this city, one of the New Jersey Central wreck victims on January 27.

Letters of administration have been granted both women, Mrs. Eleanor Reed and Mrs. Mary Alice Reed, but curiously enough Reed left no estate. The only material advantage that will accrue from the decision will be the right to secure damages from the railroad. This, according to the basis of his probable earnings, will amount to $25,000.

ST. PATRICK'S BALL.

Ancient Order of Hibernians Gave One at Saengerbund Hall.

A ball was held last evening in Saengerbund Hall under the auspices of the lodge of Ancient Order of Hiberaians, in honor of the twenty-eighth anniversary of the organization of the lodge. The dancing was greatly enjoyed by a large number of people from this city, Elizabeth, Newark, Jersey City and other towns and cities. Many of the city officials were present. J. J. Gallagher and John F. Casey were chairman of the committee and floor manager, respectively.

Former Lieutenant Hearne, Now State Y. M. C. A. Secretary, Told of His Experiences in the East.

E. W. Hearne, a former lieutenant in the U. S. Volunteers in the Philippine Islands and now State superintendent of the Y. M. C. A. in this State, gave an informal talk last evening at Association Hall on the conditions of life, habits and customs of the people of those islands and also told of the great work being done there in Y. M. C. A. work.

His talk was illustrated with stereopticon views, some of them being photographs taken by himself while in the service during the war there. A good sized audience heard him and were greatly interested in the talk.

During the course of his talk he gave an account of the Philippine Islands, the people and how they have become interested in the Y. M. C. A. work.

THREE CLAIM IT.

Death of Westfield Man Brings Forward Two Women Who Claim to be Wife, and One a Daughter.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Westfield, March 17—Letters of administration have been applied for by three women for the estate of Nelson L. Newcombe, a wealthy resident of this place who died suddenly in Brooklyn on February 27. It was thought here the man was everything he represented himself until Mrs. Sarah Anna Newcombe, of Boston, filed a claim as his lawful wife, preceding Mrs. Emma Newcombe, of Westfield. Other letters of administration have been applied for by Miss Ida Newcombe, of Fairfield, Mass., as a daughter.

Newcombe lived at 89 Dudley avenue and was prominent in local society. He was a member of the Westfield Club and was very fond of horses. The property in this city is valuable but the Westfield Mrs. Newcombe claims it is in her name and that she does not intend giving it up under any circumstances.

THREE MEN IN CAB.

Locomotive Engineers Opposing the Proposed Safeguard Against Railroad Accidents.

At a meeting of Division No. 157, of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, in Jersey City, last week, a committee was appointed to go to Trenton this week to protest against the passage of the "three-men-in-a-cab" bill, which was introduced shortly after the Central Railroad accident at Westfield several weeks ago. Similar action was taken last week by the division of the Brotherhood which has its headquarters in Mauch Chunk.

The members of the Jersey City Division committee are Messrs. Arthur Kirkendall, of Bayonne; William R. Bennett, of Newark; Pierson Meade, of Jersey City, and John Mannion, of Lakewood.

CITY JOTTINGS.

—Jerusalem Lodge, No. 26, F. and A. M., will hold a communication this evening when there will be a programme of much interest. No work will be done, the evening being given up to social features.

—Since March 1, the following have entered the Plainfield Business College: Olive Waldron, Florence Straus, Gertrude Haseltine, Mary Burke, Minnie Whalen, Chas. Schooley, Arthur Jeffery, Benj. Schuck, Alex. Stelle, Walter Ulmer, Frank Terry and Percy Terry.

Not According to Contract.

Station Master—I think some one will get into trouble on account of that train starting three minutes late.

Assistant—Why? Any of the passengers complaining?

"No; but the restaurant man says he'll make it hot for whoever is responsible. The passengers have had time to eat what they paid for."—Stray Stories.

Dialogues of the Day.

Relieved Taxpayer—Well, that war with Germany didn't last very long.

Naval Contractor—No; just long enough to get me some more contracts for battleships.

Taxpayer begins to think he is "relieved" in the sense in which a pickpocket "relieves" a man of his watch.—N. Y. Post.

Enough Rage for the Whole.

"I am afraid," said Maud, thoughtfully, "that Willie Wibbles will never come here again."

"Did he go away in a rage?" asked Mamie.

"Well, some of him did. Just before he started my dear little dachshund bit a piece out of him."—Stray Stories.

NEWARK TERMINAL.

Announcement of Plans by the Jersey Central, is Expected Sometime This Month.

Announcement of the plans of the Jersey Central Railroad for the improvement of the Broad street terminal of its line at Newark is expected to be made some time this month.

Engineers have made preliminary surveys for the erection of various kinds of structures that might be suitable for such a site, and other preliminary matters arranged for. The company has determined to build and notification was sent to the tenants of the present depot building that the premises must be vacated by May 1.

One of the plans that was first taken under consideration by the railroad authorities was that of erecting a large combination terminal, with offices and stores. Another set of plans which it was reported the company has taken under advisement specifies a building for railroad use exclusively. The present Broad street depot buildings of the railroad have a total frontage of 100 feet.

Epworth League Social.

The arrangements for the social to be given Friday evening at the First M. E. church, under the auspices of the Epworth League of that church, are being pushed forward with considerable vim by the members of that committee and a pleasant evening is anticipated. Several novel features will be introduced.

John Schenck Out Again.

John Schenck, who was injured some time ago by falling from a ladder on East Front street, as a result of a severe shock of electricity, and who was recently removed to his home on Manning avenue after being confined to Muhlenberg Hospital, was able to be out again Sunday.

An Assorted Social.

The Epworth League of Grace M. E. church will hold a social at the church, Friday evening. The committee, which has the arrangements in charge, has called it an "Assorted Social" and novel features and entirely new ideas will be inducements to a large attendance.

On Road to Recovery.

John Sheppard, of Watchung and Manning avenues, had an operation performed a few days ago for a cancer on his body. The operation was performed by Dr. J. Hervey Buchanan and the patient is now well on the road to recovery.

To Render Oratorio.

The choir of the First Baptist church, under the direction of Howard Case, organist, is preparing to give Stainer's oratorio, "Mary Magdalene," shortly before Easter. The regular choir will be augmented by other efficient singers.

Practicing for Easter.

The choir of the Monroe Avenue M. E. church are already practicing for the Easter music which will be rendered at that church on Easter Sunday. The rehearsing is under the direction of the choir director, Walter M. McGee.

Women of Church to Meet.

A meeting of the women of Grace M. E. church will be held at the church parlors, Friday afternoon of this week. This will be an interesting meeting and a large number is expected to be present.

Finishing City Accounts.

Mr. Collins, the expert accountant, who is inspecting all of the city accounts is gradually nearing the end of his job. Thus far he has found the various books and accounts all right.

SUNDAY-SCHOOLS IN JERSEY

THERE ARE 2,338 OF THEM NOW ACCORDING TO ANNUAL REPORT.

Just Made Public by Rev. E. M. Fergusson, of Trenton, Secretary of State Association.

In New Jersey there are 2,338 Sunday-schools, according to the last report issued by Rev. E. Morris Fergusson of Trenton, general secretary of the New Jersey Sunday-school Association.

These schools are distributed through twenty-one counties, representing nearly forty Protestant evangelical denominations, and enrolling about 18.5 per cent. of the population.

These schools vary greatly in size and condition. The average membership of the Sunday-schools of Hudson county is 293, while in Sussex it is less than 84. About one-tenth (9.4 per cent.) of all the Sunday-schools are "union schools," meeting usually in district school houses. Over 17 per cent. have a home department, enrolling those who study but do not attend. A little more than half (50.8 per cent.) have a separate room for the primary class. Over seven-eighths (88 5 per cent.) are open all the year.

Conditions are changing. Ten years ago the percentages were: Union schools, 11.3; home departments, almost none; separate primary rooms, 45.4; open all the year, 82.1. The average Sunday-school in Hudson county had 275 members; in Sussex, 82. The percentage of population in Sunday-school was 19.6. Interpreting these figures with the help of other information it is noted that the population has been moving from the country to the city; the city schools have increased in number and size, but not fast enough to take up the rapid increase in population; many small country schools have lapsed; the quality of the work done the past year has in several respects been distinctly improved.

The detailed statistics of the schools are as follows:

Officers and teachers	40,162
Scholars	308,534
Total attending membership	348,696
Average attendance	205,314
Home department members	15,922
Total membership, including home departments	364,618
Scholars joined church	10,438
Scholars church members (many large schools not reporting)	55,306

—The Epworth League of the First M. E. church will hold an important business meeting, Friday evening.

OPPOSITION ELECTS TICKET; OPEN SESSIONS HEREAFTER

Eventful School Meeting Held in North Plainfield, When School Trustees Were Elected.

500 TAXPAYERS AT THE MEETING

OPPOSITION TO METHODS OF BOARD HAD TICKET IN FIELD, WHICH DEFEATED OLD BOARD'S CHOICE FOR TRUSTEES.

New Members Elected Are John Valiant, Samuel Townsend, Hiram A. Woodruff and Murray Burtis—Annual Report of President A. V. D. Honeyman is Received—Treasurer's Report Was Presented by Clerk Fountain—Other Details.

Five hundred tax payers and citizens of North Plainfield attended the annual meeting of the borough schools which was held last evening. The large turnout was for the purpose of entering a protest against the present manner of conducting the school business and of holding the meetings from which the public is excluded. The opposition won their points by electing their own trustees and carrying a resolution providing for school meeting to be held in places where the public can attend them. Reports were read showing the conditions of the schools both financially and as to the results obtained from the system now in use.

The meeting was held in the auditorium of the main school on Somerset street, and was called to order at 8:15 by James R. Joy. S. St. John McCutchen was chosen the chairman of the meeting, although he protested on being mentioned to fill the chair. After a few remarks he said that the meeting was called for the purpose of electing three trustees for a term of three years and one for an unexpired term of one year. James K. Arnold was named for the secretary of the meeting after Robert M. Fountain and James R. Joy had been nominated but declined to accept the appointment on the ground that they had reports to read.

Former Senator Charles A. Reed asked that the meeting proceed to the election of the trustees and voting on the appropriations. When this was put in the shape of a motion and submitted to a vote it was carried unanimously.

James K. Arnold and Horace J. Martin were elected tellers. Nominations were made as follows: John Valiant, Samuel Townsend, Hiram A. Woodruff, George D. Hallock, Henry A. McGee, for three year terms and Former Councilman Murray Burtis for trustee for one year.

The result of the election was as follows: For three year terms: John Valiant, 236; Samuel Townsend, 211, Hiram Woodruff, 184; George D. Hallock, 85; Henry A. McGee, 66. For the unexpired team of one year: Murray Burtis, 226; John Valiant, 3; Henry McGee, 1; George D. Hallock, 1; Samuel Townsend, 4; Hiram Woodruff, 1; John H. VanWinkle, 1, and George H. Fairchild, 2. The total vote was 226. There were many who did not cast a vote.

The appropriations were carried as follows: Teachers' salaries and current expenses, $14,400; books, etc., $1,200; special school tax, $1,350. For teachers' salaries the vote was 185, for books, etc., 186, and for school tax, 157. Two votes were rejected. The total amount of appropriations were $16,950. The polls were open for an hour.

While the ballots were being counted, District Clerk Robert Fountain read the report showing the financial condition of the schools in the borough. The substance of the report is as follows: The receipts of general school funds and the amount now in the collector's hands up to March 18, '02, was $4,829.21; received from the State, $12,152.39; special school tax for six years past, including manual training department, $22,421.63; manual training fund received from the State, $3,150; making a total of receipts of $42,573.50. The disbursements are as follows:

Teachers' salaries, $18,960; incidental and general expenses, $30,520.99; manual training, $2,773.89; and other minor expenses, leaving a balance on hand of $9,277.90.

The reading of the report of the President, which will be published entire in tomorrow's Daily Press, followed. A. V. D. Honeyman, the president, was not present at the meeting and James R. Joy read the report.

When the report had been read Former Mayor W. L. Saunders offered a resolution which he said was not prepared with a view of criticising any member of the Board of Education but merely as a suggestion. His resolution was to the effect that the Board of Education be requested to transact its business in a public place where the public may attend.

When that motion was placed before the assemblage for a vote it was carried without a dissenting vote amid loud applause.

In explaining his position in offering the motion he said that public officers should transact the business entrusted to their care in a place where the public could have an opportunity of knowing what is being done. The Council meets in public, he said, as all meetings should be conducted where public moneys are being expended. He said that he was aware that there are some things which would come up before a Board of Education meeting which would require a secret meeting, such as the matter of hiring teachers but where public moneys are to be expended the meetings should be in places where the public could learn of it.

Considerable argument followed the offering of the motion in which John Valiant said in reply to a suggestion made that the meeting be held in the Council Chambers, that the Council rooms were not centrally located enough for such meetings as he said that very often material had to be used in the meetings which, if the sessions were held in the rooms suggested, it would necessitate the handling of the materials considerable distance, and he did not think that plan a practicable one. Mr. Saunders said that he thought no plan a wise one which was not practicable. He said that he did not expect as large an attendance at the regular meetings of the board as there was present last night, but that he was in favor of having the meetings in a place where the press representatives could be present and thus keep the public informed as to what is going on.

It was finally decided to see what could be done in the matter of securing a suitable place for meetings.

Mayor Newton B. Smalley, who had taken an active part in the proceedings, asked why the one session plan was continued in the borough schools. Chairman McCutchen referred the matter to the supervising principal of the school, Homer J. Wightman, who said that when the present system was inaugurated he sent communications to all the parents of the pupils asking for an expression as to whether they desired one session a day for their children, beginning at 8 o'clock in the morning and closing at 1 in the afternoon, or two sessions with one session in the morning and another in the afternoon, and in reply Mr. Wightman stated that 90 per cent. of the parents favored the one session a day plan and that was the reason it has been continued. Mayor Smalley protested against the system claiming that the children had better be in school than running about the streets.

There was a lull in the proceedings for a few moments while the tellers were preparing to announce the result of the election when Assessor Elston M. French said, in connection with a statement of Mr. Reed's earlier in the meeting about the article appearing in the borough press to the effect that he had failed to make assessments where the Board of Education had ordered him to in 1901; that the reports were totally untrue and he declared that he assessed every dollar which he was directed to.

After the result of the balloting had been announced the meeting adjourned.

ST. PATRICK AN EXAMPLE

WORTHY OF BEING IMITATED AND FOLLOWED IN PRESENT AGE.

So Said Rev. Father J. W. Daily in Lecture Given at St. Mary's Church Last Evening.

St. Patrick was held out as a worthy example for Catholics of the present age to imitate and follow, in a lecture given at St. Mary's R. C. church last night by Rev. Joseph W. Daily, pastor of St. Alphonsus church, of New York. The church was well filled, and the discourse given on Ireland's patron saint, was well timed and very interesting.

Taking for his theme "The Life of St. Patrick as a Triumph," Father Daily drew some valuable lessons, if which he said, were applied to the present age would result in a wonderful transformation in the religious world and further Christianity to a great extent. As an introduction the speaker referred to the early days of St. Patrick, particularly when twenty-two years of age when he was released from captivity. During this time, he said, St. Patrick made preparations for the great revivals he inaugurated on the Island of Wicklow 432 A. D., which resulted in 300 churches being established and over 3,000 priests ordained, and in addition giving an impetus throughout Ireland for higher education.

St. Patrick was a man of strong character, said the speaker, his leading characteristics being the spirit of penance, profound humility, and the great zeal put forth in efforts to save souls. The secret of his great success, Father Daily ascribed to the fact of his being a man of God, with the love of a seraph, faith of a St. Peter, and the zeal of a St. Paul.

WAGNER MUSICALE.

Second of Series Given at Home of Mrs. Chas. W. McCutchen.

The second Wagner musicale was given yesterday morning at the home of Mrs. Charles W. McCutchen on Rockview Terrace, by Miss Estella Neuhaus. The subject was "Die Walkure," and it was interpreted in the same brilliant manner that characterized the first musicale. There was a large and attentive audience and the affair was a distinct success. The next musicale will be given Tuesday morning, March 24, at the home of Mrs. J. Kirtland Myers. The subject will be "Siegfried."

HURRIED TO BEDSIDE.

Mrs. Sheldon, Still Ill, Went to Bedside of Daughter, Who is Also Ill.

Mrs. Margaret Sheldon, of Watchung avenue, who has been confined to the house for several weeks suffering with the grip, was just able to be about again, when word was received from the State Hospital at Morris Plains, stating that her daughter, Elizabeth Sheldon, who formerly lived in this city, was seriously ill with pneumonia. The mother hurried to the bedside of her daughter, although she herself, was still in a dangerous condition.

Played, But No Prizes.

The Duplicate Whist Club was entertained last evening by Miss Lillian A. Force at her home, 86 Duer street. As is the custom of the club no prizes were presented, the money generally received for that purpose being used to purchase tickets for a performance at one of the New York theatres. At the end of the season the club will witness some performance to be decided upon.

Concert by Germans.

A concert is being planned by the Gesang and Turn Verein for Easter Monday evening. It is being arranged under the auspices of Professor Eichhorn, of Elizabeth, and almost the entire membership of the society will be in the chorus.

Exterior Nearly Completed.

Nearly all of the exterior work of rebuilding the Babcock building is completed and the interior work is being pushed along very fast.

FRIENDS WALK IN.

T. S. Armstrong Wasn't Looking for a Gathering in Honor of His Birthday.

In honor of his forty-eighth birthday, T. S. Armstrong, the druggist, was agreeably surprised by forty-five friends last evening at his home 37 Duer street.

Mr. Armstrong was taken totally by surprise. He and Mrs. Armstrong went out during the first part of the evening to visit at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Martin, near by. While there the party assembled at the house and word was sent to Mr. Martin's house announcing the arrival of some friends. Shortly after he had recovered from his surprise, a very handsome oak Morris chair was presented to him by his friends. Among those who favored with instrumental selections were Dr. and Mrs. J. Hervey Buchanan, John D. Moore and Miss Daisy Kline.

In the latter part of the evening there were games, dancing and refreshments. The first woman's prize in a peanut race was won by Mrs. Buchanan, and the first prize for men was captured by Eugene M. Laing. Mrs. J. K. VanArsdale won the consolation prize.

MASONS ENTERTAIN.

Pleasant Social Given by Jerusalem Lodge, No. 26, F. and A. M., Last Evening.

Jerusalem Lodge, No. 26, F. and A. M., held a communication last evening, when, instead of doing any ritualistic work, a social time and entertainment was provided for the Masonic brethren. There were nearly two hundred Masons present.

The programme was in charge of Junior Warden R. A. Osmun and a committee and included vocal selections by a quartette consisting of F. J. Pope, Wm. Jeffrey, George Smith and Wilson Derby, also vocal solos by Mr. Derby and Mr. Pope. There were also banjo solos by Fred VanEps, accompanied by Stuart Pope on the piano.

Aside from the musical features there were short addresses by Grand Junior Warden Walter E. Chandler and District Deputy W. D. Wolfskeil, of Elizabeth. Others present from out of town included Worshipful Masters Bartine, of Somerville and John Rowland, of Bound Brook. After the programme a bountiful collation was served.

PUBLIC REHEARSAL.

Y. M. C. A. Orchestra Gave a Strong Programme in Very Satisfactory Fashion Last Evening.

The sixth public rehearsal of the Plainfield Y. M. C. A. orchestra was held last evening in Association Hall, when the place was fairly well filled. The music rendered, under the able direction of Martin A. Korff, was of a very high order.

Several selections were executed by the entire orchestra which was followed by Garret T. Dunham and orchestra in a masterful rendition of Sullivan's "Lost Chord." Mrs. Charlotte M. Ross rendered a contralto solo "Good Bye, Sweet Day," accompanied by Miss Charlotte Conger. This was very well rendered and was well received.

Whitney Frazee, accompanied by the entire orchestra, rendered Shubert's "Ave Marie" with fine execution. The programme concluded with the orchestra playing the new march, "Ching Chang."

NEW WATER MAINS.

Plainfield Water Supply Company Kept Busy With Demands for New House Connections.

The Plainfield Water Supply Company has been very busy of late in putting in new water mains and connections for houses. The remarkably large number of applications for connections is significant of an unusual amount of building, contemplated during the spring, which also shows that the building boom of the late fall will be carried on this spring and summer.

A large water main will be installed in front of the Babcock building in a few days for the purpose of operating an elevator. There are at present at the water company's office on North avenue nine applications for house connections.

Elaborate Easter Programme.

The choir of St. Joseph's R. C. church, under the supervision of the choirmaster, James Bailey, has started in practicing the Easter music. The musical programme this year will be an elaborate one and the choir already shows itself to be in fine trim.

Worth One Dollar.

Bears Brothers, 329 West Front street, will allow you $1 for their advertisement in this issue if you will open an account with them. See ad.

GAVE TO RELIEF FUND.

Robert B. Potts Has Sent Gift to Firemen's Relief Fund.

In appreciation of the manner in which the local firemen handled the blaze at his house a few weeks ago, Robert B. Potts has sent to the firemen a letter in which he thanked them for the work they did and enclosed $10 which he gave to the Firemen's Relief Fund. This is a very welcome gift as it has been some time since there have been any donations made to this worthy fund, which is maintained for the benefit of disabled firemen, firemen's widows and orphans and a sick benefit.

WATER POWER FOR ORGANS

THE LOCAL CHURCHES ARE CHANGING FROM ELECTRIC POWER.

Change in Current, and Condemning of Some Wiring, Has Resulted in Change as Cheaper.

On account of a change which is being made in the local electric light station, where the local power line is being changed from the direct to the alternating system, many of the local churches have found it cheaper to install water motors for pumping the organs instead of new electric appliances, which the change necessitates.

Some time ago an underwriters insurance inspector came to this city and condemned the wiring in some of the churches which use electricity, in inflating the organ bellows This would necessitate new wiring as well as a new motor.

The Plainfield Water Supply Company has been very busy of late in placing mains in front of several of the largest churches for the purpose of making the change. Last week a six-inch main was placed in front of Grace P. E. church and yesterday another main was installed in front of the First Presbyterian church on East Front street.

The only church in this city which will not be supplied with water motors for pumping the organ will be St. Mary's R. C. church. There the old method of pumping the organ by hand is still used. The organ is soon to be renovated and it is possible that water power will be used in the near future.

A main will be installed in front of All Souls' Unitarian church sometime this week preparatory to placing a water motor in that edifice.

CYCLING DERBY.

The Century Club Will Take Charge of the Irvington-Milburn Race.

Cyclists were questioning for a time as to whether the annual Irvington-Milburn race would be held as usual this year Memorial Day.

At the March meeting of the Associated Cycling Clubs, New York City, it was decided that the association would not seek to run the Irvington-Milburn road race this year.

Now the Century Road Club Association has applied for a permit to run the Irvington-Milburn road race on Decoration Day, and President Van Dyke says that assurances have been received from the Freeholders that the permission will be granted. Mr. Van-Dyke adds that the association will put up prizes that will bid for a bigger entry list than ever and that the race will be run with all its historic grandeur.

Made Hit at Raritan.

John Enright, of this city, made a distinct hit in an amateur play given in Raritan, last evening, entitled "King Alcohol." He essayed one of the most difficult roles in the production and his interpretation was perfect. A large number of his friends from the Hibbard-Rodman-Ely Safe Works, who were in the audience, tendered him a bouquet at one of the intermissions.

Hospital Tea.

Mrs. G. Mayer and Mrs. T. S. Wheeler, of Park avenue, have issued invitations for a "Hospital Tea" to be given Tuesday afternoon, March 31, from 3 to 6 o'clock at 1023 Park avenue, for the benefit of Muhlenberg Hospital. Each woman is kindly asked to bring a sheet and pillow slip, size of sheet finished 2 1-4x3 1-4 yards. Size of pillow slip finished 42x36 inches.

Business, Then Sociability.

Following the business meeting of the Epworth League at the First M. E. church, Friday evening, there will be an informal programme of music and a social time.

Invitation Affair.

An informal reception and dance will be given Saturday evening in the old Common Council room under the direction of H. H. Coward. It will be an invitation affair.

SCHOOL MEETING.

Dunellen Voters Elect School Trustees and Fix Appropriations for the Year.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Dunellen, March, 18—The annual school meeting was held last evening in the Borough Hall. The meeting was more largely attended than any in recent years and much interest was shown. Rev. Frank Fletcher was elected chairman of the meeting and T. W. Day was appointed secretary, Messrs. Randolph and Dayton tellers.

The district clerk, F. T. Dickerson, read a portion of his report and then nominations were made for members of the board. Of those nominated R. F. Bogardus received 43 votes; Wilson Fredericks, 149; Lewis Titsworth, 116, and F. T. Dickerson 129. Messrs. Fredericks, Dickerson and Titsworth were then declared elected.

During the meeting a vote of thanks was extended to the Board of Education and the district clerk for the thorough and efficient way they had performed their duties. The Clerk's report was particularly commendable as it was very clear and full. An appropriation of $3,500 was voted for all purposes.

Some discussion was caused at this point as to whether it was legal for the clerk to cast a ballot for the entire vote or not. It was finally decided to abide by the old custom. The president appointed an auditing committee for the year consisting of Augustus Todd, Albert Apgar and Mahlon Dayton, after which the meeting adjourned.

ONE TRICK DID IT.

Camera Club Four Defeated by the Jersey City Club, Which Plainfielders Beat Few Weeks Ago.

Arthur H. Freeman, F. H. Freeman, Ralph T. Willis and W. J. R. Hegeman, Jr., representing the whist four of the Camera Club, were defeated last evening by the Jersey City Whist Club in the play for the New Jersey State Whist League trophy. The Plainfield team lost the match by a score of 13 to 12. There were thirty-two deals in all.

The Jersey City team, consisting of Messrs. Bowlby, McCabe, Whittier and Bumstead, was the same one defeated by the Camera Club team in the play for the Metropolitan challenge trophy, a few weeks ago.

NO CHEAPER MILK.

Not Likely That Summer Will Bring Any Reduction in the Price of Milk.

The price of milk, so the dealers say, will not be reduced this spring as is usually the case. This, they assert is because of the fact that all the feed is exceptionally high and that the prospects for a droughty summer are good.

Usually in winter time the price of milk goes up to eight cents a quart and when spring opens, it drops to six cents. Last year, the milk did not go down in spring time but remained at the same price throughout the year. It was hoped that the commodity would decrease in price this year but, from what the dealers themselves say, it is probable that the price will remain as it has been all during the winter.

Two Hundred Tables at Euchre.

The choir of St. Mary's church are planning to hold a euchre in the school building on the Monday evening following Easter. The euchre will be the largest ever held, and 200 tables will be used at which 800 people will play. A reception will be held after the card playing and a delightful time is assured.

Planning a Barn Dance.

Miss Martha Hand, of Fairview avenue, will entertain a number of her friends at her home this evening in honor of her thirteenth birthday. Elaborate plans are being made for the event and if the weather will permit a barn dance will be enjoyed by the young folks.

Supper at Seventh-Day Church.

The supper to be given this evening in the parlors of the Seventh-Day Baptist church under the auspices of the Woman's Society for Christian Work will be followed with an informal programme of music. Supper will be served at 6 o'clock.

Unique Features Planned.

The Epworth League of Grace M. E. church is making arrangements for a social to be held Friday evening, which will have several unique features. Andrew Wilson and Charles Warren comprise the committee in charge.

—Neuman Brothers have recently received another consignment of olive oil, direct from France. It is sold in quart and pint bottles at 65 cents and 35 cents.

HOPE Y. M. A. HOLDS ITS ANNUAL MEETING

President Wm. N. Runyon Refuses to Accept Re-election Under Existing Conditions.

NO PRESIDENT CHOSEN

JOHN H. COSE RE-ELECTED MANAGER OF BASEBALL NINE.

"Brit" Martin Will Captain Team—Resolution Passed Asking the Church Trustees to Reconsider Discharge of Janitor Stewart.

At the annual meeting of the Hope Y. M. A., held last evening, the following officers were elected for th ensuing year: Vice president, J. Fre Wharton; secretary, George E. Firstbrook; treasurer, Thomas Muir. The office of president, which ha been held by City Judge William N. Runyon for two years, was left vacan temporarily as the present incumben would not accept re-election unde existing circumstances.

Other elections were the house committee, William Porter, James Montross, Thomas Chamberlain, Benjami Evans and Charles Vincent; membership committee, William Dilts, Claude Roseberry and George Slorah. John H. Cose, who so successfully managed last season's baseball team, was electe to the position for the coming year. "Brit" Martin will captain the team. Manager Cose will at once begin preparation for getting his men together and starting practice games. There is excellent material in the association this year and prospects for a good nine are flattering.

Another matter of importance brought before the meeting was the project of paying sick benefits to members in good standing. The idea was enthusiastically received and the amount of weekly payments and rules to govern the same was left to a committee composed of John H. Cose, George E. Firstbrook and J. Fred Wharton.

The association by a unanimous vote passed resolutions asking the trustees of the Crescent Avenue church to reconsider their action in dismissing David F. Stewart as janitor of the chapel and the association gymnasium. The members declared they believed him fully fit and capable of discharging the duties of the position and expressed the opinion that he is acceptable to a large majority of those attending the chapel. He is held in high esteem by the young men and they declare their work at the chapel will be seriously hampered by his removal.

Reports for the year were read by the officers and of these, the treasurer's was, perhaps, the most interesting. It showed the total receipts for the year to have been $1,717.61 and the disbursements, $1,258.08, leaving a balance in the treasury irrespective of profits from the recent minstrel show, $492.08. The membership of the association is sixty.

Gypsies Are Here.

The first of the bands of gypsies which usually visit this city in the spring of the year has arrived and is now in camp at Avon Park. It consists of four families of the Harris tribe and possesses about thirty head of horses. The men said yesterday that the original Cooper family was on the way to Plainfield and would reach here the latter part of the month.

May Have Rifle Team.

There is a strong possibility that a rifle team will be selected from Company K to represent the organization at the National rifle target shoot held at Sea Girt. There is fine material in the company for a team and the chances are that high honors would come to the Plainfield militia organization.

Sanitary Sewer Completed.

The Mariners avenue sanitary sewer, which has been in course of construction during the winter months, was completed yesterday, with the exception of the flush sewer which is to run east along Clinton avenue. The work has been in charge of Contractor James Maybury & Son, of Passaic.

LITERARY.

Ray Stannard Baker, whose articles on "The Great Northwest" are ranked by The Century among the more notable and valuable of the year's offerings, found the nine thousand miles which he and E. L. Blumenschein traveled gathering materials for their pictures, written and drawn, full of adventure.

"We visited all the important cities in the five Northwestern States," Mr. Baker says. "We took part in the land rush at the opening of the Fort Hole Indian Reservation in Idaho in June; we went into the lumber camps in Washington, down in the mines of Montana, out with the salmon-fishing fleet at the mouth of the Columbia river; we outfitted and traveled with wagons or on horseback across part of Idaho, through the forest reserve of Wyoming, and across Yellowstone Park, and we visited the old city of Victoria in British Columbia. In all of the different cities we were afforded every possible assistance in our work, given introductions to the clubs, invited to visit every seat of enterprise —to the limit of our strength. The people everywhere seemed deeply interested in having the country properly presented in The Century."

TEA TABLE TALK.

Short Sketches That Are Not Always News, But Just as Interesting.

You may go trout fishing two weeks from yesterday, and, unless the weather undergoes an extraordinary change meanwhile, the fishing should be good. There is a chance of a heavy snow-fall, but just at present the water is unusually warm for March and the trout are moving and looking for food. The most serious drawback to trout fishing in Northern New Jersey is the fact that there are few brooks containing these fish which are not controlled by clubs and individuals. In fact, there is not a five-mile stretch of public trout water in the whole State. Still the Fish Commission spends money for trout with which to restock brooks. The work was stopped for several years, but was resumed last year.

WHAT OTHERS SAY.

Clippings From Other Newspapers Which May be of Interest to Plainfield and Its Citizens.

Sheriff Corieli has taken possession of the Union county jail without a struggle. In common decency he ought to have sent a letter of thanks to George Virtue, of Newark, for showing him the way to do the trick.—Newark News.

The Senate calendar has run up to 254 and the House 329, making a total of 583 bills during this session, which is fully up to the average at this stage of the proceedings.

Senators Childs and Welsh are the only Senators who have not introduced bills. In the House Assemblymen Robert W. Brown, Hamill, Harrison, Horner, Howe, Iliff and Willever have not introduced bills.

Members of the Legislature who introduce no bills are very independent. They have no pet schemes to be attacked in retaliation for adverse votes or speeches, though the Senators who have refrained from introducing bills have not been aggressive enough to attract attention. Some of the members who have no bills on the calendar have taken an active enough part in legislation to have had their bills "plugged" if they had any.—Jersey City Journal.

THEATRICAL.

Nothing in a dramatic way has caught New York in many years as has Blanche Walsh in "Resurrection." Hillary Bell in the New York Press, one of its most conservative critics says "The Maslova of Miss Walsh is the most consistent, artistic and powerful stroke of acting that has been done this season, with the exception of Leslie Carter's "Du Barry." Managers Wagenhals and Kemper will book a late spring tour of the big Eastern cities for Miss Walsh and will close her season in San Francisco late in July.

Arrangements are now in progress whereby the entire production of "Mr. Pickwick" including company, costumes and scenery is to be taken to the Shaftsbury Theatre in London immediately upon the conclusion of the present run at the Herald Square Theatre, which will probably be about June 1. De Wolf Hopper's personal popularity in London and the enormous success of "Mr. Pickwick" in Toronto and other Canadian cities where the Englishmen abound are two of the reasons for the contemplation of this move.

Spring Time in Washington.

Washington is a typical spring resort and its bustle is purely social and political. There are gathered in the Capital representatives of every nation and country, and their comings and goings are of no litle interest. Then the doings of the Senate and House are features which every tourist delights in following and these features together with the visits to the numerous public buildings keep one busy all the while one is in Washington. The Royal Blue Line of which the New Jersey Central is the initial road is going to operate an excursion to Washington on March 26, and cost of tickets for the three days' excursion including all expenses is $12. Train leaves New York at 1 p. m., and arrives Washington at 6:10 p. m. If you want to know about the trip drop a postal to C. M. Burt, general passenger agent, New York City, for tour book. Facilities Are Taxed.

For the past three weeks, Muhlenberg Hospital's facilities have been taxed in the care of patients. During the greater part of that time the number in both wards has hovered round the thirty mark while the capacity is supposed to be twenty-six. All the patients have been made comfortable but it means a great deal of work on the part of the nursing force.

Consecration Meeting.

STRIKE MAY BE AVERTED.

New York, New Haven and Hartford Men Feel Encouraged.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., March 18.—That marked progress has been made in the conference between members of the joint grievance committee representing employees of the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad company and a committee appointed by the board of directors is distinctly felt.

Today the situation is being discussed informally by the men alone. They will remain in the city until they receive word from the board of directors again. The subcommittee appointed by that body will report to the directors at a meeting soon to be held, and a reply will then be framed to be sent to the joint grievance committee.

Among the men there is a quiet feeling of confidence. They are greatly encouraged by the outcome of the conference and express themselves as much pleased with the frankness of the members of the directors' subcommittee and their treatment of the grievance committee.

Kansas City Strikers Won.

KANSAS CITY, March 18.—After arguments lasting more than eight hours the attorneys and representatives of the striking teamsters and transfer companies reached an agreement, and today every transfer wagon in the city is running as usual. By the terms of the settlement the transfer companies agreed to recognize the union and made other concessions which amount to almost a complete victory for the strikers. With one exception the provisions of the wage scale were adopted as presented by the teamsters. The question of hours will be settled as the teamsters demanded. The men will work ten hours a day and will receive extra pay for overtime. They will receive pay for time and a half for Sunday work and holidays. The recognition of the union was the principal point at issue.

Root's Action Highly Praised.

RALEIGH, N. C., March 18.—In response to the letter sent out by Secretary of War Root concerning the proposed compilation of the rosters of the Union and Confederate armies during the war between the states Governor Aycock has appointed Major B. F. Dixon, state auditor, to collect the material asked of North Carolina. Meetings will be held in each county of the state May 10 to assist in securing the information requested. In speaking of Secretary Root's letter Governor Aycock said it was one of the most graceful and courteous communications ever sent out from the north in relation to the Union and Confederate armies.

To Bridge the Detroit River.

DETROIT, Mich., March 18.—Announcement has been made here that work will be begun about April 10 on the preliminary survey for an international railroad bridge across the Detroit river. George S. Morrison, the engineer, who has been engaged by the railroads to make the survey and give them data which they can use in coming to an agreement on the question of a location, has written that he will send his assistant, Boyd E. Ehle, here with a corps of associates to begin work about April 10.

St. Patrick's Day In London.

LONDON, March 18.—John Redmond presided over the St. Patrick's day banquet given last night at the Hotel Cecil and at which 700 persons sat down. The United League of America sent a cablegram of greeting. John Redmond, proposing the toast of "Ireland a Nation," said that the aspiration of Irishmen was not an ignoble dream of gain or vengeance. Ireland was making a rapid advance toward the realization of the ideal of Thomas Davis.

No Maple Sugar.

CHESTER, Vt., March 18.—Reports received from maple sugar makers in this vicinity indicate that owing to unfavorable weather very little sap has been collected, and the season is likely to prove a failure, at least in the lowlands. In the mountain towns, however, where the run of sap is later, the farmers may have more success. Frost is out of the ground, and the trees are already in bud.

Town Rejects Carnegie's Offer.

NEW YORK, March 18.—The people of Mamaroneck have decided at their village election that they did not want the $10,000 library offered them by Andrew Carnegie. The wealthier people are in favor of the gift, but were outnumbered by the other residents, who were against the proposition because it would bind them to raise $3,000 annually for maintenance.

Harlan Leaves Porto Rico.

SAN JUAN, Porto Rico, March 18.—Attorney General Harlan has sailed on his way to Washington to personally hand to President Roosevelt his resignation, which will take effect on April 20. A large number of officials and citizens and a band of music were at the wharf to give him a farewell.

Ex-President Cleveland's Birthday.

PRINCETON, N. J., March 18.—Former President Cleveland is sixty-six years old today. He passed the day at home with his family in his usual quiet way. The ex-president is in excellent health and is thoroughly enjoying the fine spring weather.

Town Rejects Carnegie's Offer.

LITTLE FALLS, N. Y., March 18.—The taxpayers of the village of Frankfort have voted down a proposition to expend $1,000 annually to maintain a $10,000 library offered by Andrew Carnegie.

Cuban Congress Takes a Recess.

PENNELL IS ACCUSED

Burdick's Partner Creates a Sensation at Inquest.

STATES HIS BELIEF IN PLAIN TERMS

Considers Victim of Recent Automobile Accident or Some One Hired by Him Responsible For Buffalo's Mysterious Murder.

BUFFALO, March 18.—The name of Arthur R. Pennell, who was named as corespondent in the Burdick divorce proceedings and who met a terrible death in Gehre's stone quarry two weeks after Edwin L. Burdick was murdered, constantly came to the surface in the inquest before Judge Murphy yesterday. Charles S. Parke, Burdick's former business partner and close friend, while on the witness stand in the afternoon gave it as his opinion, based upon information and supposition, that Pennell or a hired assassin killed Burdick.

Fear of disclosures growing out of the divorce proceedings instituted by Mr. Burdick against his wife, Mr. Parke firmly believed, was the motive for the crime. Mr. Parke told of conversations he had had with Burdick relating to the trouble with Pennell. On one occasion Burdick told Parke that Pennell had threatened suicide if the suit was not stopped. Pennell threatened to kill both himself and Mrs. Burdick.

Mrs. Gertrude B. Paine, the wife of Dr. Seth T. Paine, a close friend of the Pennells and the Burdicks, was closely questioned regarding the relations between the two families and especially of the feeling displayed by the men toward each other. Mrs. Paine's house was searched by the police on the Sunday following the murder. The district attorney touched only casually upon her whereabouts on the night of the murder, devoting most of the time to questions relating to her relations with Burdick and her knowledge of the feeling between Pennell and Burdick. Mrs. Paine denied having been at Burdick's house at any time when not accompanied by Dr. Paine. Her relations with Burdick were purely social.

Dr. Paine was examined. He was on the stand for only a few minutes. He was in Batavia on the night of the murder.

Charles S. Parke, Burdick's business partner, was the star witness of the day. He had been associated in business with him for fourteen years and had known him for eighteen years. He occasionally visited at Burdick's home. About a year ago he saw Arthur R. Pennell at Burdick's office. At one time Pennell was Burdick's lawyer. Burdick told Mr. Parke about the trouble with his wife about Christmas time. Mr. Burdick told him he did not blame Mrs. Burdick so much as he did Pennell. He said he had shown him every consideration and that Pennell had promised to get out of town, but had not done so. He said he had lost patience, and the divorce suit was to go on.

"Then the man who made all the trouble was Pennell?"

"Yes."

"Did he say he was afraid of Pennell?"

"He said he had been warned to look out for Pennell, but he believed Pennell was a physical coward, and he had no fear of him. He said he carried a revolver when he went out of town just as a matter of precaution."

Burdick had a conference with Pennell in a lawyer's office about the proceedings. "Did he tell you anything that Pennell said at that conference?"

"He said Pennell had threatened to commit suicide if the suit was not stopped. He threatened to kill both himself and Mrs. Burdick if the divorce proceedings were continued. Burdick told me he thought the threat was a bluff."

"Did Burdick tell you that Mrs. Pennell had tried to have him withdraw the suit?"

"He said both Mr. and Mrs. Pennell had pleaded with him to drop it."

"What was the purpose of that conference you speak of?"

"I understood it was held for the purpose of reaching a peaceful settlement of their troubles. But it was fruitless. Burdick said he made no concessions."

Mr. Parke said he knew Mrs. Hull quite well. He never had heard of any ill feeling between Mrs. Hull and Burdick.

"Did he ever tell you they had quarreled?"

"No, sir."

"Was there anything about Mrs. Hull's actions that attracted your attention?"

"Nothing, except that she appeared to be suffering from shock and to be in severe mental agony."

"Did you form any opinion as to who committed this murder?" asked District Attorney Coatsworth.

"Yes, sir."

"When?"

"Right after leaving the house that day."

"Is it an opinion based on information or upon supposition?"

"Upon both."

"You have some information?"

"Yes, sir."

"Are you sufficiently satisfied that your opinion is correct to state whom you think the murderer was?"

"I think so."

"Well, who was he?"

"Arthur R. Pennell or some hired assassin."

"What makes you think Pennell killed him?"

"All the circumstances lead me to that conclusion. I am satisfied that the murder grew out of the divorce proceedings."

MAD WOMAN'S CRIME

Killed Daughter and Mother and Then Fired the Home.

RUSHED INTO THE FLAMES TO DIE

Motive For Terrible Southern New York Tragedy Not Known—Dead Woman Had Led a Hermit Life For Years.

PENN YAN, N. Y., March 18.—In a frenzy of mania Mrs. James Strowbridge of Guyanoga village, five miles from here, killed her daughter, aged twenty-six years, and her mother, aged eighty years, and after setting fire to the house in which the bodies lay deliberately entered it and perished in the flames.

Exactly when or how the two women were killed is unknown. The first intimation the neighbors had of the tragedy was when Mrs. Strowbridge's home was found to be on fire, and immediately afterward she was seen to set fire to another house across the street in which her daughter lived and also two barns in which there were eighteen head of cattle and three horses. When a party of men attempted to break open the barn to release the animals, Mrs. Strowbridge, who was standing in front of her blazing home brandishing a revolver, fired at them repeatedly. Several of the men made a rush, hoping to close with the mad woman and disarm her, but she held them at bay with the revolver.

While they were hesitating she suddenly cut her throat, filled a pail of water at the well, thrust a quantity of hay and straw into it and, placing the whole mass on her head, rushed into the blazing house, in which her charred body and those of her daughter and mother were found after the fire had burned itself out.

The three women lived a hermit life, working on the farm like men and often wearing men's clothing. They are supposed to have been well to do. Mrs. Strowbridge is supposed to have gone suddenly mad. For several days she appeared to be acting strangely, but her method of life was such that none of the neighbors ever had any communication with her. A suit recently brought against Mrs. Strowbridge for wages may have aggravated her trouble.

Several years ago the husband of Mrs. Strowbridge is said to have been driven from the farm after he had made over all his property to his daughter. He never dared or cared to return to his home and is now living with a brother in Potter.

Mississippi Still Rising.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., March 18.—The Mississippi here is at a stage of 39.6 feet and rising. There is a break in the levee fifteen miles above Memphis on the Arkansas side, and the levees at Luxora and Pecan Point are reported to be in danger. The situation is still critical and will continue so until the river falls. In the vicinity of Helena there will be a rapid rise for a day or two. In the Vicksburg district the situation is considered very grave. The stage indicated for Greenville is slightly more than forty-seven feet, while a fifty-one foot stage is probable at Vicksburg. In the New Orleans district there have been several crevasses.

Wood Sails Next Week.

WASHINGTON, March 18.—General Wood will leave here Thursday of next week to embark on the steamer leaving Boston on the 28th inst. for Naples. He will be accompanied by Colonel H. T. Scott, Seventh cavalry, and Lieutenant F. R. McCoy, Tenth cavalry. It is expected that the party will arrive in Manila about the middle of June. General Wood will have command of the department of Mindanao until he is advanced to the command of the division of the Philippines.

Ames to Plead Insanity.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., March 18.—Dr. A. A. Ames, in custody of Sheriff Dreger, has reached Minneapolis, having stood the trip better than was anticipated. He was at once taken to a hotel for breakfast and soon after received a number of friends. Ames' defense, according to his leading counsel, will be insanity. His paternal grandfather is said to have been insane, and Ames now has a brother in one of the state hospitals for the insane.

Battleship's Gunners Accurate.

WASHINGTON, March 18.—The battleship Massachusetts, at Pensacola, Fla., in firing with subcaliber guns at a moving target distant 200 yards, but so reduced in size as to be equivalent to a target 17 by 21 feet at a distance of 1,700 yards, made ten hits out of ten shots with a turret gun and six hits out of seven shots with a broadside gun.

Poetical Honors at Princeton.

PRINCETON, N. J., March 18.—Paxton P. Hibbon, 1903, of Indianapolis, Ind., has been awarded the Baird prize of $50 for the best poem in the senior class contest in poetry. The poem will be read at the Baird oratorical contest tonight. Hibbon is managing editor of the Nassau Literary Magazine.

Major Waller Promoted.

WASHINGTON, March 18.—Major L. W. T. Waller, United States marine corps, who was with the first relief party to enter Peking and afterward made the march across Samar in the Philippines which resulted in a court martial, has been promoted to the rank of lieutenant colonel.

Strange Disease Among Horses.

FORT PLAIN, N. Y., March 18.—A strange disease resembling paralysis has appeared among horses in this region. Three valuable animals have died in the past few days.

A Few of the Many Choice

Examples in Costumes

An elegant Gown in White Mousseline with pompadour effects, trimmed with Cream Venice Lace; Skirt has a triple flounce with several rows of drawn shirring, and finished with pink ribbon in varied tints, making one of the most dainty Gowns of the season.

A Promenade Gown in Champagne Crepe de Paris, appliqued in black and white Mousseline Taffeta; yoke made of heavy Russian Lace and finished with dainty French knots black and white; Skirt made with New Hoop cable cord effect and decorative shirrings. This ensemble is thoroughly up to date.

Dinner Gown Doucet Model of Ivory Crepe de Seine, embroidered in Ivory Pan Velvet in rose effects; the bodice is exquisitely studded in rhinestones and pearls, and finished with Cluny Pan Satin and rhinestone buttons. This Gown is a masterpiece in elegance and workmanship.

Carriage and Evening Coats made of Shangtai Pongee and silks; half and three-quarter lengths with Rabat and Stole effects, trimmed with antique Cluny Laces, Medallions, Appliques, artistically finished with new spring shades of velvets, leading points up to date coat construction.

Just an Idea or Two in Modish Millinery.

FROM MME. GEORGETTE—For strong coloring and daring combinations. An immense nile green plateau fashioned into most graceful lines. The great depth of the underbrim is intensified by the unbroken sweep of leaf green maline, in the softest of folds. Soft pink buds bunched tightly together rest on the left side, where they touch the hair. More buds on crown to match those on the underbrim, stand out in strong relief against the softer green of the top and contrast with the deeper green of the large Empire bow spanning the crown, leaving the ends to fall to edge of the plateau.

FROM MONSIEUR VIROT—The queen of the assemblage is perhaps this lace creation. Champagne color is the prevailing tone. The wide flare shows the beautiful tracery of the grape in the softest meshes of the fall of lace around brim. The filminess of the structure is given a look of security in the crown of embroidered batiste. Thrust through the brim is a beautiful white plume, curling softly toward the back, where it mingles with the lace ends and loops of wide soft satin. A long jewelled buckle holds the ribbon loops in place.

TREATY IS RATIFIED

The Vote In the Senate Stood 73 to 5.

NOT A SINGLE CHANGE INTRODUCED

Panama Pact as Negotiated by Secretary Hay and Charge d'Affaires Herran Not Defeated by Morgan.

WASHINGTON, March 18.—Without dotting an "i" or crossing a "t," even without changing a single punctuation mark, the senate voted to ratify the treaty with the republic of Colombia for the construction of an isthmian canal. The vote for ratification was 73 in the affirmative to 5 in the negative. The senate was in executive session when the result was announced, so that only the senators themselves and a few confidential employees were present.

All the senators announced themselves as gratified to have the long struggle terminated, but none of them manifested their appreciation by cheers or handclapping. On the contrary, all of them seemed more concerned about getting away from the chamber than anything else, so that by the time the senate could adjourn, which it did almost immediately after the result was announced, most of the senators had left their seats and some of them had donned their hats and overcoats.

The day was given up almost entirely to general debate on the treaty, and in addition to the set speeches made under the general agreement by Senators Morgan and Cullom there were many short addresses and a rather long speech by Senator Daniel of Virginia. The only party vote of the day was taken on the substitute for article 4, which was agreed upon by the Democratic caucus and had reference to the acquisition of territory in Central and South America by the United States. There were a number of speeches on this amendment, but it was voted down by an almost two-thirds majority, the ballot footing up 51 ayes to 27 nays.

When the senate adjourned at 7 o'clock, there was a general belief that the business of the session might be completed in time to permit final adjournment today. Some, however, placed the date twenty-four hours later.

The Panama canal treaty between the United States and Colombia, which was ratified yesterday, was signed at Washington on Jan. 22, 1903. It was negotiated by Secretary Hay on the part of the United States and Thomas Herran, charge d'affaires, on the part of Colombia, who signed the document.

A Banquet For Miles.

BOSTON, March 18.—General Miles was the guest last night of the South Boston Citizens' association at a banquet at Gray's hall, being escorted from his quarters at the Hotel Touraine to South Boston by the various camps in and around Boston of the Legion of Spanish War Veterans under command of Lieutenant Thomas Sullivan. All along the line of march the streets were lighted by calcium lights, with fireworks and red fire in abundance.

Attempts to Settle Strike Fail.

WATERBURY, Conn., March 18.—Two attempts were made last night to bring about a settlement of the trolley strike, and the national officers who are here, together with Colonel Burpee of the trolley company and Mayor Kilduff, had two lengthy discussions of the situation. The result of the meetings is a complete failure, neither side being able to make concessions which would pave the way for a settlement.

President Schwab Returns.

NEW YORK, March 18.—Apparently in robust health and certainly in the highest of spirits Charles M. Schwab, president of the steel trust, arrived last night on the North German Lloyd steamship Kronprinz Wilhelm after a pleasant and eventful trip abroad of seven months, during which he traveled over most of Europe, devoting himself to recreation and throwing business cares to the winds.

Colored Soldier Gets Appointment.

WASHINGTON, March 18.—Lieutenant David J. Gilmer, a colored soldier of this city, has been commissioned by the president a second lieutenant in the Philippine scouts. The president recently promised Senator Pritchard of North Carolina that Lieutenant Gilmer should have the first vacancy in the Philippine scouts.

St. Paul's Increased Earnings.

ST. PAUL, March 18.—The gross earnings of the Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis and Omaha Railway company for 1902 as shown by the annual report just issued were $11,907,525, an increase over last year of $711,121.

NEED OF SEWERS.

At the Borough Council meeting Monday evening, Mayor N. B. Smalley outlined his plan of campaign for the coming year as far as it was possible without knowing what might happen in advance. He favored the widening of Somerset street from Jackson avenue to the mountain. There is nothing new in this as he was strongly in favor of that change last fall. He also wanted the trouble over the new engine house straightened out and the building built. Of most importance, however, was his advocacy of the installation of a sewerage system in North Plainfield.

Any fair-minded citizens who wants to see the borough keep pace with the times cannot help but realize that a sewerage system must come in the near future. The lack of such a system has long been felt in North Plainfield and its progress has been stayed by that same influence. Mayor Smalley's stand is therefore for the best interests of the borough and one to be generally commended.

Two propositions have been made for sewage disposal. One is the erection of a plant for the use of North Plainfield only and the other is to make some arrangements with the Plainfield disposal works to care for the borough sewerage. Opposition there has been to both plans but the opposition has so far failed to suggest anything else. Something must be done. Until the opposition can formulate something definite, it would be well for North Plainfield to make arrangements with the city of Plainfield to use the city works. The city disposal beds can be enlarged four times the present size and still have plenty of room. There is no fear of outgrowing the present location. While a pumping station would be necessary to raise the sewerage to the level of the city sewerage, it would be much cheaper to enter in some such arrangement with the city of Plainfield for the present and, when a new and better plan of disposal shall be discovered or proposed, adopt it in the future.

It is sincerely to be hoped that Mayor Smalley and the present Borough Council will act on the subject with all reasonable speed and that the day will not be far distant when North Plainfield, like every other modern suburban town, will be equipped with a proper sewerage disposal system.

An attempt to amend the automobile law so as to reduce the speed from twenty miles to fifteen miles an hour in open country was defeated. It was probably just as well. As long as machines are made the way they are at present it is going to be an almost impossible task to keep the speed down at all times to fifteen miles an hour. In open country, if the chauffeur tends to his business, it is not probable that any more accidents will occur if the motor car travels a mile in three minutes instead of a mile in four. It all depends how the car is handled.

The importance of advertising is suggested by Lord Rosebery, notes the Philadelphia Record, who charges the loss of British trade to the failure of the manufacturers to properly advertise their business. "Authors, actors, statesmen and others are all engaged in a great war of advertisement," he says, "and it does seem hard that we should fall short in doing for our goods what we do so successfully for ourselves."

That interview with one well acquainted with city affairs, which predicted the increase of the tax rate ten points, has resulted in visits from several city officials at The Daily Press office. They declare that the man misstated the facts. They admit that the tax rate is likely to go up a few points but they say that ten is entirely too high an estimate of the increase.

From every part of the State has come objection to the abandonment of the Morris canal for the benefit of the Lehigh Valley Railroad. Now Assemblyman Williams, of Essex, has a bill which provides for the appointment of a commission to investigate the subject. It seems to meet the general approval of the objectors and is quite likely to go through unless the lobby influences are too strong.

There were no important changes made by Mayor Smalley in the appointive offices of the borough with the beginning of his new term. It is evident that the Mayor is well satisfied with the way things have been done in the past and is perfectly content to continue the present methods.

COLUMN FOR THE SHOPPERS

SOME OF ATTRACTIONS TO BE FOUND AT LOCAL STORES.

A Few Interesting Items Concerning Greater Plainfield's Merchants

Why be annoyed with a dressmaker at home when the new dress can be made at S. Hirsh's dressmaking parlors on Watchung avenue and thus save much time and patience.

R. W. Barnes, the Park avenue grocer, makes the following his specials for the week: Chives, fresh cocoanuts, celery, home-made crullers, olives in bulk and several kinds of pickles.

When it comes to a question of meat—don't hesitate. VanSickle, the North avenue market man, is up-to-date in every particular. He handles nothing but the best meats, poultry and game at the lowest possible prices.

During his temporary illness caused by an accident, Jerry Foss has as an assistant one of the most experienced seafood men in the business. He is from Fulton market and knows how to select fish when he sees it. He has a fine stock for this week.

The price is not always the greatest consideration in buying milk. You want to be sure you are getting the pure article. If you trade with Wm. Lindsay & Son, of Mountain avenue, you will only pay what is fair and there will never be any question as to quality.

Most people laugh and make fun of the grip until they get it and then it's a horse of another color. At least that's what Nagle, the druggist, says, and the way they have been flocking to him for relief is a caution. At his store on West Front street, he has the remedy that does the trick within one-half the time required by others.

Now is the time to make arrangements for spring and summer improvements and the New York Painting and Decorating Company is just the place to get prices on papering and painting. The firm guarantees all work to be first-clas sand the prices will be reasonable. The stock of wall papers to select from is one of the largest in the State.

Baker Missing, So is Cash.

A young German baker employed by Stephen Schleif, of Park avenue, decamped suddenly Sunday night, taking with him, it is alleged, a watch valued at $25 and $10 in money belonging to Bert Waldron, another employe. There is no trace to the missing man as he had been in this city but a short time.

Condition Still Critical.

The condition of James Rogers, of Bayonne, who sustained a fractured skull by falling from a Fifth street trolley car, Sunday night, is still critical. He is conscious only at times and at no time has shown any great improvement.

Bowl Chanced Off.

The cut glass bowl chanced off, last evening, by the Plainfield Hebrew Juvenile Auxiliary Society was won by Miss Louise Frankenheim, of New York.

SUBURBAN NEWS

A Department Devoted to the Minor Events in Greater Plainfield's Suburbs by Our Own Correspondents.

DUNELLEN.

A large number of his young friends gave Robert Lowrie a "Shamrock" surprise party last evening as an expression of their good will. The party was arranged among the members of the ninth grade of the Whittier School and the young people gathered first at the home of Miss Ethel Clum. The surprise was a complete one and the evening passed off very pleasantly with playing games. Those present were Misses Lillian Fedderman, Elsie Peters, Alice Apgar, Mary Baldwin, Ethel Clum, Sadie and Jean Coyle, Marietta Crawford, Susie Lowrie and Arthur Bogardus, Clarence Carmen, Laurice Opdyke, Harry Ising, Robert Lowrie, Fred Kuetmer, Harry Kenyon, Earl Wyhuskey and Alvah Bowlby. Bounteous refreshments were served before the young people departed for their homes at a late hour.

Fredrick Dickerson entertained a number of his young friends at a birthday party at his home yesterday afternoon, on the occasion of his seventh birthday. Those present were Harold Noble, William Coyle, Russell Brakeley, Edmund Teel, William Dunham, Adam and Kenneth Dealaman, Allan Fredricks and John Swackhamer. A pleasant time was had by all. The young host received a number of pretty presents.

Considerable comment has been caused by the action of the Aluminum Press Company which has started the erection of a new factory at the west end of the town. The course of a small brook has been altered, it is claimed without permission, and some action is likely to be taken by residents in that vicinity.

A horse belonging to a Plainfield liveryman was taken ill with colic at Taylor's Hotel Monday night and died. The carcass was taken away yesterday.

Herbert Wyckoff was unable to remain at business yesterday because of illness and was obliged to return home during the day.

Robert Giddes, of Philadelphia, has been spending a few days at the home of his father, Isaac Giddes.

Alfred Osmun, a victim of the Westfield wreck, is slowly recovering his normal health.

A regular business meeting of the Juniors was held in Apgar's Hall last evening.

Albert Doolittle, of Newark, visited his parents at this place yesterday.

The Dunellen Juniors baseball team held its first practice yesterday.

Mrs. J. Newton Apgar is greatly improved from her recent illness.

P. M. Ising is much better and is able to be out a little now.

Band practice will be held by the brass band this evening.

Mrs. John Logan visited friends in Plainfield yesterday.

NEW MARKET.

Those interested in school work in this vicinity gathered at the local schoolhouse yesterday afternoon to institute the annual school meeting

There was a good attendance but the meeting was rather quiet. William Manning, J. E. Meeker, Ralph Bache and Peter McDonough were nominated for the school board. Balloting resulted in the choice of Joseph Meeker with 121, Ralph Bache 109, and William Manning 84. Mr. McDonough received 43 votes, not sufficient for election. The following appropriations were voted: Current expenses, $4,000; transportation, $1,000; text books and supplies, $350; repairs, $200; other expenses, $500. J. B. Cleaver presided at the meeting and Chas. Kelley was secretary. Robert Pierce and P. Von Minden acted as tellers.

The Daughters of Liberty are planning a sociable to be held in the hall next Tuesday evening.

Thomas Clark visited friends in Dunellen yesterday.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

The annual school meeting was held in the assembly room of the school last night at 8 o'clock. The meeting was a very harmonious one, the principal business to transact being the election of three trustees and the fixing of the annual appropriation for school expenses. The report of District Clerk T. J. Nicholl shows the school to be in a flourishing condition and in work ranking with the best schools in the State. The retiring members of the board were all re-elected, being T. J. Nicholl, Dr. F. W. Westcott and Douglass Darby. The appropriation asked for and carried was $4,025.

The members of the baseball team will start practice shortly. The diamond has been secured for the season and, as soon as it can be put in condition for play, regular practice will begin. Although the season does not open until May 2, Manager Johnston intends to give the boys plenty of chance to limber up so that when the call of "play ball" is heard all will be ready to start the game like veterans.

Miss Elsie Shott entertained her little friends at "The Manse," Monday afternoon, in honor of her seventh birthday. The little ones under the chaperonage of Miss Shott passed away several happy hours playing games and enjoying cake and candy. The little host was remembered by a number of pretty reminders of the event as well as best wishes of all for the birthdays of the future.

A meeting of the women interested in the Public Library will be held tomorrow afternoon from 3 to 6 in the Library rooms. The meeting is called for the purpose of arranging for the Library fair to be held in the hall shortly and to discuss other business relating to the work. All women are invited to attend the meeting.

The Amity Club met in the Library rooms last night. Rev. Mr. Mulford, of All Saints' Episcopal church, entertained the members with an interesting talk upon some of the well known authors of the day.

Dr. and Mrs. F. W. Westcott and Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Hall, who have been spending several days at "Laurel in the Pines," Lakewood, returned home Monday evening.

The weekly meeting of the teachers of the Baptist Sunday-school will be held tomorrow night at the home of Miss Laura Bornmann, of Westfield avenue.

The case of Louis Clark, charged by his wife with non-support, will be heard in Judge Clark's court tomorrow afternoon.

The Chautauqua Boys' Club, of the Methodist church, will hold its weekly meeting in the class rooms of the church tonight.

Mrs. James H. Parks has returned from a visit with friends in Brooklyn.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

At the school meeting held at New Market yesterday for the election of trustees the ballot resulted in favor of Messrs. Manning, Meeker and Bache. A large number from here attended the meeting.

No Meeting of R. A. A.

The meeting scheduled last evening by the Reform Athletic Association was postponed to Tuesday evening of next week, when committees will be appointed and other important business transacted.

Oriental Degree to be Worked.

At the meeting of Benevolent Council, No. 256, Jr. O. U. A. M., Friday evening, the Oriental degree will be worked upon eleven candidates. A full attendance of members is desired.

The Stomach Is the Man.

A weak stomach weakens the man, because it cannot transform the food he eats into nourishment. Health and strength cannot be restored to any sick man or weak woman without first restoring health and strength to the stomach. A weak stomach cannot digest enough food to feed the tissues and revive the tired and run down limbs and organs of the body. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure cleanses, purifies, sweetens and strengthens the glands and membranes of the stomach, and cures indigestion, dyspepsia and all stomach troubles. L. W. Randolph

Cold Comfort From Doctors.

Doctors say neuralgia is not dangerous. This is poor consolation to a sufferer who feels as if his face were pierced with hot needles and torn with a thousand pairs of pincers. A word of advice to him: stay indoors and use Perry Davis' Painkiller. The blessed freedom from pain which follows this treatment cannot be told. There is but one Painkiller, Perry Davis'.

SHAMROCK LAUNCHED.

Lipton's Latest Cup Seeker Successfully Christened.

GLASGOW, March 18.—Under the most successful conditions the Shamrock III. was launched. Lady Shaftesbury, wife of the commodore of the Royal Ulster Yacht club, christened the yacht in the presence of a numerous company of distinguished guests. Shamrocks and hopefulness were much in evidence. Sir Thomas Lipton divided 2,000 bunches of the former in honor of St. Patrick and the new boat.

Large crowds had gathered at the Denny yards at Dumbarton in spite of the drenching rain, which, however, ceased before the arrival of the special visitors' train. Sir Thomas Lipton escorted Lady Shaftesbury to the christening dais. Among others on the platform were the Earl and Countess of Mar and Kellie, Lord Overtoun, Lord Provost of Glasgow, the Hon. Charles Russell, Reginald Ward, William Fife and Captains Wringe and Bevis.

It was fifteen minutes past 1 o'clock in the afternoon when Lady Shaftesbury broke the bottle, saying:

"I christen you Shamrock. May God bless you, and may you bring back the cup."

Then, amid loud cheers, the pontoons on which rested the Shamrock III. slid easily into the waters of the Clyde. After more cheering the visitors proceeded to luncheon.

During the afternoon the challenger was towed to Greenock, where she will be placed in dry dock.

Sir Thomas Lipton received a great ovation when he arose to reply to Lord Provost. He said in part: "The America's cup must now be homesick. We have done everything possible that men can do, and with a little slice of luck the battered old mug will find a resting place on this side, however temporary it may be."

Continuing, Sir Thomas paid a tribute to American kindness, saying, "The Americans will give me everything I want except the cup."

Ben Chance Wins St. Patrick's.

NEW ORLEANS, March 18.—Munro's masterly ride landed Ben Chance, the second choice in the betting, first at the wire in the St. Patrick's handicap. The race was at a mile and a sixteenth and was worth $1,025 to the winner. Marshal Nell was a strong favorite in the betting, while as good as 4 to 1 and at the close 18 to 5 was to be had on Ben Chance. De Reszke at times made a runaway race of it for a mile, when Ben Chance, always within striking distance, caught him and outgamed him in the final drive. Jockey Philips, who was suspended for his ride on Lady Alberta, has been reinstated. Ruby Ray, White Owl and Moderator were the winning favorites. Weather clear, track slow.

Tarrasch Won Chess Prize.

MONTE CARLO, March 18.—The international chess tournament has been concluded. Tarrasch won the first prize of $900, with 20 points; Maroczy took the second prize of $450, with 19 points, and Pillsbury won third prize of $236, with 18½ points. The other final scores were: Schlechter, 17 points; Teichmann, 16½; Marco, 15½; Wolf, 14; Mieses, 13; Marshall, 12; Mason and Taubenhaus, 10½; Albin, 8; Reggio, 7½, and Moreau, 0.

New Revolver Champion.

NEW YORK, March 18.—Thomas Anderson of Boston and Dr. William H. Luckett of this city are the new pistol and revolver champions respectively of the United States Revolver association, according to full reports received by A. L. A. Himmelwright of this city, secretary-treasurer of the organization. Anderson made a score of 460 with the pistol out of a possible 500. Dr. Luckett's score with the revolver was 437.

Sullivan Whipped Walsh.

BOSTON, March 18.—John ("Twin") Sullivan, the welterweight champion of New England, won from Andy Walsh of Brooklyn in a fifteen round contest at the Criterion Athletic club last night. Sullivan after the first three rounds reached Walsh without difficulty, scoring with left jabs that shook the Brooklynite. Walsh gamely took the punishment.

Indiana Live Bird Contest.

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., March 18.—The fifty live bird contest for the state championship cup and $100 a side was won by James L. Head of Peru, with a record of 40. Max Weitzengrueder of Fort Wayne was second, with a record of 37. The birds were very swift, which caused low scores.

Pittsburgs Off For Training Ground.

PITTSBURG, March 18.—The Pittsburg Baseball club has left over the Pennsylvania railroad for Hot Springs, Ark., where the spring training will take place. President Dreyfuss was in command. Captain Clark having been called to Chicago by the illness of his wife.

Oakland Results.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 18.—Fine weather prevailed at Oakland, but the track was muddy. The St. Patrick's day handicap, at six furlongs, was the feature of the card. Princess Titania closed favorite, but was beaten handily.

Bowser-Donovan Fight a Draw.

PITTSBURG, March 18.—Mull Bowser of this city and Mike Donovan of Rochester, N. Y., fought ten fast rounds last night to a draw. The crowd seemed to think the decision should have gone to Bowser.

Colorado Miners Strike.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Colo., March 18.—The executive committee for the Western Federation of Miners declared a strike against all the mines that ship ore to the mills of the United States Reduction and Refining company. These include the Independence and two or three others of the principal producers of the district.

CONTAINS NO SAND OR LIME. One of its most important parts is fibrous wood pulp, made by a patented process, that retains the fiber and strength of the wood. This fibrous wood gives to the plaster
Elasticity, Toughness, Lightness and Strength, and imparts to the plaster the many known valuable properties of the wood itself. The other ingredients give Hardness, Firmness, Smoothness and Durability. The combination makes a plaster that has no equal.

ULTIMATUM TO MINERS.

Bituminous Operators' Wage Offer Is Quickly Rejected.

ALTOONA, Pa., March 18.—At 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon the coal operators of bituminous district No. 2 submitted their ultimatum to the miners. It was briefly an offer of an increase of 12½ per cent for pick mining, an increase of 14 per cent for machine mining and a nine hour day at $2.70 per day for drivers, other mine laborers to receive a proportionate increase. The miners immediately went into executive session to consider the offer and promptly rejected it, being in session only a few minutes.

In refusing a nine hour day on a basis of $2.70 a day and insisting upon an eight hour day on a basis of $2.56 a day on a tonnage of 28,000,000 tons annually the miners voted to relinquish $1,100,000 in wages annually to enforce an eight hour day. The joint scale committee met again at 8 o'clock in the evening.

Shot Wife and Mother-in-law.

FINDLAY, O., March 18.—A double tragedy occurred at the Opp House here as a result of a quarrel between Lewis Routson and his seventeen-year-old wife Myrtle. Routson entered a room at the hotel which was filled with guests at a masquerade party. He fired three shots from a revolver, which scattered the crowd. He then walked up to his mother-in-law, Mrs. John Opp, and fired point blank at her. The bullet entered the left side of her breast and came out at the right side. Routson discovered his wife in one corner of the room and, placing the revolver within two feet of her body, sent a ball into her chest. She cannot recover, although the elder woman is not fatally injured. Routson then telephoned for the police and was promptly arrested. Jealousy is the alleged cause of the shooting. The couple had been married a year, and the groom was only nineteen years old.

Germany Gets First Payment.

CARACAS, Venezuela, March 18.—The Venezuelan government accepts without reserve the protocol signed by Minister Bowen and the representatives of the powers at Washington. Proof of this was shown yesterday in the payment to the German minister of the first installment, amounting to about $70,000, of the $340,000 pledged to Germany in satisfaction of that country's claims of honor. Minister von Pelldram was conducted to the Venezuelan foreign office by United States Charge d'Affaires Russell, and the sum was paid out to the German minister at 3 o'clock.

President Remembers Morgan.

WASHINGTON, March 18. — The president has sent to the United States consul at Glasgow a beautiful gold watch suitably inscribed for delivery to Captain Morgan of the British steamship Westhall in recognition of his humane services in effecting the rescue of the captain and crew of the American steamer Anna L. Mulford, abandoned at sea Jan. 25 last.

Weavers on Strike.

FITCHBURG, Mass., March 18.—Weavers in A and C mills of the Parkhill Manufacturing company to the number of 300 have left work, being dissatisfied with the company's reply to their demand for an increase in wages. These weavers work on plain and fancy ginghams and are paid by the cut.

Metal Workers' Strike Ended.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., March 18.—The sheet metal workers' strike here has been officially declared off. The strikers have been idle since March 2 and claim the settlement is a great victory for them. They will receive $2.75 a day as the minimum rate of pay, which is an increase of 50 cents a day.

WHAT IS WORN.

Panne Medallions — Very Much Flounced Gowns.

Very fine face cloth is much favored for spring gowns, and this is inlet with guipure arranged over panne. This is a pleasing mode of introducing color and is already taken up by first class modistes. Tabs have by no means had their day, but the little medallions of panne are newer and are most effective when inclosed in a wheel or diamond shaped motif of guipure or passementerie.

Lace flounces are rarely out of fashion, and just now it is quite modish to wear lace frills covering half the skirt. Plaited frills are also popular, and these are generally either very deep or very narrow. Not only are the skirts much flounced and frilled, but deep frills fall from the bodice or there is a wide bertha of lace or plaited chiffon which covers the bodice almost to the waist.

The cut shows a dinner gown of dotted net. JUDIC CHOLLET.

DAINTY EFFECTS.

Large Bows of Soft Satin Ribbon. Three-quarter Coats.

The chou is giving place to long windmill bows of soft satin ribbon, of which a pale lime green, tender ciel blue and a soft shrimp pink are the favorite shades. A cluster of violets, roses or carnations is usually tucked in at the side, and the delicate blending of color is a great improvement on a black or white gown.

Three-quarter evening coats of lace are lined with quilted satin and trimmed with plisse chiffon or much soft lace, and ivory cloth inlet with medallions of lace is lined with bright colored glace silk, which peeps through the lace and sets off a border of dark fur or ivory feathers.

The deep pelerine of sable or chinchilla is finished with frills of chiffon and long stole ends of chiffon and fur. These are very smart for afternoon visits, and some new ruffles for early spring are of silk and marabou feathers. The large stole boas of marabou are useful for theaters and dressy occasions.

The dress shown is of rose chiffon.

CHAPTER I.

Old Jason Fanshaw sat at an open window, his fat legs on the sill. As he talked, his hearers in the big bare room drowsed, nodded or stared at him with lack-luster eyes. He usually held forth on Sundays when the law and the Lord prohibited work and there was nowhere to go.

On this sultry afternoon his theme was his own misfortune in being burdened with a family that contributed naught to his desires. He had never, in exact words, voiced their shortcomings, but in his secret soul he would have had them perhaps less like himself, certainly less like his wife, who weighed 200 if she weighed a pound.

The two girls, Mary Lou, aged 18, and Ann Josephine, 20, threatened, as their bedmate continued to break, to surpass their mother in the flesh they were heir to, and in addition to this impediment to activity and encourager of sloth, they had come honestly by a combination of their father's tow-colored and their mother's red hair, which little suited their florid complexions. They had, also, freckles as big as pock-marks, which a diligent application of "stump water" had failed to dim.

Fanshaw had two sons. Ronald, the eldest child, was not in the room. David, a lusty fellow built on his father's plan, but with a more cheerful face, was lying on the high-posted bed in the corner of the room. He always hurled into his father's tirades against his family comments in favor of his brother, whom he admired intensely.

"You cayn't complain of Ron," he said this afternoon, as he fanned the flies from his face with his big straw hat lined with blue calico. "He looks after his own business. Mr. Hague said Saturday before last that he'd ruther have Ron rent land from 'im than any man in the country. He 'lowed Ron paid every dollar he contracted to pay an' that the niggers liked 'im so much that they'd work twice as hard for 'im as they would for anybody else."

"That don't do me no good," snarled Fanshaw.

"No, I reckon not," admitted Dave, "but you won't ever be ashamed of 'im, if you are of the rest of us. He's been readin' and studyin' every spare minute sence he was knee high to a grasshopper. For the last six months Mr. Redding, the best lawyer in Danube, has been providin' 'im with books, an' my idea is that he is goin' to make a lawyer out'n hisse'f. You cayn't hold 'im down; he'll rise like a cork; an' as fur good looks, geewhillikins! Did I ever tell you-uns what happened at campmeetin'? I was a settin' under the bush arbor about four benches from the front last Sunday was a week when Ron come in dyked out in his best Sunday clothes. You ort to a-seed how the folks turned their heads. A young dude behind me axed a man next to 'im who in the thunder that was, an' the fellow said he wasn't certain, but he 'lowed it was some chap visitin' at Col. Hasbrooke's from Boston or New York. Then it was my put in. I bent over an' informed 'em that it was Ronald Fanshaw, the oldest son of Jason Fanshaw. An' you ort to a-heerd 'em giggle. Then the man that had axed the question come back at me fairly slobberin' in the mouth to keep frum laughin' out loud.

"'You're away off, my friend,' sez he; 'you shorely ain't acquainted 'bout heer. Old Fanshaw is the daddy of the sorriest lay-out on the face of creation. I hain't never been to his side-show myself, but I know a heap o' folks that has paid the'r way an' never axed fur the money back, nuther.'

"Then I jest punched my face over to his yeer an' said, I did: 'I ort to know 'im,' I says, tetchin' the butt o' my pistol. 'He's my brother, an' when meetin' is over me'n you'll go into the sideshow fur a minute; the tent's stretched right out thar in the bushes an' the latest addition to it is a Buffalo Bill dead shot.'

"He wilted an' got as white as the inside of a cucumber, an' then the preacher axed everybody to kneel down and pray. I was axin' the Lord to bless my purpose when them two riz an' poled it out over the straw. I half way got up, but the preacher broke off in his prayer an' begun to talk about the law agin disturbin' public worship, an' I sunk down on my knees an' seed them two mount an' gallop off like the woods was afire."

"You ort to a-mashed 'is teeth down his throat," said Mrs. Fanshaw. "Folks has poked too much fun at us to suit me. In war times you wouldn't a-stood it, Jade." She called her husband Jade, not because he was tired or was a horse, but because it was the only abbreviation of the name she knew.

An expression of hot fury lay on Fanshaw's wrinkled face as he looked out into the yard where half a hundred ducks, turkeys, guinea-hens and peacocks were feasting on the remains of the watermelon the family had just eaten. "My Lord," he grunted, "ef I took folks to taw ever' time they joked about you-uns, I'd have my hands full."

"Well, they'd better not let me hear 'em throwin' off on us," declared Dave, and he stood up and stretched himself. "But when you come to think of it, Ron is so different from the rest of us that it's no wonder folks take 'im for one o' that highfalutin' crowd. I tell you, he's no slouch!"

Dave went out into the back porch, where a stream of water shot from the end of a hollow log into a trough; the water came from a spring on a hillside half a mile distant. The inventor of this crude aqueduct was Ronald Fanshaw; he was only a boy when he conceived the idea, but he gave every spare moment to its construction. He had felled the trees, dug the long ditch through the meadows and fields, taken the level and completed what was still considered a marvel of convenience by the neighbors. While it was building, Jason Fanshaw had contributed many peevish objections to the work, which he considered a waste of time, but when the clear, cold water gushed out at his door, he melted under a blaze of wonder, and now no stranger ever came to his house who was not shown "the waterworks."

"Huh," he would exclaim with pride, "nobody else has got a spring on his land high enough fur such a thing. Col. Hasbrooke would pay no end o' money ef he could have it. He has to keep two niggers busy fillin' his tank an' then the water's stale an' hot. You see, we sunk our pipes so deep that the water's as cold as ice."

A hundred yards from the house was a dense wood which stretched on to a small river a mile away, and further on to a high mountain, and here Dave found his brother lying on the grass reading his Blackstone. In his unlikeness to his family he was an anomaly; he was over six feet in height, well built, slender, dark of complexion, hair and eyes. There was in the shapely prominence of his brow a suggestion of strong mentality one might look for in vain in any of the other Fanshaws; his limbs had the slight, strong look of a blooded horse; a palmist would have said that his hands indicated the possession of a refined, sensitive spirit.

"Oh, I had no idea you was heer!" exclaimed Dave. "I jest thought I'd take a walk to git away from all that clatter up at the house. An' to tell you the truth, I've got a quart hid in that stump thar; don't you want to wet yore whistle, as the feller said? I have to keep it hid from the old man; he's too all-fired stingy to buy whisky, but he loves it like a hog does slop."

"You know I never drink," replied the other, firmly. His words formed a striking contrast to the dialect of his brother; there was a vague sadness of tone in his voice, and his eyes drooped as if they were weary of the print upon which they had been resting.

"Well, I reckon you won't mind ef I take a pull at it," said Dave. "I'm dry as a powder-horn." He removed a flat stone from the hollow of the stump and took out his flask. "Here's lookin' at you," and the neck of the bottle went into his mouth.

"I suppose they made me the subject of their talk, as usual," said Ronald, when Dave had replaced the flask under the stone and sat on the stump, his legs crossed.

"Not any more'n common, Ron; they've got to talk; talkin' comes as natural to women as cluckin' does to hens; the only difference is hens cluck when they are busy, an' cackle when they've laid; the time to git away from a woman's tongue is when she's idle, an' that's all the time. But, honest, I don't see why they won't let you alone. You want to read an' study, because it suits you, an' I am with you, tooth an' toe nail. Now, I had my head set on ranch life out west, because I liter'ly love hoss flesh an' cattle-raisin', but they all come down on me like a landslide an' I's had to hoe corn an' cotton like a nigger fur about forty cents a day, when I might a been makin' two dollars an' a-had my independence."

"WELL, I RECKON YOU DON'T MIND."

Do You Wish To Borrow Money?
In order to accommodate all classes of borrowers (those who cannot borrow at a bank, as well as those who can), the Mutual Loan and Investment Company, of 118 Market street, Newark, N. J., has a department for handling quickly and confidentially loans ranging from $10 to $500 on furniture, pianos, storage receipts, etc.
The security is not removed from your possession or in any way disturbed. The honest, careful and conservative borrower will try and decide two points before borrowing. First, where he can get the best terms. Second, where he can get fair and square treatment.
This company is in a position to give you by far the most satisfactory terms ever offered by any concern or individual negotiating this class of loans.
With this company you are assured of getting the lowest rates, easiest payments and longest time for repayment. The whole transaction from the time the application is made until loan is paid is entirely confidential. We give you another advantage in case you take the loan out for six months or a year, and wish to settle the same before the time expires: we charge you only for the time you have had the money. We also take up loans from other companies and advance more money.
Kindly call and let us explain our simple and up-to-date methods If not entirely convenient for you to call, please write and our representative will call and give you any desired information. Remember it costs nothing to make application. Loans promptly made in Elizabeth, Plainfield, Westfield, Roselle, Rahway, Perth Amboy and all suburban towns.

TRAGEDY OF A KISS.

Chicago Man Slaps Girl Who Kisses His Lips and Is Fined Five Dollars.

A man in Chicago holds the sanctity of his lips above pearls and rubies.

He says that he has his faults, but no woman shall kiss him living. What she does when he has died in defending the only once kissed place under his nose he does not care.

Thirty years old, says the Chicago American, he has gone straight down the middle of the road, looking askance at the primrose path and stuffing his ears with cotton to keep out the songs of the sirens. His name is William Gaunwald.

Miss Annie Williams, of 95 Wells street, loves him. She has fought against it in vain. Last Thursday morning she looked at him with her soul in her eyes; then, swayed by impulse, she threw her arms about his neck and kissed him resoundingly.

Gaunwald staggered from the shock. For a moment he was too horror-stricken to do anything but gasp.

Then, every instinct of insulted modesty rising fiercely, he slapped Miss Williams, saying: "Take that, now!" She wept and had him arrested.

"This girl kissed me," he said to Justice Kersten. "I was not expecting such a thing. I was totally unprepared to defend myself. She gave me no warning at all. She just violently hugged me and kissed me. I don't permit any woman to take such liberties."

Justice Kersten could not see that he had been injured in any way, and fined him five dollars.

KLEPTOMANIA CURE.

Instead of Having Them Arrested, London Shopkeeper Administers Spanking to Shoplifters.

A London shopkeeper is credited with having adopted a novel and successful method of discouraging the feminine habit of shoplifting. The reported result is a standing reproach to those scientists who talk about "kleptomania," and offer all sorts of excuses for ladies who habitually pick up small but valuable articles on bargain counters when the clerk is not looking.

The shopkeeper's method when a lady has been detected "with the goods on her" is to conduct her to his office and offer her the choice between arrest and being then and there summarily spanked. The medical fraternity will be shocked to learn that all of the 20 women to whom this proposition was made thankfully accepted the alternative of a spanking.

The shopkeeper wishes it understood that he did not administer this punishment personally. He called in a vigorous woman employe about the premises as a sort of janitress whom he could depend upon to lay on without remorse, as she had brought up a numerous family in good order.

The shopkeeper suggests that to prevent any collision with the authorities through the general operation of his remedy a law be passed permitting proprietors of large stores frequented by women to apply it at discretion. He remarks that not one of the subjects of his system has ever offended again.

Rewarded His Own Honesty.

While getting off a car in Hoboken, N. J., Mrs. H. Littlefield dropped a roll of bank notes amounting to $2,000, which she had just drawn from a bank. A polite gentleman lifted the roll, returned it to her, and disappeared before she could thank him. On counting the money Mrs. Littlefield discovered that there were only $14 in the roll. The polite gentleman had kept $1,986 as a reward for his politeness.

ON THE DIAMOND.

Warren McLaughlin left the city Monday to join the members of the Philadelphia National League Club, who are now at Richmond, Va., getting their preliminary practice prior to the opening of the season.

A game of baseball will be played this afternoon by the members of the boys' department of the Y. M. C. A. The game will be played on the Mountain avenue grounds. The membership of the several baseball teams which will be formed during the season will be selected from the playing done this afternoon and at other practice games

Pitcher James Montross will not be seen with the Hope Y. M. A. team this year. He announced yesterday that he had practically closed with the Westfield association for the coming season and would be its star twirler. "Jimmie's" work in the Westfield-Plainfield games at the close of last season attracted the attention of Manager Denman and led to his engagement.

WHIST.

Tomorrow evening the veteran Park Club whist four will meet the crack team from the Knickerbocker Whist Club, of New York, for the possession of the Metropolitan challenge trophy. The Parks have an excellent chance of keeping the trophy.

BASKET BALL.

The last game in the Plainfield Amateur Basket Ball League, to be played by the Y. M. C. A. team, will be with Hope Y. M. A., Monday evening, in the Hope gymnasium.

Death of Mrs. Gerst.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Scotch Plains, March 18—The death of Mrs. Harriet M. Gerst, widow of the late Henry P. Gerst, occurred at her home in the village, yesterday. She was seventy-seven years old and had resided in this place for a long time. The funeral will be held from the home of Miss Hattie Coles, of Front street and Terrell road, tomorrow afternoon at 2:30.

Driver Escaped Injury.

A horse, belonging to Andrew McDoren, of West Front street, slipped and fell in turning the corner of Madison avenue and Front street, yesterday afternoon. McDoren was thrown out but escaped injury. The animal sustained a few cuts and one shaft was broken.

—The Ladies Aid Society of the German Reformed church will hold a meeting tomorrow afternoon at the home of Mrs. A. Bartle, 448 Webster place.

Big Time at Annual Dance of First Ward Social Club at Saengerbund Hall Last Evening.

Saengerbund Hall was filled to the doors, last evening, when the First Ward Social Club gave its second annual dance. Three hundred people were in attendance, including almost the entire membership of the Woodchoppers' Association, of Elizabethport, which came to this city in special cars headed by Hon. Joseph McDonough, of Elizabeth. The association also brought its mascot, "Midget" Joseph Fairwell.

The grand march given early in the evening, was led by Michael Higgins, of this city, and Miss Florence Thorn, of Elizabeth. A prize waltz was won by Miss C. M. Drake, of this city, and William Wilkin, of Elizabeth. The committee in charge consisted of C. J. Newman, W. J. Feister, T. J. Muldowney, M. J. Higgins and J. J. Corey. M. J. Higgins was floor manager.

THREE OFFENDERS.

Sentence Suspended on One, and Three Fined by City Judge Runyon This Morning.

Edward Fitcher and John Cooney were arrested by Patrolmen Higgins and Flynn for drunkness and disorderly conduct on West Front street, yesterday afternoon. Before City Judge Runyon, this morning, they pleaded guilty and paid a fine of $3 each.

James Sullivan, of Newark, arraigned on the same charge, had sentence suspended. He was arrested yesterday afternoon by Patrolman Higgins.

Best of All.

The next and last of the regular Star Course entertainments, which will be given this year at the Y. M. C. A., will be held at Association Hall tomorrow evening. This is the most expensive of all the entertainments in that course and it promises to be the best. There are six people in the entire cast and wherever they go May Parkers' Little Pickaninnies have won much favor. This is an entertainment which every one should see.

For Passaic's Benefit.

A bill introduced recently in the lower house of the Legislature by Assemblyman William Newcorn provides for the termination of terms of appointive officers in cities at the time fixed by charter. The measure was introduced for the benefit of Passaic county, it being the desire of the people in that county that the provisions of the bill be applied to the office-holders there.

Making More Woodmen.

A meeting of the new fraternal organization, the Woodmen of the World, will be held this evening in the rooms on West Second street, when sixteen new members will be received into membership, through initiation. An initiatory team from Elizabeth will be present and a most enjoyable time is anticipated.

TO ELECT COLLECTOR.

Bill to Make Office in Plainfield An Appointive One Was Defeated in the House.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Trenton, March 8—The bill introduced in the Assembly by William Newcorn providing for the appointment of a collector of taxes in Plainfield was defeated in the House last evening. It was the purpose to make the office an appointive one by the Mayor and Common Council, instead of an elective one by the people. Assemblyman Swackhamer, of North Plainfield, took a very aggressive stand in opposing the measure on the ground that such matters should be left to the people, that it is the voice of the people that should decide such matters and not a handful of officials.

Assemblyman Garrabrants, of Essex, urged the passage of a bill extending the Meeker act to consolidate spring and fall elections in boroughs of 4,000 or more population. The act now applies only to cities. The boroughs affected would be North Plainfield, Rutherford, South Amboy and Vineland. The bill was defeated without debate.

SON'S DEATH

Such a Shock to Somerville Woman, That She Fell in An Unconscious State.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, March 18—John MacWilliam, who met a tragic death in the yards of the Lackawanna Railroad at West Hoboken, Monday, is said here to have been a Raritan man for whom the Somerset county authorities have been searching for a year.

MacWilliam lived with his parents in Raritan up to a year ago, when he fled with detectives on his trail. He is said to have been wanted on a charge brought against him by a young woman of Franklin township.

MacWilliam was twenty-four years old, and on entering the employ of the railroad he placed his father's name on a blank as the name of the person to be notified in case of his death. It was in this manner that his identity was disclosed. MacWilliam's mother, who has heart disease, on hearing of her son's death, fell unconscious, and is now in a critical condition.

Tickets Out for Benefit Entertainment of P. H. S. A. A.

Tickets are out for the benefit entertainment to be given by the Plainfield High School Athletic Association for the purpose of raising money for the support of the baseball team. The entertainment will consist of vocal and instrumental selections by school talent and of recitations.

The boys' chorus which will render several vocal selections in the course of the programme is holding regular rehearsals every day. The work is under the supervision of Charles L. Lewis. The instrumental sextet is also doing good work at rehearsals and the selections will be well worth hearing. The entertainment will be given in Franklin Hall on Saturday evening, March 28.

HONORED ST. PATRICK.

Dinner at Elizabeth Given by the Friendly Sons of St. Patrick.

In celebration of St. Patrick's day, the Friendly Sons of St. Patrick, of Union county, held their ninth annual banquet in the Young Men's Catholic Literary Association clubhouse at Elizabeth, last evening. Prominent guests were present from all over the State, including several from this city. In responding to the toast, "The Day We Celebrate," Rev. Father Bogan, of Elizabeth, related an interesting synopsis of the life and achievements of St. Patrick.

A Remarkable Case.

One of the most remarkable cases of a cold, deep-seated on the lungs, causing pneumonia, is that of Mrs. Gertrude E. Fenner, Marion, Ind., who was entirely cured by the use of One Minute Cough Cure. She says: "The coughing and straining so weakened me that I run down in weight from 148 to 92 pounds. I tried a number of remedies to no avail until I used One Minute Cough Cure. Four bottles of this wonderful remedy cured me entirely of the cough, strengthened my lungs and restored me to my normal weight, health and strength." L. W. Randolph.

HOW BOROUGH SCHOOLS HAVE BEEN CONDUCTED

Annual Report of A. V. D. Honeyman, President of Borough Board of Education.

SUMS UP YEAR'S WORK

EXPLAINS WHY SCHOOL TAX WAS SO HIGH LAST YEAR.

No Great Need for a New School House in His Opinion—Explains the Various Details of School Management in Borough.

The report which was presented by A. V. D. Honeyman, president of the North Plainfield Board of Education, and which was read at the annual meeting of the borough schools, Tuesday night is given in full. The report is an interesting one to those who have the school question in the borough at heart as it shows the conditions as they exist there and how the moneys are expended and the results obtained in the manual training department and other departments of the school.

The report follows:

To voters and citizens:

Last year you received in printed form an elaborate report made to the Board of Education by the Supervising Principal, and likewise the annual report of the board. Both were prepared with much care, in order that you might understand all the leading points connected with our various school departments and their necessities. As a result of this accurate knowledge, you did not hesitate to grant us the appropriations asked for. It has always been the case with this school district, that, whenever appropriations have been shown to be needed, whether for new buildings or for running the school itself, the voters have generously responded. We have taken this to mean that you really desire that our school shall not be a third, or even a second-rate school, but a first-class educational institution, to which you may point with pride, and which shall draw to this community families who are anxious to give their children a good, up-to-date education; as good as they could secure by living in any other favored locality.

At the same time we recognize the fact that you do not desire the taxation for your public school system to be burdensome. You wish us to administer our trust so as to be reasonably economical, while not scrimping to the lowest possible extent either in teachers' salaries or equipments.

Your board regretted to see it publicly stated last fall, after the proposed rate of taxation was published, that the appproprlations asked for and obtained one year ago had actually increased the local tax bill, over the preceding year, nineteen points; that is to say, nineteen cents on the one hundred dollars. Such was the apparent increase. But it was only apparent. The fact was, that, through some error, the actual appropriation voted by this district in 1901 was not raised; that instead of it the sum of about $2,000 was not put in the school tax levy. As all taxes are not paid up previous to the spring meeting, nor, indeed, till long afterward, the board supposed the full amount appropriated had been levied and would come to us. But the levy was not made. The taxes voted in 1901 called for an assessment of eighty-six cents to the dollar on the assessed valuation, whereas only seventy-eight cents to the dollar were actually assessed. The taxes voted in 1902 called for an assessment of ninety-seven cents to the dollar on the valuation, and that amount was correctly assessed. Had the appropriation for 1901 been assessed as ordered, the increase last year would have been eleven points and not nineteen points, as published. Fortunately for us, the State appropriation last year exceeded our estimates, because of a very unusual school attendance, and we were also able to effect some unexpected savings in our expenditures. As a result, we shall see our way clear to close the fiscal year, which ends June 30, in better shape than at the end of last year—a fact which is very gratifying to your board and will, no doubt, be to you.

In reference to appropriations for a new year, the board has carefully considered whether it may not be possible to continue the school, without impairing its efficiency, by asking from your hands a somewhat reduced appropriation. While we know it will be necessary, in order to retain some

WHEEL WRECKED.

Small Boy and Carriage Met on Washington Avenue.

Lloyd Sharp, a young lad who is in the employ of B. J. Schriener, the druggist, had a narrow escape yesterday from being injured by a carriage, while he was riding his wheel on Washington avenue. The boy was riding along the street with a package in his hand when the coachman of the rig accidentally run him down. The boy was thrown from the wheel onto the curbstone and the front wheel of the bicycle was smashed. The boy escaped with some bruises.

HILLSIDE OPENS APRIL 11

IMPROVEMENTS THAT ARE TO BE MADE THIS SPRING.

Course Will be Opened Next Month—Steward Will Soon be Installed—Tennis Courts Open Soon.

The Hillside Tennis and Golf Club has decided to open the season earlier than was stated on Tuesday. Announcement is now made by the greens committee that the course will be opened for play Saturday, April 11. It will be a little later before a steward is installed at the clubhouse, and the tennis coruts will also be opened later in the season. It is expected that the complete schedule of events will be issued within a short time.

A number of improvements are being planned for the clubhouse. It is proposed to extend the piazza across the north end of the dining room and cut the windows down to the level of the floor of the piazza, to correspond with the other windows. A new staircase will be built leading from the women's room to a new locker room. A new bath-room and toilet facilities for the women will also be installed and two modern shower baths for the men will be among the improvements. Plans have been considered for these improvements and work will be started very soon.

The coming season at the club promises to excell even the success of last year and the golf committee proposes to arrange a most attractive schedule of events that will surely enlist the support of every member.

WOODMEN HERE.

Visitors From Elizabeth Stirred Up Much Enthusiasm at Local Camp, Robin Hood.

A large delegation of officers and members of Myrtle Camp, No. 5, W. O. W., of Elizabeth, came to this city last evening by trolley to pay a fraternal visit to Robin Hood Camp, of this city, in its rooms on West Second street. Sixteen [new members were initiated at the meeting and a smoker followed. There were thirty-five in the entire party from Elizabeth.

The visiting members were met at the trolley terminus by officers of the local camp and were escorted to the rooms. Each member had an axe or a staff, insignas of office. Addresses were made by Deputy Sovereign Garvin and members of the visiting and local camps. After the business of the evening had been completed the woodmen adjourend to Timbo's on North avenue where a supper and a smoker were enjoyed.

The committee in charge of the meeting were Horace J. Martin, Jr., A. C. Hoagand and A. R. Vail.

TWO KILLED.

Somerville Men Meet Death on Railroads This Week.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, March 19—Two Somerville people have lost their lives on the rail this week.

John McWilliams, aged twenty-two, a son of Mr. and Mrs. John J. McWilliams, was killed Monday at Hoboken. He was a brakeman on the Lackawanna Railroad and caught his foot in a switch. A locomotive bore down on him and crushed him before he could get loose. The remains were brought here for burial yesterday.

Harvey Lindsley, of this place, a conductor on the N. Y., N. H. & H. R. R., stepped in front of a flyer yesterday and was instantly killed. He was a son of A. C. Lindsley.

Press Did It.

Mrs. Thomas Dorgan, of 939 Arlington avenue, lost a chatelaine bag containing $15 a few days ago. Like a wise woman she advertised her loss in The Daily Press. The bag and contents were found by Herbert Munro and he, being a reader of The Press, quickly returned the lost property.

PLEASED WITH SUPPER, SALE AND PROGRAMME

Annual Event of Women's Society for Christian Work of Seventh-Day Church.

WAS WELL ATTENDED

AFTER A SUBSTANTIAL SUPPER, A MUSICAL PROGRAMME WAS ENJOYED.

Bag and Apron Sale Held During Evening—Those in Charge of the Event—The Sub-Committees Who Assisted in the Affair.

The annual supper, entertainment and sale, held last evening in the parlors of the Seventh-Day Baptist church under the auspices of the Woman's Society for Christian Work, was attended with the usual success. That the efforts of the women were rewarded was evidenced by the liberal patrouage accorded by the members of the church and congregation.

From 6 o'clock until after 9 o'clock, those in charge were kept busy serving suppers. The menu, a novel one, included many tempting dishes from tomato bisque to ice cream, cake and coffee. The menu cards were prettily arranged and at the top of each was the following quotation:

"We may live without friends; we may live without books; but civilized man cannot live without cooks."

The supper room was attractively decorated with crepe streamers of a nile green and pink shade, and the tables were conveniently arranged for excellent service. In addition to the supper there was an informal entertainment of a pleasing character. This included piano duets by Miss Mabel Maxson and Miss Jessie Utter, piano solos by Miss Mabel Maxson and cornet solos by Robert W. Davis, accompanied on the piano by Miss Utter. Following the supper and during the various numbers on the programme, those present enjoyed a social chat. Another attraction was the bag and apron sale which was in charge of Mrs. H. M. Maxson, Mrs. T. C. Smith and Mrs. W. H. Rogers.

The whole affair was in charge of a committee of which Mrs. Thomas Titsworth was the chairman, assisted by Mrs. Joseph Miller, Mrs. Ira West and Mrs. Charles Randolph. Those who assisted as waitresses were Miss Bessy Fitz Randolph, the Misses St. John, Miss Edna Randolph, Miss Olive Randolph and Miss Kizzie Nesgle. The entertainment comimttee consisted of Miss Ernestine C. Smith, Mrs. J. Everitt Kimball and Miss Ida Spicer. H. M. Maxson was the cashier.

The affair was given for the benefit of the treasury of the Woman's Society for Christian Work and the gratifying proceeds will be used for carrying on the work of this society.

TEMPLARS AT EASTON.

Trinity Commandery Had Representatives at Big Gathering.

In response to an invitation extended by the Commandery, K. T., of Easton, Pa., fraters from all parts of New Jersey journeyed to Easton, last evening, to witness the conferring of the Order of the Temple. A special train on the Lehigh Valley carried Damascus Commandery, of Newark, as well as several fraters from along the line. Members of Trinity Commandery, this city, went to Bound Brook and met the special train at that point. The Easton Commandery has an extensive reputation for its work and for this reason an opportunity was given others to see it exemplified.

Surprise for Miss Wyman.

A happy surprise party was tendered to Miss Wyman, of East Front street, Tuesday evening. There were nearly forty young people present to enjoy the dancing and programme of vocal and instrumental music. During the evening refseshments were served. Among the guests were several from out of town.

Came in His Auto.

Judge Collins, of Westfield, who is one of the officials of the Elizabeth, Plainfield and Central Jersey Railway Company, was in this city yesterday afternoon on business. He rode here in his new automobile and attracted much attention both by the speed he made and by the neatness of the machine.

Clinical Society Met.

Dr. W. C. Boone, of West Seventh street, entertained the Plainfield Clinical Society Tuesday evening, at which time Dr. Boone presented a paper treating of an interesting subject.

CAN BOROUGH VOTE AGAIN?

Attorney General Asked by Senate to Decide If Annexation is Now Inoperative.

ALL AWAIT AN ANSWER

State Senate Desires to Know Exact Status of Annexation Measure, and Whether, a Vote Once Taken, North Plainfield Can Vote Again Under the Present Law.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Trenton, March 19—While the "repealer" to the annexation act is still held up in the State Senate awaiting final action, this act, which gives the borough of North Plainfield the right to decided for itself whether it desires to become a part of Union county, has again come to the attention of the upper house, this time in another form.

It will be remembered that the measure gave the people of North Plainfield a right to vote on the question of annexation and that advantage was taken of it last fall and a special election held. The vote at that time was against annexation. It was then claimed by the opponents of the movement, which aimed to consolidate Plainfield and North Plainfield and of which this was merely a part, that the act had done its work and there could be no further vote on the question. The advocates of annexation claimed that the measure did not limit the vote to a single one.

It is on this same question which the members of the State Senate are desirious of being enlightened. A resolution was passed yesterday, requesting the Attorney General to advise the Senate whether the act is still in force, or whether, a vote having been taken by the people and the provisions of the measure rejected, the act becomes inoperative.

No action will be taken on the "repealer" until the Attorney General replies to this request. His answer is looked forward to with more than the usual interest as it will be of great importance in determining the present status of the annexation question.

The primary reform bill, whose passage has been advocated by Governor Murphy, passed the Senate yesterday by a vote of 17 to 1, Senator Barber alone voting in the negative.

The bill, which provides that the State shall bear the expense of primary elections and exercise supervision over them, was advocated briefly by Senator Wakelee on the ground that it would insure honest primary elections.

Mr. Martin said his sole objection to the measure was that it prevented the use of official ballots outside the polling places, in this respect going beyond the general elections law, which he thought unwise.

Mr. Wakelee replied that the bill had been so amended as to eliminate this prohibition. Mr. Hudspeth also spoke briefly for the bill.

Yesterday's session in both houses was a busy one and a number of bills were introduced, considered and passed.

Assemblyman Swackhamer served notice yesterday that he would make application to have the house committee on railroads and canals relieved from further consideration of his three-men-in-a-cab bill, which has been held up indefinitely.

Lecture on Niagara Falls.

Alexander Helper, of New York, will give a beautiful illustrated lecture entitled "Picturesque and Industrial Niagara Falls" at Y. M. C. A. Hall, Tuesday evening, March 24, at 8 o'clock. Tickets may be obtained free at drug stores. A silver offering will be received.

Still Another Postponement.

The milk case, which was to have come up in Justice Smalley's court this morning, has been postponed again until both parties can arrive at a definite time for a hearing. It is likely that it will eventually be held over to the May term of court at Somerville.

To Open Milk Depot.

Otto Smith, the milk dealer, has leased the store on Watchung avenue formerly occupied by Marchant Bros., and he will open a milk depot there April 1.

Mrs. J. W. Richardson, of Stamford, Conn., was the guest last evening, of Mr. and Mrs. James S. Pray, of 235 East Sixth street.

OFFICERS ARE CHOSEN

ANNUAL MEETING HELD AT HOME OF J. HERVEY DOANE.

Several Locations for Club Courts Are Under Consideration—May Secure Last Year's Courts, Located on East Seventh Street.

With tennis growing in popularity, the prospects for the coming season for the Cedar Brook Tennis Club are very bright. There was a general examination of existing conditions and the formulating of plans for the future at the annual meeting of the club held last evening at the home of J. Hervey Doane, of East Seventh street. Mr. Doane was the retiring president. Election of officers was the chief business transacted although the evening was devoted to a general discussion of plans for the summer.

The election of officers resulted as follows: President, Fred M. Letson; first vice president and chairman of the tennis committee, J. Hervey Doane; second vice president and chairman of the grounds committee, John H. Doane; treasurer, James A. Stafford; secretary, Alden E. Moore. The last three were re-elected. These officers compose the board of directors of the club which held a meeting immediately following the club meeting. President Letson will announce his committees in a few weeks.

Last year the club courts were located on East Seventh street near Richmond street. It is not definitely decided whether the club will use the same courts this year. Several locations are under consideration. The directors will reach a decision shortly when work will start putting the courts in order. It is expected to have courts ready to play on by April 15 unless bad weather interferes.

One new member was elected last evening and there are a number of applications to come before the board. It is expected that the membership limit will be reached this spring. There will be few of the old members who will withdraw and quite a number are desirous of joining.

BROTHERS QUARREL.

Marcus Silbert Arraigned in Justice Hand's Court Yesterday.

Marcus Silbert, a member of a jewelry firm doing business on Somerset street, was arraigned before Justice Hand, yesterday afternoon, charged by his brother, Carl Silbert, with threatening to take his life and attempting to strike him. The brothers had a quarrel over some business matter and it is said, Marcus lost his temper. Details of the case will be heard tomorrow morning as it was adjourned until that time. The defendant was released on his own recognizance.

LOST $25.

Miss Mackey Victim of Clever Sneak Thief in New York.

Miss Mackey, of East Second street, who is engaged in clerical work in a New York office, met with a decided misfortune early this week. She was walking down Liberty street, New York, on her way to the ferry, when a sneak thief cleverly opened her chatelaine bag and removed therefrom $25. The money was taken so quickly that it was several minutes before Miss Mackey realized what had happened. The thief, of course, got away.

Democrats to Smoke.

A meeting of the Democratic Club, of this city, was held last evening when arrangements were partly completed for a smoker which will be held at the club rooms in the near future. The committee in charge of the smoker have arranged for a most enjoyable time and many out of town guests are expected to be present. The date has not yet been set.

To Elect Officers.

The Young Women's Missionary Society of the First Baptist church, will hold an important meeting tomorrow afternoon when they will elect officers for the coming year and submit their reports. A full attendance is desired.

Purchased Borough Property.

J. A. Blatz has purchased the property adjoining his present residence on Somerset street, and he will remodel the brick dwelling thereon, making apartments of it.

HEARING BEFORE COUNCIL.

To Hear Arguments Regarding the Sewer Extension in Southwest.

When the Common Council meets in adjourned session Monday evening, a hearing will be given on the proposed ordinance to extend the Plainfield system of sanitary sewers through that portion of the city not now provided for. It is quite likely that the Council will make this improvement unless there should be good reasons against such a move. All persons interested should attend the meeting Monday evening and express their opinion in the matter.

THIRTEEN WASN'T UNLUCKY

MISS LAVINIA HAND HAD A BARN PARTY ON HER BIRTHDAY.

Had a Splendid Time, Despite Fact She Was Just Thirteen Years Old.

In honor of her thirteenth birthday, Miss Lavinia Hand, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hand entertained a large number of her friends at a barn party in the rear of her home on Fairview avenue last evening where a most enjoyable time was spent.

The large barn was tastefully decorated with flags. As portiers hung two large signal flags which were used on the U. S. S. Olympia at the battle of Manila while in different parts of the building were large tricolored emblems which were festooned in tasteful array. The effect was very pretty as well as patriotic.

The evening was spent in playing games. Many children's pastimes were enjoyed until a late hour when refreshments were served. Among the games played was "marshmellow bobbing," which was won by Miss Ruth Wheeler, who also won the contest wherein the guests tried to decide upon the correct number of beans in a bottle.

Lemonade was served during the evening and later a sumptuous repast was served to the guests. The little hostess was the recipient of a large number of handsome presents from many of her friends.

BITTER FIGHT.

At Meeting to Elect Members of Somerville's Board of Education.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, March 19—A meeting of the legal voters was held in the school building here Tuesday night to select three new members for the Somerville Board of Education and to elect another to fill the unexpired term of James Brown, Jr., who resigned. The fight was a very bitter one, as there were two tickets in the field. H. K. Gaston was chosen chairman and W. H. Thompson secretary. The tellers were John G. Gaston and Clarence Case.

The vote was as follows: H. F. Galpin, 280; C. D. McMurtry, 266; Wm. Hardgrove, Sr., 263; Chas. A. Houston, 259; Harry A. Smith, 256; Wm. A. Apgar, 255; Henry P. Mason, 246; L. C. Mack, 245.

The first three are elected for a full term and the fourth for the unexpired. The appropriation $8,500 for school expenses of the current year was carried.

DYING VISITOR.

Strange Carrier Pigeon Wandered Into Loft of Frank Keller.

While he was working about his barn in the rear of his home on Harrison avenue, Sunday, Frank Keller, a member of the West End Hose Company saw a pigeon fly into the loft. He went upstairs to find it and saw that it was a carrier pigeon which had been shot and was badly wounded. He tried to doctor the bird but it was to no avail and the bird died Monday. On its leg was a silver band on which was engraved, "Congo A." Mr. Keller is anxious to know who the bird belonged to as he desires to return the band.

Preparing for Fair.

The women of the T. A. B. Society of St. Mary's church held a meeting, Tuesday evening, when they named the committees who will assist at the fair which is being planned by that society. The music will be furnished by Prof. O'Rielly and the orchestra will be composed of several of his best musicians.

A Lincoln Company Chartered.

The Atlas Mineral and Machine Company, of Lincoln, has been chartered with an authorized capital stock of $5,000. The incorporators are David A. Weill, Edgar Granert and Max F. Wirtz. The object of the company is to manufacture grinding machinery.

BELIEVES TAX RATE WILL NOT INCREASE

City Collector Frank H. Smith Has Arguments and Figures to Back His Stand.

GIVES HIS REASONS WHY

MONEY ON HAND NOW TO INSTALL POLICE PATROL SYSTEM.

Big Increase Expected in Valuations, Especially in the First and Fourth Wards—About the Residential Park in Southwest Side.

While there are some people who firmly believe that the tax rate is sure to increase in the future, there is one person who quotes facts and figures to prove that Plainfield's rate should not increase for some time to come and that previous statements to the contrary are without foundation and only tend to injure property interests in this city. That person is Collector F. H. Smith, who is in a position to know about the city's finances and its resources.

A Daily Press reporter, in an interview with Collector Smith, learned many things that will surely interest tax payers. Regarding the installation of the Gamewell police patrol system, Mr. Smith explained that the sum of $5,000 which is needed for this purpose is on hand, as well as $1,500 saved out of last year's appropriation for the police department, and no provisions will have to be made this year in the tax rate for the expense of that improvement. The tax payers have already paid for the system.

The county rate, Mr. Smith believed, might go up one point, owing to the fact that the Court House bonds will have to be provided for, but even this he did not believe would necessitate an increase in Plainfield's rate. The collector said he could see no reason why the city rate should be higher than last year. The police department is no larger, the new men appointed simply taking the place of those who have died or resigned. While the salaries of some officials have been raised even this is not sufficient to increase the tax rate was Mr. Smith's argument.

As to increased valuations, Mr. Smith said that this will be a large item, especially in the Fourth and First wards this year. In the Fourth ward there is the Pedersk, Ayer Company machine shops, the Lasher-Pray factory, besides a whole lot of new dwellings. In the First ward there is the stock of the Plainfield Trust Company, as well as the Woodhull & Martin new building to be assessed and this will bring up the valuation considerably.

As to the new septic tanks for the sewer system for the construction of which $41,000 worth of 4 per cent. bonds were issued, Mr. Smith explained that the interest on these bonds amount to $1,640, and this would only mean an increase of a point and a half, provided that there is no increase in valuations. Mr. Smith believes that the increase in valuations this year will be large.

In speaking of the new park system proposed for the Third ward, the collector said that no rate could be fixed on that for this year, as the county board meets July 15 next, and all estimates would have to be reported before that time when the rate is determined and fixed. In connection with the opening of the new part, the city is planning to extend the sewer system at a cost of $65,000.

"This," Mr. Smith said, "means that there will be $3,600 interest to be paid on the bonds issued for that purpose provided the extension is made. The plan is to build at least fifteen dwellings to cost not less than $10,000 each. This would mean a $5,000 assessment on each, a total of $75,000. The city tax alone on that would amount to $5,714, while the interest on the bonds would only be $3,600 a year.

"Now, if the police department should decide to build a new headquarters 4 per cent. bonds would be issued and if a $20,000 building should be erected the interest on that sum would only be $800 a year and at the present time the city is paying in rent for police purposes $720. These bonds would not increase the tax rate and I cannot see how the rate would be increased unless a new fire house should be erected in the east end. That might raise it a trifle."

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Gaston, of East Seventh street, are at Miami, Florida, on a pleasure trip. They will be away six weeks.

SWACKHAMER IS A SURPRISE

HAS COME TO THE FORE DURING THE LAST TWO WEEKS.

Newark News Tells of Oratorical Ability in the Legislature This Session.

This year's Legislature is not an oratorical body, says the Newark News. There are only three members in the Senate who have exhibited any forensic powers. They are McKee, Hudspeth and Martin, the last two Democrats.

Wakelee, the Republican leader, is a good debater, but not a polished speaker. The same is true of Bradley, Bacheller, Gebhardt, Strong and Cross. President Hutchinson makes no oratorical pretensions. Lee, Haines, Hand, Minch, Brown, Welsh, Shinn, Strimple and Childs seldom leave their seats except to make a motion or explain some bill in brief and simple terms. Barber is handicapped by his deafness. Farrell, whom Democrats look upon as a coming governor, has been more modest and retiring than most new members and has sadly disappointed the men who predicted that he would upset traditions when he got into the Senate.

Oratory in the House has been at a premium. Hamill, the Hudson boy wonder, has let himself loose but once this year. Scovel, of Camden; Avis, of Gloucester; Stalter, of Passaic; Newcorn, of Union, and Garrabrants, Lord, Williams and Colby, of Essex, are the acknowledged Republican orators. Boyd, the Republican leader, is forceful and good in debate, as are Cresse, of Cape May; Cook, of Bergen; Miller, of Cumberland; Guichtel, of Essex; Leavitt, of Mercer; Hillery, of Morris, and VanBlarcom, of Passaic.

With the exception of Swackhamer, of Somerset, all the Democratic orators are in the Hudson group. They include, besides Hamill Schumann, Treacy, Stillwell and Fielder. Swackhamer has been the surprise of the session. A new member, he was silent until a couple of weeks ago; then, sure of his ground, he started in for a record. In appearance Swackhamer is as uneuphonic as his name. He is tall and lank, and takes legislation very seriously. Two weeks ago Scovel stroked his fur the wrong way. The Somerset man made a forceful plea for the pending child labor bill. Scovel, unaware that Mrs. Swackhamer and Senator Childs' wife were in the gallery listening, tried to offset the effect of the speech by a sneering remark. Swackhamer waited a week and then got square.

"The gentleman's remarks reminded me," he said, "of the Mississippi steamboat that had a five-foot boiler and a twenty-foot whistle. When they blew the whistle the boat stopped. Nobody ever noticed anything remarkable about Baalam's ass until he began to talk, then he became a public character."

WHAT OTHERS SAY.

Clippings From Other Newspapers Which May be of Interest to Plainfield and Its Citizens.

The Pennsylvania Railroad has taken a commendable step in deciding to abolish the tip nuisance on its lines. On the western division trainmen will no longer be permitted to perform such services as the turning of a seat for passengers in order to receive tips in return. The porters who have seat keys have been notified to return them, and the yardmasters notified not to give keys to porters, or other employes except brakemen. The Pennsylvania lines east of Pittsburg will in a short time make a corresponding move, and will decrease the tip evil, which has reached great proportions. They favor a rule for the discharge of any employe who receives a tip while in service.

The tip nuisance, imported from Europe, has reached proportions in this country that call for drastic reform, and it is encouraging to see a great railroad company take summary measures for its suppression. No doubt other railroad companies will adopt the same regulations, and perhaps in time the reform will reach the hotels and restaurants and other places where the "tip" constitutes a serious item of extra expense for the public.—Newark Advertiser.

THEATRICAL.

Clyde Fitch has been in New York again making slight changes in "The Frisky Mrs. Johnson" running at the Princess Theatre with Amelia Bingham in the title role.

"A Coat of Many Colors," a brilliant comedy in four acts, by Madeline Lucette Ryley, will receive its first production by any stock company at Proctor's Fifth Avenue Theatre, New York, next week. Another one of those splendid variety make-ups, such as only Mr. Proctor can offer, will be the attraction at Proctor's Twenty-third Street next week. The topping feature will be one of more than passing interest. It is seldom that a real countess comes to a vaudeville theatre, but next week the Countess Olga Von Hatzfeldt, with her "Jockey Club" support will present one of the most beautiful acts in the variety. Joseph Arthur's masterpiece, "Blue Jeans," a splendid and stirring rural melodrama will be the attraction at Proctor's 125th Street Theatre next week, with the permanent stock company playing the various roles. Proctor's Theatre in Newark will have a splendid programme, headed by the World's Monarchs of Magic, Le Roy, Talma and Bosco; Charles T. Ellis and company in "Mrs. Hogan's Music Teacher," Senator Frank Bell, late of "Way Down East" company in monologue and story, Morris Cronin, the American Juggler who astonished Europe; White and Simmons, in their comic interlude "Get in the Band Wagon;" Mr. and Mrs. Neil Litchfield in their rural comedy sketch, "Down on the Brook Farm," Anna Caldwell, monologue comedienne and many other bully acts.

PRICE OF MILK.

Nelson Giles Explains Why It Will Not be Reduced This Summer.

To the Editor of The Daily Press:—As a leading domestic necessity, milk is staple and only variable in price according to changes of the seasons. Yet the producer, jobber and dealer are powerless to resist the exacting demands of State and local boards of health who have imposed such regulations that increase the general cost of production and delivery. This public tax against the small margin of profit has become a matter of concern with the milk men. And as they approach the season when milk is expected at a lesser cost, it is natural that we should consider the increase of general cost caused by circumstances beyond control. It is quite reasonable that we should apprehend the true situation of the market and expect the public to meet the increased cost of production according to the state and local requirements, which prevent the dealer making changes in price of spring and summer milk.

Strenuous legal exactions are sure to increase cost of supply and as they are by the people, the milkman should not be expected to pay the bill.

SPORTING JOTTINGS.

Shamrock III. Afloat—She Confirms Previous Good Opinions.

GLASGOW, March 19.—The pontoons on which Shamrock III. was launched were removed yesterday afternoon. The yacht afloat confirms the previous good opinions of her. The doubts whether she would turn on the excessively short keel were partially allayed. She came accurately to the bow floating marks, and under her counter the water just lapped the first water line. While moving it was remarked that the challenger was moved smoothly and easily.

The spars have been brought from Dennys' yards, and it has been arranged to step them today. They have many remarkable features, confirming the forecast cabled. Mr. Fife has adopted a high, narrow sail plan. The Shamrock's steel mainmast is of appreciably less diameter than any previous spar, and the gaff and boom possess the same characteristic, promising a great advantage in reducing windage.

The mainmast and topmast, which are in one, are shorter than those of Shamrock II. This decrease, which is principally in the topmast, is made up by the immense topsail yard built of hollow steel. When set, this will give the desired height, with the valuable feature of not being taxed in the yacht's measurement under the New York Yacht club rules.

Cranston Harvard's Head Coach.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., March 19.—John S. Cranston has been appointed head coach of the Harvard football eleven for 1903. Since the football season closed Mr. Cranston has been one of the prominent candidates for head coach. In the field against him was Bowditch, end on the Harvard varsity for several seasons. Cranston stands as the best center Harvard ever had, and in 1890 he played on the team which beat Yale at Springfield. Since leaving college business interests have prevented him from giving a great deal of time to football.

Progress on the Reliance.

BRISTOL, R. I., March 19.—Progress on the yacht Reliance has been so good the past three days that it is likely that she will be in the water within three weeks after the challenger. The American boat is almost plated, her mast is complete, and one suit of sails is finished. All the bronze plates on the boat are now riveted and the nickel steel plates on the sheer amidships are in position. The riveters are following close after the platers.

New Orleans Races.

NEW ORLEANS, March 19.—Mrs. Frank Foster, Whitmore and Bart Howe were the winning favorites yesterday. Federal has been sold to James Arthur for $1,800. Favorites Fared Badly.

OAKLAND, Cal., March 19.—The going at Oakland was heavy, but the weather was fine. Favorites again fared badly. The defeat of Goldone in the mile and a quarter race was costly. He was a heavily played favorite and after leading the greater part of the way was beaten by Oriana, a 6 to 1 chance.

REPUBLICAN DEFEAT IS PREDICTED.

Brewers and Saloon Keepers From All Parts of the State Try to Prevent Passage of Proposed Tax Measure.

ALBANY, March 19.—For five hours yesterday before the senate committee on taxation and retrenchment a storm of protest raged about the bill of Senator Raines embodying the determination of the Republicans in both houses to add 50 per cent to all liquor license fees. The senate chamber was packed to the doors with delegations of saloonkeepers, brewers and their friends from all parts of the state.

It was made plain at the hearing that the Republican leaders are determined to push the bill through as rapidly as possible and that it will be reported favorably to the senate at once. The chairman, Senator Green, said, however, that the report and advancement of the bill would not prevent the holding of further hearings upon it.

"But, Senator Green," protested Frederick Neidlinger of New York, who conducted the opposition, "this is an important bill and should not be a rush measure. It is one of vast concern to thousands of business men and citizens, and we have scores of persons who wish to be heard."

"We'll hold a night session tonight for you," said Senator Green.

"We do not wish to be inconsiderate to the committee, which already is tired, many of the members having long since left their seats, but I believe that Mayor Low, when he is told of the facts, will come here, as did the mayor of Syracuse, and protest in behalf of the city of New York against this measure."

"I don't believe Mayor Low knows of the existence of this bill," laughed Senator Green.

"Oh, yes, he does," replied Mr. Neidlinger. "It's too near November, and he is more observing now than he has been, and I believe that he will do all he can to prevent this bill becoming a law."

"And I add my voice," said Senator Foley, "in favor of a hearing. This hearing should not be closed at once. There is no necessity for haste. Other bills of a great deal less importance are given longer hearings and as many postponements as are desired."

Senator Green said he would make no promises, but would simply present the matter to the committee when it met in executive session.

Not only did the maltsters, brewers, distillers and bartenders enter protests, but from Buffalo came the protest of the common council, a Republican body. From Syracuse came a protest voiced by Mayor Jay B. Kline. The German-American league of New York filed resolutions, and representatives from labor unions made their protest. A number of the speakers called attention to the possible political effect of the bill and said that it would mean the downfall of the Republican party.

Senator Raines, who was an interested participant in the hearing, explained the provisions of the bill.

Root Abandons Western Trip.

WASHINGTON, March 19.—Secretary Root announces that he will meet the president in St. Louis April 30 on the occasion of the dedicatory exercises of the Louisiana Purchase exposition. Pressure of work in connection with recent Philippine and militia legislation will not permit Mr. Root to accompany the president to the Pacific coast, as he originally had intended. Long cablegrams are being exchanged between the secretary and Governor Taft regarding the Philippine currency bill, the handing over of the relief fund of $3,000,000 appropriated by congress at its last session and other matters affecting the islands.

Chabot Found Dead.

FALL RIVER, Mass., March 19.—All speculation over the disappearance of Amedee D. Chabot, for whom the police had been searching since Tuesday morning, upon the charge of murdering his wife, Angela, has been ended by the finding of his body in North Watuppa pond. Chabot was believed by many to have gone to Canada, and officers had been dispatched there to follow up a clew thought to have been furnished by a two dollar bill covered with blood which was presented at the Fall River railroad station in payment for a ticket to Boston.

Jailed For Resisting Vaccination.

ASHEVILLE, N. C., March 19.—Professor A. T. Weaver, at the head of a leading educational institution, has been sent to jail because he refused to be vaccinated and also because of his refusal to pay a fine of $25 for the same. The vaccination was ordered as a precaution against smallpox. Professor Weaver, it is said, may institute legal proceedings against the authorities and may take his case before the supreme court of North Carolina.

Toledo's Mayoralty Fight.

TOLEDO, O., March 19.—On the first ballot in the Republican city convention John D. Wood was nominated for mayor. Coincident with the nomination comes the announcement from Mayor Samuel M. ("Golden Rule") Jones that he, Jones, will be an independent candidate for a fourth term. The Democratic nominee is Charles M. Edson.

Montana's Statehouse Injured.

HELENA, Mont., March 19.—The seismic shock of last Monday night did serious damage to Montana's new statehouse. Three great pillars in the rotunda of the capitol were wrecked by the earthquake, which did no damage to other buildings so far as known.

TREATY VOTE TODAY

The Senate Agrees on Cuban Reciprocity.

A LONG EXECUTIVE SESSION HELD.

Senator Newlands Pleads For the Annexation of Cuba — The Race Question Discussed — President Sharply Criticised.

WASHINGTON, March 19.—Before adjourning at 7 o'clock last night the senate entered into a unanimous agreement to vote on the Cuban reciprocity treaty at 3 o'clock today. The hope of securing a vote yesterday was dissipated by the discovery that there were more speeches to be made in opposition to the treaty than had been counted upon. Indeed it was difficult to secure an agreement to vote even today, and it was evident that this result could not have been accomplished but for the anxiety of senators to secure a final adjournment of the session.

The executive session covered six hours and was devoted largely to adverse criticisms of the treaty. During the day Senator Newlands made a plea for the annexation of Cuba and presented an amendment to the treaty tendering an invitation to that island to become a state of the American Union.

The debate was participated in by Senators McEnery, Newlands, Spooner, Teller, Nelson, Cullom, Gorman, Bailey and Carmack.

The race question again was discussed in the senate. Mr. Money spoke for two hours, his remarks having direct reference to the action of the president in closing the Indianola (Miss.) postoffice. Mr. Money explained at the outset of his remarks that if he could secure unanimous consent for leave to print he would not take up the time of the senate. The sentiment of the senate seemed to be that remarks not delivered should not be spread in the Record. He thereupon proceeded and delivered himself of some severe strictures of the president, stating in the course of his remarks that Mr. Roosevelt was not the president of America, but the president of the "black belt." At times he was closely interrogated by Messrs. Foraker and Spooner.

Cuban Treaty In Danger.

WASHINGTON, March 19.—It is said at the state department that the sharpest kind of work will be required to save the Cuban treaty from total failure if it is ratified by the senate with amendments, as proposed. The slightest amendment will require the convention again to be ratified by the Cuban congress, and while there is little doubt that small opposition will be offered there, it is pointed out that the period allowed for the exchange of ratifications expires on the 31st inst. This is a very short space of time in which to complete formalities in Washington and have the treaty acted on by the Cuban congress.

Great Damage by Flood.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., March 19.—The flood situation shows a number of new and serious developments, and there is scarcely a ray of hope for improved conditions except the fact that tributaries of the Mississippi north of Memphis are reported to be falling. One of the most serious developments of the last twenty-four hours is the washing out of all lines of railroad entering the city from the west and the complete tying up of railroad traffic through the Memphis gateway to that section. There have been no trains either in or out of the city over the Memphis bridge, and the prospects are that traffic cannot be resumed until the flood has subsided.

Typewriter Company Prosperous.

NEW YORK, March 19.—The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Union Typewriter company, capitalized at $20,000,000, was held in Jersey City. Former Lieutenant Governor Timothy Woodruff presided. The annual report showed that the profits of last year exceeded those of 1901. The directors reserved $600,000 for dividends, to be paid as follows on April 1: Three and a half per cent on the first preferred, 4 per cent on the second preferred and 3 per cent on the common stock.

General Hamilton Dead.

NEW YORK, March 19.—General Schuyler Hamilton, a classmate of General Grant at West Point and a distinguished veteran of the Mexican and civil wars, is dead at his home here in his eighty-third year. General Hamilton was the father of Robert Ray Hamilton, who was mysteriously killed some years ago in the Snake river country in the northwest. Another son, Schuyler Hamilton, Jr., survives him.

A Colliery Shuts Down.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., March 19.—The Pettebone colliery has shut down, and the 600 miners, laborers and slate pickers were notified that there would be no work at this mine until further notice. The colliery belongs to the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Coal company and is one of the largest in the vicinity.

Four Boys Drowned.

MONTREAL, March 19.—Four boys were drowned in the Lachine canal here. Their names are John Hayes, fifteen years old; William Nivin, seven years old; Victor Fecteau, nine years old, and Patrick Curtis, eleven years old.

May Have License Law.

CONCORD, N. H., March 19.—By a vote of 214 to 107 the house of representatives has put itself on record as in favor of a license law in preference to the existing prohibitory system, which has been in force since 1848.

FISH INSTEAD OF PLIMLEY.

Charges Against Appointee For Assistant United States Treasurer.

WASHINGTON, March 19.—President Roosevelt has withdrawn the nomination of William Plimley for assistant treasurer of the United States at New York and late yesterday afternoon sent to the senate the nomination of Hamilton Fish to the office, and it was confirmed by the senate.

Mr. Plimley's nomination was confirmed by the senate the day after its transmission to that body by the president. His commission was made out and signed by the president, but had not been delivered when at the instance of Senator Aldrich, chairman of the finance committee, the senate adopted a resolution recalling the appointment from the president for further consideration. It developed that charges had been made against Mr. Plimley which the senate desired to investigate. Protests from important financial interests in New York subsequently were filed with President Roosevelt against the appointment of Mr. Plimley. The protests also reached the treasury department, which made an investigation.

Assistant Secretary Armstrong of the treasury department had a conference with the president, at which it was decided that in view of the gravity of the charges against Mr. Plimley he could not be commissioned. The president then withdrew the nomination from the senate.

President Roosevelt then had a conference with Senator Platt. Mr. Plimley having been indorsed by both Senators Platt and Depew, and informed him that in the circumstances he felt fully justified in withdrawing the nomination of Mr. Plimley. In this action Senator Platt acquiesced. The senator suggested the name of Hamilton Fish of New York, and the president agreed immediately to appoint him.

Mr. Fish is a son of former Secretary of State Hamilton Fish. He is a prominent lawyer of New York, one time speaker of the assembly and a personal friend of President Roosevelt.

Burdick Inquest Postponed.

BUFFALO, March 19.—Police Justice Murphy announced yesterday that owing to the illness of District Attorney Coatsworth the inquest into the murder of Edwin L. Burdick would not be resumed until next Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock. District Attorney Coatsworth is suffering from a severe cold which prevents him from speaking above a whisper. It is expected that the inquest will be concluded next Monday unless some new evidence of importance develops this week. It is stated on good authority that the district attorney will also place in evidence a letter alleged to have been written to Mrs. Burdick by Arthur L. Pennell some months ago. The letter was found in the Burdick home when the search of the house was made by the police. In the letter the following occurs, "I feel that I must kill Ed Burdick."

Miles Finds His Dollar.

BOSTON, March 19.—Boston's newspaper men tendered a reception to Lieutenant General Nelson A. Miles at the Press club yesterday afternoon. Among the prominent members of the club present were Governor Bates, Lieutenant Governor Guild, Secretary of State Olin and Mayor Collins. At the conclusion of the reception a luncheon was served. During the day General Miles located the dollar deposited by him in a bank near city hall in 1860. He had often recalled the deposit, he said, but had forgotten the name of the bank. The institution has verified the deposit. No interest has accumulated, as no sum under $3 has earning power. The bank treasurer said that he would consider it a favor if the general would come and get his dollar and close the account.

MERGER CASE TRIAL

Four United States Judges Sit In St. Louis.

UNPRECEDENTED LEGAL SPECTACLE.

By Special Act of Congress Celebrated Suit Against Northern Securities Company May Be Speedily Terminated.

ST. LOUIS, March 19.—For the first time in the history of the United States courts and by authority of a special act of congress passed last February four United States circuit judges are sitting together to hear arguments in a case, the trial being the fight of the government against the Northern Securities company of New Jersey in the celebrated merger suit.

Under this special act the United States circuit court for the district of Minnesota is holding its session in St. Louis in the appellate courtroom, and by this arrangement the case can go immediately from this court to the supreme court of the United States, whereas in the general court proceeding it necessarily would go through the circuit court of appeals, and a delay of from two to three years probably would ensue. The hearing of the case in St. Louis is merely for the personal convenience of those concerned.

The four judges before whom the merger case is being argued are United States Circuit Judges Caldwell, Sanborn, Thayer and Van Deventer, Judge Caldwell presiding.

The attorneys for the government are Assistant Attorneys General James M. Beck and William H. Day and Special Counsel D. T. Watson of Pittsburg, United States Attorney D. P. Dyer assisting.

For the Northern Securities company are former Attorney General John W. Griggs, former Judge George B. Young of St. Paul, M. D. Grover, general attorney for the Great Northern Railroad company, and C. W. Bunn, general attorney for the Northern Pacific company. Most of yesterday's session was taken up with the presentation of argument for the government by Assistant Attorney General Beck. After he had concluded, late in the afternoon, argument for the Northern Securities company was begun by former Judge George B. Young.

Sultan Ignores American Minister.

LONDON, March 19.—The correspondent of the Daily Chronicle at Constantinople in a dispatch dated March 14 states that United States Minister Leishman is still vainly waiting for an audience of the sultan to deliver President Roosevelt's autograph letter on the American claims regarding the missionary schools in Armenia and other matters. In response to Minister Leishman's pressing demand Tewfik Pasha, the foreign minister, promised that the sultan would receive the minister after the celebration of Bairam, but the festival passed, and Mr. Leishman is becoming exasperated. It would not be surprising, adds the correspondent, should the sultan continue the delay if American warships were ordered to Turkish waters.

Big Purchase of Texas Oil Lands.

NEW ORLEANS, March 19.—Colonel S. F. B. Morse of the Southern Pacific, who has returned from the east, states that an international syndicate, the executive head of which is Colonel Alexander Gordon of London, has purchased a tract of land in Hardin county, Tex., aggregating 4,000 acres of oil land. This is in what is known as the Saratoga field. The price paid for the land is understood to have been in the millions. The syndicate's tract is only ten miles from the pipe line terminating at Sour Lake. Refineries will follow the exploiting of the field, and much of the product, if not all of it, will be exported to England.

Mississippi Still Rising.

NATCHEZ, Miss., March 19.—In spite of the great width of the river a rise of a quarter of a foot is recorded by the gauge for the past twenty-four hours. This makes the Mississippi river at Natchez 4.25 feet above the danger line. It is still rising. The water pouring through the crevasse at Bougere, La., has filled the swamp lands in the lower end of Concordia parish and is backing up the bayou. The Black river at Jonesville, La., has reached the danger line, forty-eight feet, and is rising at the rate of two-tenths of a foot a day. The local packets are making extra trips for the benefit of refugees who wish to move to higher ground.

Buffalo Dockmen Quit Work.

BUFFALO, March 19.—Five hundred employees of the Buffalo Drydock company are out on strike, and double the number may be out within the next few days unless the question at issue is settled. There is no question of wages involved. The men demand the reinstatement of a member of the union who, it is alleged, was discharged because he headed a grievance committee.

Heavy Snowstorm In Utah.

SALT LAKE CITY, March 19.—The severest snowstorm of the winter is prevailing here. More than four inches of snow has fallen, accompanied by a thirty mile wind, and street car traffic is seriously interfered with. The storm is general throughout southern Idaho, northern Utah and western Wyoming and is working westward rapidly.

Hot March Weather.

MILWAUKEE, March 19.—According to the weather bureau, yesterday's heat broke the record for March for the thirty-three years since the establishment of the local weather bureau. The thermometer registered 72½ degrees in the afternoon, the highest previous record being 70 degrees.

THE PUBLIC'S BUSINESS.

As public servants, the members of the Borough Board of Education will hereafter transact their business in public. No one thinks for a moment that the members of that board in the past have pursued anything but an honest and straightforward course. The board has, however, the handling of more public funds than the Borough Council and it is but the right of the public to see and know how it is spent and what the board does at its meetings. It may serve to save the board from a lot of criticism. When the people get an opportunity of inspecting the work of the board but once a year, the results do not always seem commensurate with the expenses and there is bound to be criticism where a perfect understanding of the conditions as they progress may change public opinion.

This action, which will admit the public to the sessions of the Board of Education of North Plainfield, was taken at the borough school meeting. A resolution to that effect, introduced by Former Mayor William L. Saunders, was passed by the unanimous vote of the five hundred borough citizens present. If there were any who opposed it, they failed to lift their voice in opposition. It will simply give the people of North Plainfield the right which the people of Plainfield have long enjoyed. It is not expected that the public at large will often take advantage of the right to attend the meeting; the representatives of the local newspapers will, however, be at each meeting and give a full report of the proceedings thus enabling the people to keep in touch with the doings of the board.

The coming year promises to be an eventful one for the Borough Board of Education as well as for the Borough Council. North Plainfield has good schools but they do not yet serve to accommodate all the demands upon them. There are more children than there is school room and temporary class rooms have been established to tide over the demands until a new school shall be built. A new school must come. The board will have to solve the problem of securing this new school and continuing the present high standard without increasing the tax rate any more than is absolutely necessary. This is a subject that the borough public will be decidedly interested in and so it is particularly desirable that the sessions this year should be public and without any suggestion of secrecy.

An erroneous impression seems to prevail among many North Plainfielders. It has been told that the old Board of Education asked the people for money with which to build a new schoolhouse and that the request was turned down. As a matter of fact, this question has never been considered by the borough voters. The need of a new schoolhouse was felt by members of the School Board a year ago and it was originally intended to ask for the funds at the annual meeting of 1902. Notices to that effect were even printed but, on account of the annexation agitation at that time it is supposed, the proposition was withdrawn and the question never came up. Had the new schoolhouse been voted for at that time, the school tax would have gone even higher than it did and it would have been a stronger argument in favor of the Greater Plainfield than ever.

As far as Plainfield is concerned, the defeat in the Legislature of the bill changing the city tax collector from an elective to an appointive office is generally regretted. At present the same official is tax collector and delinquent tax collector. The work of the latter office is rather unpleasant, to say the least, and apt to make the holder a great many enemies. As all these enemies have a vote on election day, it is rather difficult to get an elective officer to be as strict as would one who knew his continuance in office was not dependent on popular vote. Some of the legislators got the idea that the present collector was a Democrat and that the bill was simply intended to legislate him out of office. Assemblyman Swackhamer's strong opposition was probably in a measure responsible for that view.

An attempt to extend the Meeker election act so as to cover boroughs the size of North Plainfield was defeated when it came before the Assembly. It would have been a good thing if the Meeker act in its entirety might have been repealed.

SOME OF ATTRACTIONS TO BE FOUND AT LOCAL STORES.

Numerous busy clerks at Fred Endress' store testify that his goods are sought after by the public. None but the best sold. Meats, provisions, game and seafood. All orders delivered.

The removal sale of the New York Bargain Store is still on at the old stand on West Front street. Here exceptional bargains are to be found which should be seen to be appreciated.

The Y. M. C. A. building is located at the corner of Front street and Watchung avenue. Hodge's pharmacy is in the Y. M. C. A. building. Medicines, prescription work and toilet articles. That's all.

There is no valid reason why a man should go to New York and purchase his clothes, when M. Weinberger, of West Front street, is offering such bargains. His stock comprises the very latest styles, best quality and is sold at the lowest prices.

The Gayle Hardware Company, corner of Front street and Park avenue, carries a large stock of tinware, cooking utensils and general hardware and you will make no mistake in trading with this company, full value is a rule of the company and all goods are guaranteed.

Only first-class workmen are employed by Charles Conover & Company, painters and decorators, of Elmwood place. The firm will be pleased to show you samples of the latest designs in wall papers and estimates will cheerfully be given on work. The telephone number is 226 A.

After years of experience in the jewelry business, J. Hervey Doane, of Park avenue, is well qualified to give his patrons the benefit of that experience. He sells only the best grade of goods and his prices will compare with those in New York. Mr Doane's stock of silverware, watches, etc., is one of the best in the State.

Easter will soon be here and with the approach of that day the question of what the styles in millinery are is being discussed by women in this city. A visit to the millinery department of I. H. Beohm's dry goods emporium, on West Front street, will give one a good idea of the prevailing styles. The big spring opening exhibit is now going on at that store.

VanArsdale, the East Front street shoeman, believes in large sales and small profits in preference to large profits and small sales. For that reason he handles nothing but the very best makes of shoes for men, women and children, every line backed by his own and the manufacturer's guarantee. They last longer, look better and are more comfortable than any other so-called high grades.

—There will be important business at the meeting of Franklin Council, No. 41, Jr. O. U. A. M., this evening.

—The Junior Christian Endeavor Society of the First Baptist church will hold a meeting tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock.

—Neuman Brothers are selling their own importation of olive oil at sixty cents per quart and twenty-five cents per pint. None better.

SUBURBAN NEWS

A Department Devoted to the Minor Events in Greater Plainfield's Suburbs by Our Own Correspondents.

DUNELLEN.

An exciting time was witnessed here in town yesterday when a herd of cows was being driven through. A pugnacious mongrel met the animals and attempted to frighten them by barking. One of the cows, instead of running, rushed with lowered head at the dog, which was taken by surprise and could not run. The mongrel was tossed about ten feet and the two animals went their way peacefully.

Owing to the blowing out of a plug there was no water in the pipes of the Watchung Water Company yesterday and part of today. Local Superintendent Pierce has been working hard to repair the break.

The result of the election for school trustees here was not surprising as the three men, who were elected, had all been considered likely candidates.

The foundation of the Aluminum Press Company's factory has been started and from now on the work will be rapid.

Regular weekly prayer meeting was held last evening in the local churches with a rather small attendance.

A meeting of the Literary Circle will be held this evening at the home of Mrs. Edmund Teel.

R. J. Swackhamer was slightly improved yesterday but is still in quite a serious condition.

The Misses Josie Dealaman, Emma Craig and Edith Boice spent yesterday in New York.

The Banjo and Mandolin Club will give a concert at South Plainfield Saturday evening.

The residence of Rev. Augustus Todd, of Front street, is receiving a coat of paint.

The date of the Watchung Ball Club's initial dance will probably be April 17.

A meeting of the directors of the Building Loan will be held this evening.

A meeting of the W. C. T. U. will be held this afternoon in the rooms.

Charles Lake expects soon to leave for a visit in New England.

NEW MARKET.

The members of the local baseball team are taking all the chances they can get to practice and get in condition for the first game which will be played soon.

Andrew Johnson, who has been ill for several weeks, is now improving.

Rev. and Mrs. L. E. Livermore were in Plainfield yesterday.

The band will meet this evening at the usual place for practice.

Stanley Day visited out-of-town friends yesterday.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

The annual meeting for organization of the Borough Council was held in the fire house Monday night. Wright Babcock was made president of the Council, Ernest C. Kieb was reappointed borough clerk, Augustus Sheelen received the appointment as chief of police and the members of the Council as a whole were made members of the police committee. On motion of Mr. Babcock, Collector Chas. Sheelen's salary was raised as a recognition of his valuable services as borough collector during the past three years. The clerk was instructed to call the attention of the State Board of Taxation to the property of the Central Railroad of New Jersey, as the Mayor and Council deemed it was assessed at too low a valuation.

John S. VanNosdall, the borough blacksmith, was the only borough resident who observed St. Patrick's Day, Tuesday. The borough smithy kept the Irish colors floating from the flag pole at his shop all day.

Thos. Z. Hetfield, of the firm of Hetfield & Waldron, has purchased the Col. Stegeman property, corner of Stout avenue and Grand street. The deal was made through the agency of Thos. M. Paff, Sr.

Miss Melby, missionary to emigrants at Ellis Island, New York City, will deliver an address in the Baptist church, Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock. This will be a great treat and all are invited to attend.

The "No Name" Society, composed of the young women connected with the Methodist church, will hold its semi-monthly meeting tonight at the home of Mis Fannie Haskard.

Chas. N. Flanders, who has been suffering from a severe attack of rheumatism for several weeks, has almost recovered and will soon be able to be around again.

The Township Committee meet Saturday night for organization and swearing in of the newly-elected township officers.

The members of Excelsior Hook and Ladder Company met for drill at the company headquarters last night.

John Bornmann, the carpenter and builder, has secured another contract for a large house at Cranford.

Twilight Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., meets in weekly session in the Library rooms tonight.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

The Patriotic Order, Sons of America, meets in Washington Hall at 7 o'clock tonight instead of the usual time, in order to attend the revival meeting at the Baptist church at 7:30.

Joseph Noel, formerly of this place, has taken a position with his old employers, Rogers & Company, at the seafood market.

Rev. W. A. Spinney made a trip to Newark yesterday by trolley line, and returned on his bicycle.

Choked Water Way.

The water in Tier's pond was partly emptied out Tuesday afternoon on account of a mysterious clogging up of the sluice way. It was found that a water soaked log had lodged in the runway and old leaves and debris had accumulated until the water was almost completely choked up.

President Cahoone to Speak.

Stephen A. Cahoone, the president of the Y. M. C. A., will be the principal speaker at the big men's meeting which will be held at Association Hall, Sunday afternoon. Mrs. S. H. Tugwell will be the soloist, and selections will be rendered by the Y. M. C. A. orchestra.

Was Not Present.

In the account of the public rehearsal at the Y. M. C. A., which appeared in yesterday afternoon's issue of this paper, it was stated that Garret T. Dunham rendered Sullivan's "Lost Chord." Mr. Dunham was not present at the rehearsal.

Going to Brunswick.

The members of the boys' department of the Y. M. C. A. will be the guests of the Y. M. C. A., of New Brunswick, Saturday morning, when a game of basket ball will be played between the two teams.

ALIS CLUB TO MAKE BASEBALL A FEATURE

Club Will Have Strong Nine, Whether a Member of the City League Or Not.

IS TO SECURE GROUNDS

COMMITTEES APPOINTED AT MEETING HELD LAST EVENING.

A Special Committee Appointed to Secure Clubhouse and Athletic Field—Another Meeting to be Held April 1 to Hear Reports.

A meeting of the Alis Club was held in the parlors of the Hotel Kensington, last evening, but beyond the appointment of committees by President Lewis E. Waring, nothing of importance came up for consideration.

The committees were made as follows: House, Dr. G. W. Hillman, Francis J. Blatz, J. J. Slevin, Dr. A. H. Dundon, Frank Boone; entertainment, Fred. J. Pope, James Dodd, H. W. Davis; membership, George Schoonmaker, Walter L. Long, Garfield Pike; finance, W. A. Boone, Herbert Johnson, Harry Cuming; baseball, John G. MacLaughlin, Chauncey F. Burt, John Barnes; football, Roy T. Phillips, Roy Radford, H. A. Chandor; billiards, pool and tennis, Godwin Beard, Frank Denecklau and Herbert Moore.

A special committee was appointed by the president to secure a clubhouse and athletic field. It consisted of the following: John G. MacLaughlin, J. J. Slevin, Dr. Dundon, Dr. G. W. Hillman and George Schoonmaker. This committee will act in conjunction with the other committees in scheduling games, securing outfits and the transaction of other matters.

It was definitely decided to make a specialty of baseball during the coming summer, whether the club gains admittance to the Plainfield League or not. The members feel confident that with the material on hand a team can be formed that will compel attention from the local cranks, games to be played only with the strongest nines in the Metropolitan district.

The next meeting will be held Wednesday evening, April 1, when the committees appointed will submit reports.

Drinking Fountain Damaged.

The drinking fountain on Muhlenberg place was rammed some time during the past few days by the tongue of a wagon and was damaged. Repairs will be necessary, and while it is being placed in condition again the fountain will be lowered and a low concrete wall will be placed around it to prevent further accidents of this kind.

THOSE WHO COME AND GO

NOTES CONCERNING PLAINFELDERS AND THEIR MANY GUESTS.

Some of Those That Go to Make Up the Day's Budget of Arrivals and Departures.

Miss Florence Weston, of Essex street, is confined to her home by illness.

Mrs. Schurtz, of Lebanon, N. J., is the guest of Mrs. Krymer, of East Fifth street.

A. M. Harper, the Park avenue stationer, is detained at his home with an attack of the grip.

Miss Anna Feiring, of Harrison avenue, is gradually recovering from a recent attack of the grip.

Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Weargler, of Webster place, are receiving congratulations over the arrival of a young son.

Dr. W. F. Swalm, of Brooklyn, has returned home after a visit with his mother, Mrs. Wm. Swalm, of West Front street.

The Misses Mary and Florence Hunt, who have been spending a part of the year east, are visiting friends in town before returning to their home in California.

Assemblyman William Newcorn returned from Trenton Tuesday night, but left yesterday morning for the State capital to attend the sessions of the Lower House.

W. G. Besler, vice president and general manager of the New Jersey Central, has been in Chicago on a business trip. He is expected home tomorrow evening.

Miss Edith Tracy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Evarts Tracy, of West Eighth street, who is spending the winter in New York, has come to Plainfield for a few days.

Miss Elizabeth Cutter, of Sandford avenue, who was one of those who received injuries in the recent wreck at Westfield, has returned from Atlantic City where she has been visiting friends with her sister, Mrs. Frank Pearson. She has partially recovered from the nervous shock sustained.

CITY JOTTINGS.

—At the Plainfield Rescue Mission, tonight, there will be speaking, singing and recitations. All are welcome.

—The Christian Endeavor Society of the First Baptist church will hold its first consecration meeting of the fiscal year tomorrow night. It is desired that a large attendance be present.

—Mr. and Mrs. Melick, of Jackson avenue, will soon move to Oak Tree, while Mr. and Mrs. Hetfield, who resided in the same house on Jackson avenue, have purchased a property on East Second street, east of Richmond street, and will soon take up their residence there.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Topic For the Week Beginning March 22.—Comment by Rev. S. H. Doyle.

Topic.—Lessons from the sermon on the mount: What Christ teaches about judging others.—Matt. vii, 1-5.

In the opening verses of this last chapter of the sermon on the mount Christ strongly condemns the censorious spirit, the spirit of always judging and usually condemning others. He does not say, "Do not condemn," for this would leave too much latitude, nor on the other hand, "Do not ever judge," for this is sometimes our duty, but "Do not be always judging." Our Lord opposes the censorious spirit. And how needful is this condemnation of Christ! How well that this subject should have had a place even in the sermon on the mount! How easy it is to fall into the habit of censoriousness, and how many people are thoughtlessly blighting their own lives and the lives of others by this sin! We may well lay to heart what Christ has to say upon this subject.

1. Christ teaches that judging others is dangerous. "Judge not that ye be not judged." The critic subjects himself to judgment. This is true among men. The life of no one is so rigorously judged as is the life of the one who is always judging others. Condemnation of others calls up our own faults and weaknesses. No one is so unpopular as a critic. He arouses the antagonism of men, and they are always upon the lookout for his offenses and are unstinting in their condemnation of them. Judging others is also dangerous from God's standpoint.

2. Christ teaches that judging others leads to hypocrisy. The man who is always looking for the sins of others will never see his own and will so magnify others that in comparison he will consider himself a saint, when he is a sinner. Had the Pharisee looked at his own sins instead of at those of others he would never have prayed as he did. If we want to guard ourselves against the sin of phariseeism, we should be specially on our guard against the evil of censoriousness. Criticism of others inevitably leads to self exaltation. The mote in our brother's eye hides the beam in our own, and it may then soon be said of us, "Thou hypocrite."

3. Christ teaches that judging others is useless. As Christians it should be our desire to help others, but this the censorious person can never do. A blind man could not operate on another man's eyes. Before he could be of service to the other he must get right himself. So the man with the beam in his eye must have it removed before he can take a mote from his brother's eye. A man blinded to his own sin cannot save his neighbor. "Christ the Saviour of the world was sinless. Christians must seek deliverance from their own sins before they undertake a crusade for the saving of their brethren. The humility that confesses personal unworthiness is the spirit best fitted for seeking to save lost and degraded fellow men and women."

A Noted State Song.

The state song idea in connection with the Christian Endeavor movement came into prominence at the time the international convention was held in New York city in 1892. The Maryland delegation to that gathering had a large share of attention in the newspapers by reason of their frequent singing of a specially prepared state song to the tune of "Maryland, My Maryland." The idea grew till nearly every state in the Union had its own special song for convention occasions, these songs for the most part being made up by adapting local words to familiar airs. It remained for New York to "set the pace" in the matter of a song entirely original in both words and music. The Christian Endeavor World spoke of it as a song by "the two John R.'s," the words having been written by John R. Clements and the music by Professor John R. Sweeney. In two years the song had a sale of more than 90,000 copies. Its reproduction here in its entirety is by permission of the owner of the copyright.

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

Topic For the Week Beginning March 22, "Christian Education"—Text, I Tim. vi, 3-9; II Tim. ii, 15, 23.

"Holding a straight course in the word of truth."

There are two theories at least of education. One holds that cramming an amount of information is the proper mode, and knowing a mass of things is the end to be sought. This fairly well represents the Chinese theory. To a considerable extent it prevailed in our own land not so long a time since.

Another view places emphasis on the developing and training of the mental powers with little or no reference to things taught.

A combination of the two comes very near the ideal position. We need to acquire accurate information on a multitude of matters. The worlds around and within us are full of facts which we must learn. Reasons for things must be investigated; actions must be determined. We begin with a world of things and capacity to know. All else must be acquired. Every faculty of mind must do its part. Observation, reflection, recollection, imagination, judgment and every other power in its own sphere must aid us in the task of learning the world in order that we may come to our own.

The first ten years of life we learn more words and memorize more things than in any other period of life. Later we develop powers of imagination, then faculties of logical reasoning.

But any education which fails to recognize a Divine Power in the world of nature and the world of men has been fatally defective in observation and utterly lacking in its training of the spiritual faculties. The ultimate aim of all effort must be the proper development of the personal life. This can be accomplished only as the spiritual nature is given its proper position and its relation to God clearly and fully recognized. Knowledge of God's works is very desirable. Knowledge of self and God is essential.

So Christian education means more than culture of intellectual powers and mastery of sciences and philosophies alone. It does not of necessity mean a course in speculative theology, but it does include cultivation of all moral powers alongside the aptitudes of mind.

What one truly is himself is more important by far than what he knows. How to become the best we may be is the object sought in Christian education, not to know all we can nor to develop power to know. Life is far more than knowledge or capacity to acquire knowledge. It is being and power to become right and good and perfect men.

It is here that the schools of the church find their proper sphere—not in teaching about religion the theories current, but by training the young, under Christian influences, in an atmosphere of reverence and piety, fitting them for their place in the world and among men with eyes wide open and all capacities of soul as well as mind alert and in activity.

No secular school, however good, can fully substitute the work of the academy under real religious leadership. Here is found cultured, Christian society, and the familiar friendly associations often exert an influence at a critical period which is of permanent benefit.

Bishop E. O. Haven used to remark that Christianity is piety and education. We need the two to be conjoined. We cannot afford either without the other. Christian education let all our young people persistently seek.

The Love of Christ.

Contemplate the love of Christ, and you will love. Stand before the mirror, reflect Christ's character, and you will be changed into the same image from tenderness to tenderness. There is no other way. You cannot love to order. You can only look at the lovely object and fall in love with it and grow into likeness to it. And so look at this perfect character, this perfect life. Look at the great sacrifice as He laid down Himself, all through life and upon the cross of Calvary, and you must love Him, and, loving Him, you must become like Him.—Drummond.

His Own Place.

He who finds it easy to excuse himself from all service requiring self sacrifice may imagine that he enjoys religion, but he is mistaken. What he fancies to be a religious experience is an emotional delusion. We cannot be truly religious without the Spirit of Christ. A selfish soul would be utterly miserable in heaven. Its society would not be congenial to him. Each of us will find hereafter the home for which he lives here.—Northern Christian Advocate.

Throw Open the Shutters.

When a room is filled with darkness, one does not need to bail it out or carry it out or cart it away in order to secure the admission of the light. All that is necessary is to throw open the shutters, roll up the curtains and let the light in at the window, and as the light enters the darkness is immediately dispelled. In proportion as the light of God's truth enters into a man's soul doubt and darkness will disappear.—Lutheran Observer.

Faith's Transfiguration.

When He takes your work away and bids you no longer to do good and obedient things, but only to be good and obedient, surely that is not the death of faith. That may be faith's transfiguration.—Phillips Brooks.

Favor With Him.

If we love God, we shall find favor with Him, whether we are able to please anybody else or not.—Ram's Horn.

EVENING COSTUMES.

Chiffon Extremely Popular, Also Oriental Satin.

Beautiful frocks are being made of orange chiffon trimmed with a keynote pattern of chantilly lace and chenille. Many satin and chiffon dresses are decorated with lappets of mink or sable. These regal looking furs always seem adapted to the adornment of chiffon and satin.

Evening coats are made of flowered panne in various shades. Chiffon is more popular than ever for evening dresses, while oriental satin is almost equally so. Some of the most beautiful gowns for evening wear are made in three or four shades of one color; yellow ranging from pale primrose to flame color and palest shrimp pink to coral are most effective.

Many chiffon frocks are trimmed with garlands of chiffon roses to match, sometimes also further decorated with paillettes. Glace is often intermingled to support these fragile roses.

MILLINERY NOTES.

Paris Trying to Bring Into Fashion Small Toques.

There is going to be a marked change in millinery, so Paris milliners declare. They are trying to bring in the tiny toque. Fine chip is the favorite fabric, although coarse straws will be used as well. Some smart toques in moire are trimmed with cords and tassels. The all round shape in toques will again appear in straw. Somehow these are always useful and becoming.

Gorgeous ornaments and buckle will be a feature of early spring millinery, judging from the models which have made their appearance on the Riviera.

One or two tiny toques are shown made entirely of bugle trimmings, forming a sort of fringe around the brim, a note of smartness being the bird of paradise plume or a big chou of lace at the side.

The cut shows a blouse costume of zibeline, showing the new cape effect.

Ronald Fanshaw smiled genially, but he made no reply, and Dave sauntered away to the river to see if his trout lines had caught anything. When he found himself alone our hero fell to dreaming of his past life. Above the tree-tops half a mile to the east, or a slight elevation, he could see the high, steep roof and dormer windows of the chief mansion of the locality, "Carnleigh," the splendid home of the county's greatest planter, Col. Henry Hasbrooke.

The house, in its silent grandeur, representing wealth and power, had been a potent factor in the struggles of this young man towards the acquisition of things above and beyond him in the dreamy blue realm of possibility. Its massive Corinthian columns, its vast white proportions and its aristocratic inmates, whom he saw driving along the roads, told him constantly what he and his family were not. Up to his twenty-fifth year his fancy had dared to play only about the exterior of this old family seat, but of late his imagination—call it ambition, if you will, had led him beyond the mystic portals, and he walked there with men and ladies; he dined there; he discussed topics he had read with the white-haired host; he stood near the piano and heard Evelyn Hasbrooke play and sing; he saw her white hands flit over the keys, and felt her smile up at him. And then the bubble would burst and the grim, sordid contrast of his real existence would grasp and wring the gall from his soul.

Evelyn Hasbrooke was unwittingly responsible for these later dreams. He had rendered her a service the preceding summer when she was home from school. To him the act was nothing, but when it was over she had hung white and quivering on his arm, and in that wonderful cadence of hers had told him that he had saved her life. He had helped her over the fence and felt the warmth of her breath on his face. They had stood and chatted for awhile and then they had parted. He had not seen her since, for she was at school in Boston, but he had never forgotten the glory of her deep, gray eyes, the infinite sweetness and beauty of her face. A thousand times since that moment he had wondered if she, too, remembered. Sometimes when his hopes were brightest he fancied that she did—that she must if only because his mind was on her so constantly.

CHAPTER II.

About a week after this he heard that she was home again to remain, her school days being over. His informant also told him that Carnleigh was to have visitors—Mr. James Hardy, a cotton merchant of Charleston, who was supposed to be a suitor for the hand of the colonel's eldest daughter, Caroline, and Capt. Charles Winkle, who owned a fine plantation five miles beyond the mountain and was believed to be an admirer of the young debutante.

Ronald was longing to see Evelyn again, but he met the two sisters and their escorts sooner than he desired. He had taken his books and fishing tackle to a shady nook on the river bank and was just getting settled when he heard merry laughter in the wood between the river and the road and a moment later the two couples emerged from the tangle of cane, vines and foliage. Instinctively Ronald drew his wide-brimmed straw hat down over his eyes, and Evelyn did not recognize him for a moment. He had resolved that he should never speak to her again unless she showed a disposition to renew their informal acquaintance, and he was averse to putting her to the test before the others. But Capt. Winkle knew by sight (he did not bother himself with their names) nearly all of what he jocularly termed "the white trash" of that section, and he usually addressed them without ceremony or courtesy. For a moment he paused watching Ronald's line, and then he asked:

"Are they biting, my man?"

Ronald felt the hot blood of anger rush to his face and his fingers tightened on his rod. It was on his tongue to retort sharply, but Evelyn's presence helped him control his temper. He made no reply. Capt. Winkle curled his mustache with his white fingers; he thought the fisherman had not heard his question.

"I see you have some bait, my good fellow," he said in a louder tone. "Will you let me have some of your crickets? the boy has not come with ours," and the captain tossed a silver coin on the grass near Ronald. There was a pause. Ronald was conscious that Evelyn and Mr. Hardy had moved on and that Miss Caroline was waiting for Winkle. Then our hero picked up the piece of silver and tossed it into the stream, at the same moment he doffed his hat and lifted his basket of crickets.

"You are welcome to them," he said. "I should hate to see ladies lose their sport."

"Oh, no, Capt. Winkle!" objected Miss Caroline, "do not mind them; we are very much obliged, I hear the boy coming now."

As she turned away and the captain was following her he looked back and said with a sneer:

"I think, Miss Hasbrooke, that we'd better go further down the stream; he'll be diving for that money and will frighten all the fish."

Ronald's ear had never been so acute; he heard Caroline Hasbrooke's low, guarded voice above the rustling of the leaves against her stiff duck skirt. "You ought not to have noticed him," she said; "that's one of old man Fanshaw's sons; he has taken up the study of law, and it seems to have given him the big head."

"You don't tell me," laughed the captain, "haw, haw!"

Then the negro boy, carrying a basket of crickets, passed at the top of his speed. Ronald baited his hook and flung the line into the stream; his hands were quivering; he was almost beside himself with rage. The drone of voices told him that the fishing party had paused about forty yards away. The reflection of the sunlight on the face of the water was maddening. This, then, was his long dreamed of meeting with Evelyn; she would hear her sister's account of what had taken place after she had moved on. Half an hour passed; a fish nibbled at his bait, taking his line round in a circle, but he did not notice it. Suddenly there was a light step on the grass near him. It was Evelyn Hasbrooke and she came to him with hand outstretched.

"You must pardon me, Mr. Fanshaw," she faltered. "I did not recognize you under that big hat. I did not know it was you till sister mentioned it just now."

He stood up, dropping his hat on the ground.

"I really did not presume that you would care to—to renew our slight acquaintance," he stammered, red in the face.

A pained expression passed over her beautiful features.

"I can't remember anything I have done to make you think so ill of me, Mr. Fanshaw."

She seated herself on the root of a tree and opened the novel she held in her hands. He found himself unable to formulate a suitable reply and he drew in his line and put another cricket on his hook.

"I am afraid," she said, searching his face, "that Capt. Winkle offended you just now. I am sorry that a guest of our house should fail to treat anyone—you especially—with due courtesy, and I am glad you rebuked him as you did."

"You are very kind, Miss Hasbrooke."

"My sister is Miss Hasbrooke," she said, with a little laugh. "I am still little Evelyn, even if I have laid my school books away."

Again she had made an unanswerable remark, and silence fell between them. He broke it after a moment's pause.

"But you have grown; you are" (he wanted to say more beautiful) "different."

"I presume a year does change a girl, but you are just the same, Mr. Fanshaw—exactly the same."

It would have been impossible for him to believe that she was not speaking to him as she would have spoken to an old friend, and this drew him to her. The irritation of a short while before was swept away. He found himself telling her that he had feared she would never remember him, and that she had made him very happy by coming back to speak to him.

"As if I could forget the first time I ever saw you!" she exclaimed, clasping her hands over her knee and looking out over the stream. "I had actually given myself up for lost, Mr. Fanshaw. Being a man, it may not seem that you did much for me, that day, but I have seen that frightful bull in my dreams and heard his awful bellowing a thousand times. I remembered that he had gored a little boy almost to death the spring before and when I saw him coming I simply could not run. Then I saw you rush into the very arms of death and catch it by the horns. Ah, I have seen that awful struggle in my dreams, too! You don't know how terrible it was; the veins of your face and neck stood up like cords under the skin and your eyes nearly left their sockets. Once your foot slipped and I screamed as you went down. I thought it was all over then, but you held onto his horns and when he flung up his head he raised you. Then I saw the gleam of a set purpose in your eye as you slowly backed him to the big stick near by and then I saw you grasp it and beat him off."

She paused out of breath, she had spoken so rapidly.

"I see you have not forgotten," he laughed, modestly. "My arms ached for a week after that. I don't think I ever gave my muscles a greater test."

She gazed at him admiringly.

Do You Wish To Borrow Money?
In order to accommodate all classes of borrowers (those who cannot borrow at a bank, as well as those who can), the Mutual Loan and Investment Company, of 118 Market street, Newark, N. J., has a department for handling quickly and confidentially loans ranging from $10 to $300 on furniture, pianos, storage receipts, etc.
The security is not removed from your possession or in any way disturbed. The honest, careful and conservative borrower will try and decide two points before borrowing. First, where he can get the best terms. Second, where he can get fair and square treatment.
This company is in a position to give you by far the most satisfactory terms ever offered by any concern or individual negotiating this class of loans.
With this company you are assured of getting the lowest rates, easiest payments and longest time for repayment. The whole transaction from the time the application is made until loan is paid is entirely confidential. We give you another advantage in case you take the loan out for six months or a year, and wish to settle the same before the time expires: we charge you only for the time you have had the money. We also take up loans from other companies and advance more money.
Kindly call and let us explain our simple and up-to-date methods. If not entirely convenient for you to call, please write and our representative will call and give you any desired information. Remember it costs nothing to make application. Loans promptly made in Elizabeth, Plainfield, Westfield, Roselle, Rahway, Perth Amboy and all suburban towns.

Freight Handlers Send Ultimatum to Railroad.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., March 19.—The freight handlers' union of this city, numbering about 300 men and including truckmen and stevedores, has addressed a request to the management of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad, asking for an increase of 15 per cent in pay, "double time" for Sunday work and "one and a half times" for overtime work. The request names next Tuesday as the time limit for the return of an answer by the company officials.

About a year ago these men struck for an increase, but the strike failed. Members of the local union say the reason of the failure was the lack of support from freight handlers in other cities, who were not organized. Now it is claimed the organization of the freight handlers at other points in the New York, New Haven and Hartford system has been completed, and if a strike occurs it may involve the entire system, as other local unions are expected to make demands also. It is said that the reason the various local unions did not make their demands united is that men in some cities get higher pay than those here, and hence their desires are not uniform.

STRIKE COMMISSION REPORTS.

President Receives Decision of the Court—To Be Published Saturday.

WASHINGTON, March 19.—Judge Gray, chairman, and Carroll D. Wright, recorder of the anthracite strike commission, called on the president yesterday and presented to him the report of the commission.

It is a voluminous document, covering fully all phases of the controversy between the operators and the miners. Both sides have promised to abide by the decision of the tribunal created by President Roosevelt. Details of the report will be awaited with great interest not only by the operators and the miners, but also by the people of the country generally.

At the conclusion of the interview with the president Colonel Wright announced that the report would be made public at his office on Saturday morning. About the same time it will be placed in the hands of the representatives of the operators and miners, the parties directly in interest.

The report of the strike commission is unanimous. The members of the commission discussed the report with the president at the dinner, but their hands are tied so far as concerns any public disclosure of any features of the report.

The Honduran Disturbance.

PANAMA, March 19.—According to advices received here from Honduras by way of San Salvador, the forces of General Bonilla, the president elect of Honduras, who is fighting against General Sierra, the retiring president, who refused to hand over the office to Bonilla, have captured the town of Santa Barbara, while his generals, Miguel and Davila, with 1,200 men, and Generals Carlos and Alvarado, with 2,000 men, are now threatening Tegucigalpa, the capital of Honduras. Generals Villela and Vallares, who were supporting General Sierra, have been tried by court martial and shot by the latter's order because they did not fulfill his instructions and thus brought about his defeat at Acelituno several days ago.

Early Break Up Hindered Logging.

GLENS FALLS, N. Y., March 19.—The annual meeting of the Hudson River Drive association, the Schroon River Drive association, the Hudson River Boom company and the Sacandaga Boom company has been held here. Reports from the various associations show that the number of logs in the river is far below that of other years. While the "cut" is nearly as large, the spring break up occurred so much earlier than usual that quantities of the logs were left in the woods. The "cut" is estimated at 350,000, and at least a third is left behind. Lumbermen who were present say that the snow in the woods is practically gone.

Heavy Rains In Wisconsin.

SPRING VALLEY, Wis., March 19.—Very heavy rains here have caused floods in all the smaller rivers. At Martell, on the Rush river, a milldam went out, taking three men, two of whom were rescued. Leon Gasman was drowned and Henry Gasman is badly hurt. Five railroad bridges are out between here and Elmwood, a distance of eight miles. The roads are almost impassable. A special from Plainfield, Wis., says: "The worst rainstorm of the year has prevailed over central Wisconsin, thoroughly soaking the ground and taking out what little hard frost still remained.

Tragedy at Newcastle, Pa.

NEWCASTLE, Pa., March 19.—John Genkinger of Butler avenue, a well known man of this city, is dead in the Shenango Valley hospital here from a mortal wound received at the hands of George Markle, proprietor of a hotel at Darlington, Beaver county. The shooting occurred in the apartments of Mrs. Eva Rumberger in the second story of the Genkinger block, on Apple alley, and is supposed to have been the result of jealousy.

American Sailors at Rome.

ROME, March [illegible] detachment of American sailors from the gunboat Machias, now at Naples, arrived here yesterday and visited the city and public monuments. They attracted much attention by their smart appearance and orderly behavior.

Manitoba Parliament Prorogued.

WINNIPEG, Man., March 19.—Sir Daniel McMillan, the lieutenant governor, prorogued the provincial parliament at 4:30 yesterday afternoon. It is likely the provincial elections will be held in July.

ON THE DIAMOND.

The Holy Terrors and the Franklin School baseball team played a game on the Stelle avenue grounds yesterday afternoon. The score was 25 to 18 in favor of the Terrors. Batteries: Mallinson and S. VanWinkle for the Terrors, and W. VanWinkle and Harold Rogers for the Franklin School.

Manager Cose and Captain Martin, of the Hope team, are already making preparations for the season's team and are examining candidates for positions. Practice games are to be held Saturday afternoons and places will be assigned by merit only. The first regular game will take place the latter part of April.

The Hope Y. M. A. officials will know definitely tomorrow or Saturday whether they will have to abandon the common on Sherman avenue or not. There is a probability that the baseball diamond will remain intact for another year. In the meantime, the association is casting about for a suitable field on which to lay out a diamond.

The baseball suits for the City High School team have been ordered and will arrive tomorrow evening. As soon as they come active practice will be commenced by the regular team for the first game which will be with the Orange Field Club on March 28. Captain Fred VanAuken, of the City High School baseball team, announced this morning the names of those members of the baseball squad which will receive suits. The candidates are Chas. McGinley, H. S. Munro, H. G. Thompson, P. Smith, R. T. VanAuken, V. B. Miner, H. H. Craig, C. T. Ulrich, Leon Walters, H. G. Brokaw, C. C. Recap and Louis Bock. The regular team will shortly be selected from these candidates.

VARIOUS SPORTS.

The High School Athletic Association has accepted an invitation to take part in the field meet to be given on May 23 by Rutgers College. The principal event of the meet will be a mile relay race, and several of the neighboring school will enter teams for this event. The prizes consist of gold medals for each member of the winning relay team. Silver medals will be presented to each member of the relay team which shall stand second, and bronze medals to the teams standing third. The High School relay team will consist of four men chosen from the following list: V. B. Miner, Leon Walters, H. S. Munro, F. T. VanAuken and A. F. Conant.

STRIKES AND SPARES.

The bowling team of the City High School met the Y. M. C. A. team at the local gymnasium last evening and bowled two games. In the first, the school boys were victorious by 47 pins, but in the second game, the association team took a brace and won out by 16 pins. The High School team consisted of V. B. Miner, R. S. Lane, A. F. Conant, E. M. Daniels and M. H. Long, while the association was represented by Spicer, Kirch, Mundy, Denton and Hummer. A return game will be played on the association alleys next Wednesday evening.

WHIST.

The Knickerbocker Whist Club team of New York will meet the Park Club whist four this evening at the Park Club in a match for the Metropolitan challenge whist trophy. The match will be watched with considerable interest.

DRAWING ROOM TALK.

Talk on Bible by Mrs. Isabella C. Davis, Before King's Daughters.

The first of the series of drawing-room Bible talks was given today forenoon at the home of Mrs. Frederick G. Mead, of East Front street, by Mrs. Isabella Charles Davis, corresponding secretary of the International Order of King's Daughters The meetings are under the auspices of the City Union of King's Daughters. Mrs. Davis's subject this morning was "Our Father," and a goodly number of King's Daughters were present. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. F. S. Martin, Hillside avenue.

Frightened Guests.

While the barn party was in progress at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hand, of Fairview avenue, last night, some small boys of the neighborhood climbed into a window and found an old mattress on the floor of the hay loft above, and threw it through a hay shoot onto the floor of the barn below where the young folks were gathered. The mattress, falling from above, badly frightened the young folks and nearly injured several.

Closing Entertainment.

May Parker's Little Pickaninnies and Concert Company is booked as the closing entertainment in the Y. M. C. A. Star Course for this evening. The personnel includes Miss Bertha Webb, violinist; Miss Louise Dainty, reader; Frederick Anthony Weaver, pianist; Miss Florence Beckett, flutist; Edward Toy, alto and pianist; Richard Sparrow, tenor; Little Phil, the miniature humorist and soprano.

good teachers, to slightly increase the salary list, we think we see our way clear to expend a less amount than last year on repairs, on text books and on supplies, and we have also reason to believe the appropriation from the State will come to our aid as to the proposed reduction. It is not possible to forecast what we shall receive from the State, as the official apportionment is not made until midsummer or later, nor can we foresee the extent of repairs and incidentals. Nevertheless, acting upon our best judgment, we have unanimously decided to ask you to appropriate in the whole $1,050 less than a year ago, and, if the sum be granted, we promise to do our best to maintain the school's present efficiency.

The State Board of Education annually publishes a statistical report covering every public school district in the State. By its last report we find the average paid in this borough for teachers is still, as we reported to you one year ago, below that paid by nearly all schools of equal standing. You will find the official figures on page 47 of the latest State report, and to it we direct your attention. We only allude to this now, because it proves that the board is not extravagant in the matter of salaries. We are only doing on this line what our finances enable us to do, and neither more nor less. What we annually raise may seem large, but is not sufficient to enable us to do our full duty to as loyal, as intelligent, as energetic and as capable a corps of teachers as any school of our class in the State possesses. Fortunately we now have and long have had fine examples of noble teachers, who perform their work not because of the wages given, but because they love their occupation and have enlisted all their enthusiasm in the grand task of quickening the intellects and impressing lessons of gentleness, obedience and self-helpfulness upon the rising generation. We shall again lose some good teachers, as we do every year, because they will be called from us to better-paying fields.

The manual training department has met with signal success the past year. The following figures prove the results have not been expensive, while also showing how many boys and girls have been helped in this one department:

	No. pupils.	Cost of material.	Cost per pupil.
Drawing	1,004	$114.70	$ .11 1/2
Sewing	206	45.41	.22
Cooking	157	94.11	.59
Woodwork.	318	26.45	.08 1-3

There have also been 250 pupils of the intermediate grade taking up basketry, and work with raffia and reed, a practical way of interesting the young in a really useful occupation, which will fit them to help themselves hereafter in home industries and employment. Your board is of opinion that the manual training school, for which one of our citizens donated the building, and for which the State now defrays one-half the cost, is one of the very best investments of the borough; that its influence is not to be transient, but far-reaching with nearly all pupils who are trained in it. Boys here discover for the first time what they have a genius for, whether for a handcraft or a scientific career; and girls here learn neat sewing and good cooking and are sure to grow up into womanhood with a zest for these plain essentials, which are so necessary and so useful if they would become good wives and housekeepers. The idea a few persons still possess that manual training is not practical, or not educational, always dwindles when this department of our school is actually visited by the critic. If any of you lack faith in it, will you not please the board and visit this department? We extend a hearty invitation to every citizen and taxpayer of this borough to inspect the manual training department on any school day.

The commercial department still continues to be a practical and much-sought-after feature of our school work. The class in stenography numbers forty-five, in bookkeeping thirty-two, and in typewriting sixty-two, all of which is cared for by one teacher. We have not been able to graduate enough pupils from this department to fill one-half of the applications made to it for stenographers, bookkeepers and office assistants.

Your board closes its report with these few additional remarks: First, That our school is, in all departments, in better condition and is doing more satisfactory work today than it has ever done before. Second, That our graduating class in June will be larger than it ever was, and it is now sure to increase year by year. Third, That no complaint whatever, concerning principal or teachers, has been made to the standing complaint committee of the board during the past year. Fourth, That we regret to note that truancy is on the increase, owing to the laxity of the school laws and the indifference of many parents, especially of a certain class, to the advantages of a public school education. This matter we hope the present Legislature will help us to rectify, by a proper truancy law. But we also ask that public sentiment shall assist us, and make it popular to go to school, and unpopular to stay at home. To grow up in ignorance means for a child a sad future and for a community paupers and criminals to support.

The total enrollment of the school at present is as follows:

In the kindergarten	130
In the primary grades	546
In the grammar grades	290
In the High School	137

Of these 628 are in the Somerset street school and in the two outside school rooms, and 275 in the Watchung school. The number of teachers employed is thirty-three, with two helpers and one supervising principal, making a total of thirty-six.

Your board is at present obliged to engage two outside school rooms. For efficiency of work there ought to be another small school building erected, but we are not yet ready to take up this matter and probably shall not be so long as the pressure for outside accommodations is not greater than it is now.

A. V. D. Honeyman,
President.

STARTING BLAZE.

Railroad Detective Captured Man Trying to Burn Car.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, March 19—Detective Laverette, of the New Jersey Central force, caught James T. Logan, who has a dozen aliases, in the act of setting fire to a freight car belonging to the company, yesterday morning. He had pulled a quantity of waste from the journals and had started a brisk blaze in one corner of the car. Logan was locked up and later held to wait the action of the Grand Jury.

WANTED TO WALTZ.

Horse Nearly Carried H. C. Brose Through Bank Window.

Henry Clay Brose, of the borough, had an exciting experience, yesterday afternoon, with a fractious horse which insisted upon waltzing on the sidewalk in front of the First National Bank. The animal narrowly escaped plunging through the bank building windows while Brose was in imminent danger of being thrown from the vehicle. Bystanders rescued Brose from his difficulty by backing the horse to the street.

Fell and Broke Wrist.

Miss Rose LaMattee, one of the clerks at the store of Hill & Schupp, while standing on a box, yesterday, fell and was severely injured. One of her wrists was broken and her thumb sprained. She was attended by Dr. Clawson, who dressed the injuries, and she was sent to her home on West Second street.

Carted to Jail.

Edward Donnelly, a moulder employed in a West End shop, was found by Patrolman Higgins, this morning, rolling about Grant avenue, helplessly drunk. He was placed in a coal wagon and taken to police headquarters to sober up. He will be given a hearing in the city court tomorrow morning.

SENATE PASSES AUTO MEASURE

Most Important General Measure Which Legislature Passes—No Annexation Report.

BOTH HOUSES ADJOURN

Bill to Incorporate Borough of Garwood Receives the Governors Signature—House Passes Bill Giving Right of Appeal From Plainfield City Court.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Trenton, March 20—No report from Attorney General McCarter on the legal status of the annexation act need be expected before next week at the earliest. This action of the State Senate, in showing a disposition to ignore the "repealer" if the Attorney General believes the annexation law is dead, does not please the Somerville element which fears that if the present law is not removed from the statute books that the North Plainfielders will carry the matter into the courts some day.

Probably the bill of most general importance passed at yesterday's session of the Legislature was Assemblyman Scovel's automobile bill which went through the Senate by a vote of 17 to 2. It now awaits the signature of Governor Murphy. To Union county, the most important action was the passage in the afternoon by the Senate of the House bill which incorporates the borough of Garwood. Governor Murphy signed the bill immediately after its passage.

President Hutchinson resigned the chair of the Senate temporarily and taking the floor joined with Senator Martin in opposing the passage of the Scovel automobile bill.

Mr. Bradley explained the bill, which he said had been so amended as to satisfy all concerned. He said the bill was a fair one and, the regulation being general, would stop the reckless running of automobiles on all public highways of the State.

President Hutchinson, in explaining his vote on the bill, said that twenty miles an hour was too fast for an automobile in the country districts. He also denied a report that he was holding up the bill and charged the officers of the automobile club with responsibility for its circulation. He said he had had no intention of burying the bill as charged.

Mr. Hudspeth also spoke for the measure, saying that as matters now stand the speed at which an automobile shall be run is left to the discretion of chaffeurs in the absence of other restrictions. Automobiles, he added, have come to stay and as the invention becomes more perfect and the price lowers they will be more in use than ever.

There was a lively debate in the House between Mr. Swackhamer, of Somerset, and Mr. Newcorn, of Union, over the former's bill giving the right of appeal from decisions in the Plainfield City Court. This court is the only one in the State from which no appeal is allowable. The bill passed with only a few votes against it.

The measure known as Senate bill No. 231, which allows cities of the State to erect new municipal buildings, has been amended to include Plainfield so that if at any time this city desires to erect such a building it will not be necessary to secure special legislative enactment. The bill originally was drafted for the benefit of Trenton and Plainfield, but was opposed by Senators Gebhardt and Martin because the Mayor was not to have the veto power over the action of the Common Council.

The Common Council is given the right to adopt a resolution providing for the appointment of a commission to consist of three residents of the city, wherein the building is to be erected, and this commission is given the right to acquire lands for such a building. The commissioners are obliged to furnish a $10,000 bond and they shall serve until such municipal building is completed. They can also employ counsel and architects.

Governor Murphy signed yesterday Senator Strong's bill, which authorizes the employment of tramps in the repair of public highways. Under the bill a ball and chain may be attached to the mendicants to prevent their leaving the places at which they are set to work.

The Governor has also signed the

WHIST TROPHY STILL REMAINS WITH PARKS

Veteran Four of Park Club Beats Team From the Knickerbocker Whist Club.

WORST DEFEAT FOR VISITING TEAM IN TWO YEARS.

Third Victory for Park Club Four Was a Decisive One—Next Challengers for Metropolitan Trophy From Brooklyn Whist Club.

The Knickerbocker Whist Club failed to "lift" the Metropolitan challenge trophy, last evening, in a match game with the holders, the veteran Park Club four. While the ardent supporters of the home team felt sure they would win, there were others who believed that the Knickerbockers would take the trophy home with them. The Parks played a better and stronger game and when the match was finished the score stood 17 to 5 in their favor. To use the words of the captain of the challenging team, B. C. Collier, "it was the worst defeat the club had experienced in two years," and this speaks much for the winning team.

The Parks played their same conservative game, which the visiting team was unable to overcome. In the first round the score stood 4 to 1 in favor of the Parks, and the second round resulted in a score of 8 to 1 in their favor, while the final round went to the Parks by a score of 5 to 3, making a total score of 17 to 5. This means that the trophy will remain in Plainfield at least another week.

The next challenger is the Brooklyn Whist Club, the leaders in the tournament. This club has eleven wins for the trophy and it requires fifteen to get permanent possession of the cup. This game will be played Friday evening, March 27, at the Park Club.

In last evening's match the same four, Samuel Townsend, S. St. John McCutchen, George T. Rogers and Joseph H. Howell, represented the Park Club, while B. C. Collier, captain; Dr. A. L. Robinson, Winthrop Pond and C. J. Norris represented the Knickerbocker Whist Club. Arthur F. Freeman, of the Camera Club, acted as referee.

After the play the Park four entertained the visiting team and refreshments were served.

MUST IMPROVE ROAD.

Somerset Freeholders Say If Contractor Doesn't the Board Will at His Expense.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, March 20—The Somerset County Board of Freeholders is having all kinds of trouble over the Pluckamin road. A few days ago some of the members drove over that thoroughfare and also the Bernardsville road, afterwards effecting an organization at the Bernardsville Hotel. After some discussion it was decided to authorize the clerk to serve notice on William Hardgrove and his bondsmen, John D. Bartine and Charles Schwed, to proceed at once to place the Pluckamin road in proper condition, or the board would do it and charge it to the contractor.

The road committee was ordered to properly repair the Bernardsville road.

William H. Page, Jr., was given permission to do all needed repairs during the summer season on the county road, extending from the Daniel Ludlow estate easterly to the Mine Brook schoolhouse.

Appointed to Dominion Senate.

Among recent appointments to the Dominion Senate (and which is for life) is that of F. T. Frost, ex-M. P. for the Riding of North Leeds and Grenville, Ontario, and younger brother of George H. Frost, of Watchung avenue, this city. Senator Frost represents the Ottawa district, which includes the Dominion Capital and, at the recent opening of Parliament, was nominated to reply for the Senate to the address from the Throne.

LARGE AUDIENCE FOUND MUCH THAT PLEASED

Concluding Entertainment of Y. M. C. A. Star Course Was a Decided Success.

HALL WAS CROWDED

MAY PARKER'S LITTLE PICKANINNIES MADE A GREAT HIT.

Miss Louise Dainty Found Great Favor as a Reciter, and Was Repeatedly Recalled—Other Clever Entertainers on Programme.

May Parker's Little Pickaninnies and company of really clever entertainers were the attraction at Association Hall in the Y. M. C. A. building last evening and closed the Star Course of entertainments for the year with the best programme which has been rendered on the Y. M. C. A. platform in a long time. The audience filled the house so that not a seat was vacant and many had to be content to remain standing the in rear through the performance.

The company comprised Miss Bertha Webb, violinist; Miss Louise Dainty, reader; Miss Florence Beckett, flutist; Frederick A. Weaver, pianist; and three bright little pickaninnies, Edward Toy, alto and pianist; Richard Sparrow, tenor, and Little Phil, a clever miniature humorist and soprano.

Henry M. Maxon, chairman of the entertainment committee, stepped upon the platform shortly after 8 o'clock and made a few announcements of coming attractions at the Y. M. C. A. The programme was composed of musical selections and humorous recitations. Miss Louise Dainty, a very charming young woman, completely captivated her audience in her monologues and kept the entire house in an uproar of laughter. Aside from the pickaninnies she made the hit of the evening and was encored repeatedly. Miss Webb exhibited wonderful skill in playing the violin and during the evening she rendered a selection, "Faust Fantasie," with variations giving with rare skill the effect of a large pipe organ with subdued tones. The imitation was perfect and was loudly applauded. Miss Breckett favored with many selectionns on the flute and showed clearly that she was a thorough master of the instrument. But the pickaninnies were the star features of the evening. Dressed in neat little military costumes and possessing fine voices with the true southern plantation ring, their interpretation of some of the true darky songs was exceptionally clever and was well received.

The commitee, having the arrangements for the Star Course in hand and which is deserving of credit for the excellent list of entertainments which have been provided by the Y. M. C. A. during the year, comprises Henry M. Maxon, chairman; Dr. B. VanD. Hedges and Curtis M. Thorp.

MORE IMPROVEMENTS.

No Real Chahges to Borough Streets Until Council Gets to Work.

Until the new Borough Council gets down to real work for the spring there will be but little done in the street work in the borough but James K. A crossing pipe was recently laid at the intersection of Regent street and Watchung avenue and some holes in the roadway have been filled up.

Pennsy to Lakewood.

A rumor has been revived that the Pennsylvania Railroad is soon to operate trains to Lakewood by means of a trackage agreement with the New Jersey Central over a portion of the route between Farmingdale and Whitings. This has been made possible by the close alliance between these companies through the controlling interest now held in the Reading by the Pennsylvania and New York Central people.

WHICH SIDE?

Boy Injured on Bicycle—Accident Happened on Line Dividing City and Borough.

A small boy was run over by a bicyclist on Somerset street, yesterday afternoon, but it is difficult to tell whether he was run over in Plainfield or North Plainfield as the accident happened directly on the imaginary line between the two towns. The lad is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bennett, of Somerset street.

The wheelman was riding down the street when the boy ran out into the street in the path of the wheel. He was knocked down and stunned. A number of men rushed to the boy's asisstance and carried him into his house at 27 Somerset street. The accident happening directly in the center of the bridge made it difficult to tell in what town the accident happened.

HE CHECKED HIS OVERCOAT

NOW TRYING TO RECOVER ITS VALUE FROM CRANFORD'S JOLLY TEN.

George Baldwin's Overcoat Disappeared At Dance—Hearing of Suit Yesterday.

The action in tort brought by George Baldwin, of this city, against the Jolly Ten, of Cranford, was heard in Justice Huff's court yesterday afternoon. It required the greater part of the aftrenoon to take testimony and at the termination of the case, decision was reserved for one week.

The case is one that has attracted widespread attention. The Jolly Ten is an organiaztion of Cranford young men who conducted a dance. On the tickets sold it was stated, "tickets, including hat check, 50 cents." Baldwin attended and gave his hat and overcoat to an attendant, receiving a check in return. When he called for them later, the coat could not be found and the club claimed it was not responsible, as the check only mentioned hat. Balwin entered suit for the value of the coat on the ground that acceptance by the attendant held the organization to account.

Baldwin was represented by Francis J. Blatz and the Jolly Ten was defended by Walter L. Hetfield, Sr.

APRONS AND NECKTIES.

Sold for Benefit of Willing Workers' of Trinity Reformed Church.

Music and games formed the principal events of a most enjoyable evening at the home of Miss Stella Boss, of Somerset street, last evening when the Willing Workers of Trinity Reformed church held an apron and necktie social there. The aprons and ties were sold and the proceeds, which were large, will be devoted to refurnishing the rooms of the society.

There were fifty people present and they enjoyed the games which helped in passing an enjoyable evening. Refreshments were served at a late hour.

Those who had the arrangements in charge were: Mrs. Roy DeCamp, Mrs. Codington, Mrs. Esther Campbell, Mrs. R. V. Kenney, Miss Stella Boss, Mrs. Frank Platts, Mrs. Lafayette Rosenstiehl, Mrs. Jacob Higgins, Miss Sarah Hummer and Horace J. Martin.

FOR NEW KITCHEN.

Results of Fair of Ladies' Aid Society of Hope Chapel for It.

The Ladies' Aid Society, of Hope chapel, held its annual meeting, Wednesday afternoon, and elected the following officers; President, Mrs. Robert Hangliter; vice president, Mrs. F. A. Weber; secretary, Mrs. George Radford; treasurer, Mrs. L. R. Howard.

Mrs. Sweeney, of the recent fair committee, reported that the proceeds had amounted to $300. The greater portion of this will be used in fitting up the new kitchen and providing cushions for the seats in the church.

The society also accepted an invitation to visit the Warren chapel society at its meeting, this afternoon.

Inspecting 'Phone Wires.

Telephone inspectors were out yesterday in the borough repairing the telephone conduits and connections with the underground cable and the pole wires. A general inspection of the manholes followed.

Sunday's Preacher.

Rev. Erwin Dennett, of Brooklyn, will occupy the pulpit of the Park Baptist church Sunday morning and evening.

CITY FATHERS WOULD FOLLOW PUBLIC'S WISH

Object of Hearing on Proposed Sewer Extension at Council Meeting Monday Night.

OPINIONS ARE DESIRED

FROM APPEARANCES THE COUNCIL IS AGAINST IMPROVEMENT AT PRESENT.

Want to Know How Public Feels—Sentiment of Some That This Year is Not Opportune Time for That Work.

At the adjourned meeting of the Common Council, to be held Monday evening, the session will practically be given over to a hearing on the question of a sanitary sewer for the south-east and south-west portions of the city. What action is to be taken by the City Fathers depends entirely on the sentiment expressed by the citizens who attend and make known their views. From appearances the intention of the Council is against the improvement for the present.

From plans and specifications of the project prepared by Street Commissioner Gavett, the cost of the sewer will not be less than $65,000. One in that portion of the city has long been contemplated but the idea remained dormant until the promotors of the south side park began its agitation. The extension would, of course, benefit that property but the owners are willing to share every item of expense incurred in its completion.

There are many people who believe the building of the sewer should be deferred for the present owing to other and more pressing matters which will prove expensive to the city. Four miles of sanitary sewer have already been contracted for to be laid in West End streets and last year one mile of piping for the same purpose was laid in the East End. Neither of these have yet been referred to commissioners and the proper apportionment of cost will throw a large amount on the city.

Again, the city has a suit on its hands for an alleged infringement of patent rights in building its septic tank. While Corporation Counsel Marsh has every reason to believe the Supreme Court of Massachusetts will decided in favor of Plainfield, there is a bare possibility that a judgment may be entered against it. This would mean a costly alteration at the disposal works beside payment of damages to the patentee, which would give the citizens about all they could possibly carry in the way of indebtedness.

The south side sewer matter, it must be understood, has not gone through, and it remains for the tax payers of Plainfield to sanction or discourage its passage by attendance at the Monday evening meeting.

TIRED OF WAITING.

Horace J. Martin Will Wait No Longer for Annexation, But Will Move Over.

Horace J. Martin, who has formerly lived on Jackson avenue, has traded his residence on that street for six large building lots on Marion avenue in this city and during the spring he will build six dwelling houses on them. The lots are 50x150 and he says the move was made for speculative purposes.

When asked why he moved from the borough Mr. Martin said that he had become tired of waiting for annexation and he decided to move to a place where he could get the benefit of a modern form of municipal government so that he could enjoy the benefits of living in an up-to-date community.

Two Boys Christened.

Sunday evening two children were christene by Rev. C. F. Sandall, of Montclair, at the services at the Swedish Lutheran church. One of those who received the baptismal rite was Theodore Wilhelm, the son of Wilhelm Theodore Alberg, of 944 West Sixth street, and Vincent Reinhold, son of John Reinhold Brostrom, of Lee place.

Came From China.

Robert Hand is passing around some genuine Chinese cigars to his friends. The captain of the Standard Oil steamer, "Kennebeck," sent Mr. Hand some of the kind they smoke in China. They are very fine although the workmanship is not as good as the average Havana. The flavor is fine and they smoke well. They are a novelty in this part of the country.

GARWOOD PLANS TO CELEBRATE ITS BIRTH

Big Time Tomorrow Night to Mark the Passage of Law Making It a Borough.

MUCH REJOICING NOW

PEN, WITH WHICH GOVERNOR SIGNED BILL, WILL BE RAFFLED OFF.

One of the Happiest Men Was Frank W. Morse, Who Practically Founded Garwood—Election to be Held There Soon.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Garwood, March, 20—There was general rejoicing in Garwood yesterday afternoon when word came that the bill, incorporating the borough of Garwood, has passed both houses of the Legislature and has been signed by the Governor. No longer is the community to be divided against itself.

Superintendent Frank W. Morse, of the Garwood Land Improvement Company, and practically founder of the place, was one of the happiest men in the State. It has long been his desire to see Garwood a separate municipality and he has labored earnestly for the passage of the bill. He was in Trenton yesterday afternoon when the State Senate passed the bill on second reading and then, under suspension of the rules, carried it through on final reading. Hurriedly securing a certified copy of the measure, he took it to Governor Murphy who promptly signed it and presented Mr. Morse with the pen with which his signature was placed on the bill.

Mr. Morse returned to Garwood at once and arrived there in time to present the Governor's pen to the Ladies' Aid Society which has arranged a great celebration for tomorrow evening. At that time, there will be speeches and an entertainment in the schoolhouse with a display of fireworks outside. The pen, now a famous relic in the eyes of all Garwood, will be raffled off.

There will be no delay in acting under the provisions of this new law and an election will shortly be held when borough officials will be chosen and the borough of Garwood will assume an official existence.

TO SETTLE STRIKES.

Levering & Garrigues Company Has Joined National Association, Which Regulates Labor Conditions.

It was announced Thursday, that the Levering & Garrigues Company, of West Dunellen, was among the firms which had entered the National Association of Manufacturers and Erectors of Structural Steel and Iron Work. The organization has no officers, and while it is said its headquarters are in New York City, the exact location is withheld. It was formed for the purpose of obtaining and preserving equitable conditions between employers and employes.

Should a strike be declared, it is left by the firm to be settled by the association, and whatever it decrees, the firm must abide by. All the largest steel and iron structural concerns in the country are included in the membership.

Tenant Will Move Out.

The case between John P. Emmons and Walter Jenkins, of Somerset street, in landlord and tenant proceedings, was heard Tuesday in Justice W. E. Mattison's court. Judgment was handed down to the complainant and the tenant will move out today.

Date for Dance.

The date set for the dance and ball of the Independent Gun Club is May 4. An elaborate programme is being prepared, and it is probable that several prominent marksmen from out of town will be present as guests.

Meeting With Success.

Word has been received from Ephraim Vail, formerly of this city, but now of Gulf Port, Miss., that he is meeting with success in his position there, that of assistant engineer on a railroad.

Going to Dance.

A large delegation of young people from this city will go to Cranford, tonight, to attend the reception of the dancing class of William E. Harris. Charles Suhr will provide the music at the dance.

Working in Brunswick.

City Engineer F. A. Dunham, who has the contract to rebuild the streets in New Brunswick, has been very busy of late looking after details in connection with this work.

BOATS CRASH, SEVEN DEAD

Fall Line Steamer, Plymouth, and Freighter, City of Taunton, Collide in the Fog.

NEITHER ONE SINKS

Deaths Occurred In Compartments Occupied By Crew of Plymouth—Either Killed In Crash Or Drowned—Damage Confined To Passenger Steamer.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

New London, Conn., March 20—Seven people were killed, four injured and four hundred passengers were thrown into a wild panic in a head-on collision between the steamers Plymouth and City of Taunton, on Long Island Sound, near New London, Conn., at 12:15 o'clock this morning. Those who are reported dead are members of the crew who were asleep in their bunks in the bow of the boat. The upper works of the steamers were torn away, waking the sleeping passengers and throwing them into the wildest confusion. The steamers met head-on in what is called The Race, and the forward bow of the Plymouth was crushed in like an egg shell. It was on this vessel that all the deaths occurred.

The accident was caused by a dense fog which hung over the water. As the City of Taunton backed out of the side of the Plymouth the inrushing water drowned some of those who would have escaped from the crashing timbers. Whether there were any passengers killed on the boats is not known and probably will not be known until the passenger lists have been checked up. All the passengers are thought to be safe.

The water tight bulkheads on the passenger steamer prevented the boat from sinking and, after Captain Davis had distributed life preservers to all the passengers, the excitement abated.

Passengers were landed at the dock at New London, where physicians dressed their wounds and cared for the remains of the dead. The heroic action of the crew was responsible for the small loss of life as the passengers were soon assured that there was no danger and became quieter.

SAFE STILL STOOD.

Defied Efforts of Experts to Open With Nitro-Glycerine and Dynamite.

Experts from a Philadelphia concern spent the greater part of yesterday at the Hibbard-Rodman-Ely Safe Works in a vain endeavor to break open one of the company's safes. After all other methods had failed nitro-glycerine was used but with similar results. The entire supply of the explosive brought by the experts was used, but as they still remained unsatisfied, the firm had the safe carted to Smalley's stone crusher in the Notch where dynamite was brought into play.

Charge after charge was inserted and set off but the manganese steel receptacle remained unharmed. The experts were finally forced to admit they were defeated and left for home, declaring it was the first time they had been unsuccessful in opening a safe.

OLD BUTCHER GONE.

George Lewis Died at His Home on Mountain Avenue Last Night.

Following an illness of several weeks' duration, George Lewis died at his home on Mountain avenue, last night. Death was caused by a cancerous growth of the face. He was fifty-eight years old.

Mr. Lewis was a butcher and for many years, with his brother, Israel, of Somerset street, conducted the most prominent market in the city. It was located on Park avenue where the Tier building now stands. He retired from business twenty years ago and his since lived quietly. He leaves a wife and four brothers.

The funeral will be held from his late residence, tomorrow afternoon at 2:30.

Recovering From Sprained Ankle.

Arthur Humble, of Somerset street, who has been confined to his home by a sprained ankle sustained while playing basket ball in Reform Hall recently, is now able to be about again. He will probably be able to take part in some of the baseball games of the early season.

COLUMN FOR THE SHOPPERS

SOME OF ATTRACTIONS TO BE FOUND AT LOCAL STORES.

Smalley Brothers have one of the finest delivery systems in this city and coupled with the fact that their meats are the best, they give perfect satisfaction.

The finest fresh vegetables are to be found at the Park grocery on Lincoln place and Duer street. That is one reason why W. W. Dunn's customers are always contented.

At A. M. Harper's store on Park avenue, you will find a complete line of fine stationery, pens, pencils, toys, etc., all of the best make. The prevailing prices are moderate compared with the quality

Gavett, the West Front street crockery man, is closing out odd lots of dinner sets. Some beautiful new patterns are included. Something new in the way of wedding gifts is being shown this week.

Years of experience have enabled W. W. Warnock, the West Front street confectioner, to offer daily the best charlotte russe, eclairs and pastry, to be had in the city. Everything is made fresh every day and orders are delivered. Ice cream and catering.

Several local baseball teams have already placed orders for equipment with Harry Dreier, the West Front street sporting goods man. He handles nothing but the best grades of goods, including the Spalding, and quotes prices that cannot be equalled either in Newark or New York. Special attention is given to uniforms.

When any of Plainfield's young men want any neckwear they generally get it at J. R. Blair's on Park avenue. Those who do not get their haberdashery at Blair's go to New York and think they get better goods there. Mr. Blair can demonstrate that his stock is not only superior but cheaper than can be secured in New York.

Women will find Putnam & De Graw's store on West Front street, a most desirable place to buy all kinds of dry goods. The firm's stock is complete in every detail and especially in dress trimmings and linings there is a full line. The men will also find an attractive department containing shirts, ties, socks, handkerchiefs, etc.

There is a peculiar satisfaction in knowing that prescriptions are compounded accurately and that only the best drugs are used. For this reason the prescription department at L. W. Randolph's pharmacy on West Front street has an enviable reputation. The greatest care is used in all prescription work and this is appreciated by the public as well as the physician who prescribes.

VISITED SCHOOLS.

The Newly-Elected School Trustees Visited Borough High School.

Samuel Townsend and Hiram Woodruff, of the newly-elected School Board of the borough, visited the North Plainfield High School yesterday and saw the work of the pupils in all the branches. Mr. Townsend was on the Board of Education years ago before there was a High School in the borough and he noted several improvements and many changes since the last time he looked over the work of the school.

The Stomach Is the Man.

A weak stomach weakens the man, because it cannot transform the food he eats into nourishment. Health and strength cannot be restored to any sick man or weak woman without first restoring health and strength to the stomach. A weak stomach cannot digest enough food to feed the tissues and revive the tired and run down limbs and organs of the body. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure cleanses, purifies, sweetens and strengthens the glands and membranes of the stomach, and cures indigestion, dyspepsia and all stomach troubles. L. W. Randolph

—A meeting of the Alis Club building and grounds committee will be held this evening at the home of Dr. A. H. Dundon, of Somerset street.

—At the meeting held at the Plainfield Rescue Mission last evening there was an interesting programme consisting of music and recitations.

A Remarkable Case.

One of the most remarkable cases of a cold, deep-seated on the lungs, causing pneumonia, is that of Mrs. Gertrude E. Fenner, Marion, Ind., who was entirely cured by the use of One Minute Cough Cure. She says: "The coughing and straining so weakened me that I run down in weight from 148 to 92 pounds. I tried a number of remedies to no avail until I used One Minute Cough Cure. Four bottles of this wonderful remedy cured me entirely of the cough, strengthened my lungs and restored me to my normal weight, health and strength." L. W. Randolph.

THOSE WHO COME AND GO

NOTES CONCERNING PLAINFELDERS AND THEIR MANY GUESTS.

Some of Those That Go to Make Up the Day's Budget of Arrivals and Departures.

Mrs. Lemuel W. Serrell, of West Seventh street, is quite ill at her home.

Samuel Dreier, of West Front street, is entertaining his daughter from Newark.

Mrs. Peter VanCamp, of South Branch, is visiting relatives in the borough.

Mrs. Henry Brokaw, of Somerville, is spending several days with borough relatives.

Dr. T. H. Tomlinson, of East Seventh street, is greatly improved from a recent severe illness.

Miss May Fairchild, of Grandview avenue, who has been visiting Newark relatives, has returned home.

James Smith, of Brooklyn, was the guest of his brother, W. C. Smith, of Grandview avenue, yesterday.

Garret Dreier, of New Brunswick, has been spending a short time with his parents on West Front street

Mrs. Alfred I. Smalley, of the borough, who has been in North Carolina for a few weeks, has returned home. Mr. Smalley will remain a while longer.

W. Ellery C. Leonard, formerly of Plainfield but now of the English department of Columbia University, New York, was in Plainfield yesterday calling on friends.

THEATRICAL.

Jerome Sykes will end his long run in "The Billionaire" at Daly's Theatre, New York, Saturday evening, March 28, which gives him but one more week at this house. His 100th performance of "John Doe" will take place Monday evening, when, as a souvenir, every women will be presented with an entirely new and novel pocket powder-puff, invented by Miss Gertrude Saye, a member of "The Billionaire" company. This puff is made of silk and gooseskin in the form of an envelope. In use the puff is turned out. It can be carried in a purse without inconvenience. Mr. Sykes will leave Daly's with 107 performances and all records of the house to his credit.

At the Grand Opera House, New York, Monday night, the Augustin Daly Musical Company will begin a week's engagement in "San Toy," the delightful Chinese-English musical comedy which had such a long run at Daly's Theatre. It is promised that "San Toy" will be given at the Grand precisely as it was presented at Daly's, with all the accessories and appurtenances that rendered it so attractive at that house. It was pretty generally conceded that no operetta produced in New York in recent years has been daintier or more tuneful than is "San Toy."

Many of those who were in the original cast of "San Toy" at Daly's are still members of the company, among them being George K. Fortescue who plays the Mandarin, "Yen How" and Samuel Collins who will again appear as the prevaricating "Li."

—A large handsome bulletin board has been placed in the main hallway of the Y. M. C. A. on which all events of interest to the members of the association will be placed.

—Mrs. Smith Laing, of Dunellen, who purchased Charles Moffett's property on West Front street, opposite Liberty street, expects to take possession within a short time.

ANOTHER TUNNEL TO PASS UNDER HUDSON

Would Connect Jersey City With Foot of Cortlandt Street, New York.

DONE VERY QUIETLY

UNDER SAME MANAGEMENT AS OTHER TROLLEY TUNNEL TO NEW YORK.

McAdoo Interests Are Backing It—Would Run Up Cortlandt to Church Street—Would Probably Connect With Trolley Lines.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Jersey City, March 20—The Jersey City Journal is authority for the statement that a new tunnel is to be built under the Hudson river, from the foot of Exchange place, Jersey City, to the foot of Cortlandt street, New York City. Plans have been prepared, options have been secured, and everything is in readiness to complete the arrangements as soon as possible. This statement is declared by the Journal to be authentic, and while the principals have endeavored to keep the new project very quiet, it has nevertheless been made public.

The new tunnel will be under the same management and control as the trolley tunnel now being built by the McAdoo interests from the foot of Fifteenth street to Greenwich Village in New York City. This syndicate of men is known as the New York and Jersey Railroad Company in this State, and the New York and New Jersey Improvement Company in New York, and is capitalized at $8,500,000. William G. McAdoo is the managing hand in the enterprise, and Edward F. C. Young and other trolley magnates are deeply interested.

The Exchange place tunnel will also be built under the direction of Mr. McAdoo, the plans having already been prepared in his office, while Mr. Young and whatever interests will have a hand in the new trolley combine will also have a part in the undertaking.

The tunnel will be straight across the Hudson river to Cortlandt street, and up Cortlandt street to the northwest corner of Church street, where a station will be established. Options have already been secured by the New York and New Jersey Improvement Company for the corner property from the owner, Patrick Fay, and for the adjoining property on Cortlandt street from a furniture dealer named Kennedy. The tunnel will also make a turn at Cortlandt and Church streets and proceed up Church street to Fulton street, where it will end in a loop. To secure the rights under Church street it was necessary to acquire a majority of the frontage, and options have been granted by L. Napoleon Levy for the south-west corner of Fulton and Church streets, and the Tuckerman estate for the south-west corner of Dey and Church streets.

What connection the new tunnel will have with the new trolley combine is not known, but it is reasonable to think that there will be a connection at the Exchange Place terminal, and passengers from all parts of north Jersey may enter the electric cars there and be transported without delay to the busiest part of the greatest city in the world.

Owing to the secrecy with which the plans have been perfected, it is not known whether the cars in the new tunnel will be run by the New York and New Jersey Railroad Company, which controls the upper tunnel, or whether a new company will be incorporated to give this tunnel a separate identity. It is probable, however, that the latter course will be adopted, in order that each corporation may have its own officers and conduct its business separately.

Spring Time in Washington.

Washington is a typical spring resort and its bustle is purely social and political. There are gathered in the Capital representatives of every nation and country, and their comings and goings are of no litle interest. Then the doings of the Senate and House are features which every tourist delights in following and these features together with the visits to the numerous public buildings keep one busy all the while one is in Washington. The Royal Blue Line of which the New Jersey Central is the initial road is going to operate an excursion to Washington on March 26, and cost of tickets for the three days' excursion including all expenses is $12. Train leaves New York at 1 p. m., and arrives Washington at 6:10 p. m. If you want to know about the trip drop a postal to C. M. Burt, general passenger agent, New York City, for tour book. Free for the asking.

Boys' Suits for Spring.

There is much goodness represented in our lines for the coming season. Your boy will look all the better for having had his mother direct his steps toward this big department of ours, and his father will have the satisfaction of knowing that his son's outfit, while reflecting all the style possible, embodies a keen saving over individual store prices.

At 2.98.

SAILOR SUITS—See the character of varied boyishness of fashion contained under that much used title. The serge is a splendid blue, red, brown or royal; the silk embroidery and braid work show the designing of a man whose heart was in his task. Sailor Suits for boys 3 to 10 years.

THE DOUBLE-BREASTED SUITS show how much unconventionality this style reveals here—colors just a bit different. The wool cheviots are woven in striking plaids and mixtures. Pants have taped seams, sizes 7 to 16 years.

At 3.98.

NORFOLK SUITS—The best of best lots of Norfolk Suits. Bring in your boys, sizes 7 to 15 years, and see the 4.50 value.

THE DOUBLE-BREASTED SUITS—The beauty lies in cloth entirely. These are all wool—checked, striped or mixed—fitting and pleasing boys 8 to 16 years.

SAILOR SUITS—Serges are what are used, silk braid trimmed collar, embroidered emblems on shields, will fit boys 3 to 10 years.

At 4.98 Another strong line. You'd think so to see the many sorts at this one price. Sailor Collar Norfolks, Sailor Suits, Double-breasted Suits, Plain Norfolk, 3-Piece Suits.

MISSISSIPPI FLOODS.

A Height of Forty Feet at Memphis.

EFFORT TO RESCUE SUFFERERS FAILS

Water Pouring Over the Levee and Through a Crevasse Places People and Live Stock in Arkansas in Great Peril.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., March 20.—It is believed that the crest of the Mississippi river flood has reached Memphis and that a fall will begin within less than twenty-four hours. However, the conditions that exist above Memphis, with the gap in the levee at Trice's Landing, Ark., makes it a most difficult and uncertain matter to forecast what is likely to occur in the flood situation. The gauge shows forty feet and stationary, a rise of two-tenths in twenty-four hours.

While the crevasse has not widened to any appreciable degree, the levee is overtopped a short distance farther to the north, and the flooded Mississippi is discharging much water at both this place and the crevasse.

A difference of between four and five feet exists in the height of the water on either side of the levee at the crevasse, and the rush of water through the opening is terrific. The St. Francis levee board made a second effort to send the tug Diana and a barge through the crevasse to assist in rescuing people and live stock from the flooded area in Arkansas. The Diana and the government steamer Abbott went to the crevasse with the purpose fully formed of sending the tug through in charge of Captain Fogleman, who had volunteered for the dangerous work.

When the situation was inspected carefully, the idea of putting the tug through the gap was abandoned, as the fall is so great and the rush of water is so strong that it was feared the tug could not safely pass through. About 100 yards west of the levee there is a belt of heavy timber, and the current sweeps against the large trees with force sufficient to make them sway with violence. This condition made it very probable that the tug would be swept into the timber by the force of the current and disabled or even overturned. These and other unfavorable conditions made it impossible to ease the tug through with cables as contemplated, and consequently the task has been abandoned for the present at least.

Reports from the flooded sections of Arkansas are more favorable. The Frisco railroad has succeeded in running a relief train to Marion from the west, but persons there declined to leave their homes, as they take the view that they are in no danger for the present. It also is reported that all live stock there is being well cared for and that food is sufficient. All passengers from the water bound trains across the river were brought to the city. No repairs have been made in the washed out tracks, and no forecast can be made as to when traffic may be resumed to the west.

The Yazoo and Mississippi Valley railroad has resumed through operation over its own line to New Orleans from Lakeview, a transfer boat having been put in service between this city and that point.

There were no startling developments in the flood situation in the Memphis territory.

The Uruguay Insurrection.

WASHINGTON, March 20.—The navy department has received a cablegram from Admiral Sumner, in command of the south Atlantic squadron, dated Montevideo, giving information of the insurrection in Uruguay substantially as told in the press dispatches of the past few days. The situation was not deemed by the department of such a character as to call for instructions to Admiral Sumner. The south Atlantic squadron is somewhat scattered. The Newark is the only ship at Montevideo, but the Montgomery is close at hand at Buenos Ayres. The Gloucester is at Para, Brazil, and the Detroit, the other vessel of the squadron, is convoying the tug Fortune around Cape Horn.

The Wabash Case.

ST. LOUIS, March 20.—Two arguments in behalf of the Wabash road were concluded yesterday in the injunction, and the first statement in behalf of the men by F. F. Judson of St. Louis was unfinished when court adjourned for the day. The case will certainly continue throughout today and possibly throughout Saturday. No restriction has been placed by Judge Adams upon the length of arguments, and the attorneys will be given ample time for exhaustive discussion.

Lions to Be Made Over.

PRINCETON, N. J., March 20.—The two big lions which have adorned the steps of "Old North" for a quarter of a century have been shipped to Newark, where they will be rebronzed. Some of the pieces of the lion which was decapitated last Saturday night by a party of riotous upper class men have not been found. Among them is the right paw, which will be recast. The lions will be returned in time for the commencement season.

Lobsters Take a Fall.

PORTLAND, Me., March 20.—One of the most remarkable drops in price in the history of the fresh lobster business has been announced. Up to a few days ago lobsters were selling at wholesale for 25 cents a pound, and now the price is down to 13 cents. The unusually fine, warm weather is said to be responsible.

Weather Probabilities.

Rain and much colder; fresh southwest winds, becoming northwest.

FAILS TO SEE.

"Who has ever said that Mayor Smalley was not a good and faithful official? Because he was re-elected last week a writer for The Plainfield Press jumps to the conclusion that the voters in the borough have experienced a change of heart and are now in favor of annexation. Bah!"—Somerset Messenger.

Our dear brother in Somerville shows therein his ignorance of the situation. It was the desire of Mayor Smalley and his friends that the recent election in the borough be fought out on one issue, that of the endorsement of the past administration. Certain of the "antis" refused, however, to keep the question of annexation out of the contest and made their greatest fight on that point. Their own organ, the Borough Review, declared it so in the following words:

"A noticeable fact in connection with the Republican meeting, (referring to the Republican primary) was that no prominent anti annexationist was present, and that Messrs. Reed and Smalley and their friends controlled the meeting without any opposition whatever. This fact proves that annexation is not dead, but will be the question at the polls on the tenth of March next."

Considering these facts, anyone cannot help seeing that the result, while an endorsement of Mayor Smalley and his administration, was nevertheless a victory for the annexation forces who, to a man, stood by Mayor Smalley.

AWAITED WITH INTEREST.

Attorney General McCarter has been requested by the State Senate to advise that body whether the annexation act is still in force or whether, a vote having been taken under the provisions of the act, it is inoperative. This is a question about which there has been much difference of opinion. The "antis" say it is dead but prominent lawyers, not all of them in any way interested in the subject, have declared that another vote on the question under that same act would be perfectly legal. A decision on the subject will, therefore, be awaited with much interest.

While the Attorney General is supposed to know a great deal, his word will not, of course, legally settle any such question. The Supreme Court would have to pass upon it. The Attorney General is, however, the legal advisor of the Legislature and that body is likely to give his opinion much weight. Of a certainty, nothing will be done to the "repealer" until Mr. McCarter has a chance to look into the legal status of the annexation act and decide whether it is dead already or whether there is material enough left to start another fight.

It is reassuring to hear from a man in the position of City Collector Frank H. Smith that there is no danger of any great advance of the city tax rate. So many improvements have been planned by the present Council that it is not unnatural that the idea should go forth that the tax rate was going up. If all these good things can come to the city without any increase in taxes then Plainfield's Common Council will be deserving of special praise and the taxpayers of the city may well rejoice. As long as the tax rate remains where it is and there is no diminution in the advantages, the present administration will be commended. That has been shown by the continued endorsement of the present administration at the polls. If the tax rate increases, even if the advantages do at an even greater rate, nobody can tell what will happen. If City Collector Smith is a true prophet then there will be general satisfaction on all sides.

The change made in the trolley service providing for the assembling of all the cars at the Watchung avenue exchange station every fifteen minutes has met with general approval. It would be well, however, if the cars utilized the part of the switch nearer North avenue than Second street as the North avenue corner is the natural exchange station. The transfer agent should also be moved to that corner.

Although the first of April hasn't arrived, there's no end of baseball talk. Just at present, the local baseball world sees a problem. There's a league of four teams and some eight clubs want to be in it. How this problem can be solved without causing a baseball war is the question which the diplomats of the baseball league are called upon to answer.

But a comparatively few banks advertised in the newspapers in 1901. Yet of the new accounts opened that year, according to Printers' Ink, the advertising banks got 61 per cent.

Garrabrants bill establishing a separate court for the trial of juvenile offenders. The judge of the court of common pleas is to sit in the juvenile court with arbitrary power in the matter of sentencing culprits.

The Senate adjourned to meet Tuesday evening and the House to meet Monday evening.

PERSONAL.

Daniel Force, of New street, is confined to his home by illness.

Miss Gertrude Nuttall, of South Second street, is detained at home by illness.

Miss Mildred Rowen, of West Third street, is home from a stay at Kingston, N. Y.

Miss Laura Rogers, of Mercer avenue, is spending a few weeks with friends in New York.

Mrs. Hurley, of Ridgewood, N. J., is visiting her friend, Mrs. E. M. Rodman, of East Seventh street.

Mr. and Mrs. Michael O'Keefe, of Spooner avenue, are the parents of a young son who arrived yesterday.

Mrs. William Thompson, of Roselle, has been visiting her daughter, Mrs. Arthur Boone, of West Fifth street.

City Judge William N. Runyon, of East Ninth street, spent yesterday and last evening with friends in Brooklyn.

CITY JOTTINGS.

—Neuman Brothers will have a fresh lot of strawberries on sale, tomorrow. Quality better, prices lower.

—At its regular meeting, this evening, Perseverance Lodge, No. 74, K. of P., will confer the second rank upon two candidates.

—William Miller, of Park avenue, has taken a position with the Hilson Cigar Company and will start shortly for a western trip as far as Cheyenne, Wyoming.

—Attention is called to the advertisement of the entertainment to be given in the supplemental course, Monday evening, and also to the illustrated lecture to be given Tuesday evening at the Y. M. C. A.

Give Conductors a Chance.

According to the new rules of the Elizabeth, Plainfield and Central Jersey Street Railway Company, the cars on the main line in making their last trip to the carhouse in the city are not to pick up passengers for points in this city, except after 12 o'clock midnight, when the local cars are not running. This rule gives the conductors an opportunity to make up their reports before reaching the carhouse.

Body Badly Scalded.

Oliver Pearson, Jr., of Manson place, is confined to his home with severe burns received by the toppling over of a pan of boiling water from the stove. The lower part of his body was badly scalded. Dr. Oregar dressed his hurts and he is now doing nicely.

WOODHULL & MARTIN.

WEDDED IN QUIET.

West End Young People Joined in Wedlock at Home of Dr. Yerkes.

The marriage of William A. Craig, of Dunellen avenue, to Miss Cornelia Fanny Montgomery, of Clinton avenue, was solemnized quietly last evening, at the home of Rev. Dr. D. J. Yerkes, of West Seventh street. The young couple was attended by Miss Anna Ace and Fred Haynes, of Dunellen. Both Mr. and Mrs. Craig are extremely popular, the former especially so from the fact that he has always lived in this city. He is employed at the Pond Tool Works. The bride formerly resided in New Brunswick.

POSTOFFCE CHANGES.

An Entrance From Madison Avenue Will be Made for Postoffice.

Woodnhll & Martin have decided to remove their carpet department from the corner store to the rear of their main store, as the Babcock estate has consented to take the place and relieve the firm of further care of the place. This change is made so that the estate can make certain improvements for the postoffice people, whereby an entrance can be had from Madison avenue to the postoffice. The estate will run the chances of leasing the store after the improvements are made.

Waiting for New Quarters.

For the present the Young Women's Club is not very active. Only the regular meetings are held. The members are looking forward with much pleasure to the time when they will occupy their new rooms in the Babcock building. When possession is taken, arrangements will be made for an opening reception.

Reappointed on Committee.

J. W. A. Bauersachs, who was such a valuable member of the finance committee of the A. O. U. W., last year, will continue in the same position this year, having been reappointed by Grand Master Tomlinson, of Elizabeth.

Baseball Question.

The Reform Athletic Association will meet Tuesday evening of next week and decide the question of putting a baseball team in the field this season.

School of Methods.

The spring meeting of the Union County W. C. T. U. schools of methods will be held in the Methodist church, Dunellen, Thursday, April 30.

The case of Louis Clark, charged by his wife with non support, was heard in Judge Clark's court yesterday afternoon. Clark demanded a jury trial and twelve of the citizens were sworn in for duty. The case had only started when it was found that Mrs. Clark had not lived in the township long enough to claim support from the overseer of the poor, so the case was dismissed by the Judge.

Funeral services of the late Mrs. Harriet Gerst were held yesterday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock from the residence of Miss Hattie Coles, of East Front street, where the deceased had made her home for a number of years. Rev. Dr. J. H. Parks had charge of the services and spoke tender words of consolation to the sorrowing family. Interment was made in the family plot in the North Plainfield cemetery.

Manager Benman, of the Westfield baseball team, tried to close Decoration Day afternoon with Manager Johnston for a game at Westfield. Manager Johnston will give Westfield any Saturday game, but all holiday games will be played at home as this is the only opportunity many have of seeing the team play.

Wetumpkah Tribe Decides to Take Active Participation in Athletics This Summer.

At its meeting, last evening, Wetumpkah Tribe, No. 229, I. O. R. M., made preparations for entering athletics upon an extensive scale. During the coming summer the members will engage in various sports with baseball a feature, games to be played with nines from other tribes and outsiders. A committee, composed of Richard Scott, chairman, F. H. Firstbrook and Dr. Dundon, was appointed to consider the matter in detail and selections for the various teams will be made. Among the sports will be hammer throwing, quoits, bicycle and field events.

The tribe, last evening, enjoyed an oyster supper with William A. Westphal and Michael Armstrong in command. It is proposed to have a similar affair every meeting night.

MR. BEST IMPROVES.

He Expects to Leave the Hospital Within Two Weeks.

The condition of Lindsey Best, science instructor at the City High School, is so far improved as to warrant his discharge from the hospital within two weeks. About ten days ago Mr. Best was operated on at the Presbyterian Hospital in New York City. The operation was considered very dangerous by the hospital physicians but Mr. Best's strong constitution did much to make it successful, and he is now considered out of danger. He will probably resume his duties at the High School after the Easter vacation.

EXTRA SESSION ENDS

Senate Ratifies Cuban Treaty. Vote Stood 50 to 16.

ENTIRE DAY BEHIND CLOSED DOORS

Two Important Amendments Accepted—Several Changes Offered by Democrats Rejected by a Strict Party Vote.

WASHINGTON, March 20.—After ratifying the Cuban reciprocity treaty the senate adjourned sine die yesterday at fifteen minutes past 5 o'clock. Practically the entire day was spent behind closed doors in executive session. Most of the time was devoted to consideration of the Cuban treaty. Several speeches were made in opposition to the treaty and one in favor of it, and then promptly at the agreed hour, 3 o'clock, voting began. Roll calls were had on a number of amendments, and the treaty itself was made the subject of a yea and nay vote. The motion to ratify was adopted by a ballot of 50 to 16, somewhat more than a three-fourths vote, whereas only a two-thirds vote was necessary to secure a ratification.

Immediately after the doors were closed a few minutes past 11 o'clock Senator Foster (La.) took the floor in order to make a set speech in opposition to the treaty. He spoke for about two hours and a half. His address had been prepared carefully, and on its conclusion Mr. Foster very generally was complimented on his manner of presenting the opposition view to the treaty.

In the main his speech was an appeal for the protection of the American sugar producing industry. He spoke especially for the cane sugar interest of Louisiana, but said that while the sugar interest was of paramount importance in his own state on account of the cane produced there the beet sugar industry had grown to such proportions that many other portions of the Union also were coming to have a very pronounced interest in the making of sugar.

Senator Simmons was the only Democrat who made a speech in advocacy of the ratification of the treaty. He replied at some length to the speech of Senator Foster, declaring for the treaty as a means of promoting friendly relations between the United States and Cuba. He said that he spoke for the United States and not for Cuba, declaring he did not accept the theory that the United States is under any obligations to Cuba, saying he thought that we had done all for the Cubans that any one nation could be expected to do for another, but he believed that with the ratification of this treaty Cuba's prosperity would be materially enhanced and that on account of the improved feeling on the part of the Cubans toward this country our exportations to Cuba, which now amount to about $28,000,000 annually, would soon be doubled.

On the conclusion of Mr. Simmons' speech voting began. The committee on foreign relations announced through Senator Cullom, its chairman, the acceptance of two amendments in addition to those already recommended by the committee. The first of these was the amendment increasing the rate of reduction on flour, corn meal and corn imported into Cuba from the United States.

The other amendment adopted by the committee was suggested by Senator Bacon and fixed a uniform reduction of 30 per cent on American cotton goods imported into Cuba. The only yea and nay vote taken on the committee amendments was on the amendment adopted some time ago by the committee at the instance of the beet sugar Republican senators providing against further treaty reduction of the duty on sugar imported into the United States for the next five years, or while the treaty remains in force. A division was called for on this amendment, and it was sustained by a majority of twenty-two votes, the vote being 44 for the amendment and 22 against it, the negative votes being cast by Democrats. The other committee amendments, including those accepted yesterday and the amendment making the approval of the entire congress necessary to render the treaty effective, then were adopted.

After the committee amendments had been accepted the Democrats offered a number of amendments, but they were all voted down by a strict party vote.

The vote then was taken on the motion to ratify, which was made by Senator Cullom, and the motion prevailed—50 to 16.

Legislative Council Deadlocked.

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., March 20.—The deadlock in the legislative council over the French shore modus vivendi bill continues. The government has secured the postponement of the debate upon the bill until Monday, one of the supporters of the measure being absent. A canvass has shown the house to be equally divided on the matter. The casting of a vote by the president is the only way to save the bill in the full house.

Editor Crozier Sentenced.

MANILA, March 20.—William Crozier, editor of the American, who was convicted March 10 on the charge of libeling General Davis, commander of the American troops, has been sentenced to two months' imprisonment and to pay a fine of $1,000.

Explosion in Cape Breton Mine.

SYDNEY, N. S., March 20.—As the result of an explosion, followed by fire, in Dominion No. 1 colliery at Glace Bay, C. B., four men are missing, seventy-eight horses were suffocated by fire damp and property estimated at $500,000 was destroyed.

A Minister's Work For Colored Women

It looks as if the coming occupation for the new woman will be cooking and housework raised to the æsthetic plane. A good cook in well to do city families now receives $35 to $45 a month. The ordinary woman who does general housework gets $20 a month in the cities.

The kitchen girl is undoubtedly better paid than the dry goods female clerk or the factory or sewing girl, for the kitchenmaid has almost no expense. The only drawback to hiring out for housework is that it leaves the woman less personal liberty than the shop or factory allows. This and the feeling that there is somehow degradation attached to kitchen work are what have driven ambitious girls from this now well paid field. Even at the prices quoted it is impossible to get reliable house service, so that many ladies are forced to perform their own household labor. On the whole, this is not a bad result, for it will elevate housework.

Conditions being as they are, the noble scheme of Rev. L. G. Jordan, colored, of Philadelphia develops in the nick of time to fill the most urgent want in civilized domestic economy. He has established a "school of service." He has devoted himself to his race, he says, and fifteen years has he been saving all the money he could to found his school. It will be the best work of his life, in his opinion.

All kinds of service required in a domestic establishment will be taught in Rev. Mr. Jordan's institution. All that style and flourish which appeal so to the fervid artistic negro imagination will be brought to bear in the working out of the plan. Even the large words which delight the Afro-American soul will be rattled to and fro constantly. For instance, a kitchen is here not a kitchen, but a "laboratory of cooking." Young persons from the country, who, perchance, know their work fairly well, but who "lack style," will be taken up like American singers in Paris and licked into shape and turned out finished artists in the all important matter of style. While cooks, housemaids, laundresses and seamstresses will constitute the bulk of those graduated from the establishment, young men will also be taught their perfect duties as coachmen, butlers, valets and grooms, likewise cooks and waiters. One who has ever noted a handsome yellow coachman driving his carriage through the park will understand what is meant by "style." Being a school of service, men must be admitted to the institution to some extent. It is agreeable to know also that white students will not be discriminated against in Mr. Jordan's college, but will be admitted on equal terms with colored. Thereby Rev. Mr. Jordan heaps coals of fire upon the head of the white race.

The most interesting part of the establishment is naturally the "laboratory of cooking." Everything must be done right, from the boiling of an egg to the making of a plum pudding. When it is remembered how few kitchen girls have the nice judgment even to watch the clock and time the operation of boiling an egg, the importance of such teaching will be understood. Again, a professor of chamber work will stand over the student while she smooths the snowy bed linen, which process must be completed with a broomstick or yardstick, and watch her to see that every scrap of lint and dust is removed from rug, floor and windows and that the sleeping room is aired perfectly as well. It is delightful to think of having in one's family a housemaid who will do hygienic chamber work.

With laundry work it is the same. Every piece must be turned out immaculate, all must be clean and orderly. To accomplish herself in laundry work the washerwoman to be must have ten lessons, the housemaid twelve lessons; the perfected cook, able for fancy cooking and invalids' diet, must take a course of sixty lessons.

The good work Rev. Mr. Jordan has here inaugurated for both black and white people cannot be measured. There are thousands of educated negro women who might be teachers, clerks and stenographers, but race prejudice prevents their securing employment. Here is sure occupation at excellent wages for every one who avails herself of the instruction in Rev. L. G. Jordan's "school of service."

MARY EDITH DAY.

[Copyright, 1900, by A. N. Kellogg Newspaper Co.]

"I think a strong, manly man is God's best creation"—her tone was almost reverent. "No, I have not forgot—I never shall forget that you offered your life as readily as Capt. Winkle" (she sneered slightly) "would hand me a glass of wine. You were so exhausted afterwards that you could not speak and yet you helped me over that high fence; I know you were exhausted, for you sank down and could not rise."

Ronald flushed slightly. "I hoped you would forget that," he said.

"It is what I want to remember most," the girl declared, "because it proves how very much you did for me."

Her voice was low, and it quivered as if strong emotions were working in her breast. The branches of the trees were moving overhead, and a shaft of shifting sunlight fell on her glorious, golden brown hair. The breeze coming from the east brought the strain of a plantation melody sung by the negroes working in one of her father's cotton fields. For one instant the eyes of these two met, and then, like a man in a blissful dream, he turned and picked up his rod. His cork was under water and he could see the slack line being drawn here and there. It was a fine trout and he laughed merrily as he drew it out of the water. She sprang up and stood by him as he took it from his hook and put it into his basket.

"I am afraid I am disturbing your sport," she said, tentatively.

"You see you have given me good luck," he made answer.

"I have wanted another talk with you for a long time." She cast a glance in the direction of her party. "I presume I ought to join them, but I have really not said all I wished. It seems half a lifetime since we met."

Later that day he actually shuddered over the boldness of his reply to this, and yet I am convinced that it was one of his remarks which she remembered in its entirety.

"The meeting in itself seemed a whole lifetime to me," he said, in a full, tense voice—"the beginning, the end—a short, beautiful life, for I thought I might never, perhaps never, see you again."

"You thought we should never meet again!" she spoke in slow surprise, as the import of his words dawned on her, and then he saw her eyes go down, and a fresh shaft of bitterness pierced his heart. He knew she was thinking of the gulf which lay between them. The look of pain which crossed her face almost distorted it. Still it was only to add new character to her beauty.

"I want to tell you more than all," she shrugged her shoulders, as if to shake off the unpleasant thought he had just read, "how very much good your example has done me. You remember you told me how you had learned French by studying it at night, and by hiring a man to work for you who spoke the language to you as you worked in the field together, and that you used to walk three miles after supper to an old German, who spoke his tongue to you and lent you the German classics? Well, when I got back to school and was tempted to neglect my studies I recalled the efforts you were making to educate yourself and I became ashamed of myself and really I profited by your example. I took two medals. I should never have won them but for you."

Her companion laughed softly.

"I did not have such good fortune in adding a teacher of Italian to my faculty," he told her. "He was making his way over the mountain with a hand-organ and a monkey and told me he was out of money. My answer to him was that I needed a man to pick cotton and that I would pay him the wages of an experienced hand if he would stay with me through the season. He readily consented and everything might have worked out to the glory of my perseverance, but he insisted on working with the monkey on his shoulder, and the two together proved such an attraction that all the negroes in my field gathered around him. I gave them the first day off, but when the next came and the pickers came in holiday attire accompanied by hosts of neighboring negroes I called a halt. I paid the stroller for the day he had not worked and dismissed him. This infuriated him, and I received my first gratuitous lesson in Italian—a beautiful string of oaths which may never be worth what I paid for them."

"I DIDN'T KNOW ANYBODY WAS HERE."

Evelyn laughed long and heartily.

"You are the most original man I ever met," she declared. "What funny experiences you do have. And did your Italian master forsake you?"

Ronald laughed drily.

"After he had got his organ out of the barn, he began to play it in the main road, and it wasn't twenty minutes till every negro, young and old, for a mile around was dropping his money into the monkey's cap. The trouble is the farmers in the neighborhood blamed me with the commotion and called me a greater crank than ever."

There was a sound of some one coming through the woods, and David Fanshaw, barefooted and coatless, emerged carrying a gun and a bag of game. Seeing them together he stared in astonishment, and shifting his gun awkwardly from one hand to the other he blurted out: "I didn't know anybody was heer; I was after a flyin' squirrel in that tree thar."

"I wouldn't shoot here," his brother admonished. "There is a party fishing a little way down the stream."

Without saying more the great ill-clothed fellow shouldered his gun and plunged again into the wood; this time headed for the main road.

"It is my brother David," explained Ronald to Evelyn.

"I thought he was," she said, looking down, "but I don't think he is at all like you," and then it seemed to strike her that the comparison was too great a reflection on David to be quite polite, for she reddened.

"No, we are decidedly unlike," he came to her relief. "In fact, people are constantly remarking that I am unlike my whole family."

"I—I think you are very unlike them all," agreed Evelyn—"all that I have happened to see."

There the conversation paused. A merry laugh came from the fishing trio and then there was a low muttering of voices, in which Evelyn's name was spoken by her sister.

"I think they are wondering what has become of me," said the girl. "I'd better join them."

He held the vines which hung over the path out of her way, and when she had gone he went back to his fishing; but he found himself casting an unbaited hook into the water and holding his rod in tense, quivering hands. How much he had lived in those few moments! He took a deep breath. "My God," he said, "I don't know what has come over me! Am I mad? Am I fool enough to think—to hope—?"

He checked himself, and opened the law book he had brought with him. But though his eyes rested on the page for twenty minutes, he read not a word. The sun went down slowly; he saw its light on the brown side of a distant cliff creeping upward; he heard the distant crack of his brother's gun, and, picking up his things, he started homeward.

Do You Wish To Borrow Money?

In order to accommodate all classes of borrowers (those who cannot borrow at a bank, as well as those who can), the Mutual Loan and Investment Company, of 118 Market street, Newark, N. J., has a department for handling quickly and confidentially loans ranging from $10 to $500 on furniture, pianos, storage receipts, etc.

The security is not removed from your possession or in any way disturbed. The honest, careful and conservative borrower will try and decide two points before borrowing. First, where he can get the best terms. Second, where he can get fair and square treatment.

This company is in a position to give you by far the most satisfactory terms ever offered by any concern or individual negotiating this class of loans.

With this company you are assured of getting the lowest rates, easiest payments and longest time for repayment. The whole transaction from the time the application is made until loan is paid is entirely confidential. We give you another advantage in case you take the loan out for six months or a year, and wish to settle the same before the time expires we charge you only for the time you have had the money. We also take up loans from other companies and advance more money.

Kindly call and let us explain our simple and up-to-date methods if not entirely convenient for you to call, please write and our representative will call and give you any desired information. Remember it costs nothing to make application. Loans promptly made in Elizabeth, Plainfield, Westfield, Roselle, Rahway, Perth Amboy and all suburban towns.

VENEZUELA'S DEBTS

An International Syndicate to Furnish Cash.

NO UNITED STATES GUARANTEE ASKED

Company Headed by the Seligmans to Advance $50,000,000 Needed to Pay Foreign Creditors—A Speedy Settlement Possible.

WASHINGTON, March 20.—The international syndicate, headed by the Seligmans, has renewed on a larger scale than at its first venture the offer to assume Venezuela's debts to the powers on conditions. I. N. Seligman has been in Washington two days in that pursuit, and he has been at the White House and has communicated with some members of the diplomatic body. With him is associated Mr. Salomonsohn, representative of the Disconto Gesellschaft, or Discount Bank, of Berlin, which is the largest individual creditor of Venezuela. Mr. Seligman has also made arrangements to affiliate in the floating of the Venezuela debt with the banking firm of Speyer & Co. of London, so that instead of being a purely American syndicate, as at first supposed, the new partnership will have an international cast.

It is understood that the demand is not now made for a guarantee by the United States government that these investors shall recover their money from Venezuela when the loan becomes due. It is stated that the action of the United States in signing a protocol with Mr. Bowen providing for the settlement of American claims up to this time has satisfied Mr. Seligman that when the time comes he, like any other creditor, can ask the state department to aid him in collecting his money if justice is denied him in Venezuela.

The president therefore is not asked to make any specific promise, as was the case during the first overtures, when he promptly refused to bind this government, as proposed by the syndicate. But, while the syndicate has not renewed its request as first made, it does want some visible exhibition of the interest of the United States in this matter, something that might connect the United States government with the enterprise. It wants an American to be appointed an agent and stationed in Caracas to manage the redemption of the loan and if necessary to collect a certain proportion of the customs receipts.

It is believed that this proposition is attractive to both England and Germany, for if it were accepted Venezuela could pay her creditors within a few days and the disagreeable necessity of adjusting the question of preferential payments would vanish. Secretary Hay being absent it cannot be said that the proposition has been fairly laid before this government, but it has been broached in a suggestive shape, and Mr. Seligman left Washington yesterday, expecting to return in about two weeks, when, if conditions are auspicious and the officials after thinking the matter over are inclined favorably, he may put the proposition in concrete form.

Mr. Bowen does not favor the proposition, and as his powers are unlimited in Washington it is apparent that it can come to nothing unless the principals find some way to induce President Castro at Caracas to act in person. Mr. Bowen made this pretty clear yesterday to Mr. Seligman when the latter called on him.

The success of the undertaking might mean the advancement to Venezuela by the syndicate of probably more than $50,000,000 as the syndicate has figured out at $45,000,000, the probable total amount of claims that Venezuela will have to pay the foreign creditors, and additional amounts must be allowed for expenses and for not less than 10 per cent commissions to the syndicate.

President Palma's Son Weds.

NEW YORK, March 20.—It is learned that Jose Estrada Palma, a son of Tomas Estrada Palma, president of the Cuban republic, and Miss Mabel Jacobs, a student at the Normal college and daughter of David B. Jacobs, a wealthy tobacco importer, were privately married here on Feb. 11. Young Estrada Palma, who is a student at Columbia university, has gone to Washington to consult with Gonzales de Quesada, the Cuban minister, and to request him to break the news of the marriage to his father. The young couple had been acquainted about a year.

Bids For Battleships.

WASHINGTON, March 20.—The circulars asking for bids for the three 16,000 ton battleships authorized by the last naval appropriation act was issued today. The ships will be practically identical with the Connecticut and Louisiana, the principal change being slightly heavier armor for the superstructure and slightly lighter armor at the top of the regular armor belt. The bids are to be opened June 3. The ships are to be completed within forty-two months.

No Respite For Sullivan.

ALBANY, N. Y., March 20.—Governor Odell has declined to grant a further respite to "Whitey" Sullivan, who is under sentence of death at Clinton prison for the murder of a bank watchman at Cobleskill in 1900. The respite was desired to give Sullivan an opportunity to appeal to the court of appeals from the decision of Justice Betts denying a motion for a new trial on the grounds of newly discovered evidence.

Pipe and Powder Cost Life.

RUTLAND, Vt., March 20.—The carelessness of Alexander Kemperty in smoking a pipe near a can of powder at a quarry in West Rutland caused an explosion which cost him his life and injured seven others.

ON THE DIAMOND.

The Park A. C. announces it will not place a team in the field this year. Most of the players have affiliated with other organizations.

George Keene, who captained the St. Mary's last year, will not be with them this season. He will probably join forces with the Hopes.

"Pete" Roseberry, who quit the diamond last year, has announced his intention of returning this spring. He will probably be seen in the Hope outfield.

Yesterday afternoon's New York World contained a splendid picture of "Warrie" McLaughlin and a sketch of his career. The account was unusually accurate.

Manager Walters, of the Cuban Giants, has secured the grounds at Arlington avenue and Randolph road for the summer and will put them in good condition. He is now preparing a schedule and intends opening the season early.

Baseball matters at the Safe Works are assuming a definite shape. The major portion of last year's players will be retained, but some good new material is being tried out. It is not yet known who will be on the managing end.

"Tommie" Burns, the Safe Works' pitcher, who has been spending the winter in Paterson, will return next month in order to begin practice with the team members. It is said he has lost none of his cleverness during the cold months and has a few surprises up his sleeve for opposing batsmen.

While "Jimmie" Montross' absence from the Hope team will be greatly felt, there is is no apprehension about filling his place. Already Manager Cose and G. E. Firstbrook, of the baseball committee, have applications from several twirlers anxious to wear the Hope uniform and regulars will be picked from them.

The League management will probably have difficulty this season in getting umpires unless the rate paid per game is increased. Those who served last year announce they want double the amount, at least, or they will not seek appointment. Good umpires are a scarce article locally and refusals to serve would prove a barrier.

BASKET BALL.

The basket ball team of the local High School will play the Triangle team of the New Brunswick Y. M. C. A., tomorrow morning. The junior members of the Y. M. C. A. will go to New Brunswick and will play basket ball with the junior team of that association. Those who will comprise the High School team are: Thompson, captain; Monroe, Miner, Collier, Shepperd and Anderson.

THE MARGARET STORY.

Was Subject of Prof. E. H. Griggs' Lecture on "Faust."

The fifth lecture of the course on "Faust" being given by Professor Edward Howard Griggs at Vincent chapel, was delivered yesterday afternoon. The topic embraced scenes 7-16 of the poem—the Margaret story. In treating the subject, Professor Griggs was especially able in his comparisons and in the clearness of his explanations. The familiar story was brought out with renewed interest by frequent references to the works of Tolstoi and Ibsen. The analogy between the influence of Mephistopheles on Faust and the influence of Martha on Margaret was especially emphasized. The sixth and last lecture of the course will be delivered next Thursday.

FOR HOUSEHOLD OF RUTH.

Entertainment Given by Members of G. G. Social and Whist Club.

A musical and vocal entertainment was held last evening at Odd Fellows Hall by G. G. Social and Whist Club for the benefit of Friendship Band, Household of Ruth, No. 1325, G. U. O. of O. F. There was a large number of local members of the society present and a most enjoyable evening was spent. During the evening muscial selections were rendered by Albert White at the piano.

The committee having the affair in charge comprised: President, Mrs. Hattie Maury; secretary, Mrs. Laura Smith and treasurer, Mrs. Fannie Bell.

Former Mayor of Elizabeth Passes Away After An Operation.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, March 20—Former Mayor John C. Rankin, of this city, president of the State Board of Assessors, died in the General Hospital at 6 o'clock this morning. He was operated upon three days ago for a cancerous growth and rallied after the ordeal. It was thought he was in a fair way to recover when he sustained a stroke of paralysis and death followed.

Mr. Rankin was fifty-six years old and was mayor of Elizabeth eight and a half years. He was one of the most popular, energetic and efficient chief magistrates that Elizabeth ever had.

Stole Carpenter's Tools.

A small carpenter shed used by H. Hansen, who is building several houses for Daniel Dugan on East Sixth street, was broken into by thieves last night. A lot of tools comprising eight saws, several planes and other utensils, was taken. The police were notified and efforts are being made to recover the property.

WHAT PEOPLE ARE DOING

SOME BRIEF PARAGRAPHS OF A PERSONAL NATURE.

Many Folk of Greater Plainfield Are Entertaining or Being Entertained.

Miss Ethel Runyon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Runyon, of Park avenue, who has been very ill with pneumonia, is convalescing.

Word received in this city states that C. E. Buell, formerly of the borough, but now of Camden, is improving slowly from his recent severe illness.

Patrolman George Lunger resumed duty last evening, after a brief sojourn in Hunterdon county. He reports the indications for a large peach crop to be excellent.

Walter L. Hetfield, Jr., returned home this morning from Worcester, Mass., where he has been for the past week on account of the serious illness of his brother, Bertram Hetfield. The latter is greatly improved and will be entirely well within two weeks.

MADE MONSIGNOR.

Former Plainfield Priest Receives High Honors in Catholic Church.

Announcement has just been made that the Diocese of Newark has been honored by Pope Leo with the appointment of a new domestic prelate in the person of the Very Reverend John A. Stafford, president of Seton Hall College, at South Orange. A few days ago an Apostolic brief came from Rome appointing Father Stafford a domestic prelate of the Pope, with the right to wear the purple robes of that office and with the title of Monsignor.

Monsignor Stafford was extremely popular, especially with the young people and through him the Young Men's Lyceum, which built the clubhouse at Sixth and Liberty street, was organized.

DEATH OF MRS. POWERS.

Aged Woman Died After Two Score Years in This Vicinity.

Mrs. Mary Powers, well known in this city, died yesterday afternoon at her home in Elizabethport. She was sixty-three years old and had lived in this vicinity since she was nineteen. The funeral services will be held from the home of Michael Powers, of South avenue, tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock and interment will be made in St. Mary's cemetery, this city.

Mrs. Powers' husband died nine years ago. She leaves two sons, Michael Powers, of South avenue, this city, and John Powers, of New Market, also two daughters, Mrs. Nora Doran, of Elizabethport and Mrs. Ellen Enright, of New York.

REPAIRS STOPPED.

Nothing is Being Done in Music Hall at Present.

For some reason unknown to those interested, the work of remodelling Music Hall has stopped and at present nothing at all is being done on the building. F. G. Sherman, the lessee, has not been in Plainfield lately, and what his plans are is not known. It is the general opinion that the hall will not be in readiness for opening this spring, as intended. It may, however, be the plan to wait until next fall before opening the house. This would give plenty of time to make all improvements.

TO START NEXT WEEK.

Work Will Begin Then in Installing Police Patrol System.

The work of installing the Gamewell police patrol system in Plainfield will commence the first of next week. The company has been busily engaged getting the material in readiness so that when the work is commenced there may be no delay occasioned by waiting for supplies. The sixteen alarm boxes have to be made as these are not kept in stock. However, the boxes will not be needed until the sixteen miles of wire is strung and this will allow plenty of time.

Birthday Party and Supper.

In honor of the anniversary of her birthday, Mrs. William Townley, of East Second street, entertained a large gathering of friends at her home last evening. Games, music and dancing were the features with an elaborate supper at midnight. The affair broke up at an early hour this morning.

Wouldn't Press Complaint.

Carl Silbert, who preferred charges against his brother, Marcus Silbert, before Justice Hand, Wednesday, refused to press the complaint when it was called for trial this morning. The case was accordingly dismissed.

In Justice Mattison's Court.

The case on contract between Kern & Lauderbach, of New York, plaintiffs, against J. W. Rodenbough, defendant, was settled through the court of Justice W. E. Mattison, yesterday. The judgment was for $13.64.

MESSAGE FROM DEAD MOTHER

Sands Olcott Tells of Spirit Message Asking That Daughter Be Provided For.

IN OLCOTT WILL CASE

Sensational Testimony to Show That Wealthy East Millstone Resident Had Been Influenced by Spirit Messages to Leave the Bulk of Fortune to His Daughter.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, March 21—When the Somerset County Orphans' Court reconvened yesterday the aged Court House was filled with eager listeners, who came to hear sensational evidence in the already-famous Joseph H. Olcott will case and the people were not in the least disappointed. Spiritualistic investigations were told of, and the spats between the lawyers added zest to this remarkable case.

The hearing is on an appeal from the probate of the will and the sons, Frank N., of New York, and Sands C., of East Orange, are the appellants and their sister, Mrs. Josephine Korff, is the appellee. She is the most favored beneficiary of the will and, they allege, exercised an undue influence over her father through the medium of spiritualism.

The first witness yesterday was Frank Olcott, who told of a message that he said had been received over the ouija board with his sister Josephine acting as the medium. It disclosed the whereabouts of buried treasure at Eagle Rock in Essex county and his father, he alleged, believed in the communication to such an extent that he stood the expense of an expedition there to dig for the supposed gold. The witness, with his brother Frederick, his chum, Mr. Napier and Lieutenant Foster U. S. N., the latter a firm believer in spiritualism, went there and by night they dug a hole big enough for an ordinary man to enter and six feet deep, but the sought-for treasure did not materialise and the boys returned home in disgust. The witness asserted that Lieutenant Foster often wrote messages claiming his hand was controlled by an outside power, or in other words by spirits.

Again Sands Olcott was a star witness. After his mother's death in the holidays of 1896 he went on a visit with his fiance to the home of his father at East Millstone. They tried the board and Josie received a message purporting to come from their mother. This was to the effect that "Josie should be taken care of; that pa should provide for her. The boys will be very successful in business." In his story he told her once, when Josephine was playing the piano, there was a violin accompaniment though no such musical instrument was in the room. This was accounted for. The spirit did it. The witness said there was a difference in his father after his mother's death; he was more easily influenced by anyone. The appellants then rested their case.

At the afternoon session Prof. Cooper, of Rutgers College, was the first to testify for the appellee. He had known Joseph Olcott for many years. There had been no failing in his mental qualities; he was not easily influenced and was a man of clear convictions. Had never said anything to him about spiritualism.

In quick succession John C. Thatcher, John N. Mettler, N. S. Wilson, Peter Garretson, Thomas Cooper, John Staats, Adam Hummer and other prominent business men of East Millstone were sworn and testified to having known the deceased for a long time. All were strong in their belief in his sound mental condition and firm conviction. To none of them had he told of a belief in spiritualism, but they were not his intimate friends. He had only met them in a business way and talked to them on topics of the day. To nearly all of them, Wm. V. Steele, the clever counsel for the appellants, put a question the sense of which was if they had known, as had been testified to, that Joseph Olcott believed in spirits; that he thought they rested on his shoulders, rubbed his face, pulled his toes and sat on his chest hindering his breathing, would they have thought Mr. Olcott mentally sound and all right as they had testified. This was a puzzler of the first water and many of the witnesses said that had they

AT NEW HOME.

Friends of Mr. and Mrs. Edw. Burroughs Gave Them a Surprise.

A number of friends of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Burroughs gave them a happy surprise Thursday evening at their home on Somerset street. Mrs. Howard A. Pope and Miss Helen Burroughs arranged the affair and a most enjoyable evening was spent. Violin selections by John Burroughs and Martin A. Korff formed a pleasant part of the entertainment. The event was in the nature of a house-warming, as the surprised couple recently took up their residence on Somerset street. Before the guests departed for home a bountiful collation was served.

TROUBLE OVER THE CLOTHES

DEBTOR AND CREDITOR CARRY IT INTO COURT.

Jos. Sellner Arrested on Complaint of Ernest Morris—Charged With Fraud.

On the complaint of Ernest Morris, of Muhlenberg place, Joseph Sellner, local manager for L. Sternberg & Company, was arrested last evening by Patrolman McCarty. The charge is that of fraud and gaining articles under false pretences, Justice Huff having issued the warrant of arrest.

Morris is employed as a laborer at the Pond Machine Tool Company, and had an account with L. Sternberg & Company. He claimed that he owed the firm about $15. The firm in doing an installment business, compell the manager of a store to submit an excuse each week when a customer fails to pay. Because of illness, Morris allowed his payment to go over a week and Mr. Sellner called on him for an excuse. Thereupon Sellner, it is claimed, secured the signature of Morris to a printed paper which assigned the latter's wages to the firm with the power of attorney to collect.

When an attempt was made to collect Morris's wages at the Pond Tool Company, that concern refused to turn over the money and they also held the money from Morris pending a settlement. Morris is represented by Assemblyman Newcorn, and Sellner by Francis J. Blatz. A hearing will be given in the case this afternoon before Justice Huff.

MISSIONS ITS OBJECT.

Young Men of the Band of Earnest Workers Elect Officers and Listen to Reports.

The annual meeting of the Band of Earnest Workers of the Crescent Avenue church was held yesterday afternoon. Reports from the secretary and treasurer showed a marked growth in both membership and finances in the past year.

The following officers were elected for the coming year: President, Van-Wyck Brooks; secretary, Lawrence Mead; and treasurer, Hugh G. Baldwin.

Mrs. Isaac L. Miller, the patroness of the band, spoke briefly of its work since its organization, seventeen years ago. The object of the organization is to assist in the vast missionary work in foreign lands and there are now sixteen young men enrolled as members. The band was originally founded by Mrs. Christopher Goddard and Miss Elizabeth Goddard.

It was decided to send $40 to India for the support of the boys' school at Lodiana and $55 to China for the reorganization of the work in China.

RECEPTION TO PUPILS.

Was Given at the Plainfield Business College Last Evening.

A reception was given last evening to the pupils of the Plainfield Business College in the rooms over the City National Bank. Those who received were Miss Adella C. Phelps, acting principal of the school; Prof. George W. White and Miss Florence Demaree.

Miss Coles, of Scotch Plains, gave piano solos, Miss Catherine Wier, of Asbury Park, recited and Gilbert Brown, of Cranford, gave several readings.

Refreshments were served during the evening.

Erecting Pump.

The work of erecting the pump in the pumping station of the Plainfield Water Supply Company, near Netherwood, is going on rapidly. It is expected that within a month the work will be completed and the big machine will be at work.

MEYERS HUNTS FOR SOMEBODY TO SUE

Bought a Cow Which Doesn't Suit; Now He Wants to Get His Money Back.

BOUGHT IT AT AUCTION

COUNSELLOR F. J. BLATZ IS TRYING TO SOLVE PROBLEM FOR HIM.

Proprietor of Lunch Wagon is Having Lots of Trouble Since He Bought a Cow—Wants to Find Somebody to Sue Now.

Joseph Meyers, who sleeps on East Fourth street in the day time and conducts the lunch wagon at Second street and Park avenue at night, is in a quandary. He is itching to sue somebody, but which one of four men he has been unable to determine. In desperation he has appealed to Counsellor Francis J. Blatz and when this modern Solomon gets through wrestling with the problem, he hopes to name the defendant.

The trouble came about through Meyers buying a cow at an auction sale of goods and stock belonging to Charles Johnson, of Terrill road. The bovine is not exactly an Alderney or a thoroughbred Jersey although she has always grazed in the vicinity of Scotch Plains, but she appealed to Meyers to the extent of his giving $10 for her. He departed in high glee with the prospect of an unlimited supply of lacteal fluid to pass over the lunch counter at a big profit.

But his good spirits soon departed when the rounders at the wagon sniffed at the milk suspiciously and then passed it back Some even had the temerity to tell the proprietor it wasn't good and he began to think a mistake had been made somewhere. A few days ago he bought $2 worth of veterinary advice and his worst suspicions were confirmed—the cow was a mental and physical wreck and a producer of milk below the standard.

Meyers lost no time in hurrying to Auctioneer Hezekiah Hand, who conducted the sale, and demanded his money back. The genial justice didn't see it that way and advised him to visit Johnson. The latter was interviewed by the angry cow owner, but Johnson coolly declared the animal had never been owned by him and had been disposed of at his sale by George Sticker, of Scotch Plains, on a speculative basis. Thinking he saw his way clear at last, Meyers hastened to Sticker but once again was he held up. Sticker said he had owned the cow but Constable John Gjetelsen came around to his place one day and offered to get rid of it for him at a good price. As the cow hadn't come back he thought Gjetelsen had kept his word and as enough money had been paid him for it's loss he didn't care much what had become of it.

Not to be balked at this stage of the game, Meyers shied off on a new tack and preferred charges against all parties concerned before the Fanwood Board of Health for having had in their possession and selling an animal that was a menace to the public well being. The board promised to look the matter up but forgot to mention how Meyers was to get his $10 and so the matter stands.

The lunch man isn't sure who to begin proceedings against—Auctioneer Hand, who sold the cow, Johnson, who was supposed to have owned it, John Gjetelsen, who brought it to the sale, or Sticker, who owned it and turned it over to Gjetelsen. The entire party will meet at Counsellor Blatz's office today and they have agreed to abide by his decision in the matter as regards a defendant.

Executors' Sale.

There will be an executors' sale of real estate and personal property at Oak Tree, Thursday morning at 10 o'clock, when the estate of B. M. Kelly, deceased, will be disposed of by Caroline Kelly and C. B. Veghte, executors. W. K. Hope will be the auctioneer. The property to be sold is very desirable and valuable.

Retail Clerks' Anniversary.

The members of the Retail Clerks' Mutual Aid Association are planning for an enjoyable time Monday evening when the anniversary of the association will be observed. A programme of unusual merit will be presented for the members and their friends.

Tomorrow's Y. M. C. A. Meeting.

Stephen Cahoone will speak and Mrs. S. H. Tugwell will sing at the Y. M. C. A. meeting Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock. Orchestra will render instrumental selections.

TALKED, PLAYED AND LUNCHED TO MUSIC

Musical Social Given by the Epworth League of First M. E. Church at the Chapel.

A PROGRAMME OF MUSIC

SOME NOVEL FEATURES PROVED A DECIDED SUCCESS.

When Time for Refreshments Came, Guests Marched by Refreshment Tables, Helping Themselves After the Fashion of the Quick Lunch.

Under the auspices of the Epworth League of the First M. E. church, the social committee, of which Harry Gee is the chairman, arranged a plesant "musical social" which was held in Vincent chapel last evening. The affair attracted a large number of members and friends of the league.

The programme was opened by the singing of "America," after which a quartette consisting of Mrs. Stephen H. Tugwell, Mrs. Thomas MacDonald, Miss Helen M. Shupp and Miss Carrie Mulford sang a selection. This number was followed with a violin solo by Mrs. Frank Smith, accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Charles L. Lewis. Then Mrs. Stephen H. Tugwell sang a solo, accompanied by Mrs. Lewis on the piano and Mrs. Frank Smith on the violin.

The second part of the programme comprised a musical game, hidden music and musical refreshments. The first consisted of the hiding of a coin which George A. Horne attempted to find. While he searched about the chapel for the lost piece of silver, Miss Sharp presided at the piano and denoted his distance from the coin by playing loud when Mr. Horne neared it and softly when he was far from it. This was a very amusing part of the programme.

The hidden music game was the guessing of the names of well-known songs, illustrated in various ways. The musical refreshments, the final number, consisted of everyone marching about the room and passing a table upon which refreshments were placed. During the march popular selections were played on the piano.

A unique feature of the affair were the programmes. These were arranged in neat folders and on the title page appeared the photo of some well-known composer. After refreshments were served, the social terminated and everyone voted it to be a decided success.

CLEVER AS EVER.

The March Number of the Quiver Has Just Made Its Appearance.

The Quiver, the paper issued by the Qui Vive Society of the Randolph-Cooley Collegiate Institute has made its appearance for March and is just as clever and attractive as ever. One noticable feature of the current issue is a reproduction of the class pin on the front cover which was drawn by Miss VanBoskerck. Interesting articles have been contributed by Miss Constance Pittis, Miss Marjorie Walbridge Brown, Miss Dorothy L. Burke, Miss Rosa M. Woltmann and one under the nome de plume of "Snow Drop."

The paper is clever and credit is due to the editors for the bright and breezy style of the March issue.

VAUDEVILLE NEXT.

Will Mark Closing Meeting of the Friday Night Club.

Rounding out a very successful season the members of the Friday Night Club met last evening and spent a few hours in playing the various games at the Casino. There were no contests and no prizes were awarded, the contests having closed for the season.

It has been decied to close the season with an informal dance and vaudeville performance to be given March 27 by local and New York talent.

The committee having the general arrangements in charge for the meetings during the winter is Thomas R. VanBoskerck, Evarts Tracy, G. Herbert Taylor, Mrs. Daniel Ginna, Miss Maude VanBoskerck, Miss Gilbert and Miss Florence Huntington.

Free Lecture.

Alexander Helper, of New York, will give an entertaining and beautifull illustrated lecture, entitled "Picturesque and Industrial Niagara Falls," at Y. M. C. A. Hall, Tuesday evening at 8:15 o'clock. Tickets may be obtained free at the drug stores. A silver offering will be received.

REFORM CLUB BESTS I. C. T. CLUB FIVE

The Second Meeting of Those Clubs in Local Basket Ball League Last Night.

ACCURACY THAT DID IT

FIRST HALF WAS DECIDEDLY IN FAVOR OF THE REFORM CLUB.

I. C. T. Club Team Braced Up in the Second Half, and Had Slightly the Better of It—But the Reform's Lead Settled It.

The last basket ball game in the Plainfield Amateur Basket Ball League series between the Reform Club team and the team from the I. C. T. Club was played last evening at Reform Hall and resulted in a victory for the home team, the score being 24 to 15. During the first part of the game the Reform Club team appeared much too strong for its opponents, the first half ending 16 to 6 in its favor. In the last half the visiting team braced up and did some excellent work. At the close of this half the score stood 9 to 8 in favor of the visitors, making the total score 24 to 15.

The Reform Club team showed marked improvemnt in every way, the result of practice. E. P. T. Smith played his first game with the team and his work was commendable. Taylor for the home team was the star player for the winning five, having a credit of five goals from the field and one from a foul. The I. C. T. Club five also showed improvement, although their weak point was in accuracy in throwing for goals. There were a number of opportunities for scoring, but the members of the team lacked accuracy.

In the first half Taylor threw five goals from the field, Galbraith threw two and Scott one, while Sherwin threw two from the field, one from a foul and Blimm threw one from a foul. In the last half Galbraith threw two goals from the field, Scott one from foul, Taylor one from the field and one from a foul, Sherwin one from the field, Cose one from the field and one from a foul and Blimm two from fouls.

The teams lined up as follows:

Reform Club.		I. C. T.
Taylor	right forward	Reynolds
Galbraith	left forward	Sherwin
Scott	centre	Cose

Score—Reform Club, 24; I. C. T., 15. Goals from the field—Taylor (6), Galbraith (4), Scott (1), Sherwin (3), Cose (1). Goals on fouls—Sherwin (1), Blimm (3), Spott (1), Cose (1). Fouls—Reform Club, 14; I. C. T., 8. Referee—W. C. Geiger, of Jersey City. Umpires—H. M. Hoffman and W. W. Manger, Jr., of Jersey City. Timekeepers—Howard Drake and Thomas Reddy. Scorers—R. C. Larew and V. W. Nash, Jr.

DRUGGISTS AT DINNER.

Banquet to County Association by the Elizabeth Druggists.

A dinner was given Thursday evening at Elizabeth by the Elizabeth Association of Retail Druggists to the county association and many people from this city went down and spent a very pleasant evening. Those who were present from this city were Mr. and Mrs. E. S. F. Randolph, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Rowley, Mr. and Mrs. Clayton M. Nagle, Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Randolph, B. J. Schreiner and Mr. and Mrs. T. S. Armstrong.

The programme was an elaborate one and was attractively gotten up. It was printed in Latin and was on slabs of flat elm bark.

THREATENED RESIDENCE.

So the Borough Fire Department Was Called Out Last Night.

Marshal Lawrence Fahn, the newly-appointed officer of the borough police force, turned in an alarm of fire last evening at 11:50 for a fire in the dump near Linden avenue and Grove street. The fire had been burning in the heap of rubbish all day, but late at night it began to spread towards the house of F. C. Jennings and threatened his buildings. Box 152 was turned in and Warren Engine and the West End Hose companies responded to the alarm No damage was done.

To Open New Series.

The annual meeting of the Plainfield Building and Loan Association will be held Monday evening, when the usual reports will be submitted. A new series is to be opened, the shares of which will be strictly limited.

Funeral of Mrs. McKelvey.

The funeral services of Mrs. Alexander McKelvey, mother of Rev. Joseph O. McKelvey, were held last Saturday at Boonton.

RETURN DATE COMPANY.

Lovett's Boston Stars Will be Here Again Monday Night.

Lovett's Boston Stars, who are well and favorably known in this city as a favorite company of entertainers, have the distinction and title of the "return date" company. They will be heard Monday evening in the Y. M. C. A. supplemental course in an entirely new programme of vocal, instrumental and literary numbers rendered in their usual faultless manner.

The stars are considered by many as one of the strongest and most pleasing companies of entertainers appearing in Plainfield. See advertisement in another column.

ASSEMBLYMAN SWACKHAMER SPOKE AGAINST FISHING BILL.

Told Story of a Remarkable Man—The Story Brought Down the House.

An important bill, regulating the net fishing in the Raritan Bay, Station Island Sound and tributaries, came up this week in the House of Assembly. The passage of the bill was advocated by Assemblyman Lehlbach. One of the opposers of the bill was Assemblyman S. S. Swackhamer, who declared that the passage of the bill would destroy the industry of the pond fishers, in these waters, to the amount of thousands of dollars; that hundreds of poor fishermen had all their money invested in pound nets in sums from $100 to $1,000, they had built up this business and had followed it for years, and because their nets interferred with the recreation of the wealthy sportsmen, who fish with rod and line, the Legislature is asked to wipe out the property rights of the fishermen, and in many cases beggar their families.

Some one stated that the fishermen were not so poor, that he knew of one family who had property to the amount of $8,000. Mr. Swackhamer replied that he had heard of one family so poor that they had not tasted of meat for several years; they had lived upon fish, clams and oysters to such an extent that their stomachs rose and fell with the tide. The head of the family was a very large man and he had to wear a plaid apron to keep a check on his stomach.

The bill was defeated.

ALL SORTS OF GAMES.

Borough Epworth Leaguers Enjoyed An Assortment of Them at Last Night's Social.

The cabinet of the Epworth League of the Grace M. E. church conducted a social at the church, last evening, which proved to be an enjoyable one. There was a large attendance and the evening was spent in playing games and listening to musical selections by Miss Addie Giddis and Miss May Conroy.

It was an "assorted social," so named on account of the great assortment of games which were played. In two of these prizes were offered. In the art contest, Miss Maude Bowman won the prize for drawing the most perfect animal, and C. E. A. Heywood won the men's prize for best trimming a woman's hat in three minutes. Refreshments were served during the evening.

Those who had charge of the arrangements were: Mr. A. H. Wilson, Miss E. E. Smalley, Miss Mary Hoagland, Mrs. Charles Greer, Charles Harden and W. M. Warren.

Democrats Reorganize.

The Democratic city committee met Thursday evening and reorganized for the year. The following officers were elected: Chairman, A. J. Nolan; secretary, Frank J. Shattle; treasurer, H. W. Marshall. A committee composed of F. J. Shattle and V. L. Frazee was appointed to revise the rules and by-laws. Adjournment was taken until April 2.

Came Here to Wed.

Announcement has been made of the made of the marriage of George W. Snyder, formerly of this city, but now of Westfield, to Miss Lillie Dammann, of New York. The ceremony was performed March 1 by Rev. J. O. McKelvey, at his home in the borough. Mr. and Mrs. Fred Diem, of the borough, acted as witnesses.

There's Been Improvement.

M. F. Elderton, a local reporter, has been occupying the editorial chair in the absence of his employer and there has been a decided improvement in the tone and appearance of the paper.

HIGHER WAGE, LESS HOURS

Findings of Coal Commission Made Public by President This Morning.

NO INDICTMENTS MADE

Indictments and Question of Recognition of Union Not Within Its Scope—Arbitration Hereafter—Fixes Minimum Wage and Scale of Wages—The Details.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Washington, D. C., March 21—The report of the coal commission appointed by President Roosevelt to inquire into the conditions existing in the anthracite fields, was made public by the chief executive today.

It finds that indicting, recognition or non-recognition of unions are not within its scope. It lays stress on the point of wages, recommending a general increase, in most branches of mining, amounting to 10 per cent. A decrease of hours is ordered in some cases and provides for a settlement of all disputes by arbitration. It also fixes the minimum wage and sliding scale.

It orders no discrimination by operators or miners on account of membership or non-membership of unions. All awards are to be enforced until March 1, 1906.

NEW OFFICERS.

Chosen at Annual Meeting of Young Ladies' Missionary Society of First Baptist Church.

The annual meeting of the Young Ladies' Missionary Society, of the First Baptist church, was held yesterday afternoon in the lecture room of the church. The election of officers was as follows:

President, Miss Ada Fountain; first vice president, Mrs. Frank W. Jones; second vice president, Miss Hattie French; recording secretary, Miss Carro Bird; corresponding secretary, Miss Mae Batchelor; treasurer, Miss Florence Serrell; collector, Mrs. R. W. Barnes.

The report of the treasurer showed a marked increase in receipts for the past year. Between $100 and $200 has been raised and there is a balance of $60 in the treasury. The receipts are divided between home and foreign missions, one-third going to home missions and two-thirds to foreign missions.

GAVE NO WARNING.

The Friends of Mrs. Belle DeMott Walked in Unexpectedly.

Miss Edna Thompson and Miss Alice DeMott tendered a surprise to Miss Belle DeMott, of Somerset street, last evening.

Those who were present were: Misses Bessie Titsworth, Ethel Garretson, Iva Dayton, Katherine Mc Loughlin, Nettie Wise, Tillie Uhrhahn, Stella Eick, Robertta Fine, Flossie Conroy, May Conroy, Addie Giddis, Lizzie Perrine, Nettie Perrine and Edna Thompson; Frank Fletcher, William Giles, Albert Corriel, Edward Clarkson, Steven Kennedy, Bert Sherwin, Ray Lambert, Fred Borrup, Lewis Steltz, Robert Lourner, Harry Hook, Ira Teeter, Edward Texier, Eugene Giddis, Aaron Kipsey and William Kenyon.

Neal Dow Day.

"Neal Dow" day will be observed by the local W. C. T. U., in the rooms on Madison avenue, Sunday afternoon. At that time there will be a programme of interest bearing on incidents in connection with the life of this noted temperance worker. The event is in celebration of the anniversary of the birthday of the late Neal Dow. Mrs. Elizabeth Parse, president of the Union, will have charge of the programme.

Changes in Rebuilding.

In the rebuilding of the Babcock building the bow windows and small balconies at the top of the structure have been cut out. These things were never considered any great ornament, besides being somewhat dangerous in case of accident or fire.

Sold His Trotter.

Patrolman James Totten, who recently purchased a speedy trotter, has disposed of the animal at a good price. He intends securing another in its place with a better record.

COLUMN FOR THE SHOPPERS

SOME OF ATTRACTIONS TO BE FOUND AT LOCAL STORES.

A Few Interesting Items Concerning Greater Plainfield's Merchants

Moraller & Sons, the Park avenue jewelers, have received their annual Easter stock of goods and are now prepared to exhibit them for the early spring trade. The new stock comprises some select silverware, jewelry and watches.

In buying groceries and meats do not forget that S. Schener & Company, of West Front street, are always prepared to give you the best goods at the lowest market prices. Their goods never fail in giving satisfaction and you can save considerable money in trading at this store.

All kinds of repairing of watches, clocks, jewelry, etc., are executed in the best manner at Charles E. Vail's jewelry store in Park avenue, and he also sells first-class jewelry, diamonds, watches and silverware. A modern optical department is maintained, all eyes being examined free.

Aside from the fact that Dudley S. Miller keeps one of the best pharmacies in New Jersey, he proposes to do a large soda water business this season. He is having a modern and up-to-date soda fountain installed in his store and he hopes soon to be able to serve soda equal to any in the country.

Happy would be the man who smokes if he knew where to go the best of cigars. M. C. Dobbins, of Park avenue, has in stock cigars of his own make which are known by many to be unexcelled in workmanship and unparalleled in quality. These are his Yara cigars but he also has some fine Rino del Rio cigars which are higher priced. He also sells fancy brands of cigars.

ERIE IMPROVEMENTS.

That Railroad is Going to Spend Millions to Improve Its Jersey City Terminal Facilities.

The officials of the Erie Railroad Company are now busily engaged in perfecting the details for the extensive improvements planned. Much of the $10,000,000, which has been raised by the bond issue, will be spent on the Jersey City terminals, the plan being to relieve the congestion of both freight and passenger traffic through the erection of an elevated steel structure which will carry passenger trains over the hill on an easy grade, which will be materially reduced by means of a cut. This will leave the tunnel for freight traffic and will permit the remodelling of the whole terminal yard so that both freight and suburban and through passenger business can be handled with speed and comfort.

The balance of the money will go into shops and sidetracks. The tracks will be put where congestion is most troublesome. In some places the Erie will be four-tracked.

GOOD PASTOR.

Praise for Rev. J. S. Braker, Formerly of Scotch Plains.

Rev. J. S. Braker, formerly pastor of the Baptist church at Scotch Plains, and well-known in this city, recently resigned his charge at the Beth Eden Baptist church, of Waltham, Mass., to accept the pastorate of the Baptist church at Lynn, Mass. Regarding this talented divine the Daily Free Press-Tribune, of Waltham, Mass., has the following to say:

"In the departure of Rev. J. S. Braker, the city of Waltham loses a good citizen and Beth Eden a valued pastor. Since his work began here he has added largely to the church membership, decreased the church debt, and proved himself a good man in every particular. Mr. Braker is a special favorite of the young people, but the whole congregation, both young and old, will find it difficult to get a man who can give such general satisfaction as Mr. Braker has. Mr. Braker begins his pastorate at the Lynn church on Friday and his many former parishoners of the Baptist church wish him success and prosperity in his new field of labor."

Painting the Gym.

Workmen are engaged in painting the interior of the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium. The walls, which were of a yellowish hue before, have been made white and it is believed that the new color effect will be less trying to the eyes of the athletes who use the gymnasium.

BOOTBLACK STANDS.

B. E. Chapin Has Secured Privilege From Jersey Central to Establish Them at All Stations.

B. E. Chapin, of Newark, publisher of The Railroad Employee, recently secured the privileges for establishing bootblack stands along the line of the New Jersey Central and New Jersey Southern Railroads, and commencing April 1, this work will be started under organized system. At the various railroad stations and terminals there will be well equipped bootblack stands conducted in a first-class manner. They will be in charge of competent persons who will be uniformed. There will be a fixed price for shines at all stands.

For a long time past such a system has been needed and, as Mr. Chapin is a thorough business man with practical ideas, he seems especially well fitted for conducting this business. Mr. Chapin was in Plainfield yesterday looking after the details for the establishment of stands at the North Avenue station. There will be one at either station and a special chair for women.

Don't Lose Your Grip

Gray hairs often stand in the way of advancement for men and women, socially and in business. Many men are failing to secure good positions just because they look "too old," and no one knows how many women have been disappointed in life because they have failed to preserve that attractiveness which largely depends on the hair.

HAY'S HAIR-HEALTH

has been a blessing to thousands. It is a hair food, nourishing the roots, forcing luxuriant growth, covering bald spots, restoring life, and positively brings back gray hair to its youthful beauty and color. Hay's Hair-Health is not a dye, and its use cannot be detected.

LAST YEAR'S PROFITS TO STOCKHOLDERS.

40% Dividends Paid by One Stock. Another in 13 Months Paid 27%

We want wide-awake agents in every town in the state. Insurance men and others are making $100 a week as a side line.

We sell railroad stocks, city and municipal bonds, and other conservative forms of investment paying from 4 to 6% annually. Also high-grade industrial stocks, a trifle speculative, paying much larger rates of interest. We will be pleased to send you our beautifully illustrated book for investors.

We have been established twelve years and have offices in all the principal cities of the United States and Canada.

We buy insurance policies, and those having insurance on the 10, 15, or 20 year plan, who desire their money before policies mature, will be able to make money by writing us for figures.

We have only a limited amount of the 40% dividend stock. We do not guarantee delivery at present prices after April 15th. Of the 27% stock we also have a small block. Both are solid industrial enterprises.

NEW YORK LINE INCLUDED

INTERCHANGEABLE MILEAGE BOOKS WILL BE GOOD ON IT.

Although the Reading System is Not a Party to New Agreement.

Passenger officials of the trunk line railroads interested in the adoption of the interchangeable mileage book are perfecting the final details preparatory to the new book being issued on May 1. The roads interested are the Pennsylvania, Baltimore & Ohio, Erie, Lehigh Valley, Delaware, Lackawanna & Western and Chesapeake & Ohio.

While the Reading, Jersey Central, New York Central and West Shore are not parties to the arrangement, it is agreed that the new book to be issued by the Baltimore & Ohio can be used over the Reading-Jersey Central lines, forming that company's New York connection.

The new interchangeable mileage book, which is said to be the conception of J. R. Wood, general passenger agent of the Pennsylvania, is said to be hedged about by conditions which may make it anything but satisfactory to the public. In the first place, the price of a 1,000-mile book has been fixed at $30, instead of $20, the price of the present. Of this sum $10 will be refunded when the book has been used up, providing the conditions accompanying its sale have been complied with.

The principal reason why the Reading declined to become a party to the agreement was that to have done so would have meant the abandonment of the liberal policy concerning the use of its present mileage book, which has been a great aid in building up its large passenger business.

TOURS TO THE PACIFIC COAST.

Via Pennsylvania Railroad — Account Presbyterian General Assembly.

For the General Assembly of the Presbyterian church, at Los Angeles, Cal., May 21 to June 2, the Pennsylvania Railroad Company will run three personally-conducted tours to Los Angeles and the Pacific Coast. These tours will leave New York and Philadelphia May 12 and 13. Tour No. 1, covering twenty-four days, $134.50 from New York; $132.75 from Philadelphia. Tour No. 2, covering forty-three days, including Yellowstone Park, $253 from New York and $251.25 from Philadelphia. Tour No. 3, covering thirty days, including Grand Canyon of Arizona, $159 from New York and $156.75 from Philadelphia. Proportionate rates from other points. Arrangements may be made to return independently on tours No. 1 and No. 3.

Special Pullman trains will be used, and the services of a tourist agent, chaperon, baggage master, and official stenographer will be provided on each train.

For itinerary giving rates and full information apply to Tourist Agent, 263 Fifth avenue, New York City, or Geo. W. Boyd, assistant general passenger agent, Broad Street station, Philadelphia, Pa. 3-14-2-s.

Spring Time in Washington.

Washington is a typical spring resort and its bustle is purely social and political. There are gathered in the Capital representatives of every nation and country, and their comings and goings are of no litle interest. Then the doings of the Senate and House are features which every tourist delights in following and these features together with the visits to the numerous public buildings keep one busy all the while one is in Washington. The Royal Blue Line of which the New Jersey Central is the initial road is going to operate an excursion to Washington on March 26, and cost of tickets for the three days' excursion including all expenses is $12. Train leaves New York at 1 p. m., and arrives Washington at 6:10 p. m. If you want to know about the trip drop a postal to C. M. Burt, general passenger agent, New York City, for tour book. FISHER CAPTAINS RUTGERS

PROSPECTS OF A GOOD TIME AT NEW BRUNSWICK'S COLLEGE.

Season Opens April 8, and the Schedule is Announced—Some Good Games.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

New Brunswick, March 20—Students of Rutgers College are taking a lively interest in the approach of the baseball season, and it is expected there will be a strong team to represent the college on the diamond. Already the matter of finances has practically been provided for. It was estimated that fully $500 would be required to meet the expenses, and the greater portion of this amount was subscribed at a recent meeting of the students.

Captain William A. Fisher, who graduated from the Plainfield High School in 1899 and managed its baseball team that year, is confident that the team will be in splendid shape by the time of the first game April 8. Of the players on the team last year are the following: Howell, pitcher; Hitchner, catcher; Malven and Moon, first base; Weaver and Neilson, second base; Mason and Thorpe, third base; Fisher, short stop; Edgar, left field; Pearce, centre field.

The game which has hitherto been played every year with Princeton has been cut out. H. J. Howell, of 1904, will act as manager of the team.

The schedule of games as prepared thus far is: April 8, Columbia, at New Brunwick; April 11, Manhattan, at New York; April 15, open; April 22, University of Pennsylvania, at New Brunswick; April 25, Brooklyn Polytechnic, at New Brunswick; April 29, New York University, at New Brunswick; May 2, Crescent Athletic Club, at Bay Ridge; May 9, Franklin and Marshall, at Lancaster; May 16, Ursinus, at Collegeville; May 20, New York University, at New Brunswick; May 23, Brooklyn Polytechnic, at Brooklyn; May 27, Manhattan, at New Brunswick; May 28, Franklin and Marshall, at New Brunswick; May 30, Catholic Club, at New Brunswick; June 3, Seton Hall, at South Orange; June 12, Alumni, at New Brunswick.

THEATRICAL.

Williams and Walker, the greatest colored comedians on the stage, will end their run at the New York Theatre Saturday evening, April 4, when their last performance of "In Dahomey", in New York will occur. This is the greatest production in which colored artists have ever been seen and gives the principals splendid opportunities to display their versatility. Mr. Williams is an exceptionally clever performer and has created something of a sensation in the singing of his latest comic song, "I'm the Jonah Man." The best people in New York attend the performances of Williams and Walker, the Vanderbilts, Sloanes, Depews, Astors and other prominent leaders of "the 400" occupying boxes at every performance. Box parties to see "the colored sensation" at the New York Theatre have really become a fad among the swell set of New York.

The most imposing melodramatic production of the season will be "The Suburban," which opens at the Academy of Music, New York, for an extended engagement Monday evening. Racing dramas have always been enthusiastically received by Academy patrons and "The Suburban" is said to be the most thrilling and exciting of this sort that has yet been written. It is from the pen of that able American playwright, Charles T. Dazey, who wrote the immensely successful drama "In Old Kentucky" that enjoyed a long and prosperous career at the Academy of Music. A sensational and thrilling scene in "The Suburban" will be the running of the big race, which from the point of stage realism, is said to go far ahead of anything in the way of a stage race ever attempted. There are a number of other equally stupendous scenes in the production and over 250 people and a string of thoroughbred race horses will be employed on the Academy stage and a cast of unusual strength is promised.

NO PASTOR YET.

Committee of First Baptist Church Still Traveling in Search of One.

The special committee of the First Baptist church, having in charge the matter of securing a pastor to succeed Rev. Dr. Yerkes, has not yet reached any decision. The committee has traveled extensively throughout the State as well as to distant points, but as yet has not agreed upon any one person for the pastorate. It is likely that the pulpit at the church will be filled with supplies for some time to come. It is now over a year since Dr. Yerkes gave up his active duties as pastor.

Mrs. Peter Shultz, of New York, is visiting in Plainfield for a short time.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Murphy, of West Seventh street, are home from a pleasant trip in the south.

BEEF PACKERS FINED

Five Companies Must Pay $5,000 Each or Quit.

THE ANTITRUST LAW VIOLATED.

Ouster Order Promulgated by Missouri Court Will Be Held In Abeyance If Fines Are Paid.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., March 21.—The Missouri supreme court has found five large beef packing companies guilty of maintaining an unlawful combination to control prices of meat in the state of Missouri and issued an order of ouster prohibiting them from doing business in this state and to pay a fine of $5,000 each and to bear the costs of the proceedings. The companies are given thirty days in which to pay the fine imposed, and if during that time they shall accept the judgment and pay the fine the ouster will be held in abeyance and the companies will be permitted to continue their business in Missouri.

The opinion in the so called beef trust cases was written by Judge W. C. Marshall and concurred in by each of the six other judges of the court in banc. The companies affected by the decision are the Armour Packing company, Cudahy Packing company, Hammond Packing company and Swift & Co. of Chicago and the Schwarzschild & Sulzberger company of New York. All of these companies maintain branches in different cities of the United States and in Missouri at St. Louis, Kansas City and St. Joseph.

The evidence which incriminated the packers was obtained in these three cities.

The decision in the supreme court against the packers is the ending of a proceeding which was instituted last May. The different packing companies doing business in the state were ordered by the supreme court on May 6, 1902, to appear before Judge Burgess of the supreme court and show cause why they should not be cited to appear and answer the charge of violating the antitrust laws of the state in combining to maintain prices in Missouri. The result of the hearing led Attorney General Crow to file suit against the packers, which was prosecuted vigorously by him on the part of the state.

The opinion holds that the evidence obtained at the hearings shows conclusively that there was a combination of the packers to maintain trust prices on beef in Missouri; that the representatives of the packers met on certain days to fix the prices for the current week; that rebating was done; that the same prices prevailed at all the coolers at the same time; that no competitor could enter the field against the packers because the combine would undersell the newcomer out of business. The opinion does not take up the charge made in the proceedings by the attorney general that the companies were also guilty of selling diseased meat. Much of the evidence was to the effect that the companies did sell diseased meat, but the opinion of the court was based on violation of the antitrust law of the state.

Roller's Sanity Doubted.

NEW YORK, March 21.—Charles L. Roller, a real estate broker of Yonkers, N. Y., through whose instrumentality while he was in Trenton state prison, to which he was sentenced for seven years for forgery, three keepers were convicted of passing opium to prisoners and who was paroled for his confession by Governor Murphy, has been committed to Bellevue hospital to be examined as to his sanity at his wife's request. Mrs. Roller complained to the police that her husband had threatened to kill her and himself. Roller claims to be a nephew of Governor Murphy of New Jersey. The lawyers for the keepers who were convicted on his testimony and who are awaiting sentence are in the city gathering evidence for presentation in the New Jersey courts.

Foster and Dickinson Guilty.

BOSTON, March 21.—The federal jury in the case of Cashier George M. Foster and Depositor John W. Dickinson, who were charged in fifteen counts with misappropriating the funds of the South Danvers National bank of Peabody to the amount of $150,000, after nearly thirty-two hours of deliberation returned a verdict of guilty on three counts, not guilty on seven counts and a disagreement upon the other five. Both defendants were in court when the jury announced its verdict, and Mr. Dickinson was much affected.

Tannery Firms Fail.

BUFFALO, March 21.—C. Moensch & Sons' company and Moensch, Fisher & Gaensslen of Gowanda, two of the biggest tannery concerns in this part of the country, are insolvent. Application for the appointment of a receiver for both companies has been made to Justice White. Both corporations have large plants at Cattaraugus, Gowanda and Salamanca and at Alpena, Mich. Warehouses of these concerns are located at Chicago, Boston and other cities. The liabilities are over $1,000,000.

Crum and Byrne Reappointed.

WASHINGTON, March 21.—The president has reappointed Dr. W. D. Crum, colored, collector of customs at Charleston, S. C., and William M. Byrne, United States district attorney for Delaware. Both of these nominations failed of confirmation at the recent session of the senate.

Two Negroes Hanged.

STAR CITY, Ark., March 21.—James Ruffin and Jay Green, negroes, have been hanged here for the murder of Donald McGhee, a white man, in January, 1902.

SPORTING JOTTINGS.

Baseball Players Must Play According to Assignment.

NEW YORK, March 21.—President Johnson of the American and President Pulliam of the National Baseball league held a conference here, during which they considered the cases of Edward Delehanty and George Davis, who at the ratification of the peace agreement were assigned respectively to the Washington and Chicago American league clubs. President Pulliam in stating the position of the National league toward these players said, "Neither man will be eligible to play in the National league until he has been released from his obligations with the clubs holding a contract with him."

President Johnson said: "The American league has no intention of allowing any person, be he player, manager or club owner, to violate the peace agreement in any way. George Davis must fulfill his contract with the Chicago American league club and play there, and the same applies to Delehanty and the Washington American league club. They must fulfill their obligations as decreed by the joint peace committees, and if they do not they cannot play baseball anywhere and will be out of the game for good."

Pittsburg Hockey Games.

PITTSBURG, March 21.—The first of a series of hockey games for the championship of the United States between the Bankers, champions of western Pennsylvania, and the Houghtons, champions of Michigan, resulted in favor of the Bankers by a score of 8 to 1. The visitors played a good defensive game, but the rink was so much larger than they were accustomed to that the home team skated them off their feet.

Jockey Foley Injured.

NEW ORLEANS, March 21.—Safeguard and Henry of Franstamar were the winning favorites yesterday. Foley, who rode Radiant Heat in the second race, was seriously hurt when the horse fell. Foley was thrown heavily, and the horse rolled on top of him. When the attendants pulled him out, it was found that he had broken his collar bone and sustained severe internal injuries.

Cornell Won Fencing Bout.

ITHACA, N. Y., March 21.—The fencing meet here between Pennsylvania and Cornell was won by Cornell with a score of 6 to 3. All bouts were closely contested, but Cornell won the first five, which insured her the meet. Pennsylvania then captured two.

MORE PROTOCOLS.

Negotiations at Washington to Be Resumed Next Week.

WASHINGTON, March 21.—The present expectation is that the negotiations for the drafting of the protocol for the determination by The Hague tribunal of the question of preferential treatment of the Venezuelan blockading powers in the payment of the claims of their citizens will be resumed between Mr. Herbert W. Bowen and the British ambassador next week.

In a note to Mr. Bowen Sir Michael indicates his intention to do this and at the same time to propose certain amendments to the draft handed him by Mr. Bowen, though their nature is not indicated. Sir Michael also sets at rest an impression that has existed that the allies did not care to have this question go to The Hague by stating that so far as he is aware it is the wish of his government that the matter shall go to The Hague for determination. The ambassador expressed the belief that as The Hague tribunal was not to meet until September there was no necessity for immediate action in the matter.

Sir Michael's response was brought out by a letter from Mr. Bowen. It is not known what the attitude of the other allies—namely, Germany and Italy—are in regard to this matter, although so far as Italy is concerned the expectation is she will follow the lead of England.

Schooner Wrecked.

CHATHAM, Mass., March 21.—The schooner Sarah Potter, laden with coal, from her home port, New York, for the navy yard at Boston, became a total wreck on Handkerchief shoal after stranding there during a fog. The crew abandoned the vessel as soon as the water got beyond control of the pumps and in their own boats landed at Harwich port. Captain Hatfield says that he lost his bearings in the fog.

Jury Exonerates Marshals.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., March 21.—The grand jury report on the miners' riot exonerates the United States deputy marshals. The report criticises the newspapers. It is a lengthy document.

Hot March Weather.

SARATOGA, N. Y., March 21.—Yesterday's weather was a March record breaker for this section. The mercury reached 90 degrees in the sun and averaged 70 in the shade.

Secretary Hay In Washington.

WASHINGTON, March 21.—Secretary Hay has returned to Washington after a fortnight's stay at Thomasville, Ga. He comes back greatly benefited in health.

ARGUMENTS CLOSED.

Celebrated Merger Case In Judges' Hands.

FINAL PLEAS BY GRIGGS AND WATSON

Former Holds Antitrust Act Is to Control Operation, Not Ownership, of Corporations—"Willful Violation," Says the Latter.

ST. LOUIS, March 21.—Arguments in defense of the Northern Securities company, on trial here before the United States circuit court for the district of Minnesota, have closed, and the case is placed finally in the hands of the four judges. During the three days of argument the attorneys for the defendants have occupied nine hours, and the government has taken five hours for presentation of arguments.

C. W. Bunn of St. Paul, counsel for the Northern Pacific Railroad company, opened yesterday's session, and ex-Attorney General Griggs closed the case for the Northern Securities company. The last hour of the session was occupied by Special Counsel T. D. Watson of Pittsburg, who closed the case for the government. He was talking when court adjourned for the day and concluded this morning. Attorney C. W. Bunn endeavored to show that prior to this case there never had been a suggestion that a consolidation of railway interests was a violation of the antitrust act of July 2, 1890.

In concluding for the defendants ex-Attorney General Griggs asserted that the purpose of the antitrust act was to control the operation of individuals engaged in commerce and not to control the ownership of corporations so engaged. He asserted that a man or men can buy all the property he or they have the capital to purchase and that the law cannot limit the amount of that purchase and that the antitrust act does not specifically say such purchase is a violation of its provisions.

When Attorney General Griggs had concluded, Attorney T. D. Watson began the close for the government. He asserted that it was his purpose to demonstrate that the merging of railroad interests by the Northern Securities company was a most willful violation of the antitrust act. "Isn't it the law of competition," he said, "that different roads traversing the same territory will make different rates, carry different kinds of commodities, run different kinds of trains and in a hundred different ways seek to better their own interests over those of their rivals? But here the defendants have merged the interests of all the roads in a certain territory, and yet they try to show that it is not done to the disadvantage of competition and that it will benefit interstate and foreign commerce."

Mr. Watson then cited decisions of the United States supreme court at length to show that various phases of the merger were in apparent violation of the Sherman antitrust act.

Diamonds by Mail.

NEW YORK, March 21.—More than $500,000 worth of diamonds which had been sent by the postoffice authorities in registered packages to the appraisers' stores were yesterday afternoon taken by the customs officers and deposited in the vaults of a down town safe deposit company for safety. The handling of such large amounts of precious stones through the mails is a new thing. About a month ago the Diamond Dealers' association of this city got a ruling from the treasury department permitting them to import diamonds by registered mail. The diamond importers had objected to the regular parcels post on account of the opening of the packages in transit for the purpose of examination.

Neilson-Vanderbilt Wedding.

NEWPORT, R. I., March 21.—Formal announcement of the date of the wedding of Miss Cathleen Neilson, daughter of Mrs. Frederick Neilson, to Reginald Vanderbilt has been made, and the selection is Wednesday, April 15, in this city. In all probability the event will be solemnized in St. Joseph's Catholic church, at which Mrs. Neilson has been an attendant for many years. No details of the wedding arrangements are made known, but it is understood that the guests invited to the church will not be many in number. The bridal couple will go to Europe until the early summer.

Many Senators See the President.

WASHINGTON, March 21.—Nearly a quorum of the senate was at the White House yesterday. Many of the senators called merely to pay their respects to the president before leaving the city, while some of them wished to discuss appointments to office. Details of the approaching western trip were discussed with a few senators from the sections of the country through which the president will journey.

King Edward Holds Court.

LONDON, March 21.—The second court of the season was held at Buckingham palace last night. The throne room was brilliantly decorated. The receiving party included the Prince and Princess of Wales and other members of the royal family. The king and queen remained seated throughout the ceremony except when receiving the members of the diplomatic corps.

West Virginia Mine on Fire.

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., March 21.—The Nova Scotia, one of the largest mines owned by the Ganley Mountain Coal company, is on fire, and its destruction is threatened. The entire mountain is smoking.

TREATY IN DANGER.

Time Too Short For Cuban Senate to Convene.

A POSSIBLE EXTENSION OF TIME.

Changes Made at Washington Necessitate Action by Cubans on or Before March 31, the Time Limit.

HAVANA, March 21.—The necessity for ratification by the Cuban senate of the amended reciprocity treaty has developed a situation in which, unless President Roosevelt holds that he is authorized to extend the time for ratification of that which the United States senate has already ratified, the Cuban senate, which will not be in regular session until April 6, must be recalled and proceed to consider and ratify the amended treaty within ten days, which period is considered too short.

Under the rules of the senate there is no quorum unless two-thirds of the senators are present, and the possibility of not securing the attendance of the majority in favor of ratification on account of the indifference or inability of the senators to attend makes it desirable to avoid such a contingency.

Foreign Secretary Zaldo on the receipt of Minister Quesada's cablegram announcing the action of the senate of the United States summoned the senators who are in this city to participate in a long conference with President Palma, which resulted in a query being cabled to President Roosevelt last evening asking whether he is authorized to join with President Palma in decreeing an extension of time.

The disappointment caused by the news of the adoption of the United States senate committee's amendments to the Cuban reciprocity treaty and by the prospects of further delay have been superseded by expectations that the eventual outcome will be an unassailable treaty, helpful on the whole to the interests of both countries.

EXPOSITION OUTLOOK.

Commissioner Barrett Returns Satisfied With His Mission.

NEW YORK, March 21.—John Barrett, commissioner general of the St. Louis exposition, was among the passengers on the big White Star steamship Cedric, which has just arrived after her second westward voyage. Mr. Barrett said in an interview:

"I return after an absence of a year, in which I have traveled 40,000 miles, making a circuit of the world, visited fifteen countries and have solicited and urged participation in the exposition with such success that, now my mission is over, I feel gratified at its extent.

"China, Japan, Korea and Siam will show wonderful interest in the event. Japan had decided not to exhibit, but after considerable urging she has agreed to take part, and an appropriation of 800,000 yen was made with that object in view. The orient had been reluctant in taking the matter up at first—in fact, viewing the affair with apathy—but after all the work of months I can say that the interest has so awakened that America will be astonished at the result.

"I visited France, Holland and England to arrange for the participation of their eastern colonies, such as Ceylon, Java, Tonquin and others."

Man Dead of Glanders.

NEW YORK, March 21.—Coroner's Physician Weston declares that the death of Benjamin Hilson from glanders is the first case he has ever met with in which that disease caused the death of a human being. Hilson, who was fifty-two years old, became ill four weeks ago and was removed to the Metropolitan hospital, where he died. The body was removed to the morgue, and Dr. Weston, in the presence of about twenty physicians and surgeons from Cornell and Bellevue Medical colleges, performed the autopsy. Hilson contracted the disease, it was found, by attending to a horse which was sick with glanders.

Assaulted by a Negro.

SPRING CITY, Tenn., March 21.—A. D. Paul, one of the most prominent citizens of this place and president of a local bank, was assaulted at night by Dock Darwin, a negro, whom he had discharged from his service. The negro used a hatchet or other instrument, and Mr. Paul's skull was fractured in addition to other injuries. Late reports say he is in a precarious condition. Darwin fled after committing the assault, and a posse with bloodhounds gave chase, capturing him after a long run through the country.

Brother of L. E. Quigg Arrested.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., March 21.—A. W. Quigg, brother of Lemuel E. Quigg, former member of congress from New York, has been arrested here on a private warrant charging him with embezzlement. The complainant is G. L. Foster of Foster Bros., bankers, of 31 Nassau street, New York city. It is alleged that Quigg did not account for some stock which was intrusted to him for sale.

Stove Molders' Wages Unsettled.

CINCINNATI, O., March 21.—The joint committee of twelve to adjust the yearly wage scale between the stove molders in the Iron Molders' Union of North America and the National Stove Founders' association has been in session here for the past two days without reaching an agreement. The union wants an advance of 10 per cent and several changes in the rules.

Heavy Australian Fire Loss.

THINGS ARE DIFFERENT NOW.

When the present session of the State Legislature began, we were given to understand that the cause of good government had finally triumphed and that the Legislature would adopt a scheme of primary reform that would eliminate those conditions which had made so many of the primaries in Jersey a farce and a disgrace to the community. A measure was prepared by a commission composed of several of Jersey's ablest lawyers who understood the conditions and realized the remedies needed. It was all so satisfactory that one couldn't help feel proud of his State and its lawmakers. But, as was sung at the Hope Y. M. A. minstrels "Things are Different Now."

That measure went through the lower house and was forwarded to the Senate. Last Monday, there was a secret caucus of Republican senators on the bill and several "minor" amendments were prepared. These amendments were made and the measure rushed through Thursday afternoon. All the amendments do is to clarify some of the sections was the way the Majority Leader Wakelee explained them. And they did clarify them with a vengence.

One of the features of the bill demanded by the public and the commission headed by Edward C. Stokes, which drafted it, was the requirement that the plan adopted should rid party primaries of ring rule and dictation by enforcing a strictly secret and independent vote. To make this effective it was provided that none of the official ballots used in the praimries should be circulated or distributed outside the polling place. The amendments described by the Republican Senate leader as "simple and unimportant" cut out these restrictions and will allow the present machine methods of controlling primaries by marked ballots and dictated votes to be carried on as effectively as now, although some change in the systems may be necessitated.

The bill is to go to the House next week, and if the members of that body insist on restoring the provisions of the bill urged by the commission and by the Governor, to make it effective in creating real reform in primary methods, the Senate programme, it is asserted, is to continue amending and altering the bill and holding it up on various pretexts until its pagssage at the prsent session is impossible. If this course is followed out, it will be a lasting disgrace, not only to the Legislature but to the State as well.

Garwood is to be congratulated. Like Greater Plainfield, it has been living a dual existence. The dividing line between the townships of Westfield and Cranford ran right down the main street of the place. As in this community the Garwood people enjoyed a double government with all sorts of troublesome complications. Then there came a demand for one government. Westfield was willing but Cranford opposed. More fortunate than Plainfield, however, the Garwood people were given their rights by the Legislature without a question and now the people of that little community are preparing to celebrate this evening the good fortune that has come to them.

Assemblyman Scovel's automobile bill has been passed by both houses of the Legislature and will undoubtedly become a law. It is a compromise measure, intended to suit both the automobilists and the objectors. While there was a little question as to the speed limit, the vote was almost unanimous in favor of a three minute rate. While there are a few who are not pleased with the measure, it seems to satisfy most of the demands for a proper law to govern the use of automobiles in the State and eliminate the troubles over countless conflicting ordinances in the different municipalities in the State.

A word of praise is deserved by the committee which has arranged the Star Course of entertainments at the Y. M. C. A. this winter. Never has the Plainfield public been favored by a better assortment of high class entertainers than that which appeared at Y. M. C. A. Hall in the Star Course this winter. The association hall has been crowded on each occasion. The success of these entertainments has resulted in the arrangement of a supplemental course which promises to be equally successful.

We need look for no new developments in the annexation question until Attorney General McCarter brings in his report as to the legal status of the annexation act. The expression of opinion of the voters of North Plainfield at the March election must have impressed the legislators of the force of the movement which advocates the greater city and annexation.

SUBURBAN NEWS

A Department Devoted to the Minor Events in Greater Plainfield's Suburbs by Our Own Correspondents.

DUNELLEN.

Many residents of this place are displeased with the results of the location of several new factories in and about here. An application has been filed at New Brunswick for a license or a third saloon at this place. The people here are of the opinion that the two saloons here now are sufficient and are decidedly averse to having another one. A petition has been gotten up among the members of the Presbyterian church, protesting against the license. If it is granted the saloon will be opened in the western end of the town.

Miss Annie Burke, yesterday attended the funeral of her father, Michael Burke, at Waterbury, Conn. The deceased was badly injured in a railroad wreck some time ago and never recovered from the effects of his injuries.

A sale of the farm and personal goods of Robert Patterson is advertised for March 30, at the Hayes place, West Dunellen. George Day will auctioneer.

Several marriages of prominent young men of this place are on the tapes and it is said will take place in a few weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Larrabee, of Brookfield, are spending some time at the home of W. L. Larrabee.

Adam Dealaman has again relapsed into a worse condition and is unable to eat anything.

Dr. Browning, of Plainfield, has opened a branch office in the Todd building.

Miss Laura Lowrie, of Dover, is spending some time with relatives in town.

R. J. Swackhamer continues in the same condition as for the past few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Siriski have been entertaining William Stauch, of Raritan.

Arthur Gaston is having some improvements made around his place.

The Willing Workers will hold a regular meeting this afternoon.

Paul Reusch spent this morning in Plainfield on business.

NEW MARKET.

Friday night Stanley Day, of this place, was coming home quite late at night. As he crossed the railroad track he noticed several men standing on the bridge, waiting. As he neared the bridge they turned and came towards him. Mr. Day, thinking discretion the better of valor, went back and stayed at the railroad shanty until the coast was clear. It is thought that the men purposed holding him up.

Cottage prayer meeting was held last evening by the members of the Baptist church at the home of Samuel B. Merrell, of Dunellen. There was a very large attendance and an interesting meeting was held. Rev. Frank Fletcher lead.

The Piscataway Board of Education has awarded to George Huff, of Dunellen, the contract of carrying the school children from outlying districts to the local school.

The baseball team will practice this afternoon if the weather is clear.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

Manager Johnston, of the baseball team, is beginning to get his team in shape. The makeup to date is: Brogan, catcher; Harvey and Resique, pitchers. Resique is the crack twirler of the last season's Brooklyn champions, Sidneys. Crusius will be found at short as usual, Baldwin at second and H. Flannery in centre field. Manager Johnston has his eye on a crack third and first baseman, also a left and right fielders and expects to land them within a few days.

There seems to be quite some discussion among the sportsmen in town as to whether it is legal to spear for suckers. This is the season of the year when this fish is abundant in the brook and there is hardly a night but some one is out enjoying the sport while others who would enjoy it are kept from it because they claim there is a law against the sport. The fish law says that there shall be no spearing of any kind of fish.

Miss Melby, missionary to immigrants at Ellis Island, gave an interesting lecture yesterday afternoon in the parlors of the Baptist church upon the work done among the immigrants who come to this country seeking liberty and homes. Miss Melby is an entertaining talker and kept her audience interested for an hour. The lecture was given under the auspices of the Farther Lights Society of the church.

Rev. G. M. Shott, of the Baptist church, will occupy his pulpit at both services tomorrow. The order of service will be: Sunday-school, 9:30; morning preaching, 10:45; B. Y. P. U. meeting, 7; evening sermon in the parlors of the church, 7:45.

Rev. J. S. Baker, formerly pastor of the Baptist church but pastor for the past four years of the Bath Eden Baptist church, of Waltham, Mass., began his pastorate of the Lynn, (Mass.) Baptist church yesterday.

Conrad Peltz, who recently opened a barber shop over the postoffice, is doing a good business. There seems to be room for two tonsorial parlors in town but the town does not seem to support one meat market.

Mr. Earle has made a number of improvements about the pavillion and intends to make it a favorite place the coming summer for those who enjoy the tripping of the light fantastic.

The Township Committee will meet to organize in the town rooms tonight. The newly-elected township officers will be sworn in.

The usual Saturday evening dance will be held tonight at Earle' pavilion, music by Naylor, of Plainfield.

The Brooksides are holding their regular weekly shoot this afternoon on their grounds near the brook.

Rev. Mr. Bayliss will lead the weekly prayer and praise service at the Methodist church tonight.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Meyers will remove April 1 to the Marsh flat over Wade's grocery store.

Roy Day has returned from a visit with friends at New Providence.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

An entertainment will be given by the Dunellen Mandolin Club in Washington Hall, this evening at 8:15 o'clock, presenting three short plays, interspersed with musical selections. The first play will be "The Tempter," a sensational melo-drama, which will be given by E. Ross Linbarger, James A. Wotton, Clarence N. Linbarger and Miss Violet Dumont. The second play, "By Telephone," will be presented by Clarence N. Linbarger and Mrs. James Fesmier. "Burglars" is the name of the third play and the cast includes James A. Wotton, Mrs. John Lance, Miss Annie Wilcox and Clarence N. Linbarger. Between the plays there will be instrumental selections by the club. The music will be under the direction of Miss Emma Nelson.

Hollis Cubberley, accompanied by his friend, Walter Wilber, of Charleston, South Carolina, is home from college for the spring vacation of ten days.

There is a rumor that a manufactory establishment will be placed in this section, for the production of tin plate ware.

At the Baptist church tomorrow, Rev. W. A. Spinney will preach morning and evening.

Melvin Teeple has recovered from illness and is back at work in the switch tower.

Harry J. Manning, of Arlington, will spend Sunday with his friends in town.

Musical College Men.

The Wesleyan University Glee and Mandolin Clubs will give a concert at the Monroe Avenue M. E. church, Thursday evening, April 16, under the auspices of the young men's organization of the church. These clubs are among the leaders in this class of musical entertainment. A pleasing evening may be expected.

—Miss Ruby Smalley, of Dunellen, has accepted a position in the local telephone exchange as an operator.

PANAMA CANAL TALK

Main Features of a Stupendous Engineering Work.

New York Firms Hope to Get Contracts for Building the Ditch—Political Aspects of Canal Treaty.

[Special New York Letter.]

NEW YORK financiers and contractors are taking a deep interest in the progress of the Panama canal negotiations. It seems to be the consensus of opinion that both the United States and the little republic of Colombia are to be congratulated on the outcome of Secretary of State Hay's negotiations, according to which the United States is to pay $10,000,000 outright and an annual rental of $250,000, the latter to begin nine years after the ratification of the treaty. The canal strip is to be leased to the United States for 100 years, with the privilege of renewal; but all rights and privileges of sovereignty are reserved by Colombia. Even the right to enforce police regulations in the leased territory is granted only in case of emergency. According to article 23, in case armed troops are required, "Colombia agrees to provide the forces necessary;" and if these Colombian troops are unable to preserve order the United States may, with the consent of Colombia, bring in its own forces. Under exceptional circumstances, it is conceded, the United States may bring in troops without red tape, but in that case "as soon as sufficient Colombian forces shall arrive those of the United States shall retire." Colombia is to establish judicial tribunals within the canal belt; and joint tribunals, to consist of Colombian and American jurists, shall sit for the trial of all cases between citizens of Colombia and those of the United States. The only exclusive judicial jurisdiction the United States will enjoy in the canal zone, according to article 13, will be in cases "between citizens of the United States and citizens of any foreign nation other than the republic of Colombia."

VIEW OF CULEBRA CUT ON PANAMA CANAL.

The principal engineering feats of the canal are, of course, of universal interest just now. The isthmus of Panama is 35 miles wide in a straight line, but the canal will be about 38½ miles long, not including channel dredging in the terminal harbors. The general direction from the Caribbean to the Pacific outlet is from northwest to southeast. The Pacific port, Panama, is about 20 miles further east than Colon, on the Atlantic. The highest ground is off to the south, when the elevation sometimes is 300 feet above the sea level. The water supply comes from the Chagres river, to the eastward of the canal route. That stream joins the latter near Gamboa, and widens out into a lake, called Bohio, 12½ miles long. Much of this can be used for the canal at small cost. The general course of the Chagres is northwestward, and it empties into the Caribbean several miles west of Colon, having flowed through a low, marshy country much of the way. From Lake Bohio the canal follows a different route from the river. It is proposed to have the bottom of the canal 150 feet wide. The slope of the banks, and hence the width at the top, will depend on the nature of the soil through which the canal, which is to be 35 feet deep, is cut.

ROUTE OF PANAMA CANAL.

To the first stretch of 12½ miles southward from Colon there will probably be no interruption. In order to reach the level of Lake Bohio two or three locks will be necessary. Gen. H. V. Abbot advised having the lake, whose height will be determined by a dam across the old path of the Chagres, only 70 feet above sea level. The United States commission adopted 90 feet as the standard, although in the driest season this may fall off to 82.

Where the canal taps the lake two or three locks are to be introduced. The commission favored only two, each making a difference of 42 or 45 feet in the water level. Although such locks are feasible, it is remotely possible that three may be finally adopted, as it is safer to lock up and down only 30 feet at a time. If a third lock is introduced perhaps it will not be located close to the other two, but be constructed at Tiger hill. An enormous dam, blocking the course of the Chagres, is to be built a little east of the Bohio locks. Engineers say that there will be less danger of seepage, or leakage through the soil, if there is a head of only 65 to 70 feet here, instead of one of 90. Still, if there is another lock at Tiger hill the same effect would be secured.

A spillway, to discharge the surplus water of Lake Bohio, will be constructed three miles to the southwest of the dam and locks, on a small tributary called the Gigante. A natural outlet exists here, 65 feet above sea level. Of course, the spillway must be higher than that to maintain the desired level in Lake Bohio. The commission proposes to have it 85 feet above the sea. From the Gigante the water will drain off through swamps to the lower Chagres, a little excavating helping the flow here. It is expected that the Gigante spillway will serve as an automatic safety valve in time of floods.

As already stated, about 12½ miles of the route lie through Lake Bohio. For fully seven miles there will be deep water. Only a little dredging will be necessary as Gamboa is approached. To the southeast of the latter point lies the heaviest work along the whole route. For nearly eight miles (7.95 to be exact) a cut in the backbone of the isthmus will be needed to bring the canal down to the proper level. This is known as the Culebra cut. The water will be no higher here than in Lake Bohio, and there will be no locks. However, as it may be desirable to drain the Culebra level some time, gates will be introduced near Gamboa (at Obispo.)

It may be remarked, in passing, that the depth of the Culebra cut bears a close relation to the height of the Bohio dam. The amount of excavation in the former was lessened 20 feet when the commission decided to raise the level of Lake Bohio to 90 feet above the sea, instead of 70 feet. On the other hand, if Gen. Abbot's recommendations had been adopted, it would have been necessary to go 20 feet lower in the cut. Part of the material to be removed here is rock, but a good deal more is merely clay.

Partly to control the excesses of the Chagres in very rainy weather, it has been proposed to build a dam at Alhajuela, 10 or 11 miles east of Gamboa, near the source of the stream. An artificial lake there would serve as a reservoir, take care of part of the surplus water when the precipitation was heavy, and thus relieve Lake Bohio of a part of its responsibility. By affording storage it would, moreover, be able to reinforce the lower lake in the dry season.

At the southeastern end of the Culebra cut, at Pedro Miguel, there is a drop of 62 feet, managed by two locks. At Miraflores, a mile and a third further, another lock lowers the level 28 feet more. Beyond that point to Panama, over four miles, the canal is at sea level. Dredging in Colon harbor to the extent of 2.6 miles and at Panama for 3.6 miles will add materially to the work required, but these figures are not included in the estimates already given in congress for the canal proper.

GOWNS FOR MOURNING.

Many of Them Beautiful Creations Widows May Wear Hats.

We all know that everything, whether good or bad, has its compensation, and therefore we are prepared to find a sort of subdued comfort in elegantly cut and fashioned garments, even though they are designed to express sorrow and mourning for the dead. One might even say that the fashionable mourning gowns are made more carefully and beautifully than those for ordinary occasions. The skirts are made to conform with the most stylish of the modes of the day. Haircloth and featherbone give them the fashionable flare at the base and cause them to fall in rich folds at the bottom. The materials used vary to a great extent, according to the age of the wearer and the degree of relationship. The silk warp eudora still remains the one thing for elegant first mourning, but after that come soft textures of silk and wool mingled or of silk alone in some clever crape weave. Fine dull cashmere and a crape cloth made of mohair and Australian wool, woven in form of heavy crape, are also shown.

There is a kind of armure cloth which makes up into very pretty mourning gowns when developed with all the care used in making other handsome garments. One dress of this kind is shown at one of the stores. The skirt, which is just allowed to touch the floor in the back, has a twelve inch shaped flounce around the bottom. This is a little deeper at the back and is stiffened in the approved fashion with a black taffeta ruffle beneath as a protector. On the flounce is one band of English crape four inches deep and above that three rolls of the same crape, as small as they can be made. The skirt is cut in many gores, every one of them piped down with the crape. Where the flounce joins the skirt there is a flat band one inch wide. There is a short half fitting coat to wear with this of the same material. The revers, cuffs and pocket lids are of the crape. There is a vest of dull armure silk, and this is buttoned to the chin with crape covered buttons. The outside coat, which is fastened to the vest, is so made that the flat collar and revers render some such arrangement necessary. Like the poor, the high collars are always with us. The mode of fastening the outside coat to the vest obtains in many of the new spring suits.

Even widows are now allowed by fashion to wear hats instead of uncomfortable little bonnets. It is not uncommon to see a lady with a large flat hat made, it is true, of crape, but tucked and puffed and ruched into something like grace and beauty.

There are many vest effects in mourning attire. Perhaps the wish to have something a little less somber has something to do with it. It is and always was a pretty fashion. Blouse bodices are often seen. Under those circumstances the waist is made ornamental with tucks and folds of crape and sometimes with a little dull chenille embroidery. A home gown for a young widow is made of voile, set over a taffeta slip. Around the shaped flounce are narrow rolled bands of crape, two at the bottom and two at the top. Around the hips the skirt is trimmed with very narrow pipings, and the blouse waist has revers of heavy English crape and a shirred vest of the same. The collar is a band of the voile, with a turndown collar of crape. The collars may be of white tucked lisse or fine mull, all white or with black stitching. This is a matter of individual taste.

In matters of mourning costume more latitude is now allowed than some years ago. A woman in really deep mourning may now go to informal dinners and assist at semigrand functions at home after the first three months. For such occasions is the pretty fancy of a waist shown here. The skirt is of some regulation mourning goods, such as armure silk or eudora cloth, but the waist is made of black chiffon shirred in lengthwise rows and garnished with exceedingly narrow folds of crape in clusters of three. Around the semidecollete neck is a ruff of accordion plaited silk mull edged with a narrow ruche of chiffon. Just above that is an arrangement of folds of crape edged with dull jet beads. Jet ornaments in form of light neck laces are very much liked. The older the style is the better is it liked.

Gloves for mourning are of suede or glace kid. One's handkerchief may be entirely white or embroidered black or with a hem of black. Full gowns of chiffon and brussels net made over silk are the proper thing when the wearer wishes to go to some dinner or reception permitted by the ordinary conventionalities. Some gowns are made simple, but others are much trimmed with jet. HENRIETTE ROUSSEAU.

CHAPTER III.

Out in the open he saw David standing before the horses and trap of the fishing party, holding his gun across the back of his brawny neck, like the yoke of a water-carrier.

"Well, I'll be dumswiveled," he said, as Ronald approached, "an' may I make the biggest cracklin' in eternal fire, ef ever I'd a believed a brother o' mine could be seen in confidential confab with a daughter of old Hasbrooke. If I'd a-had a bottle along, I'd a-swore it was a delusion, but I hain't tetched a drop sence ten o'clock this mornin'."

Ronald hated himself for being obliged to make excuses for her.

"She simply happened along where I was fishing, Dave. I hope you won't talk about it, and cause any misconstruction to be put on it."

"You don't mean you an' her could git acquainted like that, in sech a short time," remarked David, as they walked along the sandy road side by side.

"I have met her once before—a year ago. She was in Regan's meadow, and got frightened at his bull. I drove the bull away, and she—she stopped to speak to me again to-day. That was all."

But David's fancy for the novelty of the situation from his standpoint was not easily cooled. It was plain to Ronald that he was still turning it over in his mind by the low grunts and exclamations of wonder that seemed jolted from his lips by his heavy strides.

"Well, I'm shore glad of one thing," he said, finally, "and that is that the colonel didn't happen along just like I did."

His brother knew what was coming, and yet he asked: "Why, Dave?"

"Because the old codger'd 'a' raised more sand 'n a Texas tornado, that's all. Why, Ron, are you a blamed fool, with no more sense than a last yeer's bird nest? Don't you know nobody by the name o' Fanshaw never stood on a level with them sort o' folks? Ef I went up thar on business, or ma, or pa or either of the gals went to sell 'em eggs or socks, wouldn't we go to the back door, like all the rest of our sort? Why, Ron, jest now you was a settin' cross-legged on the colonel's piazza a-smokin' one of his seegars like a privileged character. Ha, ha, don't know how it knocked the wind out of me!"

Ronald, his face dark and his brow lowering, found himself reduced to saying:

"I hope you won't mention it at home, Dave."

His brother stared at him curiously.

"You know I can hold my tongue," he said. "I wouldn't go round shootin' off my mouth about a thing like that for anything. The colonel would shoot the top o' my head off; he's a wheel hoss, I tell you."

Ronald brought him to a stop in the center of the road.

"Dave, do you really think we are so degraded as that?"

The burly fellow shrugged his shoulders.

"We are as good, I reckon, as the general run of our own sort," was his answer, and he smiled so broadly that a brown tobacco quid showed between his big yellow teeth, "but, as the fellow said: 'Dang the sort.' I reckon the Almighty made us out o' scraps when He was too tired to watch what He was doin'. I reckon we are some better'n a cornfield nigger, but we'd jest be blind to our own imperfections ef we didn't admit that thar is folks as much higher'n us as we are higher'n tadpoles."

"That is a dangerous philosophy, David," protested Ronald, deeply stung by his brother's words. "If you ever expect to rise in the world, you must remember—keep the idea always before you—that a man is what he makes himself."

"Shucks, thar hain't a word o' that so," grunted David. "Col. Hasbrooke is our big man, an' he hain't what he made hisse'f. His father owned 600 slaves, an' land enough to start a republic on, an' government bonds, an' storehouses in Atlanta, an' what not. No, the colonel is a sample o' what his daddy done fur 'im; you can bet yore sweet life on that! An' as fur that matter, me'n you is jest what Jade Fanshaw has made out'n us. I tell you, blood has got a lots to do with it. Col. Hasbrooke's father fit in the Mexican war, an' the colonel stuck hisse'f up to be shot at in defense o' his niggers in the civil war, but Jade Fansbaw's daddy before 'im was sent up fur housebreakin, an' instead o' shoulderin' his musket to drive the yelpin' Yanks out o' the south Jade hid in the mountains up in Tennessee, an' turned bushwhacker, an' lived on what he could rob from helpless women an' childern. I hope nobody round heer won't find all that out. We've got black eye enough, as it is."

"I always try to forget that," sighed Ronald.

"Ah, my honey!" ejaculated the uncouth philosopher, in a triumphant tone, "but Col. Hasbrooke don't try to forget nothin' his daddy did. Not on yore tin type! I've heerd he has his pa's uniform in a big glass case, an' a picture of 'im on a hoss in full tilt after the enemy. They say the old feller fit like a tiger cub with one yeer shot off as clean as a baby's belly, an' a piece of cannon-ball as big as a saucer in his shoulder; they say jest as he was expirin' a feller bent over 'im an' his last kick landed in his bread-basket, an' doubled 'im up like a razor. Ah, come off,' you needn't argue with me, Ron!"

The listener to this frowned, as he swung his basket to and fro, but he did not want to be misunderstood by his brother.

"What I mean, David, is that if a young man really has it in him, and will study hard enough, he can climb to the highest rung of the ladder of success."

Dave laughed loudly for fully a minute, then he said:

"Your ladder would have to be stout enough to hold up all creation, fur the minute you begun to mount all four of them overweights at our house would start after you, an' they'd stick to you, ef they saw you on the climb—they would ef they fell an' smashed the'rsels into a jelly. Huh! I'd 'a' run for president myself long ago, but I don't like the idea o' them three in low neck an' short sleeves helpin' me'n my wife shake hands in the white house with the whole shootin'-match o' big likes."

Ronald gave up the discussion. His brother's coarse allusion to his mother and sisters failed to appeal to his sense of humor. He was thinking of Evelyn Hasbrooke's patrician features and lithe form—of her exquisite refinement and delicate sympathy. By this time the two brothers had almost reached their home; they could see the sagging roof of their father's house. Half a mile further on in the gathering dusk loomed the white walls and lighted windows of Carnleigh. At this point the dull, steady beat of horses' hoofs fell on their ears.

"It's the Hasbrooke gang," announced David.

Ronald's heart sank like a plummet. He had hoped to reach home before the party overtook him. He reproached himself for the feeling, but he shrank from being seen by Evelyn and her friends in company with one as illclothed as his brother. David stepped to the side of the road and stood openmouthed, to see the trap and horses pass, but Ronald, without looking back, simply kept on his way. He had made up his mind that he should not doff his hat, as he knew David would, like the peasant he was. He heard a woman's voice singing a plantation melody, accompanied by a mellow bass. He decided that the woman's voice had a harsh quality which could not have belonged to Evelyn's, although he had never heard her sing. The vehicle was just behind him. He heard his brother shouting out a shrill warning, and was turning to see what had occasioned it, when the horses brushed by him, the front wheel of the trap striking the hand which held the basket, dashing it to the ground and scattering its contents over the sand. He heard Evelyn scream out in terror from her seat beside Capt. Winkle, who was driving, and saw her desperately pulling on his arm.

The vehicle drew up a few yards away, and it looked as if the driver was going to offer some apology, but seeing that Ronald was still on his feet, Winkle vigorously applied the whip to the horses and drove on rapidly. David ran up and began to pick up the fallen articles.

"By Joe, you had a close shave," he grunted. "I 'lowed once you was a dead goner.'

He had put all the things back into the basket, when he noticed for the first time the awful white look on Ronald's face.

"Why, what's the matter?" he asked. "Did it hurt you?"

Ronald was slowly rubbing a bleeding bruise on the back of his hand, but he seemed not to be thinking of it.

"He drove against me on purpose," he said, the words seeming to come from far down in his throat—"deliberately on purpose, I tell you."

"Do you reckon so, Ron?"

"I know it!"

David gazed at him steadily for a moment, then he remarked:

"To tell you the truth, Ron, I thought so myse'f. You see, I was behind; he kept the hosses squar in the road till he passed me, an' then I seed 'im pull like all possessed on the left rein. But why don't you come on? You know it's late an' the old man fusses when we are late."

Still our hero stood rubbing his hand and staring in front of him. When he finally spoke, his voice quivered and sounded unnatural.

"I shall never rest till I have resented it," he said, as if communing with himself. "I could not live and take that off any man alive."

Do You Wish To Borrow Money?

In order to accommodate all classes of borrowers (those who cannot borrow at a bank, as well as those who can), the Mutual Loan and Investment Company, of 118 Market street, Newark, N. J., has a department for handling quickly and confidentially loans ranging from $10 to $500 on furniture, pianos, storage receipts, etc.

The security is not removed from your possession or in any way disturbed. The honest careful and conservative borrower will try and decide two points before borrowing. First, where he can get the best terms. Second, where he can get fair and square treatment.

This company is in a position to give you by far the most satisfactory terms ever offered by any concern or individual negotiating this class of loans.

With this company you are assured of getting the lowest rates, easiest payments and longest time for repayment. The whole transaction from the time the application is made until loan is paid is entirely confidential. BANK OFFICER ARRESTED.

Vice President White of Hyndman, Pa., Charged With Embezzlement.

PHILADELPHIA, March 21.—Charged with embezzlement and other irregularities amounting to about $20,000, George B. White, the vice president and director of the Bank of South Pennsylvania at Hyndman, Bedford county, has been arrested by a deputy United States marshal and held in $8,000 bail by United States Commissioner Craig for a further hearing next Wednesday.

In an interview after the hearing Examiner Mason said:

"I found that the bank instead of having $10,000 surplus was $50,000 worse off than nothing. Among the 'assets' were $11,000 worth of George B. White's notes and a note signed by his sister, Mrs. S. W. Tully of Philadelphia, for $5,000, dated in 1900. Mrs. Tully, I have positively learned, died two years before that date. Among these 'assets' were also notes to a large amount of the Hazen Tanning company, a concern which failed years ago."

Mr. Mason stated further that the Hyndman bank was organized in 1889 by John K. White, a brother of the accused, who, Mr. Mason states, is a fugitive from justice. He also organized the Hazen Tannery company, built an electric light plant and started a newspaper. During the panic of 1893 John White's schemes failed, according to Mr. Mason, and he disappeared. Later his brother George came on the scene and claimed 300 shares of the bank's stock which had belonged to John. George was the promoter of the Amazon Trading company, which was organized with a capital of $15,000,000. Mr. Mason says the accused borrowed $380,000 from New York and Boston banks on the stock and then went into bankruptcy.

COLLISION KILLED SIX.

Many Injured Also by Meeting of Fall River Steamers.

NEW LONDON, Conn., March 21.—The total number of dead as a result of the collision on the big passenger steamer Plymouth of the Fall River line, eastbound for Fall river from New York, and the freight steamer City of Taunton of the same line just east of Plum island is six. All of the killed were on board the Plymouth.

The list of injured was difficult to obtain for the reason that many who were slightly hurt were attended to immediately upon the arrival of the Plymouth here and then proceeded on their way. Six or seven persons sustained serious injuries. There were many others slightly hurt who proceeded with the special train to Boston.

The responsibility for the accident has not been determined and will be the subject of an investigation. It is said by the officers of the two vessels that both were going at a fair speed considering the fog and that there was not time after the warning whistles which speedily followed the lookout's discovery of the danger to avert the collision.

Engines on both the vessels were reversed, but they seemed to have met under strong headway, the bow of the City of Taunton, which was proceeding toward the west, bound from Fall River to New York, penetrating ten feet into the hull of the eastbound passenger boat. Swiftly following the impact came the reverse movement, and as the vessels pulled apart the bow of the freight steamer raked the upper works of the Plymouth with terrible destructiveness, tearing out the second cabin and ripping out staterooms like so much cardboard. Seven cabins in all were swept from the starboard bow of the big passenger boat.

Eight Hour Day For Miners.

ALTOONA, Pa., March 21.—The coal miners of the second bituminous district have at last gained a concession from the operators for which they have been fighting for the last five years—namely, an eight hour day. A scale on the basis of an eight hour day was signed by representatives of the miners and operators at 6 o'clock last evening. The miners, however, were obliged to relinquish the 12½ and 14 per cent increase respectively for pick and machine mining called for by the national agreement made at Indianapolis and which the operators were willing to grant on a nine hour basis. An increase of 10 per cent is granted for pick mining and an increase of 12 per cent for machine mining. The signing of the scale brought the meeting of the miners and operators to an end.

A Strike at Rahway, N. J.

RAHWAY, N. J., March 21.—Five hundred employees of the Wheeler Condenser works have gone on strike. The trouble started originally with the laborers, who struck after demanding $1.75 per day instead of $1.50. A committee was appointed to see the machinists, and they were induced to go out also. The sheriff and six deputies are at the works to preserve order. The laborers are mostly Hungarians and Poles, and trouble is feared.

Assemblyman Fatally Stabbed.

NEW YORK, March 21.—Assemblyman Frank J. Ulrich of the Sixth district, Brooklyn, is dying at his home, 1022 De Kalb avenue, from stab wounds which he received at the hands of three young rowdies late at night as a result of making a vigorous protest against the insults offered to two young women on a trolley car.

ON THE DIAMOND.

The Young Star baseball team, which made quite a record last year, will not put a team in the field this season, as most of its players have joined other West End baseball clubs.

The Seventh B. grade of the Whittier School organized a baseball team yesterday. C. Murphy was elected manager and W. F. Wilson, captain. The team will appear for practice on Hope common Monday afternoon.

The Garwood A. C. has organized for the season and would like to book games with teams from Plainfield and vicinity. Only the strongest amateur nines need apply for dates. Address all communications to Richard Watt, Garwood, N. J.

The Young Alerts held a meeting, Wednesday evening and elected the following for the ensuing year: Manager, Frank Rimmer; captain, Wallace Pierce; secretary and treasurer, Harry Ransburg. The team has secured the services of Robert Mitchell as pitcher. He is considered one of the best of younger West End twirlers.

An exciting game of baseball, that was witnessed by a large crowd of spectators, took place on Hope common yesterday afternoon between the Whittier School Firsts and the Underwood A. A. The former team won by a score of 15 to 12. The teams lined up as follows: Whittier Firsts—Randolph p, Taylor c, VanDeventer 2b, Collier 1b, Guinn 3b, J. VanDeventer ss, Hardcastle lf, Loizeaux cf, Randolph rf. Underwood A. A.—W. Douglas c, J. Douglas p, Doane 1b, Lovell 2b, Long 3b, Glenny ss, Buckle lf, Scott cf, Slocum rf.

GOLF.

At a meeting of the United States Golf Association held this week in New York, the Cranford Golf Club was elected to membership as an allied club.

To accommodate persons who desire to play golf on the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club course early in the season, the Board of Governors will meet just before the opening day, April 11, to consider applications for membership. There are a number who desire to join the club and some have already presented applications.

WILL TO STAND.

The Decision Given Out in the Famous Isaiah Corliell Will Case.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, March 21—In the Orphans' Court yesterday Judge Schenck read his decision in the celebrated Isaiah Corriell will case, which has been thoroughly sifted during the past two months. The Court decided to allow the will to be admitted to probate and signed an order to that effect at once.

The estate is worth $10,500 and there are fifty-five legatees. The executor is Jeremiah Codington, of Warrenville. The grandnieces and nephews sought to prevent the probate of the will on the ground that it had not been duly executed. They were not mentioned as legatees.

Counsel fees were awarded as follows: James L. Griggs, $200; Jas. J. Bergen, Horace Codington, W. R. Codintgon, H. K. Gaston, W. A. Codington and F. A. Pope, $150 each. This will be paid out of the estate. Counsel for both sides were allowed fees.

TO GET EVEN?

The Mysterious Barn Fire Near New Market, Last Night, Laid to Tramps.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

New Market, March 21—The large barn and contents owned by Michael Reidy at this place, were totally destroyed by fire between 8 and 9 o'clock last evening. The only things saved were two hogs. Mr. Reidy places his loss at between $1,500 and $2,000. The fire is of unknown origin.

The property was formerly owned by Nelson Giles, of Plainfield. Mr. Reidy is employed by the New Jersey Central and has charge of the "tanks" at West Dunellen. It is known that he has enemies, chiefly among the tramp fraternity and it is possible that they have taken this means to "get even." The property was only partially insured.

WHAT OTHERS SAY.

Farmer Orator James E. Martine, of Plainfield, now has a countenance that bears out his title. He has been kicked in the face by a horse and will carry the scar for a long time. People who, in the past, have declared that Mr. Martine was too smooth looking to be a farmer, can now find no fault with him on that score, and if he is nominated for office he may stand a better show of winning than in former years. —Newark News.

Cold Comfort From Doctors.

Doctors say neuralgia is not dangerous. This is poor consolation to a sufferer who feels as if his face were pierced with hot needles and torn with a thousand pairs of pincers. A word of advice to him: stay indoors and use Perry Davis' Painkiller. The blessed freedom from pain which follows this treatment cannot be told. There is but one Painkiller, Perry Davis'.

PRESS TROPHY TO WESTFIELD

THREE GAMES FROM CRANFORD SETTLED RESULT OF THIS CONTEST.

Westfield and Roselle Now Have Two Wins Each for Daily Press Bowling Trophy.

The postponed series in The Daily Press Bowling League between Cranford Casino and the Westfield Club at Westfield was played last evening when the Westfields, by winning all three games, captured The Daily Press trophy for another year. The Westfield Club and Roselle Casino will now each have two wins for The Daily Press trophy.

The scores for the three games were: Westfield 826, Cranford 681, in the first; Westfield 837 and Cranford 710 in the second; and Westfield 787 and Cranford 770 in the third.

CENTRAL'S CHIEF DETECTIVE

W. J. DOUGHERTY JUST CELEBRATED HIS FORTY-FIRST BIRTHDAY.

Some of Career of One of Jersey Central's Most Useful Officials.

W. J. Dougherty, who has been connected with the New Jersey Central and who is so well and favorably known in this city, recently celebrated the forty-first anniversary of his birthday. Since entering the railroad service as a messenger boy at the age of sixteen years, he has been more or less a prominent figure along the line of the New Jersey Central. His advancement has been rapid which is due to the fact that he has always attended strictly to business and done his work well. Mr. Dougherty is now chief of detectives of the New Jersey Central, which position he is filling very satisfactorily.

The chief, who was born in New Market, won favor among the Central's officials in April, 1900, when, as a detective, he brought to justice a gang of fourteen tramps and saved the company thousands of dollars. For some time valuable brasses on journal boxes, as well as rich merchandise, were taken systematically from freight cars, and detection seemed impossible. Locating the rendezvous of the thieves at the old New Jersey Jockey Club's headquarters, Dougherty disguised himself as a hobo and sought the acquaintance of the men. For two weeks he was their constant companion, winning their confidence and assisting in their depredations. Assisting in the work, Dougherty discovered that the brasses were being sold to a junk dealer in Newark, who had several tons of the metal in his shop. Alleging that there was bigger game in Elizabeth, the detective persuaded two of the leaders to accompany him to Elizabeth. When once there he placed them under arrest, and returning to Elizabethport with a squad of police, the other tramps were taken into custody, and later the junk dealer was captured. Dougherty's promotion followed last year.

Dougherty has been in succession a messenger boy, telegraph operator, foreman, engineer and detective. While in the service of the Lehigh Valley Railroad Company he was badly scalded in a wreck near Sayre, Pa. This occurred in 1893, and after his recovery Dougherty resigned his position. He is a member of the Knights of Columbus, and the Police Chief's Association. Under his control are 125 men in the service of the New Jersey Central located in New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania.

SAFE CO. ATHLETICS.

Association Formed by Employes and Officers Elected.

The Manganese Steel Safe Co. Athletic Association was formally organized at a meeting held yesterday afternoon. It is composed exclusively of the employes of the Manganese Steel Safe Company, formerly the Hibbard-Rodman-Ely Safe Co. The following officers were elected: President, Edward P. Gaston; vice president, Roger W. Erickson; secretary-treasurer, Samuel W. Fish; board of governors, Alex. Muir, Wm. Symons, David Marcom, A. Anderson, Fred Harrel and H. Cox. Alex. Muir will represent the association at the meeting of the City Baseball League this evening.

Howard George Leaves Hospital.

Howard George, of Craig place, one of the most seriously injured of the Westfield wreck victims, was discharged from Muhlenberg Hospital, today. He is able to get about on crutches, but it will be many weeks yet before he is entirely well. There are four wreck people still at the hospital.

Old Resident of Lincoln Gone.

known that to be true their opinion might have been different.

Miss Maude Viginia Carter, principal of a select young woman's seminary at East Millstone and one of the intimate friends of the Olcotts who attended the alleged seances at the homestead, was sworn and asserted that the boys first brought the ouija board out from the city and that it had not been used since 1887. She said that the whole thing, all the rappings and messages over the board and slates had merely been just in fun and she did not believe that any of the party that used to gather at the Olcott home ever took any serious interest in the affairs of spiritualism. Miss Carter was an excellent witness and her testimony will be continued next Friday, when the taking of testimony in the case is resumed.

Joseph H. Olcott, who died about three months ago in the Post Graduate Hospital in New York, had resided at East Millstone about forty years. He was highly esteemed by his townspeople, who had no intimation that his home was the abode of spiritualism, as alleged by his sons.

With his brother Adrain as a partner he started the Millstone distillery before the Civil War, and laid the foundation of his fortune by a quick play in the face of Government measures that threatened to destroy his business. In 1865 a law was enacted imposing a tax of $2 a gallon on whiskey for revenue purposes. In the few months left before the law went into effect the Olcotts bought up vast quantities of grain and run their distillery to its fullest capacity with the result that when the law went into effect they had stored thousands of gallons of whiskey free of tax. With the high tax the price of whiskey soared upward and the Olcott brothers by their stroke of business sagacity were enabled to retire from business and live in quiet luxury the remainder of their lives.

Joseph erected a pretentious home in East Millstone, where he reared four children, three of whom are at present fight for his estate. The other, Dr. Frederick, is in broken health in a sanitarium in Los Angeles, Cal.

The daughter, Mrs. Korff, who until recently was Miss Josephine Olcott, is a highly accomplished young woman who was noted in Millstone vicinity for her devotion to her father. She had many suitors, but refused to marry while he lived. A few weeks after his death she married Joseph Korff, of New York, and they are now living at the homestead.

By the terms of her father's will Mrs. Korff is left $20,000 and the three sons the residue of the estate, which is valued at about $30,000. James J. Bergen is her counsel.

The case has attracted unusual attention because of its novelness. The Ouija board, mystical slates, etc., have all been exhibited in court and entered in evidence.

Cake-Walk Was Feature.

Miss Drucilla Smith, of Washington avenue, was tendered a pleasant surprise party last evening, by twenty of her friends. Games, music and dancing were features, while added enjoyment was derived from a cake walk between two couples, Fred Armstrong and Miss Mary Smith and Edgar George and Miss Mary Woolston. The former were declared winners. An elaborate supper was served at midnight.

Mrs. J. H. Blimm, of East Second street, is visiting friends in New York.

WHY HE NOMINATED SCHLEY

ELSTON M. FRENCH TELLS HOW HE CAME TO BE FIRST TO DO SO.

'Twas Done in Hotel Elevator at New Orleans During the Mardi Gras.

Assessor Elston M. French, of North Plainfield, has returned from his recent trip south and while talking to a Press reporter on his trip and the incidents of his stay in New Orleans spoke of how he came to be the first man to nominate Admiral Schley for President of the United States.

It was while he was stopping at the St. Charles Hotel, in New Orleans, while the Mardi Gras festivities were going on there. One morning, he was coming down in the elevator with General Joe Wheeler and others when the talk turned to the possible candidate for the next president of the United States when Mr. French said that he wished to settle all talk on that matter by placing Admiral Schley's name for the honor. In the same spirit General Wheeler seconded the motion.

Later in the day Mr. French was going up in the elevator when Admiral Schley stepped in the lift and the two exchanged greetings. Large black headlines in the paper which Mr. French held in his hands attracted the Admiral's attention and he thanked Mr. French for the honor but said that he thought that that honor would not be for him. The incident made quite a stir in the Louisana capital for some time during the festivities there, and seemed to strike the right spot in the southern Democracy.

WAGGED TOO MUCH.

"Mayor" Wm. B. Smith's Tongue Cost Him $10 and Costs of Trial.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

New Market, Mach 21—"Mayor" William B. Smith, of this place, one of the Fair heirs, got himself into trouble last week by a too free use of his extensive vocabulary.

Smith was talking with Harry Palmer, of this place, and during the discussion the conversation became heated. Smith, it is said, called Palmer names which are unprintable. Palmer resented the remarks and went before Justice VonMinden and had a warrant sworn out for the arrest of the "Mayor." The warrant was served yesterday by Constable Pierce and Mr. Smith was haled to the bar of justice.

Upon hearing both sides of the case Justice VonMinden decided that Smith was in the wrong and fined him $10, together with the costs of the court. It is rumored that Mr. Smith is somewhat displeased with the result of his tongue license.

WHY APPLYING CLUBS SHOULD BE ADMITTED

Communications From Those Desirous of Seeing League Membership Enlarged.

GIVE THEIR REASONS

BELIEVE THAT AS REPSESENTATIVE TEAMS, THEY SHOULD BE ADMITTED.

Reasons Why Alis Club and Reform Club Should be in City Baseball League This Season—Given by Members of Those Clubs.

All Plainfield is interested in the future of the City Baseball League and what is to be done now regarding the applications of four additional teams for membership in the league. Each of the four teams has what it considers excellent reasons for its admission. Two communications explaining some of those reasons have been received by The Daily Press and are published herewith.

To the Editor of The Daily Press:—In regard to the proposed city baseball league I should like to say a few words for the Alis Club and in favor of a five team league.

The Alis Club is composed of fellows who have been identified with Plainfield baseball for many seasons. Many of them have lived here all their lives and have always taken an active part in baseball affairs. At least five of the Alis team will be fellows who played on the championship team of last year. Their amateur standing cannot be questioned.

With a five team league it gives each team one Saturday off out of every five; which means about three Saturdays during the entire season. These open dates would be very desirable for arranging out of town games or for resting up and getting a line on your opponents. Last year we missed not being able to see other games beside the ones we were playing, but with a five team league we would have a chance once out of every five Saturdays.

Hoping that we see the Alis Club playing for the pennant, I am,

Yours respectfully,
Chauncey H. Burt.

To the Editor of The Daily Press:—While the question of admitting new teams into the baseball league is being considered by its members, we beg leave to present to the members and to the public several reasons why the Plainfield Reform Club should be admitted to the league.

First, the object and purpose of the club is to promote temperance and morality among the young men of Plainfield. We believe that physical developement, properly directed, is the best agent for improving the morals. Therefore the club has taken up athletics and will make them a permanent part of its work.

Second, the membership is not limited to any sect, class or locality, the one requirement being good morals. This, we claim, makes the club representative and gives every man of ability an equal chance of making the team.

Third, the club has the moral and financial support of many prominent and influencial men of both city and borough which insures the sincerity and stability of the team.

Fourth, the club is capable of maintaining a strong team as it already has the promise of enough candidates to make two or three teams. Among these are several of last year's league players, together with other men of considerable experience, including mechanics, clerks, business men and college men.

Fifth, the club is prepared financially to maintain its team and negotiations are now underway for providing good grounds and for equipping the team.

Sixth, for the reasons given above the club feels that it is desirable to put a strong team in the field whether admitted to the league or not, and if not admitted will be obliged to bring in teams from other towns and thus support others when we prefer to support our local league.

That the club is sincere in its intentions is evidenced by the fact that its basket ball team—although started late in the season and composed of raw recruits—has made a very creditable showing and has won the confidence and respect of the rest of the league.

The club purposes to put out a team of representative men who will be congenial with their associates and capable of holding the confidence of

HOW "SPITE" HOUSES CAME TO BE BUILT

They Now Stand Among the Handsome Residences on Watchung Avenue.

OWNER WILL NOT SELL

WANTED TO CUT BRANCHES TO TREES TO ALLOW HIM TO MOVE A HOUSE.

Neighboring Residents Objected—Said That He Built Two Shacks There Out of Revenge—Has Been Offered Large Sums.

Two small unpainted buildings on a lot at the corner of Hillside avenue and Lake street in the heart of one of the most select residential sections of the city, where handsome residences are to be found on every side, form an example of obstinacy pitted against wealth, which, while common in other cities, is rare in Plainfield. The story of the erection of the houses and the attempt made by the property owners of that locality to buy it forms an interesting story.

A half dozen years ago the lot, which is smaller than most of those in the vicinity was owned by a man named Brown who later sold it to Walter L. Hetfield. Nicholas Martone, a fruit dealer of Somerset street, near the North Plainfield line at the Green brook bridge, wished to buy a house at the corner of Kensington and Watchung avenues. It was his intention to move the house in its entirety to another site but it was found, when the movers looked over the ground, that it would be impossible to move the house along the street without clipping off some of the branches of the trees.

When the news of the intention of the movers came to the ears of one of the principal property owners on Hillside avenue, he strenuously opposed the scheme and Martone was obliged to give up his plans.

In revenge Martone bought through an agent the property at the corner of Lake street and Hillside avenue, near the propery of the man who opposed his plans, and soon the work of erecting the rough huts wsa commenced. When it became known that the Italian was about to put up some "spite" houses the property owners in that locality came together and decided to buy the property. When Martone was asked his price he turned his back on all offers and said that it was not for sale.

He was offered $500 more than he paid for it but he refused. He was offered twice that amount more than the cost price but still he refused to sell and, finally, it is said that the price was raised to $4,000, which was more than twice as much as the lot was worth but still he refused to consider their offers. The houses were built while the wealthy men in the neighborhood stood by powerless to do anything to prevent the erection of the objectionable buildings.

The houses have stood, unpainted, for almost six months and are a striking contrast to the adjoining property. Every possible means have been tried to persuade Martone to sell, but he still refuses.

An effort was made today to interview Martone but he will not talk of the matter. Asked if he would sell the property, his son said that he would not consider any offer.

Those whose houses are in the near neighborhood are Charles Updyke, DeWitt C. Ivins, Mr. Belleville, who recently came to this city from Cleveland, Ohio, Daniel Ginna, F. S. Martin, W. S. Hobbie, J. P. Homan, A. L. C. Marsh and Sherman Evarts.

Purchased Hotel.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, March 23—George C. Ball, of Califon, Hunterdon county, has purchased the West End Hotel of the John G. Kenner estate and, it is said, he will conduct it. The purchase price was $10,200 and he also bought the fixtures for which he paid $600.

Auction at Manning Farm.

Mrs. Joseph Carkhuff, who resides on the Samuel Manning farm on the road from South Plainfield to New Brunswick, will dispose of her horses, stock and farming implements at auction tomorrow afternoon, beginning at 12 o'clock. Auctioneer P. H. Latourette, of this city, will have charge.

New President.

Mrs. Sarah H. Mattox has been elected president of the Woman's Veteran Relief Union in place of Mrs. Eugene Alexander, who resigned recently. Mrs. Alexander has returned to her former home in Vermont.

THE HOSPITAL NEEDS A LARGER REVENUE

Women's Auxiliary Board of Muhlenberg Hospital Wants More Yearly Contributors.

IT MAKES A STATEMENT

THE WORK NOW BEING DONE BY THE HOSPITAL.

Running Expenses of the Institution Have Increased More Rapidly Than Has Its Income—The Present Contributors.

The Woman's Auxiliary Board of Muhlenberg Hospital is endeavoring to secure additional yearly contributors toward the support of the institution. In connection with the appeal the members of the board are making the following statement:

The number of indoor patients treated last year was 403 against 376 the previous year and 238 five years ago. The number of dispensary visits last year was 2,147 against 1,937 the previous year and 912 five years ago. The number of operations (including dispensary) last year was 323 against 255 the previous year and 98 five years ago.

Of the 403 indoor patients last year 138 (over one-third) were treated gratuitously and 176 (about 44 per cent.) were ward patients who paid at the rate of $5 a week (or less) against the average cost per patient per week of $12 (exclusive of donations other than cash); no charge is ever made for dispensary patients.

The hospital is non-sectarian; its equipment is at the service of all, for any legally qualified physician may send patients to the hospital to be there treated by such physician privately; no person has ever been refused admission because of inability to pay for treatment. None of the Governors of the hospital receive any pecuniary compensation for their services, nor do any of the physicians or surgeons of the medical staff except in the case of private patients.

With the number of patients treated larger every year, the service rendered better and the cost of supplies greater, the running expenses of the institution have increased from year to year much more rapidly than has its income. Last year the treasurer of the hospital received (exclusive of Hospital Sunday collections) 150 cash contributions, and the previous year 128 cash contributions. There are at present 154 members of the Woman's Auxiliary Board who, by the payment of their annual dues and fines to the treasurer of the Woman's Auxiliary Board, make yearly cash contributions toward the work of the hospital.

The Montclair Hospital, supported by a community with about the same population as Plainfield and North Plainfield, receives yearly (excluding church collections which in amount exceed those received by Muhlenberg Hospital) cash contributions from over 1,000 persons.

The finance committee is desirous of materially increasing the number of yearly contributors and with a population of over 20,000 in Plainfield and North Plainfield, there are undoubtedly several hundred persons who will, in response to a personal appeal, thus gladly assist the good work of the hospital. There may be others who prefer to make donations without having their names placed on the list of regular contributors. All offerings will be gratefully received by William C. Kinney, treasurer, 828 Arlington avnuee.

THE THIRD TIME.

Lovett's Boston Stars Appear at Y. M. C. A. Hall This Evening.

New York, St. Louis, Boston and Philadelphia are among the many cities at which the Boston Stars have filled their return date engagements. The reputation the Stars are sustaining in this city in their pleasing entertainments has made them a standing attraction. The personnel of the company includes Frank Reynolds, singing humorist; Miss Elizabeth Mayo, violinist; Miss Georgie Harvey, reader; and Miss Frances Bickford, ballad singer. This will be the third of the Y. M. C. A. supplemental course entertainments in the hall this evening.

Church Trustees.

There will be a meeting at the First M. E. church Monday evening, March 30, for the purpose of electing three trustees to take the places of J. W. Jackson, C. H. Rugg and G. M. Rittenhouse, whose terms expire at that time.

NO ACTION BY LEAGUE CLUBS

City Baseball League Postpones Action on Membership Question Until Tonight.

FOUR APPLICANTS NOW

Meeting of Executive Committee Held Saturday Night—Officers Elected—Clubs Will Ascertain Sentiment of Members Before Deciding on Applications.

After an hour and a half discussion, as to the advisability of admitting four new clubs to membership, the Plainfield Amateur Baseball League closed the first meeting of the season, Saturday night, without reaching a definite conclusion. Several ballots were taken but were lost and a number of motions made failed to secure a second. The matter was finally laid over to be considered at a special meeting to be held this evening. The organizations applying for admission were the Alis A. A., represented by Chauncey H. Burt and John G. MacLaughlin; the Cuban Giants by W. F. Walters; the Clinton Avenue A. A., by John Kriney; and the Reform A. C., by E. P. T. Smith.

The question of admitting four new clubs is one that means a great deal for the continuance of the league and the sentiment of the officials seemed to be against taking the responsibility of a refusal or non-refusal at the present time. The nearest point to doing something Saturday night, was when Manager Muir, of the Safe Works, moved that the league comprise the same teams as last year. This motion went by the board for the want of someone to second it. It was then unanimously agreed that each representative confer with the organization he belonged to and learn the wishes of the members, in order to do one thing or the other tonight.

In the election of officers for the coming year, City Judge Wm. N. Runyon was again made president and George E. Firtsbrook secretary. Several suggestions were made for a revision of the constitution and by-laws and a committee will be appointed for this prupose tonight. Beyond this nothing else of importance took place.

Those present at the meeting were C. E. A. Heywood, of the Y. M. C. A., John H. Cose, of the Hope Y. M. A., Thomas Comerford, of the St Mary's, Alex. Muir, of the Manganese Steel Safe Works, President Runyon and G. E. Firstbrook.

DECADE AT MT. ZION.

Celebration of Anniversary Began at Mt. Zion Church Yesterday.

In celebration of the tenth anniversary of its organization, the Mount Zion A. M. E. church held special services all day yesterday. Several prominent divines were present and made interesting addresses. The attendance in every case was large.

The exercises will continue all week. Tonight and tomorrow night devotional and praise services will be held and Wednesday evening there will be a review of the church's organization and growth. Thursday evening the Helping Hand Society, together with the stewards and stewardesses of the church will have a re-union. A refreshment table will be in evidence each night.

Third Wagner Musicale.

The third of the series of four Wagner musicales by Miss Estella Neuhaus, will be given tomorrow morning at the home of Mrs. J. Kirtland Myers on East Seventh street. The subject will be "Siegfried." The last musicale will be at the home of Miss Emilie Schipper on West Seventh street, the subject being "Gotterdamerung."

Period of Prosperity.

Benevolent Council, No. 256, Jr. O. U. A. M., is just now enjoying a period of prosperity. A week ago nine new members were initiated and last Friday evening five new members were initiated, four propositions were received and nine new members took the Oriental degree.

Open Meetings Now.

The Borough Board of Education will hold its first meeting for the year, this evening, at which time an organization will be perfected. According to the action taken at the annual meeting this session, as well as all others, will be open to the public.

GENERAL GILLMORE IS ASSIGNED TO JERSEY

War Department Takes Advantage of Provision of New Army Law.

WITH NATIONAL GUARD

NEW APPOINTMENT WILL NOT AFFECT HIS PRESENT POSITION.

Appointment Was Made at Special Request of Governor Murphy—Gen. Gillmore is on the Retired List—First One Appointed.

At the request of Governor Murphy, Brigadier General Quincy O'M. Gillmore has been assigned by the war department to duty with the National Guard of New Jersey. General Gillmore, who is on the retired list of the regular army, with the rank of captain, is the first officer to be assigned under a clause in the last army appropriation bill authorizing the Secretary of War to detail "whenever in his judgment the public interests require it not exceeding twenty retired officers for service in connection with the organized militia in the states or territories, upon the request of the governor thereof, and such retired officers shall be entitled while so employed to receive the full pay and allowance of their respective grades."

General Gillmore is at present drawing full pay because of his position as State military instructor and it is possible that he may be relieved of this duty, which will be assigned to some other retired officer, so as to allow him to devote his entire time to the service of the national guard.

General Gillmore's new position will in no way interfere with the office he now holds as the commander of the Second Brigade. The purpose in stationing him here is that he may look after the guard and submit reports of inspection and manoeuvres to the War Department. His appointment came as the result of his keen knowledge of military affairs obtained while in the regular army.

General Gillmore is a graduate of the United States Military Academy at West Point and is considered one of the best tacticians in the regular army. Since he took hold of the National Guard, he has raised it to a high state of efficiency and inculcated into the minds of the men that spirit of obedience which prevails among the soldiers of the regular army.

Governor Murphy, recognizing General Gillmore's qualifications as an instructor, petitioned the War Department that he be assigned to duty with the National Guard of this State.

General Gillmore's appointment was also urged by Brigadier General William H. Carter, who is attached to the adjutant general's department at Washington. General Carter was a classmate of General Gillmore at West Point, both graduating in the class of '73.

The friendship which began in college lasted through their days in the regular army, for soon after they received their commissions, found them fighting side by side in the Indian campaigns.

General Carter is the youngest man who has ever worn the chevrons of a brigadier general and possesses a gold medal for bravery during the campaigns against the Indians. As the result of their friendship, General Gillmore proposes bringing him here to review the Second Brigade, as it is his intention to bring the two regiments together in a few weeks.

PICTURESQUE AND INDUSTRIAL.

Illustrated Story of Niagara Falls by a Clever Lecturer.

"Picturesque and Industrial Niagara Falls" will be the subject of the illustrated lecture to be given in the Y. M. C. A. Hall on Tuesday evening at 8:15 o'clock. The lecturer will show beautiful scenic views and will describe the ulitization of the great water power, which has gone to waste for centuries. It is said that it would take two hundred and sixty-six million, eight hundred thousand tons of coal to produce the horse power represented by Niagara Falls, or more coal than Europe and America could possibly supply. Tickets of admission may be obtained at the drug stores. A silver offering will be received.

Social Time at Epworth House.

The primary and kindergarten departments of the Monroe Avenue Sunday-school had a social time Saturday afternoon in the Epworth House connected with the church. Games of various kinds and supper were among the attractive features.

ARGUMENTS FOR EARLY CLOSING FROM PULPIT

Rev. Dr. Cornelius Schenck Preaches on Labor Question and Hours of Work.

SOLUTION OF PROBLEM

BROTHERLY LOVE BETWEEN CAPITAL AND LABOR WILL DO IT.

Something About Early Closing Movement in Local Stores Which He Commended—No Use for the Street Loafer.

"Labor and Its Problems," was the subject of an interesting discourse delivered at Trinity Reformed church last evening, by the pastor, Rev. Cornelius Schenck, Ph. D. The pastor took for his text a portion of the Sixth commandment, "Six days shalt thou work." He said that there is a tendency to confine religious thought and worship to one day, but he did not believe that the other six days should be given up to forgetfulness of God.

In the first place, Dr. Schenck spoke of his text being the supreme law for the sons of men. According to the divine injunction if a man will not work he shall not eat. Secondly, Pastor Schenck dwelt upon the dignity of labor and said that the happiest people in all the earth are those who work. In the third place the speaker had something to say about the problems and the question of mutual good will in labor. Dr. Schenck said that there should be brotherly love existing between capital and labor and thus would perplexing problems be settled.

The pastor criticized bargain-hunting and said that if such persons knew the conditions under which some bargains were offered, the purchaser would not touch them with a ten foot pole. When the people are willing to buy good goods and pay a fair price then will they help to solve a great problem.

In referring to the hours of labor, Dr. Schenck said that his text partially answered the question. He said that all should work, but that no one has the right to take the seventh day for labor. In some kinds of work he believed that six hours were long enough, while in other kinds ten hours or a little longer are within reason. He severely criticized the practice of young girls working in a store ten and twelve hours and he expressed pleasure that a local society had organized against it. He believed eight hours long enough and he could not fancy that the proprietors of the local stores would ever return to the old rule, which he characterized as out of season. Regarding this, Mr. Schenck said that the remedy is with the public and he hoped that the people would do their shopping in reasonable hours. He also denounced the practice of young girls working in factories from 7 o'clock in the morning until 6 o'clock in the evening, with an hour for dinner, and he believed that these hours are too long for men. He said that the body needs rest, the mind needs development and the soul needs nourishment and time to meet God.

In conclusion the pastor said that there is nothing menial or low in honest toil, but the loafer, the able-bodied man who stands about street corners and is supported by the public, was roundly denounced as a class that should not be encouraged.

Settled With Trolley Co.

The case of E. J. Crudup and wife against the Elizabeth, Plainfield and Central Jersey Street Railway Company, for damages, has been settled out of court, satisfactorily, through Attorney William DeMeza. Through the same attorney, Henry McCann has effected a settlement with the New Jersey Central for injuries received in the Westfield wreck.

Cake-Walk a Feature.

An entertainment will be given in Reform Hall Wednesday evening for the benefit of Calvary Baptist church. The programme will consist of old-time cake walks and grand march. Music by Professor Hampton will be a feature. Spencer Conway is chairman.

To Preach Again.

Rev. Dr. Robert Bruce Hull, of Brooklyn, will occupy the pulpit at the First Baptist church, Sunday. He is a talented divine and only a few weeks ago Plainfielders had an opportunity of hearing him.

RAIDED BARBER SHOP; SEVEN GATHERED IN Chief Campbell Charges Them With Gambling There Saturday Night.

HEARING THIS EVENING

POLICE GAINED ENTRANCE THROUGH A BACK WINDOW.

Claim They Saw Men Gambling There by Peeking Through Window—Will be Brought Before Recorder Doud This Evening.

A raid was made on the barber shop of Leonard Young, on Somerset street, at 1:30 Sunday morning by Chief Marshal William Campbell and Marshals Winn and Wise. It is said that gambling was going on in the back room. After working quietly for some time in collecting evidence, and in watching the players through a nitch in the back window, the officers, headed by the chief, made a sudden swoop on the place and corralled seven men, including the proprietor of the place.

Entrance was secured through a window in the rear of the store by breaking the sash. There was a general stampede of the patrons of the place but when Chief Campbell told them to quietly submit to arrest they made no further resistance. The prisoners were taken to the lockup where they were registered as follows: Fred Meeker, Russell Giles, Harry Bennett, Wm. Conway, William Swick and Frank Gellig. They reside in North Plainfield. Young, the proprietor of the shop, was also arrested.

The men were released on payment of $70 cash bail and will appear for a hearing this evening before Recorder Doud.

TWO HELD ON CHARGE.

Trouble Over Clothing and Collections Aired in Justice Huff's Court.

The hearing on Saturday before Justice Huff in the case of Ernest Morris against Joseph Sellner, local manager for L. Sternberg & Co., on a charge of fraud and gaining articles under false pretences, resulted in the defendant, as well as John Eisolt, a collector for the company, being held in $300 bail to await the action of the Grand Jury. Eisolt is the man, it is alleged, who accompanied Sellner to Morris' home and represented himself as the sheriff of Union county.

Francis J. Blatz, counsel for the defendant, was assisted by Abram G. David, of Elizabeth, while Assemblyman Newcorn represented the complainant.

BRIDAL PARTY AS GUESTS.

Mr. and Mrs. Nathan E. Lewis Entertained Bridal Party.

Mr. and Mrs. Nathan E. Lewis, of Arlington avenue, entertained the members of their bridal party Saturday evening in honor of the first anniversary of their wedding. The real anniversary does not come until nearly a month later but it was celebrated Saturday in order that some of the out-of-town members of the party might be present. The guests were shown where they went on the exciting ride in pursuit of the newly-married couple the night of the wedding.

Informal Dance.

An informal dance was held Saturday evening in the old Common Council rooms, under the auspices of several well-known young men. There were sixteen couples present and everyone had a delightful time. Music for dancing was furnished by Westervelt, and this was a decided feature. The next dance will be held Wednesday evening, April 29, at the same place.

Interests of Children's Home.

The president of the Children's Home Association has called for a special meeting of the board of officers to consider matters of vital interest to the work of the home. The meeting will be held tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock at Mrs. Truell's, 418 West Fourth street.

Council Meets Tonight.

The Common Council will hold an important adjourned meeting, this evening, when there will be a hearing on the proposed ordinance for the extension of the Plainfield sewer system.

Auction Sale.

Farming utensils and household furniture will be sold at public auction, Wednesday afternoon at 1 o'clock, at the farm of the late John Stine, Greenbrook road.

COLUMN FOR THE SHOPPERS

SOME OF ATTRACTIONS TO BE FOUND AT LOCAL STORES.

A Few Interesting Items Concerning Greater Plainfield's Merchants

Wirth's specialties for the coming week will be angel cake, confections and Boston brown bread. All are made fresh every day. Telephone connection.

Within the past year, te sales of Shaw's hard water soap have increased ten fold. It is an article that can't be surpassed for cutaneous diseases and this the people realize. It is made and sold only by R. J. Shaw, of West Front street.

Meissner's laundry on Watchung avenue is one of the very best places in this city to secure the most satisfaction with family washing. He makes a specialty of fancy fabrics and as all the work is done by hand there is no danger of tearing the goods

F. H. Firstbrook makes his customers contented because he always has fresh fruits, a well stocked store and makes a specialty of obliging those who patronize him. This week he will make his specialties, oranges, both California and Florida, and the best of coffee.

G. H. Kenyon, the piano dealer, has changed the location of his business from West Front street, to his residence at 762 Kensington avenue, where he will be pleased to show all interested his fine pianos of the best makes. The terms are so easy that anyone can own a piano.

A. and P. goods speak for themselves. There is not an article sold by the company that it is not willing to guarantee. Hundreds of people use them and have always found them to be satisfactory. At the local store at 137 West Front street, all the goods are kept in stock, absolutely fresh.

If you go to Peck's store you will see a line of goods to be seen nowhere else. There is a peculiar exclusiveness about these goods that make them attractive. That is why so many women trade at this store. Peck's summer goods are a delight to the eye and they will give entire satisfaction.

For anything in spring and summer wear go to Woodhull & Martin's store. There you will find everything necessary to complete your outfit. The dress goods department, as well as all other departments, is just filled with new and attractive goods. For the housekeeper there is a department where a complete stock of household goods is offered at a bargain. The firm also carries a large line of laces, embroideries and white goods, while the men's furnishing goods department is replete in every detail.

LITERARY.

The child labor problem, which is agitating the entire country at present is ably discussed in the leading article in the April number of Leslie's Monthly, an article which is written authoritatively by W. S. Waudby, special agent for the U. S. Department of Labor. Another article as remarkable for its photographs as for its text, is that on the Fire Walkers of Fiji, one of the unexplained miracles of our own day. The Autobiography of a Shop Girl, a true story of life, on the same lines as the successful Autobiography of a Thief, begins in this number.

A story by S. R. Crockett, of smuggling in Spain, and an Irish newspaper yarn by Seumas MacManus, sympathetically illustrated, with a thrilling sea story, and an excellent animal tale of a mule in the coal mines, make up the chief part of the fiction in this number.

At the end of the Magazine is a clever sketch by Carolyn Wells of the best scheme for producing the great American Trust-made novel of the future, and a number of light verses and short stories.

—The Lenox Whist Club will be entertained tomorrow evening by Mr. and Mrs. Hodges, of Westfield.

—David Dreier, formerly of Plainfield but now of Summit, where he conducts a music store, will give up the business soon and locate elsewhere.

—Mr. and Mrs. John Goodman, of Liberty street, and Mrs. Henry Van Middlesworth and family, of West Front street, will move to Lafayette place next week.

The Stomach Is the Man.

A weak stomach weakens the man, because it cannot transform the food he eats into nourishment. Health and strength cannot be restored to any sick man or weak woman without first restoring health and strength to the stomach. A weak stomach cannot digest enough food to feed the tissues and revive the tired and run down limbs and organs of the body. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure cleanses, purifies, sweetens and strengthens the glands and membranes of the stomach, and cures indigestion, dyspepsia and all stomach troubles. L. W. Randolph

THOSE WHO COME AND GO

NOTES CONCERNING PLAINFELDERS AND THEIR MANY GUESTS.

Some of Those That Go to Make Up the Day's Budget of Arrivals and Departures.

Mrs. Chris Stahl, of Maple avenue, has recovered from an attack of the grip.

Clarence Teel is detained at his home on North avenue by an attack of the grip.

Miss Leach, of Astoria, L. I., has returned home after a visit with Plainfield friends.

Miss Fox, of Philadelphia, is visiting Mr. and Mrs. G. Herbert Taylor, of West Seventh street.

Mrs. Bellis, of Elmwood place, who has been seriously ill, remains in about the same condition.

Miss Elizabeth Perrine, of Martinsville, is being entertained by Miss Alice DeMott, of Somerset street.

Miss Alta McConnell, of New York, who has been the guest of Miss May Duckworth, of Duer street, has returned home.

Mrs. Singer, of Newark, who was called to Plainfield by the serious illness of her mother, Mrs. Samuel Dreier, of West Front street, is now assisting in the care of her.

Mrs. Isabella Charles Davis, corresponding secretary of the International Order of King's Daughters, who has been spending the past season in Plainfield, went to New York Saturday to visit friends for a few days.

William Scott, of East Front street, who has been a resident of this city for the past year, left Saturday for his old home in Chester, Pa., to remain. He was accompanied by M. D. Sweeney, of West Second street, who will spend a few days with him.

THEATRICAL.

"The Earl of Pawtucket," one of the most pronounced comedy successes in New York in years, will this evening open an engagement at the Manhattan Theatre, where "The Bishop's Move" concluded its successful engagement Saturday. "The Earl of Pawtucket" undoubtedly is the happiest effort of that clever dramatist, Augustus Thomas, and from the opening of its run in New York some six weeks ago at the Madison Square Theatre, from which it is transferred to the Manhattan Theatre, it has played to audiences that for numbers have broken the records of that house, while no comedy within memory has pleased its audiences more notably than this.

Grace George, the capable young actress, whose production of "Under Southern Skies" last season was a triumph to which a crown was fitted by her spring tour in "Frou Frou," is announced this evening at the Herald Square Theatre, New York. Miss George, as heretofore, is presented by William A. Brady, a fact which assures playgoers of a lavish and complete investiture. The youthful star is appearing in an original drama built about the life of Peg Woffington, by Frances Aymar Mathews and entitled "Pretty Peggy." The period of the piece, that of George II of England, has given Mr. Brady ample opportunity for a display of his taste in costumes and settings, and the result is said to be a spectacle quite rivalling "Du Barry."

Pythians to Give Thanks.

Grand Chancellor P. Frank Shanley, of the Knights of Pythias, has designated Sunday, April 19, as Pythian Thanksgiving Day. It will be celebrated by Perseverance and Unity Lodges, of this city, in an appropriate way, by attending divine service at a church yet to be designated.

Will Provide Entertainment.

The fair committee of the T. A. B. Society met Friday evening and appointed an entertainment committee comprising John J. Kane, C. A. Shannon and David Mack. They will provide entertainment all during the week in which the fair will be held.

—The anniversary of the Retail Clerks' Mutual Aid Association will be observed this evening.

—Mrs. J. G. Mair, of the borough, is about to erect a dwelling on Mountain avenue for her occupancy.

—The Board of Governors of Muhlenberg Hospital will hold a regular meeting Monday evening, March 10, at the Public Library.

A Remarkable Case.

One of the most remarkable cases of a cold, deep-seated on the lungs, causing pneumonia, is that of Mrs. Gertrude E. Fenner, Marion, Ind., who was entirely cured by the use of One Minute Cough Cure. She says: "The coughing and straining so weakened me that I run down in weights from 148 to 92 pounds. I tried a number of remedies to no avail until I used One Minute Cough Cure. Four bottles of this wonderful remedy cured me entirely of the cough, strengthened my lungs and restored me to my normal weight, health and strength." L. W. Randolph.

Suits for Men!

More Spring Styles have arrived. This week has brought some splendid additions to our already large stock of Men's Spring Suits. The tailoring is artistic and thorough, the handsomest fabrics brought out this season are used and the styles are of the very highest quality.

We wish very particularly to call your attention to the celebrated "Kirschbaum" hand-made Clothing, which is equal in every particular to tailor made—a complete Spring line that we would be pleased to show you.

WERNER'S

CLOTHING HOUSE, 206 WEST FRONT STREET.

LAST YEAR'S PROFITS TO STOCKHOLDERS.

40% Dividends Paid by One Stock. Another in 13 Months Paid 27%

We want wide-awake agents in every town in the state. Insurance men and others are making $100 a week as a side line.

We sell railroad stocks, city and municipal bonds, and other conservative forms of investment paying from 4 to 6% annually. Also high-grade industrial stocks, a trifle speculative, paying much larger rates of interest. We will be pleased to send you our beautifully illustrated book for investors.

We have been established twelve years and have offices in all the principal cities of the United States and Canada.

We buy insurance policies, and those having insurance on the 10, 15, or 20 year plan, who desire their money before policies mature, will be able to make money by writing us for figures.

We have only a limited amount of the 40% dividend stock. We do not guarantee delivery at present prices after April 15th. Of the 27% stock we also have a small block. Both are solid industrial enterprises.

DETAILS OF MEASURE TO CONTROL AUTOS

Plainfielders Will be Interested in Provisions of Bill, Which Will Become Law.

A COMPROMISE MEASURE

HAS PASSED BOTH HOUSES, AND ONLY NEEDS GOVERNOR'S SIGNATURE.

Provides for Compulsory Registration of Machines and Owners—Fastest Speed is Twenty Miles An Hour—The Other Speeds.

This city being the home of a large number of people who are enthusiastic automobilists, the bill which was introduced by Assemblyman Scovel, has passed both houses of the Legislature and will probably soon receive the Governor's signature, will, no doubt, interest many in this city. It is believed to be, both from the standpoint of road protection and from the viewpoint of the automobilist, a modern, as well a scholarly scheme of automobile legislation as it is clearly a compromise between extremists upon either side.

One feature of the bill is compulsory registration. Every owner of a motor vehicle in this State shall file in the office of the Secretary of State a declaration that the owner is qualified to operate the machine for which application for license is made and a written statement giving the name of the owner, a brief description of the machine and the manufacturer's number of motor vehicle, if there is a number and the rated horse power of the auto. For this a fee will be charged by the Secretary of State of $1 for each vehicle. This, however, will not apply to manufacturers or dealers, except for such vehicles kept for private use or hire.

The penalty for driving an auto without a license will be $50 for the first offense and twice that amount for the second offense. A number corresponding with the number of the license shall be carried in a conspicuous position on the machine. A fine of $15 will be imposed on a chaffeur who rides without his number in plain sight.

Two lighted lamps must be carried an hour before sunrise and an hour after sunset, besides one red lamp visible from the rear. The number of the license must be upon the lights so that it may be readily seen.

The following are the rates of speed prescribed by the new law: A mile in six minutes is the limit upon sharp curves of a street or highway; a speed of one mile in seven minutes where the road passes through a built-up portion of a town and a mile in three minutes may be run on a straight country road where the houses are not less than one hundred feet apart.

This, it will be seen allows an automobile to run at 20 miles an hour but an amendment has been proposed limiting the speed to 15 miles an hour. $50 is the penalty for violating this section of the law and $100 for the second offense or in the discretion of the magistrate, ten days imprisonment.

Section 6 says that every person driving a motor vehicle shall upon signal by putting up the hand or otherwise from a person riding or driving from the opposite direction, cause the motor carriage to stop and remain stationary so long as may be necessary to allow such horse to pass.

For an offense committed three months previous, a person may be arrested upon being served with a warrant or summons, at the suit of any person or by a town or city official. A police officer may arrest an offender without a warrant if such parties are detected racing their machines, but the magistrate before whom the case is brought may adjourn the session if $50 is paid as security. If the offender is unable to deposit $50 the motor vehicle may be held for security for such payment.

There is a possibility that the bill will be criticized by those whose views are most pronounced, but inasmuch as it follows lines laid down in counties having had extensive experience with these vehicles and seems calculated to conserve the rights of the public without infringing upon those who own automobiles, it probably comes as near being satisfactory as can be expected.

To Elect Trustees.

An election of trustees of the Grace M. E. church will be held Wednesday evening at the church on Park place when three trustees will be chosen to fill the vacancies caused by the expiring terms of J. W. Conroy, D. W. Winckler and A. H. Wilson. The new appointments will be for a term of three years each.

MEN WIN AND LOSE

Strike Commission's Report Satisfactory.

GREAT VICTORY, SAYS MITCHELL

Ten Per Cent More Pay Granted. Some Demands Rejected.

SLIDING SCALE AND SHORTER HOURS

A Permanent Committee of Conciliation Recommended—No Discrimination Against Union or Nonunion Men—Present Methods of Payment to Be Retained—The Practice of Boycotting Severely Censured.

WASHINGTON, March 23.—The report of the commission appointed by the president last October to investigate the anthracite coal strike, just made public, is generally well received. From the mining regions come reports of satisfaction with the findings.

President Mitchell is reported to have said, "The decision of the strike commission is, on the whole, a decided victory for the miners, and I am pleased with it." The operators as a general thing are more reticent, yet but few adverse comments have been heard.

Briefly stated, the report may be summed up as follows:

The miners get an increase of 10 per cent in wages to contract miners from Nov. 1, 1902, and during the life of the award.

An increase of 10 per cent in wages to water hoisting engineers for the same period.

An increase of 10 per cent in wages to other engineers, pumpmen and firemen from Nov. 1, 1902, to April 1, 1903, and 5 per cent thereafter during the life of the award.

An increase of 10 per cent in the wages of all company men and other employees.

Company men and other employees not specifically provided for to be paid on the basis of a nine hour working day.

Engineers, firemen and pumpmen to work in eight hour shifts instead of twelve hour shifts.

Engineers and pumpmen to be relieved on Sundays without loss of pay.

Local boards of arbitration for the settlement of disputes in individual collieries.

A sliding scale, by which the miners' wages are increased 1 per cent for every 10 per cent increase in price of coal.

Check weighmen to be employed at the collieries by the miners at their own expense.

Uniform distribution of mine cars among the miners.

Any increase in the size of mine car or topping to be accompanied by proportionate increase in rate paid per car.

The operators get no specific recognition of the United Mine Workers.

The present methods of payment for coal mined shall continue unless changed by mutual agreement.

Concerted effort on the part of the mine workers to limit output except by agreement with operators forbidden.

Work not to be suspended pending settlement of matters referred to arbitration boards.

No discrimination against nonunion men.

Boycott and violence condemned.

Demand that coal mined be paid for by weight refused.

Interposition of the state militia in the coal regions to preserve peace justified.

The report is to be illustrated, and it will be accompanied by the testimony taken by the commission, but thus far only the report proper has been printed. This alone covers eighty-seven pages of printed matter.

SUMMARY BY COMMISSION.

Following is the commission's own summary of the awards made:

I.—That an increase of 10 per cent over and above the rates paid in the month of April, 1902, be paid to all contract miners for cutting coal, yardage and other work for which standard rates or allowances existed at that time from and after Nov. 1, 1902, and during the life of this award; the amount of increase under the award due for work done between Nov. 1, 1902, and April 1, 1903, to be paid on or before June 1, 1903.

II.—That engineers who are employed in hoisting water shall have an increase of 10 per cent on their earnings between Nov. 1, 1902, and April 1, 1903, to be paid on or before June 1, 1903, and from and after April 1, 1903, and during the life of the award they shall have eight hour shifts, with the same pay which was effective in April, 1902, and where they are now working eight hour shifts the eight hour shifts shall be continued, and these engineers shall have an increase of 10 per cent on the wages which were effective in the several positions in April, 1902.

Hoisting engineers and other engineers and pumpmen other than those employed in hoisting water who are employed in positions which are manned continuously shall have an increase of 10 per cent on their earnings between Nov. 1, 1902, and April 1, 1903, to be paid on or before June 1, 1903, and from and after April 1, 1903, and during the life of the award they shall have an increase of 5 per cent on the rates of wages which were effective in the several positions in April, 1902, and in addition they shall be relieved from duty on Sundays, without loss of pay, by a man provided by the employer to relieve them during the hours of the day shift.

That firemen shall have an increase of 10 per cent on their earnings between November, 1902, and April 1, 1903, to be paid on or before June 1, 1903, and from and after April 1, 1903, and during the life of the award they shall have eight hour shifts, with the same wages per day, week or month as were paid in each position in April, 1902. All employees or company men other than those for whom the commission makes special awards shall be paid an increase of 10 per cent on their earnings between Nov. 1, 1902, and April 1, 1903, to be paid on or before June 1, 1903, and from and after April 1, 1903, and during the life of this award they shall be paid on the basis of a nine hour day, receiving therefor the same wages as were paid in April, 1902, for a ten hour day. Overtime in excess of nine hours in any day to be paid at a proportionate rate per hour.

III.—During the life of this award the present methods of payment for coal mined shall be adhered to unless changed by mutual agreement.

In all of the above awards it is provided that allowances like those made shall be paid to the legal representatives of such employees as may have died since Nov. 1, 1902.

IV.—Any difficulty or disagreement arising under this award, either as to its interpretation or application, or in any way growing out of the relations of the employers and employed which cannot be settled or adjusted by consultation between the superintendent or manager of the mine or mines and the miner or miners directly interested, or is of a scope too large to be so settled or adjusted, shall be referred to a permanent joint committee to be called a board of conciliation, to consist of six persons, appointed as hereinafter provided—that is to say, if there shall be a division of the whole region into three districts, in each of which there shall exist an organization representing a majority of the mine workers of such district, one of said board of conciliation shall be appointed by each of said organizations and three other persons shall be appointed by the operators, the operators in each of said districts appointing one person.

The board of conciliation thus constituted shall take up and consider any question referred to it as aforesaid, hearing both parties to the controversy and such evidence as may be laid before it by either party and any award made by a majority of such board of conciliation shall be final and binding on all parties. If, however, the said board is unable to decide any question submitted or point related thereto, that question or point shall be referred to an umpire, to be appointed, at the request of the said board, by one of the circuit judges of the Third judicial circuit of the United States, whose decision shall be final and binding in the premises.

The membership of said board shall at all times be kept complete, either the operators or miners' organizations having the right at any time when a controversy is not pending to change their representation thereon.

No suspension of work shall take place by lockout or strike pending the adjudication of any matter so taken up for adjustment.

V.—Whenever requested by a majority of the contract miners of any colliery, check weighman or check docking bosses or both shall be employed. The wages of said checkman and check docking bosses shall be fixed, collected and paid by the miners in such manner as the said miners shall by a majority vote elect, and when requested by a majority of said miners the operators shall pay the wages fixed for check weighman and check docking bosses out of deductions made proportionately from the earnings of the said miners on such basis as the majority of said miners shall determine.

VI.—Mine cars shall be distributed among miners who are at work as uniformly and as equitably as possible, and there shall be no concerted effort on the part of the miners or mine workers of any colliery or collieries to limit the output of the mines or to detract from the quality of the work performed unless such limitation of output be in conformity to an agreement between an operator or operators and an organization representing a majority of said miners in his or their employ.

VII.—In all cases where miners are paid by the car the increase awarded to the contract miners is based upon the cars in use, the topping required and the rates paid per car which were in force on April 1, 1902. Any increase in the size of car or in the topping required shall be accompanied by a proportionate increase in the rate paid per car.

VIII.—The following sliding scale of wages shall become effective April 1, 1903, and shall affect all miners and mine workers included in the awards of the commission. The wages fixed in the awards shall be the basis of and the minimum under the sliding scale:

For each increase of 5 cents in the average price of white ash coal of sizes above pea coal sold at or near New York, between Perth Amboy and Edgewater and reported to the bureau of anthracite coal statistics, above $4.50 per ton f. o. b., the employees shall have an increase of 1 per cent in this compensation, which shall continue until a change in the average of said coal works a reduction or an increase in said additional compensation hereunder, but the rate of compensation shall in no case be less than that fixed in the award—that is, when the price of said coal reaches $4.55 per ton the compensation will be increased 1 per cent, to continue until the price falls below $4.50 per ton, when the 1 per cent increase will cease, or until the price reaches $4.60 per ton, when an additional 1 per cent will be added, and so on.

These average prices shall be computed monthly by an accountant or commissioner named by one of the circuit judges of the Third judicial circuit of the United States and paid by the coal operators such compensation as the appointing judge may fix, which compensation shall be distributed among the operators in proportion to the tonnage of each mine.

In order that the basis may be laid for the successful working of the sliding scale provided herein it is also adjudged and awarded that all coal operating companies file at once with the United States commissioner of labor a certified statement of the rates of compensation paid in each occupation known in their companies as they existed April 1, 1902.

IX.—No person shall be refused employment or in any way discriminated against on account of membership or nonmembership in any labor organization, and there shall be no discrimination against or interference with any employee who is not a member of any labor organization by members of such organization.

X.—All contract miners shall be required to furnish within a reasonable time before each pay day a statement of the amount of money due from them to their laborers, and such sums shall be deducted from the amount due the contract miners and paid directly to each laborer by the company. All employees who paid shall be furnished with an itemized statement of account.

XI.—The awards herein made shall continue in force until March 31, 1906, and any employee or group of employees violating any of the provisions thereof shall be subject to reasonable discipline by the employer, and, further, that the violation of any provisions of these awards, either by employer or employees, shall not invalidate any of the provisions thereof.

SOME RECOMMENDATIONS.

The commission also makes a number of recommendations which may be summarized as follows:

The discontinuance of the system of employing the coal and iron police, because this force is believed to have an irritating effect, and a resort to the regularly constituted peace authorities in case of necessity.

A stricter enforcement of the laws in relation to the employment of children.

Regarding the boycott, the commission says:

"What is popularly known as the boycott (a word of evil omen and unhappy origin) is a cruel weapon of aggression and its use immoral and antisocial, and the concerted attempt to accomplish it is a conspiracy at common law and merits and should receive the punishment due to such a crime."

Mine Officials Satisfied.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., March 23.—Local mine officials in and about this city who have been seen in reference to the mine commission award nearly all declined to make any comment. The manner in which they express themselves, however, would indicate that they are satisfied. An official of the largest corporations who would talk said the award was a practical vindication of the coal companies.

Back Pay In Three Parts.

SHAMOKIN, Pa., March 23.—The coal operators have decided to pay the mine workers the back wages since Nov. 1, awarded by the strike commission, in three parts and add to each amount to the three ensuing regular pay days.

STREET CAR HOLDUP

Trolley Passengers In a Fight With Masked Bandits.

ONE KILLED AND TWO WOUNDED.

Attempted Robbery Occurred Near Los Angeles—No Booty Was Secured—One Bandit Wounded, Perhaps Fatally.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., March 23.—A Santa Monica electric car was held up a quarter of a mile outside the city limits during the night. In a fight between the passengers and three masked highwaymen one passenger was killed and two wounded and one highwayman shot several times, supposedly fatally. The highwaymen secured no booty.

The holdup occurred at the head of a deep cut. The robbers had placed a steel rail, a large bench and a cement barrel on the track.

Charles Curry, the motorman, saw the obstruction when the car was several hundred yards from it and at once turned off the current and ran slowly to the place. The moment the car struck, three men wearing masks over their faces sprang from the weeds alongside the track. One boarded the front end of the car and the other two the rear end. The first man commanded the passengers to put up their hands, and when one of them did not comply he fired a shot. A passenger named Henderson then opened fire on the robber. The robber turned his gun upon Henderson, but as he did so he was seen to bend over and cry out as if in pain. Then, straightening up, he began shooting at the passengers on the front seats. One of his bullets struck Ellis Pearson in the left leg. Henderson continued firing, and the robber was seen to fall. The two robbers who had entered the rear door commanded the passengers to put up their hands, and most of them did so. Before the robbers could search the passengers the shooting began on the outside of the car. Then the other two robbers began shooting right and left among the passengers.

A gentleman of the name of Griswold was seated about the middle of the car with his back toward the robbers. At the command "Hands up!" he tried to hide his watch, and one of the robbers, thinking he was about to draw a gun, fired point blank at him. The bullet struck him in the back of the neck, and he fell over into the lap of his aged mother, who was at his side.

Dr. C. H. Bowles was near the front door, and at the command of the robbers he raised his hands. When he had them in the air, one of the bullets from a robber's revolver struck his left hand and shattered the bones. After emptying their revolvers the robbers backed out of the door, sprang off the car and disappeared.

The car ran rapidly to Sawtelle, the nearest point where medical aid could be secured. Griswold expired before the car had gone a mile.

Tried to Capture a Town.

CRAWFORDSVILLE, Ind., March 23.—Bert and Jesse Hills of Brown's Valley, section men on the Vandalia railroad, attempted to capture the town. They first attacked the station agent, who shot at them with a revolver. They resented this and went to a store to get revolvers. The proprietor refused to sell them the revolvers, and they made an attack on him and his customers by hurling scale weights. Several persons were knocked down, but all escaped without serious injury, leaving the Hills in possession. A posse was quickly gathered, and the Hills took refuge in the office of a local physician and successfully resisted all efforts to dislodge them. During the night they escaped, although the office was surrounded by the posse. All the ablebodied man in town started in pursuit, and after a thirty mile chase the two men were captured.

Nova Scotia Robbers Captured.

HALIFAX, N. S., March 23.—An armed posse of officers of Bridgetown have captured two men who are supposed to have blown open the safe in the agency of the Union Bank of Halifax at Granville Ferry and secured $3,100 in cash Friday. The robbery was the largest in Nova Scotia for years. During the night the officers in Bridgetown tracked the burglars for fifteen miles and rounded them up in a barn. When searched, the burglars were found to be fully armed and equipped with safe blowing tools and sticks of dynamite. Only $15 in cash was found on them. Papers wrapped around some small silver found in their possession bore figures made by the manager of the bank.

Woman Fatally Burned.

CHICOPEE, Mass., March 23.—Mrs. Kazimier Wyworski attempted to pour oil on a coal fire, and the explosion which followed set fire to her clothing. She was frightfully burned and will die. Her husband was severely burned trying to extinguish her blazing clothing.

A Raise For Railway Hands.

HOUSTON, Tex., March 23.—The Houston and Texas Central has announced that trainmen and conductors would be given an increase of 12 per cent and 15 per cent beginning April 1. The passenger men get the lower rate of increase.

Another Cornell Student Dead.

ONEONTA, N. Y., March 23.—Arthur Scramling, a freshman at Cornell university, is dead at his home in Meredith, near here, of typhoid fever contracted at Ithaca. He was twenty-two years old.

Weather Probabilities.

NOT A QUIET DEATH.

Assemblyman S. S. Swackhamer has served notice that he will move to take the three-men-in-a-cab bill out of the hands of the House committee on railroads at this evening's session of the lower house. The bill was referred to that committee early in the session. There has been a hearing but no report as yet. Mr. Swackhamer evidently fears that the railroad interests have used their influence to have his bill die a quiet death. If it's going to die, he prefers that the end shall be spectacular at least.

There is reason to believe that if any railroad measure goes through the Legislature this session, it will be one providing for a railroad commission in this State. Arguments presented by the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers show that the three-men-in-a-cab bill does not answer the demand. That there is some remedial legislation necessary is the general opinion. It would seem the best judgment, therefore, to let a commission carefully inquire into the subject instead of attempting to rush through some measure which may be found to be worse than the trouble it was supposed to remedy.

New York State has proven conclusively that a State railroad commission can be conducted with success. If it can succeed in New York, there is no reason why it should not in Jersey. The New York Tribune has been particularly urgent in its appeal that such a commission be organized in this State. It is to be hoped that the Tribune's agitation will bring about the desired end.

While there is still one more series to be rolled off in The Daily Press Bowling League, the victory for the Westfield Club is assured. Even if Roselle Casino takes three straight games in its series with Cranford, there will be no difference in the final result. This makes the second year that the Westfield Club has won the honor of holding The Daily Press trophy. According to the terms on which the trophy was offered, three wins for any one team gives it permanent ownership of the cup. The Roselle Casino won the first two years, now Westfield has captured two. Unless the Park Club of this city or the Cranford Casino come to the fore next year, the cup will become the property of Westfield or Roselle.

This evening will see the most important game in the Plainfield Amateur Basket Ball League. The Y. M. C. A. and Hope Y. M. A. meet at Hope chapel. A victory for the Y. M. C. A. means first place in the league. If Hope wins, there will be two teams tied for first place. Naturally both teams are particularly anxious to win tonight's game.

If any tax payer has an idea regarding this suggested sewer system for the south-western part of the city, it behooves him to be on hand at the public hearing before the Common Council this evening. When there's a public hearing on a measure, the Council expects the interested ones to come forward and have their say or forever hold their peace.

Muhlenberg Hospital needs funds. Such a worthy institution as that should not have to make more than one appeal to get all the assistance it needs.

March winds are something you hear a great deal about but this year they have become famous only through their absence.

Robert Mc Masster, of Jersey City, has returned home after a visit with his sister, Mrs. Andrew Muir, of Essex street.

Mr. and Mrs. John Conroy, of West Fourth street, are the proud parents of a sixteen pound boy who arrived at their home Friday.

SUBJECTS FOR PRIZE ESSAYS

Announcement Made of Betrothal of Miss Nettie Leichtentritt and Nathan M. Samuels.

The announcement of the betrothal of Miss Nettie Leichtentritt, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. Leichtentritt, and Nathan M. Samuels, of New York, was celebrated yesterday in a pleasant manner at the home of Miss Leichtentritt on West Front street. A reception was held from 3 to 6 o'clock in the afternoon, during which time there were guests present from New York, Brooklyn, Newark, New Brunswick, Perth Amboy and this city.

The event was a dual one, it also being the eighteenth birthday anniversary of Miss Leichtentritt. The young woman received a wealth of handsome presents, including a diamond pin from her prospective father-in-law. During the afternoon a bountiful collation was served and the social features were much enjoyed.

Miss Leichtentritt has been employed for over three years in the law offices of Assemblyman Newcorn and has a host of friends here. Mr. Samuels was a former resident of Plainfield, but is now associated with his father in business in New York. As yet no date has been set for the wedding, although it will probably take place during the coming year.

VISIT AT BRUNSWICK.

Boys From Plainfield Y. M. C. A. 'Entertaind—Played Basket Ball.

Boys' Secretary Kenneth Robbie and six members of the boys' department of the Y. M. C. A. went to New Brunswick Saturday morning and were entertained during the morning by Secretary Buckalew and members of the New Brunswick association. The Plainfielders were shown the sights of the town, selecting the college, seminary, new library buildings and many other places of interest. During the morning a basket ball game was played which resulted in the local association being defeated by a score of 24 to 10.

Golfer Took His Own Life.

C. W. Webb, formerly president of the Cranford Golf Club, and well-known in this vicinity, committed suicide, Saturday evening, at his winter home in Brooklyn. He cut his throat and wrist and then jumped out of a window. No reason is assigned for the deed. Mr. Webb was in the habit of spending his summers at Cranford at the Colonial House. He was general manager of a firm having a store in this city. The store is closed today on that account.

GREAT TIME AT GARWOOD

CELEBRATED THE FORMATION OF THE NEW BOROUGH.

Likely That Frank W. Morse Will be Made the First Mayor of the Borough of Garwood.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Garwood, March 23—The new borough of Garwood celebrated its birth Saturday evening in an appropriate manner. The festivities were held in the schoolhouse, where fully five hundred people gathered to join in the happy event. There were present people from Westfield, Cranford and this place. Frank W. Morse, who has been the prime mover in the progress of this hustling little town, had charge of the celebration and he was the principal speaker, telling of the many advantages and opportunities now offered to the borough to grow and become an important centre.

During the evening there was a concert by the Aeolian Band, of this place, and there was also a liberal display of fireworks. After the speechmaking and the concert, a bountiful collation was served in the schoolhouse by the Ladies' Aid Society of this place and there was a general good time.

It is the general belief that Frank W. Morse will be elected first Mayor of the borough. There is a unanimous feeling that he should be selected for this position in view of the great amount of work he has done for the place. As soon as practical the new officers will be chosen for the borough.

DEATH OF PATRICK FINNEY.

Old Resident Died at Home on Manning Avenue Saturday.

The death of Patrick Finney occurred Saturday afternoon at 2:30 after a long illness with a cancerous growth. He passed away at his home at 73 Manning avenue. He was a widower and leaves a son, Thomas, an expressman of this city and a married daughter who resides at Madison.

The funeral was held this morning at 9 o'clock from St. Joseph's R. C. church where Rev. Father Miller conducted the mass and made a few remarks on death. The remains were taken to Madison for interment. The pall bearers were Thomas McDonald, John Goodman, Patrick Duffey and David R. Weaver.

STRICTLY STAG.

Such Will be Celebration of Anniversary of Unity Lodge.

The twentieth anniversary celebration of Unity Lodge, No, 102, K. of P., which takes place in Reform Hall Thursday evening, will be strictly a "stag" affair. Among the lodges to be entertained are Perseverance, of this city, and others from Somerville and Bound Brook. Crescent Company, U. R. K. of P., will also attend. The evening's programme will consist of an entertainment furnished by professional talent from the Proctor circuit and a collation.

Apron Party.

A supper and apron party will be given at Calvary Baptist church, tomorrow evening. Mrs. Lulu Scott will be in charge.

What's In a Name?

Everything is in the name when it comes to Witch Hazel Salve. E. C. DeWitt & Co., of Chicago, discovered, some years ago, how to make a salve from Witch Hazel that is a specific for Piles. For blind, bleeding, itching and protruding Piles, eczema, cuts, burns, bruises and all skin diseases, DeWitt's Salve has no equal. This has given rise to numerous worthless counterfeits. Ask for DeWitt's—the genuine. L. W. Randolph.

CASTRO MAY REMAIN

Venezuelan Congress Declines to Accept Resignation.

PRESIDENT'S ACTION IS A SURPRISE

Intense Excitement In Caracas, but No Outbreak—Reason For the Step That No Citizen May Remain Hostile to Country.

CARACAS, Venezuela, March 23.—The Venezuelan congress by a unanimous vote has declined to accept President Castro's resignation and has passed a resolution requesting him to reconsider his decision. It is believed that President Castro will yield to this expressed desire of congress and remain in power.

The congressional hall was crowded and all the members of the diplomatic corps were present when President Castro read his message to congress. President Castro first passed in review the terrible conditions which prevailed in the country and denounced the errors of his countrymen. "But," he continued, "if it is painful to consider how much blood and how many tears have been shed, yet it is a consolation to think that their bitter stream by the law of compensation will fecundate something that should correspond to present day aspirations, since every struggle begets an idea and every victorious idea justifies the supposition that an onward step has been taken in the road to human perfection. Our victory, citizen legislators, over the great adversities which have just oppressed us must terminate the tumults of our life, otherwise we shall reach a shameful dissolution."

Touching then on the question of the recent foreign intervention, President Castro said it had been brought about by a league of people who, unable to submit their claims to the impartiality of the tribunals, had employed force, and that because he refused to submit to the Anglo-German exactions they, acting in collusion with the revolutionary general Matos, endeavored to get rid of him. In confirmation of this latter statement President Castro cited a letter written by the commander of the German warship Stosch. He proceeded to say that now that the sovereignty of the nation had been safeguarded, "I deliver my abdication in order that you may proceed legally to call on him who should take my place, so that there may remain to no Venezuelan the slightest pretext for hostility to his country or for connivance with foreigners who, without any ground save force, fell upon unfortunate Venezuela, trampling under foot reason and justice to the detriment of civilization and the beautiful conquests of right. With head uplifted and with a tranquil conscience I return to the efforts of toil which honor and dignify. All the energies and possibilities of my life are at your service should it become necessary to arise and defend our country against the attacks of the foreigner. All the glory I ask is to contemplate Venezuela becoming respected, prosperous and happy."

The president of congress then received President Castro's resignation, and a commission was immediately appointed to draw up a reply to the tendered resignation.

The news of the president's resignation created intense excitement in political circles, but the city remained quiet.

Later a night session of congress was held, and a resolution was adopted requesting President Castro to reconsider his resignation in view of the critical condition of the republic, and a vote of confidence in his policy was passed unanimously. A committee was appointed to transmit this resolution to President Castro.

The delegation appointed by congress called at noon at the president's residence, Miraflores palace, and transmitted to President Castro the resolution unanimously adopted by congress refusing to accept his resignation and requesting him to reconsider his decision. President Castro in reply declined to change his mind, but after being urged by his personal friends he offered to present another message to congress, which he will meet on Thursday to give a solution to the situation.

To Shorten Transcontinental Lines.

SALT LAKE CITY, March 23.—The Tribune says that Chairman Gould of the Rio Grande system has in view one of the greatest cut off projects yet planned in shortening the lines of transcontinental railroads. This is not only a plan to shorten the Denver and Rio Grande, but the Rio Grande Western as well, and create a through line from Denver to the Pacific coast as well as from Salt Lake City. By these cut offs considerably more than 300 miles would be eliminated between Denver and Salina, as compared with the present route via Pueblo and Thistle, a saving which would mean a day's run practically and therefore of the utmost importance to a through line.

The Mississippi Falling.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., March 23.—The river continues to fall slowly at this point, the gauge registering 39.6 feet. The flood conditions are becoming brighter, and it is generally accepted that the worst is over. Reports from the levees north and south of Memphis are that they are holding splendidly against the enormous pressure of water. The railroads west of the river are not yet open for traffic, but it is believed that trains will be running by Wednesday next.

Dowager Empress Orders Fair Fund.

PEKING, March 23.—The dowager empress has ordered an appropriation of 500,000 taels to be made for the Chinese representation at the St. Louis exposition.

SPORTING JOTTINGS.

The Eastern Racing Season Opens. American Jockeys Abroad.

NEW YORK, March 23.—The racing season in the east opened today in Washington at the Bennings race track. After this meet the season will open at Aqueduct, and for the following six months the lovers of the sport of kings will be treated to what promises to be the busiest and most interesting season that has ever been given.

Everything looks gratifying this year to increase the interest in the sport. The entries in nearly all the important handicaps are larger than ever before, and the sport under the careful guidance of the Jockey club should be better and on a higher plane than ever in the history of the sport. Stable room at Bennings is scarce. Already about 500 horses are on hand to take part in the different handicaps. The track has been improved this year and promises to be faster than ever.

Dispatches from Paris say that in sporting circles great interest is aroused by the new American jockeys who have recently arrived and have settled down at the great training stables at Chantilly and Maison Lafitte. Public opinion here is infinitely more favorable toward the newcomers this year than was the case with the first batch of American jockeys, who made their appearance on the French turf two years ago.

Winnie O'Connor, the American jockey engaged by Baron de Rothschild at a salary of $15,000 a year—not $25,000, as was erroneously reported—has already become quite a favorite at Chantilly.

Would Match McChesney and Hermis

DETROIT, Mich., March 23.—President D. J. Campau of the Detroit Jockey club, which will hold a running meeting at the Grosse Pointe track June 8 to 20, has telegraphed to E. E. Smathers, the owner of McChesney, and Mr. Bell, who owns Hermis, saying that the Detroit Jockey club will offer a very large purse for a race between these two horses during the June meeting. Mr. Campau named no figures in his messages, but says that a purse large enough to bring the horses here will be offered if the owners will agree to the race.

Nelson Won From Michael In Paris.

PARIS, March 23.—The American cyclist, Joe Nelson, won a match against the Welshman, Jimmy Michael, at the Velodrome Buffalo, covering ten kilometers (6.214 miles) in 8m. 37 3-5s. and twenty kilometers (12.428 miles) in 17m. 17 2-5s.

Vanderbilt's Horse Won.

PARIS, March 23.—W. K. Vanderbilt's Alpha, ridden by Nash Turner, won the Prix de Fontainebleau at the Longchamps meeting.

Denies Expulsion From Saxony.

NEW YORK, March 23.—Dr. Lewis A. O'Brian, Mrs. O'Brian, his wife, and their young son were passengers on the steamer Pretoria. Dr. O'Brian is the American dentist whose name has been connected by European correspondents with that of Princess Louise of Saxony. He emphatically denied that he had been officially expelled from Saxony. The dentist said that Princess Louise was simply a patient of his and a friend of his family. When her visits to his family became the subject of gossip in Dresden, he had the visits stopped. He never taught her to ride a bicycle, nor did the two bicycle together. Mrs. O'Brian corroborated all the dentist said. Dr. O'Brian bears with him a letter from Charles L. Cole, United States consul general at Dresden, giving him a very high character.

Wood Ready to Answer Charges.

WASHINGTON, March 23.—Brigadier General Leonard Wood has placed in the hands of the secretary of war a voluntary statement regarding the charges filed against him by Major E. J. Rathbone, ex-director general of Cuban posts. No official notice of Major Rathbone's charges has been taken by the secretary as yet, but General Wood on reading them asked and received permission to file at the department a statement setting forth his side of the case before his departure for service in the Philippines. General Wood leaves Washington on Wednesday afternoon for Boston, whence he sails on Thursday for Manila. Pending the action of the secretary on his statement General Wood refuses to comment upon the charges, most of which, he says, have been presented before. In his statement to the secretary General Wood denies that he received any but "purely personal" gifts while in Cuba.

Heavy Snowfall In Missouri.

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., March 23.—The heaviest snowstorm of the year has been raging, and railway traffic is greatly impeded. Telegraph and telephone wires are crippled. The temperature has been falling slowly, and the snow covers the northern part of the state to a depth of from six to twelve inches.

Big Fires In Philadelphia.

PHILADELPHIA, March 23.—Three fires in the northeastern section of the city during the night caused a loss aggregating $175,000. The greatest damage occurred at the morocco works of Cooey, Costello & Co., on Othodox street, Bridesburg, which was almost completely destroyed. The loss is estimated at $100,000, partially covered by insurance.

Ironworks Burned.

JENNISON, Mich., March 23.—The entire plant of the Jennison Iron and Engine works has been burned. Loss, $50,000; fully insured.

The New Woman Has Arrived

BEYOND a doubt the American woman is improving physically and mentally. The other day two women found a burglar in their flat. The old woman's way would have been to screech and keel over in a faint. These two American new women attacked the intruder boldly. He ran into the street, they after him. They chased him into the arms of a policeman before they let up on him, and the policeman led him, panting, to the station house. Then there is that young Pawtucket high school teacher, Miss Rogers. She is a slender, delicate looking slip of a girl. The big boys of the high school had driven away several teachers before her because of unruliness and disorderly behavior. They thought to make short work of the new teacher. Led by the captain of the football team, six feet tall, the fellows refused to come to recitation. One slight secret, however, these ungallant boors did not know. Though little, the new teacher is mighty. She is a trained athlete and learned the womanly art of self defense at Wellesley college. When the captain of the football team showed insubordination, it seemed that a flash of lightning struck him in the nose. Blood flowed, and the captain of the football team went down upon the floor. Next came the next biggest high school bully who thought to defy a woman teacher. In the time of another flash of lightning he lay beside the vanquished captain of the football team. Then followed another and another defeat for the big boys who had scared off so many teachers. Now order reigns in Warsaw, and no wonder. Miss Rogers has laid down the dictum that impertinent remarks and disobedience will not be tolerated in that school, and not a soul disputes her. It was courage and pluck that enabled these women to score victory. They could because they thought they could.

I have observed in the past ten years a notable change in the appearance of the girl clerks, stenographers and other business young women who go to shops and offices in New York city. The other morning I happened to be in among a number of them who were waiting for a train upon the platform of an elevated station. Almost without exception these fine American girls were tall, flat backed and healthy looking, as though they cared for their bodies in the right way—by baths, wholesome food and plenty of air and exercise. What is more, their dress was beautifully appropriate to their duties. There was not one of those dirty, trailing skirts among them that I could see. In gowns, of black, dark gray or blue woolen fabric, with skirts of convenient walking length, plain hats that could defy weather on occasion, they looked the model business woman type all over. Their faces were bright, intelligent and many of them handsome, but there was none of that coquettish rolling of eyes and flipflapping of body that girls who used to go to business half to catch a husband adopted. Now the brave American girl knows her place in the business world and has settled into it. Coquettish and fond of man's admiration she may be, for that is natural, but this part of her manifestation she saves for her life outside of office.

Eleanor Kirk says: "Don't nag. Don't even nag in your mind. Don't look naggy. It is worse than it is to say naggy. It is worse to look naggy than it is to say naggy things, because the naggee is apt to imagine more nag than there really is."

Miss Edith Griswold, the New York lawyer, has been called as a patent expert to give testimony in an important law case, and she answered all questions put to her in a way that is a credit to herself and to womankind. A patent expert is one who has special knowledge of patent law, also wide experience in examining patent models. What is more, a patent expert receives for giving testimony $35 a day and upward.

A spinster slept alone in one wing of a large house and felt timid about it. A married woman jeered at her for being afraid. "No wonder you are not scared," retorted the lone woman. "You've got a man and a pistol in your end of the house." Now, the man was a little bit of a chap, and he was not always to be depended on, for sometimes he was drunk. Besides that, the pistol was not loaded, though the man was at times. Nevertheless here were a man and a pistol, and the spinster thought a woman with these near her had no business to be frightened.

Women, whatever you do, don't quarrel in your clubs and organizations and don't get jealous of one another's advancement and claw one another. That is the old woman's way, and it is the deadliest enemy to the real advancement of woman. Let men do the quarreling.

A newspaper reporter had his sensibilities shocked because a considerable number of women were among the spectators who assembled to witness the death by electricity of an unruly and dangerous elephant. Such a spectacle is one that no sensitive person would care to see, but why was it worse for women than for men to be there? Really now?

ELIZA ARCHARD CONNER.

[Copyright, 1900, by A. N. Kellogg Newspaper Co.]

"Uh, come off," said his companion, "you don't really mean you will take 'im to taw about it."

"I certainly mean nothing else."

David laughed. "He'n you is different in sech things, Ron. Now ef a feller o' my own sort gets on the back o' my neck an' pulls hair to blow his nose on, I politely invite 'im down to see which has the most grit, me or him, an' ef a man who ain't my equal—a buck nigger for instance—dares to give me any o' his lip, I jest knock 'm down an' wash my han's, but law me! I hain't no han' to pick difficulties with the big rich. I never knowed nobody to do it that didn't come out at the little end o' the horn with their clothes drug off. A feller like that squint-eyed dude will jest set up in court an' look tired when he swears out a case agin you fur assault an' battery, an' all the good lawyers in town will huddle round him like a passle o' ants round a dead doodlebug. The court will have obliged to appoint some new beginner to defend you an' thar you are—the laughin' stock o' the whole layout. No, I'll take a lot off'n one o' that sort 'fore I'll git up a scrap with 'm."

They were moving on now, and Ronald made no comment on what his brother was saying. The fire of his angry heart still burned in his eyes and his chin was quivering helplessly. That night he sat only for a moment at the supper table, and then, unnoticed by the others, he went up to his little room under the sloping roof and lighted his lamp. Four or five new magazines lay unopened on his table, but he did not look at them.

About ten o'clock, when the house was still, Dave crept up the rickety stairs softly, so as not to disturb his father, who was a light sleeper, and was about to turn into his own room when he bethought himself of Ronald, whose door was slightly ajar.

"Well, I'll be danged," he cried, looking into the lighted room, and finding his brother up, "shorely, you hain't still frettin' over that business. I wouldn't let a little thing like that bother me a minute."

"I was just going to bed," said Ronald, looking up. "I am going now. Don't worry about me."

Dave laughed significantly, and pointed to a revolver which, like a paper-weight, rested on a pile of loose papers.

"I'll bet that pup has got its stomach full for the first time sence you bought it five yeer ago. Whew!" The speaker whistled in low surprise as he noticed another revolver protruding from a newspaper on the table. "Ain't that my thirty-eight caliber?"

Ronald avoided his glance.

"I got it in your room just now."

Dave stood perfectly still for a moment, a great look of wonder on his face, and then he sat down on the side of his brother's bed. He had washed his feet at the tub in the yard and they were wet, still only half cleaned and red-looking.

"So you are really goin' to call 'im out?" he said, under his breath.

Ronald looked him directly in the eyes.

"God knows there is nothing else for me to do, Dave. I have tried to see some other way, but I can't."

"Well, you'll need somebody with you, an' I'm yore man."

"I'd rather not have anyone, thank you, Dave. He and I can fight just as well alone. I'd rather die than take advantage of him. I only want to satisfy myself—to get rid of the memory that he has—"

"I know how you feel, an' I don't blame you. When will you see 'im?"

"In the morning."

"Well, go to bed an' get some sleep; you may need a steady aim; he may be a good shot; them army chaps generally is."

CHAPTER IV.

The next morning the two brothers met as they were leaving their rooms. David caught Ronald by the arm and turned his face towards the little glassless window at the head of the stairs.

"Own up," he said, with a smile, "you didn't git a wink o' sleep last night."

"I confess it," was the answer. "I didn't know what was the matter with me."

"But I do," David touched his brow significantly; "it was hot blood in the brain. I know how you felt. You jest rolled an' tumbled. I heerd you git up an' look out o' the window to see ef it was gittin' daylight five times ef you did once. My Lord, I couldn't rest for two nights 'fore I whipped Budd Meyer fur reportin' me fur sellin' that quart to the Calhoun boys, but you bet after I made his face look like a huckleberry custard I slept the sleep of the righteous. Two o' my friends had to perjure the'rse'ves to keep me out o' the chain-gang, an' I was tryin' to wash out the'r sin with his blood; ef the'r conscience ain't clear it ain't because thar wasn't enough o' the fluid fur laundry purposes, fer he bled like a stuck pig. I reckon," Dave broke off suddenly as they began to descend the stairs, "that breakfast is about ready. I heerd the old man cussin' about thar bein' too much ham fried."

After breakfast our hero left the house and took the road leading towards Carnleigh. He wore his best suit of clothes, which fitted him perfectly. In each of the pockets of his dark sack coat there was a revolver; he had shaved himself by the first rays of the sun and wore a becoming necktie; his boots shone with fresh blacking, and he had on a stylish straw hat.

As he left the house Mary Lou and Ann Josephine, having shirked the dishwashing, stood arm in arm on the porch. Their shoes were unlaced, their dresses soiled and torn, their hair disheveled.

"He walks mighty biggity," observed Mary Lou; "I reckon he is makin' tracks fur town to see about bein' examined fur the law. Who do you reckon would hire 'im to speak fur 'em?"

"Thar's no tellin' the luck of a lousy calf," opined Ann Josephine. "Ron ain't nobody's fool; a body couldn't read as many papers an' magazines an' study law as hard as he does without l'arnin' something."

"He'll take keer o' number one anyways," commented Mary Lou. "I heerd pa say t'other day that Ron refused to market his cotton when everybody in the county was turnin' loose o' theirs last fall an' that he held onto it tell it riz an' he put a cool two hundred dollars profit in the bank; an' another thing, he never goes in debt over head an' yeers like pa an' Dave does; he's the only farmer round heer that pays cash fur labor an' that's one reason he gits so much out o' his hands. Niggers don't want to work fur orders on the store at two prices when the cash planked down will git so much better bargains."

Meanwhile the subject of these remarks was walking swiftly down towards Carnleigh. The great house was now in full view, and that part of the grounds through which a flower-bordered walk led in sinuous curves from the veranda down the grassy slope where there were a spring, a summer-house and rustic seats. The spot was only a few hundred yards from the main road, where, in a corner of the colonel's zigzag rail fence, Ronald paused and waited, hoping that by some chance Capt. Winkle would stroll in that direction as Ronald in passing had once or twice seen him do.

He had not long to wait. He saw Winkle in fatigue uniform come out on the veranda and receive a cigar from a man-servant. A few minutes afterwards, under a banner of blue smoke, the young officer took one or two turns on the lawn among the flower beds, and then, as if obeying Ronald's fierce desire, conveyed to him telepathically, he turned into the walk leading down to the spring. He moved easily, with a lazy, swinging stride, ruthlessly cutting at the nearest flowers with a cane which he poised on his shoulder like a sword or swung in front of him as if fencing.

CERTIFICATE OF DISSOLUTION.

To all to whom these presents may come, Greeting:

Whereas, it appears to my satisfaction, by duly authenticated record of the proceedings for the voluntary dissolution thereof by the unanimous consent of all the stockholders, deposited in my office, that the Schepflein Clothing Manufacturing Company, a corporation of this State, whose principal office is situated at No. 320 West Front Street, in the City of Plainfield, County of Union, State of New Jersey, (Wallace M. Brown being agent therein and in charge thereof, upon whom process may be served), has complied with the requirements of "An Act concerning corporations (Revision of 18,6)," preliminary to the issuing of this Certificate of Dissolution.

Now, therefore, I, S. D. Dickinson, Secretary of State of the State of New Jersey, Do Hereby Certify that the said corporation did, on the Twenty-eighth day of February, 1903, file in my office a duly executed and attested consent in writing to the dissolution of said corporation, executed by all the stockholders thereof, which said consent and the record of the proceedings aforesaid are now on file in my said office as provided by law.

In Testimony Whereof, I have hereto set my hand and affixed my official seal, at Trenton, this Twenty-eighth day of February, A. D. one thousand nine hundred and three.

S. D. DICKINSON,
Secretary of State.

Do You Wish To Borrow Money?

In order to accommodate all classes of borrowers (those who cannot borrow at a bank, as well as those who can), the Mutual Loan and Investment Company, of 118 Market street, Newark, N. J., has a department for handling quickly and confidentially loans ranging from $10 to $500 on furniture, pianos, storage receipts, etc.

The security is not removed from your possession or in any way disturbed. The honest careful and conservative borrower will try and decide two points before borrowing. First, where he can get the best terms. Second, where he can get fair and square treatment.

This company is in a position to give you by far the most satisfactory terms ever offered by any concern or individual negotiating this class of loans.

With this company you are assured of getting the lowest rates, easiest payments and longest time for repayment. The whole transaction from the time the application is made until loan is paid is entirely confidential. We give you another advantage in case you take the loan out for six months or a year, and wish to settle the same before the time expires, we charge you only for the time you have had the money. We also take up loans from other companies and advance more money.

Kindly call and let us explain our simple and up-to-date methods If not entirely convenient for you to call, please write and our representative will call and give you any desired information. Remember it costs nothing to make application. Loans promptly made in Elizabeth, Plainfield, Westfield, Roselle, Rahway, Perth Amboy and all suburban towns.

IRELAND PRAISES THE NEGRO.

Delegation of Colored Men Thank Him For His Support.

WASHINGTON, March 23.—A delegation of members of the negro press of the country and of the Negro Pen and Pencil club called on Archbishop Ireland here and expressed to him their gratitude and appreciation of his stand in behalf of the negro. Remarks expressive of the gratitude of the race were made by Henry P. Slaughter, president of the Pen and Pencil club; L. M. Hershaw, Hon. John P. Green and Judson W. Lyons, register of the treasury.

Archbishop Ireland in responding said that to him the Stars and Stripes had no meaning whatsoever unless they mean the brotherhood of man. The idea of a distinction being made in civil and political matters because of race or language or color, he declared, is un-American. A man, he said, is a man, and that is all that the American constitution requires or that it should require if it is truly a constitution expressive of liberty. He urged his callers to have patience and said that with it the march of civilization and of Christianity would result in full recognition of their civil and political rights.

He expressed the opinion that there was not in the history of the world an example of similar progress made by any people of any color and of any race equal to that made by the colored people in the forty years since President Lincoln declared them free and independent. He predicted that what had been accomplished in the last forty years would be quadrupled in the next forty years.

Dennison Still Lost.

BUFFALO, March 23.—The detectives and police officials who are engaged in the search for Charles G. Dennison, the wealthy Chicago man who disappeared five days ago, have been unable to obtain any information to confirm the story told by a former acquaintance of the missing man to the effect that he was on board the Southwestern limited one day last week en route to New York. It is said that from information in hand the detectives are positive that Mr. Dennison did not go to the station in time to catch that train on the day he so mysteriously disappeared. He was seen on Main street half an hour after the train left for New York. From that time all trace of the missing man has been lost.

President Francis Welcomed Home.

ST. LOUIS, March 23.—David R. Francis, president of the Louisiana Purchase Exposition company, returned here yesterday from Europe, where he went in the interest of the world's fair. He left St. Louis on Feb. 10 and was in Europe eighteen days, during which time he visited the capitals of England, France, Germany, Spain and Belgium and had audiences with King Edward, President Loubet, Emperor William, the Spanish premier and King Leopold. President Francis was greeted at the station by at least 10,000 persons. With him was a committee of twenty prominent St. Louisians who went to New York last week to meet him and attend the dinner of the Missouri society given there in his honor.

Must Not Admit Negro Women.

NEW ORLEANS, March 23.—If the National Council of Women, which is to hold its annual convention here, shall admit into its sessions any negro delegates, the local council of women and all local society women will abandon the preparations they have made to entertain the visiting ladies. That fact leaked out as the result of a spirited executive meeting of the local council. Affiliated with the national council is the National Association of Colored Women, of which Mrs. Josephine S. Yates of Jefferson City, Mo., is president. Mrs. Yates will not attend the New Orleans convention, but her proxy, Mrs. Sylvania F. Williams, a highly educated colored woman of this city.

Cuban Congress Summoned.

HAVANA, March 23.—In accordance with the call issued by President Palma an extraordinary session of the senate will open here tomorrow for the purpose of ratifying the reciprocity treaty as amended by the United States senate. The reply of Minister Quesada to President Palma's dispatch inquiring if President Roosevelt was authorized to join with President Palma in decreeing an extension of time for the ratification of the treaty was that President Roosevelt was not authorized to extend the time and that the only way to save the treaty was to secure its ratification by the Cuban senate before March 31.

La Soufriere Again Belches.

KINGSTOWN, St. Vincent, March 23.—The eruption of La Soufriere, which began Saturday, continued with increased activity during the night and became most violent yesterday. The spectacle was awe inspiring. The crater is belching forth dense black clouds, which rise heavenward, accompanied by loud roaring and flashes, which rend the spreading pall of smoke which now envelopes the entire island in darkness.

Bark Burned; Crew Saved.

FUNCHAL, Madeira, March 23.—The Norwegian bark Tabitha, Captain J. Danielson, Pensacola Nov. 18 for Buenos Ayres, was burned at sea March 1 in latitude 34 south, 51 west. The British steamer Tarragona, Rosario Feb. 27 for Rotterdam, picked up the Tabitha's crew and landed them here. Two of the crew died from exposure.

Dean Farrar Dead.

SPORTING NEWS

ON THE DIAMOND.

E. P. T. Smith, of the Reform A. A., is gradually getting some of the city's best players beneath his wing. Of the club's now applying for admission to the league, he has a team that will compete with any of them.

The Hope team will appear on the diamond this year in brand new uniforms of the best make. Whether or not they will be of the same design and color as on previous seasons will be determined upon at the next meeting of the association. It is known, however, the association colors, red and blue, will predominate.

It is probable that the Safe Works team will have grounds of its own, this season. The management has secured options on several likely pieces of property and a choice will be made in the near future. One in particular which has been carefully looked over is on the line of the trolley and can be put in first-class shape for a very small outlay.

Captain F. T. VanAuken, of the City High School baseball team, announced this morning the 'varsity team for the coming season. The The members and positions are as follows: H. S. Munro, p; F. T. VanAuken, c; H. G. Thompson, 1b; V.B. Miner, 2b; P. Smith, 3b; H. H. Craig, ss; C. W. T. Ulrich, lf; L. Walters, cf; C. C. Recap, rf. L. Bock has been placed on the list as substitute outfielder and Samuel Bogart as substitute pitcher. These men will receive suits tomorrow and will be the team which will play the Orange Field Club Saturday.

INDOOR SPORTS.

The novice contest at the Y. M. C. A. was run off Saturday evening when William E. Neal won the rope climbing event in seven seconds. Only one contest was run off and an exhibition quarter mile walk was given in which Koons won out in 1 minute, 16 and 4-5 seconds.

BASKET BALL.

The most important game in the Plainfield Amateur Basket Ball League will be played this evening when the Y. M. C. A. and the Hope Y. M. A. will meet at Hope chapel for their final meeting. Special arrangements will be made to accommodate spectators.

One Child Fell Victim.

John McCarthy, the eight-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John McCarthy, of 1139 South Second street, died Friday night from scarlet fever. The remains were buried yesterday afternoon in St. Mary's cemetery. Two other children in the family are also ill with the disease, but their chances for recovery as being very good.

BORROWED RIG FOR FUN

H. D. THOMPSON THOUGHT IT WAS STOLEN AND SENT OUT ALARM.

Boys Were Captured and Locked Up at County Jail in Default of Bail.

While H D. Thompson, of West Fourth street, was seated in a side room of the Maples, the hotel on Terrill road, last evening, his horse and wagon were taken from beneath the adjoining sheds. The loss was discovered a short time afterward and a general alarm and description of the rig was sent about the city.

No trace of it was discovered until 10:30, when Patrolman Myers noticed two boys driving a horse at breakneck speed along Watchung avenue. He seized the bridle of the animal and, bringing it to a stop, saw it fitted the description of Thompson's missing equine. The boys who gave their names as Daniel Mahony and James Olson, were locked up at headquarters.

This morning they were arraigned before Justice Huff on a charge of horse stealing preferred by Thompson. They acknowedged taking the rig but denied any wrong intention beyond taking a ride. In default of bail they were committed to await the action of the Grand Jury.

SLOWLY IMPROVING.

Wilson Fredericks Has Received Skin From Forty-Two of His Masonic Brothers.

Wilson Fredericks, of Dunellen, probably the most severely injured of the surviving Westfield wreck victims, is getting along very nicely at Muhlenberg Hospital. The slow and tedious process of grafting skin on the scalded portions of his body have been going on unceasingly and he is bearing up well. So far, forty-two persons, all Masonic brethren, have given portions of their cuticle for the purpose.

The hospital authorities declare that with the present favorable symptoms, he will be able to leave the institution in two months. The skin grafting operations have been in charge of Dr. Albert Pittis.

Blaze at Battle Row.

An alarm was rung in from box 34, at Liberty and West Fifth streets, this morning shortly after 10 o'clock for a fire in the apartments of Mrs. Henry in Battle Row on West Fourth street. The blaze was put out by the West End Hose Company. The damage was trifling.

Funeral of Mrs. Powers.

Funeral services over the remains of Mrs. Mary Powers, who died Thursday, were held Saturday from her late home in Elizabethport. The remains were afterward brought to this city and interred in St. Mary's cemetery.

Change in Date of Opening.

There has been another change in the date of the opening at the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club. The course and clubhouse will be opened Friday, April 10 instead of Saturday, April 11.

BROKEN AXLE CAUSES WRECK

FREIGHT TRAIN BLOCKS PENNSYLVANIA R. R. TRACKS AT NEW BRUNSWICK.

Tore Up Tracks for Three Blocks—Then Fell Against Passing Passenger Train.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

New Brunswick, March 23 — A broken axle was the cause of a freight wreck at the New Brunswick depot of the Pennsylvania Railroad early yesterday morning and for five hours traffic in either direction was effectually blocked. No one was injured although eight cars were piled up for a distance of three blocks. The accident happened at a few minutes before midnight.

The axle under one of the cars snapped in two as the train was passing through the town and it dragged along for five blocks before the cars could be stopped. One of the cars rammed into the side of Supervisor Parker's office and tore out much of the woodwork.

While the train was coming to a standstill the passenger train which was due in New Brunswick from New York at 11:08 but which was very late, started to pull out of the depot. As it did so the freight cars which were piled high, settled back and scratched and tore the sides of the passenger coaches. The fact, that the train had just stopped to allow all passengers to get off, accounts for the fact that no lives were lost or people injured.

Wreckers from Jersey City and Trenton were sent to the scene of the wreck and by 5 o'clock the wreckage was cleared away.

Spread at Old Sebring Homestead at Greenbrook at Which Many Politicians Gathered.

In honor of Mayor Newton B. Smalley, Charles P. Sebring gave a dinner Saturday evening to a large nmuber of prominent city officials and well known men from other parts of Union and Somerset counties. There were thirty present at the dinner which was held in the old Sebring homestead at Greenbrook.

The menu was an elaborate one. After the dinner Mr. Sebring assumed the role of toastmaster and elicited a few remarks from Mayor Smalley, Mayor O. L. Jenkins, of Plainfield; Mayor Brokaw, of Bound Brook; Borough Counsel Charles A. Reed, Rev. J. B. Cleaver and Former Mayor B. A. Hegeman, Jr.

Besides those named there were present W. C. S. Smith, H. S. Potter, Chief of the Fire Department J. J. Stahl, Borough Councilman Charles A. Lee, Recorder Thomas Doud, City Councilmen J. F. Buckle and Robert L. Lee, Chief of the Plainfield Fire Department T. O. Doane and others.

BATCH IN COURT.

Five Offenders Haled Before City Judge Runyon This Morning—Jail for One.

City Judge Runyon disposed of the following cases at this morning's session of court:

John Morecraft, found helplessly drunk at Front and Somerset streets, Saturday afternoon, by Patrolman Flynn, sent to jail for thirty days.

Michael Gronz, of Dunellen, helplessly drunk on Liberty street, Saturday; arrested by Patrolman Higgins; fined $3.

Louis Miller, arrested by Roundsman Flynn at 1:30 this morning, for intoxication, sentence suspended.

John Wood, of Dunellen, arrested last night by Roundsman Flynn for disorderly conduct on a West Front street trolley car; fined $3.

Thomas Hammil, arrested yesterday for non-appearance in court, when ordered to on December 22; sentence suspended.

FUNERAL OF GEORGE LEWIS.

Service Was Held at Residence on Mountain Avenue.

The funeral of George Lewis, who passed away at his home on Mountain avenue, Thursday, were held from his late residence, Saturday afternoon. They were in charge of Rev. C. E. Herring, of the First Presbyterian church and were largely attended by relatives and friends. The floral tributes were numerous.

Following the obsequies the remains were interred in the North Plainfield cemetery. Those who acted as pall bearers were S. B. Wheeler, Harrison Coddington, Henry Weiss and Jules Bovey.

A UNIQUE BUILDING GOING

FACTORY, QUARTER OF A MILE LONG, BEING DEMOLISHED AT CLAREMONT.

Has Often Attracted Attention of Plainfielders Passing Through on Jersey Central Railroad.

The largest and probably the most unique building ever erected in this State and one that has for years past attracted the attention of many Plainfield people passing over the Central Railroad of New Jersey, is now being razed and its various parts being carried away to be used in the construction of other buildings. It is being demolished because its usefulness is gone.

Eleven years ago the Sackett Wall Board Company was organized. This concern had a patent on a wall board which took the place of plaster used for ceilings and walls of buildings. The concern looked about for a desirable place to locate its plant. They found a site at Claremont and within a few months the kind of building deemed necessary for their business and which has since excited the curiosity of thousands of people, was erected and a short time later the plant was in full blast. This structure, though not built of expensive material, was exceedingly long It ran parallel with the Morris canal and was a few feet east of the tow path. It extended from Claremont avenue south to the Central Railroad at a point where the road crosses the canal, near what is known as the "Point of Rocks." It was exactly 1,600 feet long and six feet wide. It was built in the meadows on piles. The total height of the building at its foundation was about thirty-five feet, and of the building proper eighteen feet.

This strange structure was not infrequently taken for a long distance rifle range or rope walk, and the people living in Claremont were afforded continual amusement by the conjectures and guesses of strangers concerning this building and none were ever known to hit upon its real use.

The building was never painted, and a few years after its erection, although there were always people busy within, a casual observer would get the impression that it was deserted. If by chance one had business with the concern and found it necessary to call at the manufactory, the feeling that there was nothing doing within would be intensified. For the entrance was locked and about the only thing one saw that was at all familiar was the handle of a door bell, underneath which was an invitation to ring. One pulled the handle and listened intently for the response. One never heard the ring, for it took place at the other end of the building, more than a quarter of a mile away, where the office was located. Then there came a wait and a feeling of loneliness. If one had patience he would sit upon the top step of the stairway and await developments. In the course of fifteen minutes or half an hour he might—if the people inside were not too busy to answer the bell—hear footsteps. A few minutes later the door would be opened; and then, if one's business was important, there would be an invitation to step within and walk to the office, 1,600 feet away.

On the entrance to the building were humorous inscriptions, written by the weary waiters in their efforts to kill time. Most of these were of a numerous nature. One apparently must have formed the opinion that it was a morgue, for he wrote: "All are dead within." Underneath appeared in a different hand: "What is time to these people?" And still another wrote: "If the bell is out of order my day is lost."

The Sackett Company has abandoned the Claremont plant to build factories in New York State, Pennsylvania and Michigan.

Y. M. C. A. WINS AT BASKET BALL

Deciding Game in Plainfield Amateur Basket Ball League Makes Exciting Contest.

WON BY A SINGLE POINT

Y. M. C. A. and Hope Y. M. A. Play at Latter's Gymnasium—Score 20 to 19—Spectators Went Wild With Excitement in Concluding Moments of the Game.

By defeating the Hope Y. M. A. by a single point in a wildly exciting game last evening, the basket ball five of the Y. M. C. A. retained its place at the top of the Plainfield Amateur Basket Ball League and captured the trophy offered by The Daily Press. While there are two games to be played to complete the schedule, they cannot possibly change the result.

There have been exciting games in Plainfield but never one where every spectator was in a state of such intense excitement. It was of the heart-breaking kind from the very start. Everybody knew that a victory for the Y. M. C. A. meant the trophy. The Hopes had the advantage of playing in their own gymnasium but the recent minstrel show had intereferred with practice and the inaccuracy in goal throwing, which was undoubtedly owing somewhat to that was the most important feature in deciding the game.

The Y. M. C. A. boys have been playing the game of their life during the last two months and the first few minutes of play gave the appearance that the visitors were going to win handily. From the very start, the play was rough and very fast. Hope's boys could not seem to land the basket although Whitley was deadly in his aim in foul throwing. Of a sudden a change came over the home five. There was a brace. The ball began to drop into the basket. Dilks landed one of his backhand throws. Hop's famous "short" game developed fast. Y. M. C. A.'s guards seemed to weaken. Where Y. M. C. A. had led by a point or two, Hope went to the fore with a rush and the half ended with the score 12 to 7 in Hope's favor.

Even wilder excitement marked the second half. The play grew rougher despite the efforts of the officials to control it. The close quarters made a clean game at that pace impossible. Several changes on the Y. M. C. A. team worked to advantage and some of its famous team work began to develop. That sudden improvement in accuracy, which had marked the close of the first half, was not shown by the Hope boys in the second. Time after time the ball danced about the rim of the goal and failed to score. The Y. M. C. A. boys were throwing better.

Steadily the visitors pulled up until they were even with the Hopes. The half was then but half gone. Both sides redoubled their efforts and the strain told on the accurate throwing of both teams. There were but few goals thrown after that. Cahoone could do nothing at free throws and Dention tried but with indifferent success. Whitley made four out of six.

It was tie. Then Dilks landed one and gave Hope the lead. Denton tied the score with a clever goal. Whitey scored a single point on a foul. Then the last goal of the game, thrown by Smith, two minutes before time was called, enabled the Y. M. C. A. team to win out by a single point. It was so close that the scorers could not announce immediately who had won and the crowd, uncertain as to where victory was, cheered first for one side and then for the other. Then came the result, 20 to 19, in favor of Y. M. C. A.

The teams were:

Y. M. C. A.		Hope Y. M. A.
Denton, Smith	right forward	Dilks
Cahoone, Denton	left forward	Porter
Scull, Cahoone	centre	Whitley
Neal, Scull	right guard	Chamberlain

Score—Y. M. C. A., 20; Hope Y. M. A., 19. Goals from the field—Dilks (4), Whitley, Chamberlain, Denton (5), Smith (4). Goals on fouls—Whitley (3), Cahoone, Denton (2). Fouls—Y. M. C. A., 12; Hope Y. M. A., 15. Referee—W. C. Geiger, of Jersey City. Umpires—H. M. Hoffman and F. W. Manger, Jr., of Jersey City. Timekeepers—Cecil Pittis, of Y. M. C. A., and J. Fred Wharton, of Hope Y. M. A. Scorers—John H. Doane and V.W. Nash, Jr., of Hope Y. M. A.

SCHOOL BOARD MEETS IN PUBLIC SESSION

First Open Meeting of Board Saw Nothing But Routine Business Transacted.

TOOK BUT HALF HOUR

JAMES R. JOY WAS ELECTED PRESIDENT OF BOROUGH BOARD OF EDUCATION.

Robert Fountain Made District Clerk—Some Discussion of Question of One or Two Sessions—Referred to the Committee.

For the first time in the history of the borough, the members of the Board of Education of that municipality met in open session last evening. The importance of the meeting, was after all, entirely confined to that fact. As far any the business actually done at the session, there was little outside of organization and routine affairs and only a half hour was required to accomplish it.

There were present: John Valiant, James R. Joy, Dr. J. H. Cooley, Murray Burtis, H. A. Woodruff, Samuel Townsend, Edward A. Overton, R. M. Fountain and the supervising principal, Homer J. Wightman.

At 8 o'clock, John Valiant called the meeting to order and James R. Joy was chosen president of the board with Robert Fountain, district clerk. The salary of the district clerk was made $200 per year. The rules of last year will govern the new board until further notice and what revisions are necessary will be made by a committee of two which was appointed by the chairman. It comprises Samuel Townsend and John Valiant. This committee will report at the next meeting which will be held a week from last evening.

The resolutions of the school meeting, calling for open meetings, were said by Mr. Townsend not to be binding but merely as a suggestion. It was decided to hold public meetings when it was practicable. It was also decided to hold the meetings hereafter in the school building auditorium, or some other class room, as the supervising principal's office was too small. The rules will be changed to allow this to be done. A definite order of business will be laid down at the next meeting.

Superintendent Wightman suggested that some circular letters be printed and distributed among the parents of the children for the purpose of ascertaining the preference of the parents as to whether they desired the one session or two session plan adopted. Mr. Joy suggested that this matter should be discussed by the committee on complaints. Mr. Townsend held that the School Board was chosen by the people to settle those matters and by motion it was referred to the committee on complaints which will be chosen with other committees at the next meeting of the board. The meeting adjourned at 8:30 after the board decided to pay Miss Ethel Whalen half month's salary for her services as music teacher after she was released last month. The bill amounted to $22.50.

CALICO BALL.

Held by Ladies' Section of Gesang and Turn Verein.

The annual calico ball of the Ladies' Section of the Gesang and Turn Verein, was held last evening at Saengerbund Hall when there were no less than seventy-five couples on the floor. The committee which had the arrangements in charge wore dresses corresponding in color to the colors of the society. The committee comprised: Mrs. Charles Meyer, Mrs. Matthias Menzenbach, Mrs. John Retzer, Mrs. Henry Hertle, Mrs. Abram Geddis, Mrs. Amelia Sutten, Mrs. Carl Felber. The floor manager was Charles Meyer and Professor O'Reilly's orchestra supplied the music.

Revised Fire House Plans.

A meeting of the fire, water and lamps committee of the Borough Council was held last evening when the plans for the new engine house were gone over and several changes decided upon. It seems at present as though the necessary cost of the new building would be brought within the $10,000 limit.

Promised to Appear.

James Olsen and Daniel Mahony, the two boys arrested for appropriating H. D. Thompson's rig, Sunday night, were released from jail, yesterday afternoon, on their own recognizances. They will appear before the Grand Jury at the next session.

LOCAL MILK DEALERS TO SECURE PERMITS

Provisions Regarding Milk Supply According to the New Sanitary Code.

ABOUT THE CONDITIONS

THE PERMITS ARE TO BE APPLIED FOR BEFORE APRIL 1.

Rules Regarding Production and Transportation of Milk—What Must be Done—Many of the Dealers Already Conform.

According to the provisions of the new sanitary code, recently passed by the Plainfield Board of Health, April 1 will see all the local milk dealers with permits from the Board of Health. The provisions of the code require that, by the first of next month, all the dealers in the city shall have made application for a permit to sell milk and filed a list of their customers and sources of supply.

This fact that dealers are obliged to secure permits has caused some comment in certain quarters and has led some people to believe that because the dealers are required to observe certain conditions in their business, it is sufficient reason why the price of milk should be raised from 6 to 8 cents per quart. Through information obtained at the office of the Board of Health, the facts do not seem to warrant such belief as many of the dealers already conform with requirements and will therefore not be affected by the change in the code.

Probably the real reason for the increased price of milk is due to the prevailing high price of feed. Aside from the $2 permit fee imposed by the Board of Health, the only other expense of any importance is that of plenty of elbow grease, soap and water. The Board of Health having the power to keep the dairies and surroundings up to a high standard of efficiency, has determined that this shall be done, believing that the public will support such effort and will welcome the placing of such restrictions upon the milk business as will insure pure milk.

All applications for permits to sell milk must be received by the Board of Health before April 1. They will then be investigated by the members and if the applicant is all right he will be given the permit. In securing a permit the dealer agrees to comply with all the rules and regulations of the Board of Health. The requirements are not stringent, being only such as would appeal to the common sense of anyone. Already many dealers have made applications for permits and in many cases there are a number of dealers who more than live up to the requirements of the board. Those who is not will have to make alterations accordingly.

Briefly, the section of the code referring to milk dealers, says that all persons who sell or deliver milk must secure a permit, the same to cost $2. This permit is issued for one year and may be revoked if in the judgment of the Board any dealer violates the provisions to such an extent as to warrant this action. Each dealer is required to furnish the Board a complete list of customers served and where he obtains his supply of milk, also of any change in source of supply. Utensils used for the collection and transportation of milk must be thoroughly washed with pure water and soap or soda and then sterilized.

It is further required that all milk shall be properly cooled immediately after it is produced and shall be removed from the stable to a separate room. Also no ticket shall be used more than once with the delivery of milk, and all milk bottles must be sterilized before being used the second time. Dealers who deliver milk in a wagon must have their name and the number of their permit painted plainly on both sides of their wagon.

As for the rules and regulations in regard to the production and transportation of milk, it is required that stables shall always be clean and that they shall have tight, dry floors with well drained drops, that cattle shall be groomed and kept clean, that manure shall not be allowed to accumulate in large quantities about stable yards, that only good wholesome food shall be used for cattle. These are the principal rules and regulations and it is argued that any milkman who is particular about his milk business should be perfectly willing to comply with them.

MANY OPPOSE NEW SEWERS

Strong Opposition to the Proposed Sewer Extension to the Southwest.

ONLY ONE IN ITS FAVOR

After Hearing Arguments on Subject, the Council Refers It Back to the Committee on Streets—No Definite Action Was Taken in the Matter.

Arguments against the proposed extension of the present sanitary sewer system in this city were presented with considerable force at the adjourned meeting of the Common Council, last evening, when a hearing on the ordinance was given. The leading speakers against the improvement were Former Mayor Alex. Gilbert and Former Councilman John B. Dumont, while a few others also spoke against the proposition. The weight of evidence seemed to be against it for G. Herbert Taylor, who with a number of capitalists, is planning to improve a certain section of the city, was the only one present to speak in favor of the plan of extension.

Mr. Gilbert was the first speaker. He said that it was with no spirit of captious criticism that he appeared before the Council. He had carefully thought the proposition over in his mind and asked himself the question, "what would I do if I were a member of the Council or Mayor of the city, and I have come to the conclusion that I would vote against the proposition and would veto such a plan."

Mr. Gilbert said that he believed it neither wise nor prudent to start this improvement without good reasons. In support of this contention the speaker said that there is no imperative need of an extension of the sewer. He then went back to the time of the introduction of the present system and stated that it was solely the congested condition of the centre of the city that led to the installation of sewers. The cesspools in the heart of town were considered a menace to health and frequent complaints were heard about them. North Plainfield seriously objected to the use of Green brook as a dumping place for sewage matter from the North avenue sewer and even threatened the city with a suit if the practice was not stopped. It was then that the city system of sanitary sewers was decided upon. It was considered a part of wisdom to lay a main through Seventh and Eighth street and Park avenue, wherever the gravity system was practical.

Mr. Gilbert stated that he firmly believed that if it had not been for the congested condition of a certain part of the city, Plainfield's system of sewers would have been delayed at least five years. Otherwise there was no urgent need for the system. As for North Plainfield, which is growing rapidly, Mr. Gilbert believed that that community would be able to get along without sewers for some years to come, there being no imperative need for such a system now so far as the health of the borough is concerned. The speaker said that he recently drove over the route for the proposed extension of the Plainfield system and he believed that he was not overestimating when he said that fully three-quarters of the property is unimproved, and if this is true he thought he was entitled to a verdict. He did not believe that the Council under such conditions would think of spending $65,000 or more to extend the sewer system, when probably a number of the property-owners would not connect with it.

Continuing, Mr. Gilbert stated that this is a most inopportune time to build such an extension as proposed. A time when iron pipe is 100 per cent. higher than ever and labor also higher. He thought that probably these things have reached the maximum point and that in a few years both material and labor will be cheaper. He said that he wanted to see Plainfield occupy a first-class position, but he favored a Councilmanic hand on the lever which will regulate the tax rate. An excessive rate he believed retarded instead of helped the progress of a city.

In further support of his position, Mr. Gilbert said that certain statements had been made regarding cost and revenue in the matter of extension, but these things do not always work out as one sometimes think they

LOCAL ATTORNEY NASH CAPTURES WHOLE SHOW

And the Boonton Populace Strongly Resents the Interruption of Performance.

WAS A SMALL-SIZED RIOT

LAWYER NASH WAS REPRESENTING SOME PLAINFIELD CREDITORS.

"Innocent Beauties" Left Town With Some Debts Behind—But the Debtors Will Get Their Money Back, Thanks to Mr. Nash.

Attorney V. W. Nash, Jr., of this city, was the innocent originator of a small sized riot in the opera house at Boonton, this State, Saturday night. While the performance of the Fay Foster Burlesque Company was in full blast, the Plainfielder escorted a constable behind the curtain and spread consternation among the actresses and actors by attaching the costumes. The entertainment was abruptly terminated and the audience was told it could go home, but the major portion didn't see it that way. This part of the crowd swooped down upon the box office and demanded a return of admission money but they were too late.

The Plainfield lawyer was ahead of them by an hour and all the cash taken in had also been attached on three writs sworn to by three debtors of the concern living in this city. There was some excitement in the lobby for a short time but the cooler head prevailed and the crowd was eventually induced to go home.

The troupe, which is conducted by L. Eisemann, of New York exhibited in this city several weeks ago under the sobriquet of the "Innocent Beauties." Business wasn't exceptionally good and the company hied itself away leaving a reminder of its visit, it is said, in debts amounting to $68. The debtors are Mrs. Eva Rowley, of Park avenue, a boarding house keeper; Mrs. F. A. VanNest, who conducts a restaurant, and William A. Schorb, of the Central Theatre. They combined forces and kept tabs on the troupe until conveniently located. This happened Saturday when it appeared at Boonton and Attorney Nash was dispatched hence with the writs already made out.

He waited until 9 o'clock and then attached the evening's receipts. The manager argued, swore and threatened but the Plainfielder was firm. The treasury only contained $30 and when the rest wasn't forthcoming Nash made the master stroke by shutting up shop all around. Even then argument still continued until 2:30 Sunday morning, when the manager decided to give his note for the rest and the costumes were released. Nash had to spend the remainder of the night in the D. L. and W. depot, as the only available hotel was filled with the angry troupe which itched to get at him. He arrived home yesterday afternoon and today Eisemann's backer in New York agreed to pay the entire amount.

TWO GIFTS.

James Clark's Generosity May Permit Warren Chapel to Build New Quarters.

Through the generosity of James Clark, of West Seventh street, the Children's Home Association has just received a gift of $10,000 and Warren chapel a gift of $5,000. The gifts were unexpected and are therefore all the more enjoyed because of the genuine surprise.

The gift to the Children's Home Home will enable the board of managers to amply provide for the growing needs. The money received by Warren chapel will help the congregation there to erect a suitable church or chapel on Watchung avenue, which has been under consideration for some time past. It is understood that the chapel has also received another cash gift to assist in the enterprise. If a change should be made the present property would be disposed of at a fair price and the money thus received would go toward erecting the new edifice.

Motion Pictures.

Edison's best and most improved picture machine, the projectoscope, will show some of the latest views in motion pictures at the Park Avenue Baptist church, Thursday evening, for the benefit of the Sunday-school. There will also be illustrated songs and musical selections by Forrest & Company, of New York.

CONTRACT FOR 'PHONES FOR PATROL BOXES

City Fathers Approve of One With the New York and New Jersey Telephone Co.

BOUGHT TWO BICYCLES

ROUTINE BUSINESS AT LAST NIGHT'S COMMON COUNCIL MEETING.

Award Contracts for Crushed Stone to N. B. Smalley, for Flag Stone to Andrew Roach—The Other Routine Business Transacted.

In regular order of business at the adjourned meeting of the Common Council, last evening, there was not much of importance to consider, aside from several communications.

Two communications were received from J. C. Manning and other residents of Dunellen avenue and Albert street. One asked the Council to extend Dunellen avenue through to North Plainfield and change the name of the avenue to Myrtle avenue. The other petition asked the Council to macadamize Albert street and Dunellen avenue. These were referred to the proper committee. A letter from John N. Akarman, general manager of the Elizabeth, Plainfield and Central Street Railway Company, acknowledging receipt of a communication from the Council calling attention to certain unsatisfactory conditions, and the contract of the Gamewell Fire and Telegraph Company and the city, which had been approved, were filed

The Home Real Estate Company, recently formed to develop certain property in the West End, petitioned the Council for four electric lights in the vicinity of Hunter and Hobart avenues. This matter was referred.

A resolution was offered by Mr. Tolles and adopted, awarding N. B. Smalley the contract for furnishing the city crushed stone and Andrew Roach the contract for furnishing crosswalks and curbing, their bids being the lowest. Mr. Smalley's bid was 85 cents for the number two and half size stone and 95 cents for the smaller sizes.

Mr. Randolph offered a resolution, which was adopetd, appropriating $35 for the purchase of two bicycles for the police department. The low price asked caused a ripple of laughter.

Mr. Randolph also offered an agreement, entered into by the city and the New York and New Jersey Telephone Company, whereby the company agrees for the sum of $400 to take care of the Gamewell police patrol system, after it is installed, for one year and to make all repairs and furnish all necessary wires, etc. The company further agrees to install sixteen telephones, one in each of the police patrol boxes and an additional one at police headquarters to be used in connection with the system. It is understood that everything pertaining to the system, except the telephones, is to be the property of the city. The agreement was accepted.

Mr. Lee reported on the matter of the fire committee purchasing a new team of horses for the fire department at an expense which did not exceed $450. Mr. Lee explained that in accordance with a previous resolution giving the committee power to buy one horse at an expense not to exceed $250, the committee had found it necessary to buy a team instead of one horse and he asked the Council to authorize the expenditure. This was done.

Before an adjournment was taken, President Buckle requested the Councilmanic members of the Board of School Estimate to see that the amount thought to be necessary for the schools for the coming year be reported to the finance committee before the next regular meeting, when the budget for the year will be prepared and announced.

Stopped a Runaway.

When the fire whistle blew yesterday morning, a horse belonging to William Warnock, the West Front sreet baker, started to run away from in front of the house where it was standing. The horse dashed up East Second street to Watchung avenue and was stopped by Charles Fisher, of Smalley Brothers' butcher shop. The man was dragged for some distance, but finally managed to bring the plunging horse to a standstill.

NO CHANGE IN LEAGUE

City Baseball League Decides to Continue With But Four Teams.

ONE VOTE AGAINST IT

St. Mary's Representative Cast Dissenting Vote—Schedule Will Consist of Eighteen Instead of Twelve Games—To Open the Season on Decoration Day.

For another season the Plainfield Amateur Baseball League will comprise the original four clubs, namely, the Hope Y. M. A., the Manganese Steel Safe Company, formerly the Hibbard-Rodman-Ely Safe Works, the St. Mary A. and L. A. and the Y. M. C. A. This decision was reached at the meeting held last evening when Manager Alex. Muir, of the Safe Company, made a motion to that effect and it was carried. The representative of the St. Mary team was the only one to cast a dissenting vote.

While none of the league officials made known their reasons for rejecting the applications of the four new teams, it is positive they are numerous and varied. Principal among them is the fact that it would make at least four games on each Saturday, a number that would so distribute the patronage that none of the teams could be made to pay expenses. It would also complicate matters in other directions and they feared interest would flag to such an extent that the entire league would suffer.

Other matters of importance were transacted at the meeting, the leader being an increase in the number of games to be played. The season will comprise eighteen games instead of twelve, with the first two to be played on Decoration Day as on last year. It is probable two games will be played on the Fourth of July which was omitted last season.

Another meeting is to be held Saturday evening when the new constitution and schedule are to be submitted. The question of grounds was brought up and, at the next session, each club will name the site it expects to occupy.

BARBER CAUGHT IT.

Leonard Young Fined $20, While His Guests Were Discharged.

Quite a number of people crowded the borough court room, last evening, when Recorder Thomas Doud heard the cases of the seven men arrested for gambling by Marshals Winn, Wise and Chief Campbell, Sunday evening, in Leonard Young's barber shop, Somerset street. The complaining officer was Marshal Wise. Entrance had been effected through the front door which was unlocked. Judge Doud imposed a fine of $20 on Young and discharged the rest. Jellig, who is aged about fifty years, was given a severe reprimand.

Rusty Nail Disabled Him.

While sawing some wood in the rear of his house, Saturday afternoon, Wm. T. Sampson, of Fairview avenue, stepped on a nail and ran it into his foot nearly an inch. The injury was a severe one and fearing blood poison he had the wound cauterized. The foot is badly swollen and he has since been confined to the house being unable to walk.

Safe Company Changes Name.

The Hibbard-Rodman-Ely Safe Company, of this city, has issued announcements to the effect that it has changed its name and will hereafter be known as the Manganese Steel Safe Company. This change is due, so the announcement states, to the advantage to be derived from having a name indicative of the business of the company.

Tonight's Lecture.

An illustrated lecture which promises to have exceptional interest to Plainfield people will be delivered this evening at the Y. M. C. A. Hall. The subject will be "Picturesque and Industrial Niagara." Tickets for this lecture may be obtained at the drug stores of the city free of charge. A silver offering will be received.

At St. Mary's Tonight.

Rev. Father Hedges, of Orange Valley, will be the speaker at the regular services at St. Mary's R. C. church this evening. He will have an interesting topic and, as he is well known in this city, he will no doubt have a large audience. The services begin at 8 o'clock this evening.

COLUMN FOR THE SHOPPERS

SOME OF ATTRACTIONS TO BE FOUND AT LOCAL STORES.

A Few Interesting Items Concerning Greater Plainfield's Merchants

T. L. Walsh, the North avenue green grocer, will make a specialty this week of fresh vegetables and the best of foreign and domestic fruit. The display is renewed every day and prices are always low.

Tasteless cod liver oil is not so bad if it is secured from the right place. B. J. Schreiner, of Park avenue and Second street, has a preparation of this kind which is absolutely tasteless and is the best that is made.

Don't delay further in securing the season's supply of trees, plants and shrubbery for beautifying residential grounds. The Belleview Nursery's large stock is rapidly being depleted. A postal will bring a representative.

Shad is now in season. The best of the day's catches are to be had at Rogers' seafood market—beauties, every one of them. Rogers makes a specialty of delivering early and will take care orders for breakfast arrive in time.

At this time of the year the blood is very liable to become stagnant and in need of purifying. T. S. Armstrong's sarsaparilla and Pepto Manganate puts vitality into the blood and sends it coursing through the veins with renewed activity.

The height of fashion in millinery can always be found at Bonn's store on West Front street. The various seasons are closely followed and when you buy a hat at this store you can depend upon it that it represents the latest style, as well as the best quality of goods and workmanship.

Almost every one likes good soda. That is why E. S. F. Randolph's drug store is so popular with persons with fastidious soda tastes in summer time. This summer he is going to have some French ice cream which can be taken home in bricks and which will also be sold in frapees. Scrupulous care is always taken with the syrups in their manufacture.

Mr. Fass, proprietor of the Paris Cloak Store, has found it necessary to engage a number of additional tailors so that garments can be turned out on short notice. In order to keep these tailors busy there will be a reduction in the price of work. A perfect fit is guaranteed, as well as satisfaction. Mr. Fass has received his shipment of spring goods and he invites inspection. He is making a specialty of silk coats for women and children.

HIS COMMITTEES.

Named by J. Henry Crane, President of First Baptist C. E. Society.

President J. Henry Crane, of the First Baptist church Christian Endeavor Society, has announced his committees as follows:

Lookout, Mrs. Hannah Y. Flanders, chairman; Miss Julia Bourgeois, N. Douglass Drake; prayer-meeting, Mrs. M. A. Pierce, chairman; Miss Linda Butler, Miss Grace Yerkes; missionary, Miss Florence I. Marsh, chairman; Miss Ida Yerkes, George F. Brown; social, Miss Hattie Mattison, chairman; Miss Grace TenEyck, Herbert J. DuBois; Miss Bessie Wilson; music, Miss Carro Bird, chairman; Miss Edith Cairns, Miss Hattie French; flower, Miss Mabel Cronce, Miss Florence Carver; welcome and press, Miss Mabel Smith, chairman; J. Henry Crane.

EXPECT TO CONTINUE.

Success of Friday Night Club Will be Continued Another Year.

So successful has the Friday Night Club been during the winter that G. Herbert Taylor, who was the originator of the scheme, said at the closing night of the regular season that it was very probable that the club would continue to hold meetings next winter. He said that the club from the start took very well and has grown from a charter membership of 125 to a total enrollment of 180.

There have been requests by some of the members to continue the present season for several weeks longer but the committee decided that it would be best to give a closing entertainment and dance and close the season for the year.

Missionary Exercises.

Sunday will be observed at the Monroe Avenue M. E. church with missionary exercises by the Sunday-school. An interesting programme is being prepared by the missionary society of the church and the services promise to be well attended.

Under the auspices of Calvary Baptist church a measuring party will be given Thursday evening. Miss Abbie Holmes has charge of the arrangements.

Avoid all drying inhalants and use that which cleanses and heals the membrane. Ely's Cream Balm is such a remedy and cures Catarrh easily and pleasantly. Cold in the head vanishes quickly. Price 50 cents at druggists or by mail.

Catarrh caused difficulty in speaking and to a great extent loss of hearing. By the use of Ely's Cream Balm dropping of mucus has ceased, voice and hearing have greatly improved.—J. W. Davidson, Att'y at Law, Monmouth, Ill.

CAN'T MAKE A MISTAKE.

All Plainfield People Have to Do Is to Follow Their Neighbors' Advice.

Our readers have no excuse for going astray. The way is almost fenced with guide-posts in Plainfield. They are on every highway and by-way. "He who runs may read." Investigate this example:

Mrs. R. A. Martin, of Jackson street, says: "I had pain in my back and loins for about a year or more, no doubt caused by my kidneys being out of order. I felt it more in the morning, just after getting up or if I did any stooping or lifting. Notwithstanding the fact that I took all kinds of medicines I never found anything which helped me until I got Doan's Kidney Pills at L. W. Randolph's drug store. They not only removed the pain, but they strengthened me in other ways."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents a box. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the U. S.

Remember the name Doan's and take no other.

Domestic Troubles.

Considerable excitement was occasioned on Watchung avenue, yesterday morning, by a man who claimed that a certain conductor on the local trolley lines had broken up his home. The man hold a position with the Potter Press Company. The conductor took refuge in the house of a friend near by otherwise personal violence might have befallen him.

LAST YEAR'S PROFITS TO STOCKHOLDERS.

40% Dividends Paid by One Stock. Another in 13 Months Paid 27%

We want wide-awake agents in every town in the state. Insurance men and others are making $100 a week as a side line.

We sell railroad stocks, city and municipal bonds, and other conservative forms of investment paying from 4 to 6% annually. Also high-grade industrial stocks, a trifle speculative, paying much larger rates of interest. We will be pleased to send you our beautifully illustrated book for investors.

We have been established twelve years and have offices in all the principal cities of the United States and Canada.

We buy insurance policies, and those having insurance on the 10, 15, or 20 year plan, who desire their money before policies mature, will be able to make money by writing us for figures.

We have only a limited amount of the 40% dividend stock. We do not guarantee delivery at present prices after April 15th. Of the 27% stock we also have a small block. Both are solid industrial enterprises.

TO PASS CANAL BILL

One Hundred and One Million Scheme a Sure Thing.

MANY BILLS IGNORED BY GOVERNOR

Hearing on Mortgage Tax Measure Tomorrow—Bill to Be Introduced Providing Life Sentence For Incorrigible Criminals.

ALBANY, N. Y., March 24.—The one hundred and one million dollar canal bill was laid over until tomorrow morning in the assembly. It will then be discussed in second reading. The present programme is to pass it in the senate on Wednesday and in the assembly on Thursday.

Senator Green announced that the mortgage tax bill would have a hearing tomorrow afternoon before the joint committee on taxation. This will be the first and perhaps the last hearing.

A bill will be introduced this week to carry into effect the recommendations of the superintendent of state prisons with reference to professional and incorrigible criminals. The bill will provide that when any felon comes up for sentence for the fourth time he shall be sentenced for life as an incorrigible criminal. It will rest with the board of commissioners for paroled prisoners whether he shall subsequently be paroled, but even if paroled he will be under supervision, returnable to prison for misconduct or breach of parole.

Governor Odell has signed these bills:

Senator Davis.—Providing that the board of aldermen of Buffalo shall pass upon the estimate for the general fund by March 24 instead of April 1 each year and that the mayor may disapprove of items.

Senator Townsend.—Providing that one year's residence in this state shall make a person eligible for admission to deaf, dumb and blind institutions in this state.

Mr. Grattan.—Providing that assessments for public improvements in Cohoes made against street railways shall be liens on the franchises and property of the corporations.

Senator Goodsell.—Increasing the salary of the recorder of Newburg from $1,000 to $1,500.

Senator Goodsell.—Authorizing Newburg to expend $1,200 yearly for the fire department parade.

Senator Goodsell.—Increasing the salary of the superintendent of waterworks of Newburg from $1,000 to $1,250.

Mr. Rogers.—Appropriating $200,000 for the redemption of the public defense bonds.

Mr. Mortimer.—Authorizing Utica to borrow $55,000 for the completion of the new library building.

Dr. Jordan on Education.

UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA, Cal., March 24.—Dr. David Starr Jordan of Stanford university delivered the principal address here at the exercises commemorating the thirty-fourth anniversary of the University of California. Governor Pardee was the other speaker. Dr. Jordan spoke on "American University Tendencies" and protested vigorously against the collegiate system whereby men are required to study things that they do not intend to use. He denounced men who come to college to win prominence in athletics or shine as social lights. Dr. Jordan recommended that these men be excluded from the university.

Low to Liquor Men.

NEW YORK, March 24.—Mayor Low has replied to the Liquor Dealers' association by practically accusing it of demoralizing the police force and being the chief stumbling block in the way of the suppression of blackmail. The letter was issued in response to an insistent request that he state his reasons for refusing to receive a committee of the association until it had explained why a $3,000,000 fund had been raised in the association. The mayor also expresses himself as favoring the proposed high license law.

Tragedy at Nuptial Feast.

CHICAGO, March 24.—Extending in one hand a wedding gift, Benjamin Valerio, a discharged suitor, pointed a revolver and fired at the bride of Joseph Malone at the wedding feast which they were celebrating here. In the struggle which followed as the bride sank to the ground dangerously wounded Valerio received fatal injuries and Michael Malone, a brother of the groom, was so severely hurt that he may not recover.

Cracksmen Frightened Away.

BATAVIA, N. Y., March 24.—Two daring cracksmen forced an entrance into the home of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Thomas at 7 Dellinger avenue early yesterday. Two members of the family were chloroformed, and several shots were exchanged between one of the burglars and a member of the household while the thieves were attempting to ransack the place. No one was injured. The burglars fled, leaving their plunder behind.

Conductor and Brakeman Killed.

CLEVELAND, O., March 24.—Conductor Frank Rassel and Brakeman L. G. Crall, members of a switching crew of a Cleveland and Pittsburg railroad train, were killed in the Newburg yards of that road by a freight car toppling over on them. A number of cars jumped the track, and several of them went over on their sides.

Barker to Relieve Higginson.

WASHINGTON, March 24.—Rear Admiral Barker will relieve Rear Admiral Higginson in command of the north Atlantic squadron May 1, the latter probably taking command of the Washington navy yard.

Magnificent beyond compare—fascinating models from famous designers, and scores of ideas having their origin in our own great workrooms.

Elaborate and sometimes almost daring in conception, as many of these hats are, they all possess a singular charm and indefinable style touch that distinguishes them from those of less important displays.

Picture hats made of the new straws plaited and twisted into wonderful shapes, and exquisitely trimmed with flowers, fruit, foliage and those dainty materials which have received the approval of fashionable Paris.

Then there are ready to wear and walking hats—so many pretty kinds and styles that to enumerate them is impossible.

Shapes, trimmings of every description, ornaments and imported novelties without end.

Our parlors recently remodelled and decorated for this occasion, make a pretty show place for the most artistic of the new season's hats.

Garment Style Function.

Three of New York City's best known lady models will be in attendance during the opening days in the State's greatest garment department.

We inaugurate our twenty-first season with larger and more complete assortments than ever, including hundreds of exclusive Gowns, Coats and Jackets from every manufacturer of any renown.

A leadership gained many years ago has never been more splendidly maintained, and we contend that there is no equal stock in Newark or none containing a greater diversity of styles anywhere in the country.

Our special order department is under the supervision of an expert, and we carry immense and complete lines of extra size garments for stout women and short-waisted garments of all kinds.

Our new lines include everything that is swagger for Women—Dress, Walking or Shirt Waist Suits, Costumes, Dress or Walking Skirts, Cloth or Silk Jackets, Blouses and Loose Coats, White, Long Silk or Rain Coats, Tea or House Gowns, Long Kimonos and Matinees. See Market Street window displays.

Misses' and Children's Third Floor Department

More than ever before this department will be the rendezvous of well-informed mothers.

Nothing new or dainty has been omitted in the gathering of a stock planned to meet every possible requirement.

For misses of from 6 to 14 years there are black, colored or Pongee Silk Coats, Cloth Coats and Jackets, Rain Coats, Serge or Fancy Cloth Suits, in sailor, blouse or Jacket styles; Peter Thompson Suits and Separate Skirts; Junior Tailor-made Suits, made of pretty materials with stylish Jackets and ankle length skirts, for misses from 12 to 16 years, and white or colored wash Sailor or Blouse Suits and high neck or guimpe dresses, in sizes from 4 to 14 years.

Then there are Silk Coats of all kinds in black and colors, Cloth Reefers, Box Coats, cloth, silk or wash and guimpe dresses, for tiny tots of from 1 to 5 years, and white organdie, net, Point d'Esprit and lawn dresses in many styles suitable for confirmation. Everybody welcome—come.

REBELS WIN CAPITAL

Santo Domingo In Possession of Revolutionists.

GOVERNMENT COMMANDER KILLED.

Troops Outside the City Preparing to Attempt to Retake the City — Fighting Still Continues.

SANTO DOMINGO, March 24.—The revolutionists are in full possession of the city of Santo Domingo. They have taken charge of the cable office and of the government land lines. Foreign Minister Sanchez has sought refuge in the United States consulate. The fighting continues.

Assistant Governor Echeulque and the commander of the government forces, General Pena, have been killed. It is expected that the government troops outside the city will attack the revolutionists who are in Santo Domingo. General Wos Gil has assumed command of the revolutionary forces.

The number of men killed or wounded is not known, but it is reported many have been killed on both sides.

Consul Reports Heavy Firing.

WASHINGTON, March 24.—United States Consul General Maxwell at Santo Domingo has cabled the state department that a revolution has broken out in that city and that at the hour he sent the cablegram heavy firing was in progress.

COTTON OPERATIVES SUPPORTED

Textile Workers of America Indorse the Strike For More Pay.

FALL RIVER, Mass., March 24.—The executive council of the United Textile Workers of America at a special session in this city gave its unqualified indorsement to the request of the operatives in the cotton mills in Lowell to enforce their demand for an increase of 10 per cent in wages. A similar indorsement was given the operatives in the mills of the New England Cotton Yarn company in New Bedford, Taunton and this city, while the strike of the mule spinners now in progress at Manville and Woonsocket, R. I., was approved.

In order to support the strike in the latter places and in anticipation of those which may take place at Lowell and in the mills of the New England Cotton Yarn company the executive committee voted to levy an assessment on the 20,000 members of the textile union to cover immediate needs and also as a defense fund.

Whatever action has already been taken by individual unions was approved, and the committee declared that in any instance the various unions were found to have been justified in every claim made and move taken.

Wentworth Left Two Wills.

SALEM, Mass., March 24.—Two wills disposing of the estate of the late millionaire real estate man, Arioch Wentworth of Boston, have been offered for probate here, indicating that Mrs. Susan M. Stuart, daughter of the deceased, who was the principal beneficiary under a will made in 1887, will contest a will made in the present year, cutting her off with $12,000. The estate is estimated at $7,000,000. Mrs. Stuart is wife of the former British vice consul at New York and Boston. The early will made only two important public bequests, that of $150,000 to the Museum of Fine Arts, Boston, and of $100,000 to the town of Somersworth, N. H., for a public library. The 1903 will gives all of the estate save a few thousand dollars to establish an industrial school to bear the name of the founder.

Electric Road Welcomed In Peru.

LIMA, Peru, March 24.—An indication of the prosperity of this country and confidence in the maintenance of peace is found in the fact that in less than an hour the entire capital of $125,000 was subscribed for an electric car line between Lima and Callao, the port of Lima, six miles distant. The work of construction will be begun immediately. The plant has already been ordered in the United States and will arrive here in June.

Striking Iron Molders Enjoined.

LANCASTER, Pa., March 24.—Judge Landis has filed a permanent injunction restraining the striking iron molders from interfering with the workmen of the Marietta Casting company of Marietta. A strike occurred at the plant on May 23 last, and the company applied for an injunction to restrain the strikers from picketing the place.

Unruly Strikers at Syracuse.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., March 24.—The American Bridge company, which is erecting a bridge at Solvay, has called upon the sheriff to protect its workmen. It is charged that striking bridge builders drove away the watchman, destroyed several hundred dollars' worth of material and fired a shot at the town hall.

Louise Attempted Suicide?

LONDON, March 24.—The correspondent of the Daily Chronicle at Geneva learns on reliable authority that the former crown princess of Saxony is lying seriously ill in her mother's chateau at Lindau, on an island in Lake Constance, from the effects of an attempt to commit suicide by taking poison.

Carnegie Libraries Accepted.

PORTLAND, Me., March 24.—Libraries given by Andrew Carnegie to two towns in Maine have been accepted by vote of the citizens. The buildings will be located at Pittsfield and Houlton and in each instance will cost $10,000.

Weather Probabilities.

Fair; fresh south winds, becoming west.

THE MILK SUPPLY.

There is no subject of greater importance to a community than the proper control of its milk supply. Carelessness or negligence in that direction may imperil the health of the whole city. It is eminently proper, therefore, that the local Board of Health should demand that the dealers take every proper precaution to protect the welfare of the community. Next to the water supply, there is probably no one food supply that is so far reaching in its effects.

When the City Board of Health passed its new sanitary code, it included a section which provided for the licensing of all milk dealers in the city. In that way the board was given direct control of the milk supply and can now provide for the necessary precautions. Careful investigation of the provisions of this code fails to find anything unreasonable. Many of the careful dealers now comply with all the provisions and the only change that will affect them will be the one regarding a license. Other dealers, who have not gone into the business on such an elaborate scale, will find it necessary to expend a little more "elbow grease" and use more care in keeping their stables cleaned up.

It has been claimed that the stringent provisions of the State and local Boards of Health have forced the dealers to increase the price of milk. There does not appear to be anything in the new code that would make any increase necessary. Feed is high and that may prevent milk from dropping to six cents a quart this summer. The wise milk producer will, however, keep his stable in a sanitary condition whether the Board of Health insists or not. In the end it will be economy for him.

It is no more severe to insist that the conditions accompanying the production of milk shall be strictly sanitary than it is to object when the water supply is polluted. The public health cannot be watched too closely and any movement to better the safeguards will be regarded with favor.

We do not fear any enemy whom we can face in the open but the thought of some dread disease, the germs of which may reach us in a way we least suspect, is an enemy to be dreaded and guarded against in every way.

There are only four of the victims of the Westfield disaster left in Muhlenberg Hospital. Of those who did survive injuries, all but four have recovered sufficiently to be taken to their respective homes. Of those remaining, Wilson Fredericks is probably the most seriously injured. Thanks to his Masonic brethren, however, it looks as if he would recover and the skin, which was burned from almost all his lower limbs, will be renewed. Fireman McCarthy is able to be about the building. Then there are others, injured in the wreck, who never went to the hospital. In the case of several of these, it will be sometime before they will be able to be about.

Acting under instructions of the citizens of North Plainfield, as expressed at the recent school meeting, the Borough Board of Education met in open session last evening for the first time in its existence. Such action is right and proper. It is the public's right, not its privilege, to know what is done by its representatives in the School Board.

Barnum's circus is in full swing in New York now. If the proprietors of the circuses of a decade ago could see the present show it is doubtful whether they would recognize it as a circus. As in everything else, time has made some wonderful changes.

"Trenton," the Jersey writer for the New York Herald, thinks that consolidation should come to Plainfield and North Plainfield. He is in favor of trying it without changing the county.

The State Senate meets again this evening. It is possible that Attorney General McCarter will have his report on the status of the annexation act ready.

It certainly looks like a baseball war now.

"SAVING AND SPENDING"

THE UNIVERSITY EXTENSION LECTURE BY PROF. ZEUBLIN.

Important Points in That Social Question Brought Out by the Chicago Speaker.

"Saving and Spending" was the subject of an interesting lecture by Prof. Charles Zueblin, B. D., of the University of Chicago, Saturday evening when he gave another of the University extension course of lectures in the Y. M. C. A. Hall.

He said that thrift is a virtue born of hardship and that it is as necessary to the safety of the individual in the uncertainty of modern industrial life as in primitive society. But, he said, today it is a social evil and often a disadvantage even to the individual. The individual's gain may be society's loss. If all is saved, saving for investment would be useless. Further, thrift may degenerate into niggardliness but collective thrift may be of social advantage.

By collective thrift the speaker pointed out as examples, life, accident and fire insurance, labor insurance, old age insurance and many other forms of insurance against loss. Prof. Zueblin also said that spending is of no less importance than saving. The individual's obligations toward consumption are: To prefer goods which give permanent means of satisfaction, to minimize individual and increase social consumption, to give expression to individual taste and to adjust wisely saving and spending.

He said that social consumption may be increased by taxation, in the form of income taxes, inheritance taxes, land taxes and so forth. To simplify a proper discretion between judicial saving and spending the speaker said that education was essential to the individual and public ownership was equally so for society.

He closed his address by stating that he thought that social welfare necessitates organized consumption to be governed by cooperative societies, consumer's leagues and socialization of industry.

Prof. Zueblin's next subject will be "Public Wealth."

WELL RECEIVED.

Lovett's Boston Stars Gave Good Progaamme on Return Trip.

Lovett's Boston Stars played a return engagement before a large audience at the Y. M. C. A., last evening. The programme, as usual, was excellent, and every number was longly applauded. The artists included Miss Francis Rickford, soprano; Miss Georgia Harvey, reciter; Miss Elizabeth Mayo, violinist and Frank Reynolds, humorist. The latter was exceptionally funny and kept the audience laughing the greater part of the evening.

Sunrise Meeting.

Last year the Christian Endeavor Society of Trinity Reformed church held a sunrise meeting at 6:30 on Easter Sunday morning. It was so well attended and such a helpful meeting that the same society has decided to hold another one Easter Sunday morning, April 12. City Judge William N. Runyon has consented to take charge of the meeting.

WHAT DRAKE SAYS.

In Communication to New Brunswick Home News About Plainfield.

In a recent communication in the New Brunswick Home News, Silas D. Drake, of Lincoln, has the following to say regarding Plainfield: "In securing the large Aluminum Press Works to locate at Dewey Park I have worked for the past ten months alone and single handed, in face of obstacles almost insurmountable. Through the development of Lincoln and Dewey Park it enhances the value of land far and near; it is a stimulus to the trade of the merchants of Plainfield; and opens up a diversified field for labor. Plainfield has a boom on in the erection of factories, dwellings and large mercantile houses that makes the hearts of its inhabitants glad, and the end is not yet, and you cannot check its material growth.

"Plainfield has many citizens who sleep with one eye open for advancement, and what benefits others benefits them. There is very little dog in the manger business about the progressive citizens of Plainfield, and I still control large real estate interests in Plainfield that I propose developing."

THEATRICAL.

Nothing in the line of high-grade vaudeville could be finer than the bill offered for next week at Keith's. At the head of the bill will be Kathryn Osterman. She will present her one-act comedy entitled "The Editor." Dancing so much in vogue just now will find amplification in the work of Genaro and Bailey, Donahue and Nichols and Tom Hefron. All their styles are different, ranging from the straight act to the laughable burlesque. The Three Nevarros will present their acrobatic turn which is without doubt the neatest of its kind on the vaudeville stage. George Evans, "Honey Boy," will entertain with his monologue and songs, while Nora Bayes will render popular ballads. The balance of the bill contains the names of such artists as Paul Stephens, Pelot, Cook and Don, William Cahill and Wordette and Kusel. Surely this is a programme to please the most fastidious.

A jolly, rollicking, tuneful bit of fun, melody and spectacular beauty is the latest musical comedy success, "The Prince of Pilsen," by Frank Pixley and Gustav Luders, which is the spring attraction at the Broadway Theatre, New York, opening there last week. The central figure in almost every scene of the new Savage production is Hans Wagner, a Cincinnati brewer travelling abroad with his daughter. The location of the piece at nature's most favored resort Nice, on the shores of the blue Mediterranean, at the season of the fete de fleurs, would seem to be designed especially to give full sway to the scene painter and costume designer, for clever dancers and singers. Some of the well known members of the cast are Helen Bertram, who is perhaps the foremost comic opera prima donna on the stage today; Lillian Coleman, the contralto, who was last seen here with "The Burgomaster;" Annie Lichter, who formerly sang in grand opera; Jeanette Bageard, the clever little soubrette who was with the Rogers Brothers for three seasons; Arthur Donaldson, who plays the title role; Albert Parr, who has made the hit of his life in the duet, "The Message of the Violet;" John W. Ransone, who makes more fun than any other comedian who has been seen on the stage for a long time; Sherman Wade, a well known eccentric comedian and Edgar Norton.

Invitations for Marriage.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph W. Yates, of East Seventh street, have issued invitations to the marriage of their daughter, Miss Clementine Robinson Yates and Clarence Dudley Holman, at the Crescent avenue church, Saturday afternoon, April 11, at 5 o'clock.

Mrs. I. L. Williamson, of this city, has returned from spending the week with relatives in New York.

MRS. BURDICK CALLED

Widow of Murdered Man Mercilessly Questioned.

PENNELL'S LOVE LETTERS READ.

Acts of an Unfaithful Wife Laid Bare—Was Ready to Sacrifice All to Marry Man Who Threatened Her Husband's Life.

BUFFALO, March 24.—Mrs. Alice Hull Burdick, widow of Edwin L. Burdick, underwent a relentless examination by District Attorney Coatsworth yesterday afternoon at the resumption of the inquest into the death of her husband, who was murdered on Feb. 26. Mrs. Burdick was on the stand when court adjourned. She will be recalled today to complete her testimony.

With a package of letters in his hands, some of which were written to Mrs. Burdick by Arthur R. Pennell, co respondent in the divorce proceedings instituted by Mr. Burdick, and other communications between Mr. Burdick and his wife, Mr. Coatsworth forced Mrs. Burdick to tell the story of her relations with Pennell from the time he first made love to her in New Haven in 1898 until 1901, when these relations were renewed after Burdick had forgiven his wife and had taken her back to his home for the sake of their children. Mrs. Burdick was deathly pale while on the witness stand. She answered questions in a low, faltering tone, evading a direct answer whenever possible and reluctantly admitting facts when the district attorney pitilessly read extracts from the love letters written to her by Arthur R. Pennell.

Never since the inquest into the murder began has there been such intense interest in the proceedings.

Mrs. Burdick testified that she would be forty-two years of age on April 30. She was married to Burdick in 1886. They had three children. She met Pennell at a card party five or six years ago at which Mr. Burdick was present. She went to New Haven and New York with the Pennells in 1896. Mr. Burdick did not go, being detained by business. No unusual friendship sprang up between her and Pennell. Witness did not recall a letter from Pennell written in New Haven in 1900 in which he said: "Yesterday I was at the gateway on the campus grounds where more than two years ago I drew you in in the darkness. This place is enshrined to me."

The district attorney then showed the letter to the witness, who trembled and was apparently taking the examination very hard.

Mrs. Burdick stated in a whisper that she recognized it as Pennell's handwriting and recalled the incident spoken of. Pennell went into a doorway, drew her in, took her in his arms and kissed her. She thought she remonstrated.

She did not recall that Pennell was at Shelter island in September, 1900, nor a letter from him in which he wrote that he had found her gloves in the pocket of his tuxedo. The letter was handed her. She read it hastily and did not appear to enjoy its contents. It was written by Pennell, she said, but she did not recall having seen it before.

Mrs. Burdick was shown another letter from Shelter island written in September, 1900, and it was identified by her. She did not recall Pennell's telephoning her from New York as stated in the letter.

Mrs. Burdick was then questioned at some length relative to the meaning of 1, 2, 3 referred to in a letter from Pennell in which he said he hoped to "see her at 1, 2, 3 Wednesday morning," but Mrs. Burdick answered that she did not know. There were two or three houses, she said, at which she used to meet him.

Mr. Coatsworth produced another letter, postmarked New Haven, Sept. 19, 1900. Mrs. Burdick said she recalled receiving it. Pennell wrote that he would try to telephone her the next morning, and on Thursday he hoped to "know the exquisite happiness of seeing her." He referred to her "dear picture in the locket" and declared her "my love, my life, my dearest one." Mr. Coatsworth produced another letter, written from the Waldorf-Astoria Sept. 18, 1900, addressed to Mrs. Burdick.

In this letter he wrote: "I just came from telephoning you and hearing your dear, sweet voice. Am I foolish to telephone you from way down here? It was worth all it cost me. I realize more and more that you are the only woman in the world for me."

"Do you remember getting that letter?" asked the district attorney.

"No, sir."

"In this same letter he says, 'Only a day more and I shall once more see the love light in your eyes and experience the paradise within your arms.' What does he mean by that, Mrs. Burdick?"

"I don't know."

"What does he mean by the 'paradise within your arms?'"

"I don't know."

"Pretty strong language, isn't it?"

Mr. Coatsworth showed the witness another letter written from the Waldorf-Astoria by Pennell and addressed to Mrs. Burdick. She said it was his handwriting, but she did not remember having received it.

"I will read it and see if it will refresh your recollection: 'As I looked into your beautiful eyes last night I feared there was some trouble hidden there. I did not know, but I feared it was because of some other reason than because I was going away. If there was, dearest, I wish you would tell me. There is that in the manner of your husband toward you that makes me fear sometimes that I might kill him.' Do you remember receiving that letter?"

"No, sir."

Witness did not know whether her husband knew she was receiving letters from Pennell. Witness had been in the habit of keeping her letters locked in a box. Her husband first knew of her intimacy with Pennell, she thought, on Jan. 1, 1901, when she told him in reply to a question that she had been walking with Pennell. He said she was very imprudent. She agreed with him then and did now.

"Did you give these letters to Burdick?"

"I don't know."

"Did you take some letters from that box and give them to him?"

"I unlocked it."

"How did you happen to unlock it?"

"He forced me to."

"How did he force you?"

"He took me by the throat."

Witness did not remember whether at that time Pennell was the subject of a discussion with her husband. She did not know whether some of the letters read were in the box at that time. It was in January, 1901, when he choked her. She could not remember when she rented a box in a safe deposit company's vaults. It was not when her husband had her by the throat, but recently, when she received papers from detectives about Burdick. Burdick had not started divorce proceedings, but she wanted to get a divorce from him. She had no love for him, but did love Pennell, whom she expected to marry. He had a wife, but he expected they would be divorced. In reply to a question as to whether Mrs. Pennell had consented to a divorce she said, "Sometimes she did and sometimes she didn't."

Witness had never talked with Mrs. Pennell on the subject. Pennell had hired the detectives who shadowed her husband. Her husband sent her away in May, 1901, on account of Pennell. Mr. Coatsworth showed her a letter written by her from Atlantic City May 27, 1901, in which she begged to be taken back, promising never to see "Arthur" and that she would be a loving and true wife.

A second letter written by Mrs. Burdick to her husband in May, 1901, was read, in which she referred to having received Burdick's letter and said Pennell had not promised to leave town if Mr. Burdick took her back.

Another letter written by Mrs. Burdick to her husband referred to her being taken back home. She promised never again to voluntarily see or communicate with "Arthur." She made a plea on behalf of the children.

On May 27 Burdick wrote her that she could not be trusted. He said that if she loved Pennell as she said she did he did not blame her for what she did; that if he loved a woman as she did Pennell he would do as she was doing.

In another letter Burdick wrote that he forgave his wife the wrong she had done him. In another Burdick declared he had determined to fight for the little honor she had left him and after getting a divorce to fight for the children. He would insist on the counter suit by Mrs. Burdick being fought out in open court. Three weeks after this letter Mrs. Burdick was taken back by her husband. Witness, after returning from Atlantic City and after promising her husband to be a good wife, met Pennell. It was not her habit to meet him, she said, but he was constantly soliciting her to do so, and she did meet him in a house on Seventh street. She was there one time when Burdick came, but he did not see her, as she stepped out of the window and went to church. She did not hear that Mr. Burdick and his friends on that occasion caught Pennell as he was jumping out of the window and that they took him back to the room.

Palma Warns Cuban Senate.

HAVANA, March 24.—President Palma has sent a message to the senate to the effect that unless the amendments approved by the United States senate are adopted before March 31 it will be impossible to conclude the reciprocity treaty. President Palma understands that the United States house of representatives will be convened in September and that the matter will be carried through by October. The senators supporting the administration are confident that the amendments will be approved. Senor Sanguily, who has opposed the treaty in the senate from the first, says he hopes that the amendments adopted by the United States will now kill the treaty.

Floods In Mohawk Valley.

FORT PLAIN, N. Y., March 24.—The Mohawk river and Otsquogo creek have suddenly risen to heretofore unheard of proportions. The creek became a tumbling torrent in less than an hour, carried away a number of small bridges, inundated many hamlets through which it passes and damaged farm buildings, creameries, mills, etc., besides moving several buildings in this village from their foundations. The greatest damage was to the proposed railroad from Richfield Springs to Fort Plain.

High Water at Ithaca.

ITHACA, N. Y., March 24.—The heavy rains have raised the level of Cayuga lake so that the lower sections of the city are covered with water. People living there were obliged to move into the upper stories of their houses. The creeks emptying into the lake are raging torrents. Cellars throughout the city are full owing to the freshet.

Postoffice Safe Looted.

CHARLOTTE, N. C., March 24.—The safe in the postoffice at Mount Olive, N. C., was blown open about 2 o'clock in the morning and $200 in currency and $200 in stamps secured. One hundred dollars' worth of stamps was found at the depot, where the robbers had probably dropped them.

THE NEXT MORNING I FEEL BRIGHT AND NEW AND MY COMPLEXION IS BETTER.

CONTAINS NO SAND OR LIME. One of its most important parts is fibrous wood pulp, made by a patented process, that retains the fiber and strength of the wood. This fibrous wood gives to the plaster Elasticity, Toughness, Lightness and Strength, and imparts to the plaster the many known valuable properties of the wood itself. The other ingredients give Hardness, Firmness, Smoothness and Durability. The combination makes a plaster that has no equal.

WHAT WOMEN CAN DO.

Here Are Two Who Have Proper Physical Development.

Things one woman has done may at any time be done by another woman. Think on that proposition. Physical development is at present neglected among women to the extent of a positive sin, a sin against their beautiful bodies. Physical development is what the sex needs today. How strong and splendid and able to take care of itself the feminine body is when properly trained you may know from the cases of a little girl and a young woman I shall tell you of. Their stories will demonstrate to you what you feel in your bones already—that the alleged weakness and cowardice of woman are not really natural at all, but an artificial growth upon our civilization.

First there is Bertha Eloise Grant, cow girl of Arizona. It has been said that no cowboy rough rider in Arizona is the equal of this fourteen-year-old girl. That is probably stretching things, but she is certainly as skillful and fearless a rider as any man among the world's leading horse heroes, the cowboys.

Physically that female child is the most happy and fortunate who has no women over her to constantly repress her natural physical activity and for ever and ever keep nagging her and telling her little girls must not run, jump and climb trees or do this, that or the other because—heaven help us!—it isn't "nice" for little girls to do these things. Oh, the sins mothers and grandmothers and aunts will have to answer for because of their stunting of the physical development of little girls! They have done it centuries until the most stupid, helpless, ignorant human creature in civilization is the middle aged and elderly woman. Now let the stunting be stopped for good and all.

That a splendid physical development in a woman is entirely compatible with purity of thought and modesty is proved by the brave cow girl, Bertha Grant. Wherever she is known she is mentioned in terms of admiration and respect, yet this girl has been riding astride in a divided skirt since she was old enough to sit upon a horse, and she knows no other way. She says she does not see how it is possible to sit a horse any other way than upon the cross saddle.

"If I were riding in a big city, I should do it just the same," she says. "I would imagine I was going to fall off all the time if I rode a sidesaddle."

"Broncho buster?" Oh, yes. She has never yet found the range horse that she could not master. The cowboys, whose pet she is, taught her horse breaking, and now she can do it with the best of them. Then, too, her admiring, devoted father has been her constant companion from her childhood. The broncho has a bad name for stupidity, treachery and obstinacy, but Bertha Grant says:

"Bronchos are hard to manage, but after you have them trained they are nearly as intelligent as a man. Once they know their master, he can do anything with them."

One hardly knows which to be more enthusiastic over, this Arizona girl horse trainer or that Maine woodswoman, Mrs. Freese. Her camping ground is the region of the headwaters of the Penobscot, with which she is probably more familiar than any other person living. She has absolute control over her nerves, never loses her head and is a noted hunter of game, large and small. She is a fine wing shot. She is rather slender in figure, but perfectly strong and healthy, and she gets this splendid physique, mark you, by active outdoor life, not drudging, stooping over the soil, nose to the ground, but by long tramps and canoe trips. She was born with the woods love in her blood. No narrowing, stunting female pruning could starve it out of her. Now she makes her enthusiasm pay by conducting hunting and tourist parties through her beloved haunts in forest and by stream. Maine has 1,800 registered and licensed guides, and of these Mrs. Freese is one of the most skillful as well as noted. Her nearest hunting ground is fourteen miles from her home, nine by canoe, four afoot.

In the heart of the forest she has a winter lodge of logs. There she goes upon snowshoes and camps when the woods longing surges over her soul in cold weather. At these times she cuts holes in the ice of the Penobscot waters and catches fish. All this, bear in mind, without neglecting her household duties. So men need not be afraid of the physically new woman.

ALICE ZIMMERMAN.

[Copyright, 1900, by A. N. Kellogg Newspaper Co.]

No sooner had Ronald seen the direction he was taking than he vaulted over the fence and made his way through the dewy grass and weeds into the wood which intervened between him and the spring.

He came upon Winkle as that worthy stood on the flat stones round the spring. The officer wore his eyeglasses, and had his cigar between his lips. The grass muffled Ronald's steps, and as Winkle was looking towards the house as if expecting some one, he did not notice our hero's presence till he stood beside him.

"Ah!" ejaculated Winkle, as he turned, and then through his glasses he eyed Ronald coldly from head to foot. "Ah!" he repeated, and then he took a puff at his cigar and blew the smoke towards the house as he looked again up the walk. One familiar with the tricks of Winkle's sallow face might have found a hint of uneasiness there as Ronald caught his eye and held it steadily for a second.

"There is a matter that you and I must settle, sir," said our hero, calmly.

For a moment Winkle gazed almost defiantly at the speaker, then his glance wavered just a little.

"A matter that you and I must settle?" he echoed, with a faint sneer, "and what is that, my good fellow?"

"You deliberately drove your horses against me last night in the road and I have come to demand satisfaction."

The officer sent another glance up the walk towards the house; it was as if he were hoping some one would arrive to prevent what seemed inevitable. He did not like the expression of the face before him; he dreaded the awful threatening tranquillity of it.

He removed his cigar from his lips and held it in his fingers, that quivered nervously.

"I don't want to have trouble with you," he said.

"Then you should not have driven over me," answered Ronald, "for nothing under high heaven can avert the consequences of that cowardly act."

"I—I am not a good driver, Mr. Fenshaw—I believe that is your name, sir. Just as I passed your brother my hand slipped, and—"

"You are a deliberate liar!" Ronald interrupted him.

Winkle started, paled a little and made a half threatening gesture with his right hand, but as he gazed into our hero's eyes his arm sank slowly down to his side and he made a lame pretense of trying to restrain his anger.

"You must not use insulting words to me," he said.

Ronald smiled. "You would not be so inartistic as to deny that you lied, Winkle, but the fact that you tacitly admit you are a liar does not satisfy me. I tell you we have got to settle this matter right here and now."

"I don't know what you mean," Winkle found himself saying. "I do not want any trouble with you. I've said that the—the thing was an accident, and—"

"And I have said that it was not an accident, and that I will fight you or have the satisfaction of knowing you are a coward. If you are a coward I would not soil my hands with you."

Winkle was very white now; his cigar fell from his lips and he caught it against his breast. "I am unarmed, and" (he looked Ronald over again) "you are physically stronger than I am."

Thereupon Ronald drew the two revolvers from his pockets and held them out. "I thought that pistols would be fair," he said. "You may take your choice; they are practically the same. This is a quiet place; we can have it over in a few minutes. I have thought out a plan that will be perfectly fair to both of us. The plantation bell will ring in a few moments; we can get ready and at its first stroke we may turn and fire till the revolvers are empty or one of us is down."

Winkle stared fixedly.

"Why, that would be deliberate murder," he gasped, shrinking back a step or two from the extended revolvers.

"It would not be any more murder than death in any duel would be, Capt. Winkle. If you do not fight I shall know that you are a coward, sir."

"THERE IS A MATTER THAT YOU AND I MUST SETTLE, SIR."

Then an idea was born in the officer's almost benumbed brain.

"I cannot fight a—a man in your position in—in life," he said. "Surely you know what is considered proper."

Ronald's face grew purple with suppressed rage.

"Do you mean to tell me that you may drive a carriage over a man in a public road and then resort to such a petty subterfuge to get around the consequences? Capt. Winkle, I would strike you in the face if I could keep from feeling that I was striking a baby."

Winkle gave a furtive glance towards the house. He looked slightly relieved as if he thought by the tacit confession of cowardice he was going to escape a duel, which he feared quite as much as death itself.

"You may think what you please of me," he said, "but I am not willing to fight a duel with you—of course, considering all the circumstances."

"I see your plan, Winkle, "said Ronald. "You have insulted me in the presence of others, and if you avert trouble with me, you leave the witnesses under the impression that I yielded to the indignity without a murmur. That, I see, I must bear; but I assure you, in your refusal to fight me, you have relieved my mind, for no coward can insult me."

Winkle began to breathe more freely; he even allowed a defiant smile to play about his lips as he took a match from his pocket and relighted his cigar.

"As you please," he said, with a slight suggestion of a sneer. "I cannot fight you."

"But I am not through with you," Ronald burst out, flaming up again. "You are an officer in the pay of my country." He had taken a penknife from his pocket when he restored the revolvers to their places, and he now deliberately grasped Winkle's coat and cut off the top button.

"What are you doing?" gasped the officer, pulling back.

Taking a firmer grasp on the lapel, Ronald jerked the captain back to where he had stood. "Stand still!" he thundered. "You are unfit to wear the uniform of any country. You'd make a gallant soldier in time of need, wouldn't you?"

Without another word Winkle stood still and allowed Ronald to sever from his coat his buttons and shoulder straps.

"Now good morning, captain," was the parting injunction, "if you ever dare to drive over me again, I shall simply strangle you."

As if afraid another word might further enrage his antagonist, Winkle retreated towards the house, taking long, swift strides.

Ronald stood for a moment watching the walk towards the house, then still holding the buttons and shoulder-straps in his hands, he sank on a rustic seat near the spring. His passion had already spent itself, and a strange revulsion of feeling came over him.

He had drawn back his hand to throw the buttons and shoulder-straps into the high grass, when he heard a clear, ringing voice behind him.

"Don't throw them away," and Evelyn Hasbrooke, her big white apron filled with maiden-hair ferns and wild flowers, emerged from behind a thick hedge.

Before her words had died out he was on his feet, speechless with surprise.

"I heard every word," she said, with a sigh, "and at first I was almost frightened to death. I was going to interfere if he had—had accepted your challenge, but when I saw that he did not intend to fight you I remained silent. I was an eavesdropper—I confess that—but I simply had to listen. It was really terrible—your voice—your looks!"

He was overwhelmed with confusion.

"I feel as if I could never be pardoned, Miss Hasbrooke," he managed to say, after a little pause. "I am on your grounds and Capt. Winkle is the guest of your house."

She shrugged her shoulders and sat down on the seat he had just left.

"I am going to say what I really would not say if it were not all settled between you, Mr. Fanshaw," she was putting the stems of her fern leaves together in her left hand, "and that is that I do not blame you much."

"You do not really?"

Do You Wish To Borrow Money?

In order to accommodate all classes of borrowers (those who cannot borrow at a bank, as well as those who can), the Mutual Loan and Investment Company, of 118 Market street, Newark, N. J., has a department for handling quickly and confidentially loans ranging from $10 to $500 on furniture, pianos, storage receipts, etc.

The security is not removed from your possession or in any way disturbed. The honest, careful and conservative borrower will try and decide two points before borrowing. First, where he can get the best terms. Second, where he can get fair and square treatment.

This company is in a position to give you by far the most satisfactory terms ever offered by any concern or individual negotiating this class of loans.

With this company you are assured of getting the lowest rates, easiest payments and longest time for repayment. The whole transaction from the time the application is made until loan is paid is entirely confidential. We give you another advantage in case you take the loan out for six months or a year, and wish to settle the same before the time expires: we charge you only for the time you have had the money. We also take up loans from other companies and advance more money.

Kindly call and let us explain our simple and up-to-date methods If not entirely convenient for you to call, please write and our representative will call and give you any desired information. Remember it costs nothing to make application. Loans promptly made in Elizabeth, Plainfield, Westfield, Roselle, Rahway, Perth Amboy and all suburban towns.

Letters from Women

Cured by the use of Kodol are received daily. Their troubles nearly all begin with indigestion or other stomach disorder.

If the food you eat fails to give strength to your body, it is because the juices secreted by the stomach and digestive organs are inadequate to transform the nutrient properties of the food into blood. That is indigestion. The system is deprived of the amount of nourishment required to keep up the strength, and the result is that one or more of the delicate organs gradually grows weak, and then weaker, until finally it is diseased. Here a great mistake is made. That of treating the diseased organ. The best doctors in the land make this very mistake. Why should they? It is so easy to see that the trouble is not there.

Kodol Cures

This famous remedy puts the stomach and digestive organs in a healthy condition so that rich, red blood is sent coursing through the veins and arteries of every muscle, tissue and fiber throughout every organ of the entire body, and by Nature's law of health, full strength and vigor is soon restored to each.

Kodol cures indigestion, dyspepsia and all stomach disorders.

I have taken Kodol for nearly two months after each meal and it is the only remedy that gave relief from the terrible pains I endured. After a time I would take it but once a day, and now, while I keep a bottle handy, I seldom need it, as it has cured me. MRS. J. W. COOLBAUGH, Milo Center, N. Y.

SPORTING JOTTINGS.

First Day at Bennings—Yachtsmen In Conference.

WASHINGTON, March 24.—The spring racing season at Bennings was opened here under most unfavorable weather conditions, but with a good sized crowd in attendance. The rain which has fallen for the past three days continued up to the moment of starting the first race. It then cleared up, making things more comfortable for the public. The track was a sea of mud, and the going consequently was very heavy. Redfern rode in five races and piloted two winners and a second place horse. The open steeplechase for four-year-olds, with only three starters, was won handily by Gum Honey, with Mara up. Gold Ray fell at the first jump and later fell again, but Bernhardt pluckily regained his mount, and as he crossed the tape a bad third he was loudly applauded.

The Bennings Spring handicap, the most interesting event on the day's card, went to the Daly favorite, Himself, with Odom up. Several scratches reduced the field in this race to six horses. Ahumada was the first to get away, followed by Himself. The leader widened the gap to two lengths, but Himself warmed up and gradually wore his opponent out. A furiong from the finish Ahumada tired perceptibly, and Himself finished winner by a short length.

Sportsmen's Show In Cleveland.

CLEVELAND, O., March 24.—There were about 3,000 persons present at the opening exhibition of the sportsmen's show in Central armory last night, which is to continue for two weeks. Forest and stream life is shown in a goodly exhibit of game and fish and scenes of outdoor life. Several athletic events took place, which were contested by New York, Chicago and Philadelphia athletes. The final in the twenty yard novice swimming race was won by C. W. Stone, Chicago; time, 11 4-5s. J. A. Ruddy, New York Athletic club, won the open twenty yard swimming race in 10 1-5s., equaling the record made by Leary of the San Francisco Athletic club at Chicago last year. Charles McMahon of Cleveland made a dive of sixty-three feet from the armory rafters to the swimming tank, turning a somersault in his descent.

Yachtsmen In Conference.

PHILADELPHIA, March 24.—A conference was held yesterday at the summer home of P. A. B. Widener at Elkins, a suburb, in which J. P. Morgan was the chief figure. The subject under discussion was the international yacht race between Sir Thomas Lipton's Shamrock III. and the America's cup defender Reliance. None of the parties to the conference could be induced to say what transpired. It was stated, however, that yachting affairs alone occupied the attention of the conferees.

Gans Knocked Out Bennett.

PITTSBURG, March 24.—Joe Gans, champion lightweight pugilist, knocked Jack Bennett of McKeesport out in the fifth round last night. Gans up to the start of the fifth let Bennett do the fighting, then the negro started in and knocked his man down three times, the last time for the knockout.

Long Shots at Oakland.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 24.—Long shots were in evidence at Oakland. Bogus Bill, at 15 to 1, and Gus Lanka, at 12 to 1, won. The stewards announced that Jockeys Minder and Connell, recently suspended, had been reinstated.

Snowstorm In the Yellowstone.

CHEYENNE, Wy., March 24.—Over the entire length and breadth of the Yellowstone National park there has swept a terrific snowstorm. It deepened the snow that already lay on the ground, filled up the gulches and made travel even for the ski runners who travel from snow station to snow station on patrol duty well nigh impossible. Altogether the prospect of passable trails and pleasant weather when the president comes to visit the park two weeks hence is not at all good.

Floods In Georgia.

ATLANTA, Ga., March 24.—As a consequence of the continued heavy rains which have fallen throughout this section the Chattahoochee river at this point is high above its banks, having risen eleven feet. The local weather bureau has sent out flood warnings to the different points along the river. It is expected that the danger mark will be reached at many points.

Receptions to President Francis.

ST. LOUIS, March 24.—President D. R. Francis of the Louisiana Purchase exposition was yesterday tendered the first of a series of receptions that have been arranged to welcome him back to St. Louis and to show appreciation of his energetic pilgrimage through Europe during the past five weeks in the interest of the world's fair.

Wrecked by a Landslide.

ATLANTA, Ga., March 24.—A northbound passenger train on the Southern railway for Washington has been wrecked at Ayersville, Ga., near Tocca, eighty miles north of this city, by a landslide of rock. One person was instantly killed and the fireman and engineer of the train, both of Atlanta, severely bruised and scalded.

CONDENSED DISPATCHES.

Secretary Root has bought a 150 acre farm near the Root homestead at Clinton, N. Y.

SHORT CUT FOR READING

A NEW LINE PROPOSED THAT WILL SAVE SEVERAL MILES.

In Line Between Philadelphia and New York—Also Does Away With Grade.

The farmers in the vicinity of Bustleton, Somerton and Neshaminy are greatly interested over many recent purchases of a number of adjoining farms in those sections, and all sorts of rumors have been afloat in consequence The real estate deals have been conducted very quietly and in nearly every instance by a different purchaser. It was reported that the land was to be used as an outlet to New York for the Wabash Railroad, but a more plausible theory is that the purchases were made in the interests of the Reading Railroad, which has practically determined to build a low-grade cut-off from a point near Fox Chase, on the Newtwon road, by the way of Bustleton, to a point on the Bound Brook Railroad between Somerton and Neshaminy Falls. Besides overcoming a maximum grade of about thirty-seven feet to the mile between Bethayres and Philmont, the Reading would effect a saving of several miles in distance between Philadelphia and New York, and also open up a territory at present remote from steam railroad facilities.

Reading officials, when asked for information as to this proposed cut-off, declined to discuss it in any way, and manifested the greatest surprise that the project should have leaked out before they had an opportunity to secure the necessary land to build the road The idea of the cut-off has been under consideration by the Reading officials for considerably over a year, but from the best information obtainable the final determination to build it was only reached within the past few months. In the meantime, to avoid publicity, the company is said to have sent its representatives throughout the territory, and, instead of dickering for mere right of way, bought whole farms. One of a half-dozen farms said to have been purchased near Bustleton is that of Jamison Lott. In nearly every case, it is said, practically immediate possession was required by the purchasers.

Walked Into Cellar.

In the darkness last evening, Miss Marion Englehart, of Grandview avenue, walked into an open cellar at the side of Debele's store on Somerset street. She sprained both arms. She is now confined to her home.

will. He added that the city is on the eve of a large expenditure for a new City High School and with this and other improvements will come the trouble of keeping the tax rate from going up. He spoke earnesly in behalf of the majority of the people, on whom taxes is a burden. He said that this majority paid taxes reluctantly and it was considered a burden. In conclusion Mr. Gilbert expressed much confidence in the present Council, adding that the city with one or two exceptions, has always had a Council worthy of this confidence and did not believe that a majority of the present body would favor the increased expenditure at this time.

Former Councilman John B. Dumont, who was a member of the committee of twenty-five that studied the question of sanitary sewers for Plainfield, and a member of the Common Council that contracted for the system and served as Councilman until the system was completed and the assessments were made, was the next speaker opposing the extension. At the outset he asked the Council whether an accurate estimate of the entire cost of the extension had been decided upon. In reply, Street Commissioner Gavett said that $65,000 was the amount estimated for the mains and pumping station. Mr. Dumont then referred to the care exacted by Corporation Counsel Marsh when the Council was about to arrive and decide upon the cost in the first installation of sewers so that no unfair assessment would be made. Mr. Dumont then referred to Sherman avenue, upon which he said a new house has not been built in thirty years. He said that the people had a right to know exactly from the Council the cost of this proposed improvement and they must know the whole figure, the people's proportion of the expense and that of the city.

The speaker then asked the Council as to the taxable value of the property to be improved. He said that he did not believe it would exceed $400,000, a small proportion of the present $9,000,000 total city valuation. Mr. Dumont impressed upon those present that Plainfield is not a boom town, people can come here and build if they want to and go on about their business, and he advocated a continuance of that policy. He considered that Plainfield has a municipal record not equalled by any city. He did not believe that there is two-thirds of this unimproved property that needs lateral sewers and the only fair way to give sewers to those who want it so much is to let them pay a larger share of the cost.

E. S. Elliott, who lives at 1048 West Eighth street, and who is a farmer, stated that he owns about one thousand feet frontage of farm land in the western end of the city and he protested against the extension of the sewer on the ground that he does not need it.

G. Herbert Taylor, of West Seventh street, who, with a number of capitalists, intends improving property in the southwestern part of the city, came in after the other speakers concluded their remarks, but he spoke for the proposition. He said that he, together with a few others, are trying to interest people to take up their residence in Plainfield and that the cooperation of the city officials is necessary to accomplish this.

"The plan is," Mr. Taylor stated, "to form a company whose aim will be to assist people to put up a number of high grade houses and these people will not build here if they have to stand all the expense of improvements."

Mr. Taylor added that not one cent would be spent in building if the city would not sewer this property. He said that the people interested intended to break ground within three weeks, but this would not be done without, the guarantee that the property would be accessible to a sanitary sewer.

Alexander Jeffers, a farmer, residing at 1021 Sherman avenue, objected to the extension of the sewer on the grounds of the expense and that the people in his neighborhood do not need it at present.

George E. Fuller, of Arlington avenue, was the last speaker on the subject and he entered a protest, claiming that the number of people he had spoken to about the extension of the sewer, said that they do not need it.

Mr. Fuller said that other arrangements are now being made to take care of the sewer matter and besides the property-owners on that avenue do not feel like standing the expense for the proposed extension.

President Buckle assured those who spoke for and against the proposed improvement that the Council has only the best interest of all in mind and that great care would be exercised in arriving at a conclusion in the matter under consideration.

After the Council returned to the regular order of business, Mr. Tolles introduced a resolution which returned the ordinance providing for the proposed extension of the sewer to the streets and sewer committee for further consideration and a later report to the Council.

CAPTURED "GREENGOODS" MAN

ALLEGED SWINDLER ARRESTED AT NEW MARKET SUNDAY.

Was Captured by Detectives From Newark After a Very Short Fight.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

New Market, March 24—A man named Moras from New York was arrested here Sunday afternoon by detectives from Newark. He was charged with selling "green goods" to a man in Newark. It is claimed that he buncoed the man out of $2,400.

Early in the afternoon the four detectives reached town. They were followed soon after by Moras who went to Hotel Nelson, which is conducted by J. E. Dents. The detectives, accompanied by Constable Pearce, went to the office of Justice Von Minden where their warrant was endorsed. Then they returned for their prisoner.

The warrant was served on Moras in the back room of the hotel. He drew a revolver and attempted to escape. He was speedily overcome by the detectives. He was taken to Dunellen without further resistance and went by train from there to Newark.

Moras was a complete stranger in New Market. He was a young man, smooth face and of dark complexion. It is said that he cleverly buncoed a Newark man and had secured the money before his victim discovered he was duped.

RETAIL CLERKS' CELEBRATE.

Progrrmme and Dancing Mark Completion of Its Second Year.

In honor of the second anniversary of its organization, the Retail Clerks' Association entertained its members and friends in G. A. R. Hall, last night, to the number of 200. An enjoyable programme was presented consisting of piano selections by Allen Squier, vocal selections by Miss Anna Daley, recitations by Miss Josie Murphy, and mandolin solos by Fred Finnegan. Refreshments were afterward served and the remainder of the evening was spent in dancing.

The committee in charge consisted of A. C. Hoagland, chairman; the Misses Margaret Kennedy, May Brady, Jeannette Summers, Justina Smith, Elizabeth Day, James McLean, Lewis Bruker, Charles Greer and William Daley.

Spring Opening at Bonn's.

Owing to the increased demands for his hats, H. A. Bonn is devoting his entire efforts exclusively to millinery. His spring opening began today and all of the season's new designs were shown. The assortment was never so varied or as large and nothing but favorable comments were heard.

Threw Coal Through Window.

A large piece of coal was thrown through the front window of Mc Donough Brothers' coal office on Madison avenue, last night. The proprietors believed it might have been done for the purpose of robbery but a search by the police showed nothing to have been disturbed.

Wife Wouldn't Complain.

Charles Utter, a machinist, was arraigned in the city court, this morning, on a charge of drunkenness and disorderly conduct. As his wife, who preferred the complaint, failed to appear, the defendant was dismissed.

HIDDEN BY DARKNESS KEPT POLICE AT BAY

Edward Washington, Colored, Was Only Subdued When a Light Was Brought.

TO JAIL FOR 100 DAYS

PATROLMAN VANDERWEG SOUGHT TO ARREST HIM FOR STEALING WOOD.

Washington Took Refuge in His Own Kitchen in Darkness—Used Chair for a Weapon—Finally Dragged to Jail by Three Men.

Shrieking "murder" and "police" at the top of his voice and fighting every inch of the way, Edward Washington, a colored man who has given the police a great deal of trouble, was dragged to headquarters at 2 o'clock this morning. He was arrested at his home on Plainfield avenue after Patrolmen Vanderweg and McGinley struggled with him in the darkness of the kitchen for half an hour. This morning City Judge Runyon sent him to jail for 100 days.

Vanderweg detected Washington stealing wood from the yard of Benjamin Ruckman, opposite his home, at 1:30, and summoning McGinley and Flynn, who were nearby, followed him into the house The negro immediately put out the light and the officers tackled him in the dark. He used a chair as a weapon while the policemen couldn't wield their clubs for fear of hitting each other.

He fought like a demon and was not subdued until a lamp was procured and the men were able to see. When taken to the street he immediately began struggling and kept it up until landed in a cell.

BASKET BALL.

The business men's class of the Y. M. C. A. and the members of the City High School will play basket ball, this evening. The game will be called at 9 o'clock, after the regular class meetings.

Petit Larceny in Stamps.

"There is a fraud upon the public that we would like to root out," said a post office inspector, "but it is almost impossible to reach the culprits, and to make out cases against them—difficult even to get evidence on which to base a stop order against their mail. This fraud is simply the larceny of two-cent stamps by means of 'fake' advertisements in the 'help wanted' columns of reputable newspapers which have no means of knowing the fraudulent nature of the advertisements. It costs only a trifle to advertise for some kind of help, and some of these advertisements will bring from 1,000 to 1,500 replies from people who are looking for work or seeking to better themselves. Four-fifths of these applicants for the bogus 'job' will inclose stamps for reply. You can figure it out. Eight hundred stamps are worth $16. These stamps are taken out of the letters, done up in packages of 25 or 50, and sold at a small discount."—N. Y. Times.

Large Artificial Rubies.

At a recent meeting of the Academy of Sciences, in Paris, there was presented a paper by A. Verneuil, describing his success in making artificial rubies, weighing from 12 to 15 carats each, by a new process of fusing aluminium. Each ruby at the close of the process splits in two, forming half-spheres, which can be worked by lapidaries like natural stones. The color is fine, and lapidaries to whom they have been submitted say that these artificial gems have the same hardness and take the same polish as natural rubies. Unfortunately, or, as some may perhaps think, fortunately, many of the stones thus made, especially when of large size, have internal discolorations and bubbles. But. M. Verneuil thinks further experimentation will enable him to avoid these defects. —Science Siftings.

A Careful Lad.

A school-teacher in Kentucky had some trouble in teaching a little fellow to say "double l," "double e," "double s," etc. But after awhile his efforts were fruitful, and he was gratified by an extraordinary appearance of interest on the pupil's part. In fact, the boy became a double-letter hunter, and ceased altogether to require attention at that point. About that time they reached the lesson concerning the early riser, beginning with "Up! Up! and see the sun!"

He read it "Double up! and see the sun!"—Woman's Home Companion.

Emigration from Ireland.

In Ireland there is in progress active discussion of the ways and means of bettering, in a practical manner, the condition of the country. Particularly interesting is the unanimity with which on all sides it is asserted that the first and most necessary step to alleviate the nation's woes is to stop emigration. With remarkable unanimity, also, those who have set themselves to find the solution of this problem contend that a primary point is to make life more cheerful and agreeable in Ireland.—Catholic World

SPREAD TERROR.

Supposedly Mad Dog Runs Amuck Through the West End.

A supposedly mad dog ran amuck in the West End near Clinton avenue yesterday afternoon, and spread terror among the residents. It was shot by Frederick Wenzel, but not before it had bitten several dogs, among them being valuable animals belonging to J. O. Stevens, of Clinton avenue, and Mrs. Rachael Kenyon, of 1150 South Second street. It was also reported that a child had been bitten but the police were unable to secure a verification. The dogs bitten were ordered chained up.

BUILDING BOOM GOES WITH NEW FACTORIES

Building of Many New Houses Are Planned in Neighborhood of Clinton Avenue.

TWO PERMITS GRANTED

UNUSUAL ACTIVITY IN THAT PART OF WEST END THIS SPRING.

Enlarging of Safe Works and Starting of the Federick-Ayer Co.'s Factory Are Repsonsible for Big Demand for Houses There.

Spring having arrived there seems to be unusual activity in the building industry in this city. It is usual at this time of the year for many property owners to apply for permits to make additions to houses and repair their property but this year there seems to be a general building boom. Evidence of expansion is to be seen in the applications for permits received at the office of Building Inspector T. O. Doane, as the progress in the city's growth seems to be in the direction of the West End.

The growth in this direction is explained partly by the fact that the Manganese Steel Safe Company has been enlarging its plant and the Federick-Ayer Company has just started its big factory. When these concerns were started it became apparent to the real estate dealers in this city, who were besieged by people who wanted houses to rent, that there was a scarcity of small houses in this town. The real estate dealers and property owners did some hustling with the result that new buildings are going up in this part of the city.

Many of these houses have been built in the neighborhood of Clinton avenue, and already that street is showing signs of building up still more. Two of the permits which have been granted in the office of the Building Inspector during the past few days have been for houses on that street.

Mrs. W. B. Gannath, Jr., of 178 Somerset street, was granted a permit to erect a dwelling on Clinton avenue near West Sixth street. The house will be 24x22x30 feet and will be fitted with all modern improvements. Bertram Tallamy will be the contracting mason and Still & Kenney the carpenters.

E. S. Ackor will shortly break ground for a house on Clinton avenue near West Third street. The house will be a dwelling and will be completed with all modern improvements. F. L. Lancaster will be the architect; D. A. Ackor will be the carpenter.

The Plainfield District of the New Jersey Home Buyer's League was granted a permit to erect a large double dwelling house at 313 Lee place, near West Third street. The house will measure 36x36x36 feet and will be two stories in height with attic. The houses will be fitted with improvements and will be built on the latest plans. F. L. Lancaster will be the architect and Walter G. Clawson will be the contracting mason. The carpentering work will be done by Thomas Wearran & Sons.

Mrs. R. R. Everest, of 622 East Seventh street, was granted a permit to erect a large chicken coop in the rear of her house. The building will be 16x16x16 feet and will be two stories in height.

Permit to erect a barn was granted to C. E. Gulick, of Marion avenue. The barn will be erected on Woodbine avenue and will be 30x30x20 feet. C. E. Gulick will be the architect, J. W. Mundy the mason and C. E. Gulick the carpenter.

Contractors for Mrs. L. Hoerster, of North Plainfield, have broken ground for a large house to be erected at the corner of Chestnut and South avenues. It will contain eighteen rooms and will be used as a boarding place.

Wedding of Miss Hawthorne.

Julian Hawthorne, the author, lived at Scotch Plains some years ago and made many friends in Plainfield, who will be interested to learn of the prospective marriage of his daughter, Miss Imogen Hawthorne to Dr. William Champion Deming, of West Chester, N. Y. The wedding will take place in the Swedenborgian church, East Thirty-fifth street, New York, April 15. The bride's sisters and brothers will serve as bridemaids and ushers at the wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Vail, of Los Angeles, Cal., have returned home after a short visit with friends and relatives in Plainfield.

SHOOTING RABBITS.

Three Italians Fined $20 Each for Breaking Game Laws in Somerset County.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, March 25—Sunday a rumor reached Game Warden George H. Miller, of this place, that three men were enjoying the hunting in the vicinity of Bernardsville. Summoning Warden Ayres the two officials went there and arrested Savortie Jzbetie, Liby Joani and Balertine Lymorzie, who were after rabbits on the Sterling place. Justice Isaiah Bowers fined the three men $20 apiece and the costs amounted to $16.20.

All the Italians could raise was about $35 and accordingly bright and early yesterday they were brought here and lodged in the county jail. Unless some of their fellow countrymen can raise the price they will be obliged to remain thirty days.

IS ASSIGNED TO DUTY HERE

MAJOR-GENERAL BUFFINGTON TAKES PLACE OF CAPTAIN GILLMORE.

Captain Retires From Duty With National Guard on Account of His Command of Second Brigade.

Through a misunderstanding it was erroneously announced that Captain Quincy O'M. Gillmore, U. S. A., retired, had been assigned to duty with the New Jersey National Guard by Secretary of War Root. The announcement should have been that Captain Gillmore had been relieved of that duty, and that Major-General A. Buffington, U. S. A., retired, had been appointed to succeed him.

This action on the part of the War Department is taken as a very decided compliment to the State of New Jersey, and especially to the department of rifle practice of this State, which is headed by Brigadier-General Bird W. Spencer, of Passaic. Major-General Buffington, when in active service was chief of ordnance of the United States Army, and he is known as the inventor of the Buffington disappearing gun carriage and of the Buffington rifle sights, which are now in general use on nearly all rifles.

Usually such retired regular army officers attached to State forces are of the rank of lieutenant or captain, and New Jersey is perhaps the only State having the honor of the assistance of a major-general.

General Buffington has often been at Sea Girt, and he and General Spencer are warm personal friends. General Buffington resides at Madison, in this State.

His new duties will require him to be of what assistance he can to the State troops and to generally supervise them in the interests of the War Department. He draws full pay as a major-general retired.

Captain Gillmore is relieved because of his present position in the New Jersey guard. He was elected colonel of the Second Regiment, at the time of the reorganization of the guard after the Spanish War, and he is now brigadier-general in command of the Second, or South Jersey, Brigade. During the Spanish War he was lieutenant-colonel and then colonel of the Fourth New Jersey Volunteers. He is also United States army officer detailed to Rutgers College and draws the full pay of a retired regular army captain.

BONN'S OPENING.

Entire Store Devoted to Millinery Display—Opening to Last Two Days More.

The spring millinery opening at Bonn's, yesterday, was one of the most successful in the history of the store. It was filled with eager buyers all day, anxious to look at and procure some of the new designs in feminine headgear, not to be had at other places. The fact that Bonn's establishment is devoted exclusively to millinery makes it possible to present an extra large display.

The popular chrysanthemum hats predominate at the opening this year. They are to be seen in profusion, among them being a handsome effect in combined foliage and maline, topped off with shaded ribbons. It attracted a great deal of attention, yesterday, as did another one, flare shaped, with lace inserted in the crown and brim, set off by foilage beneath. They are also to be had in burnt straw, white horse hair and other effects with becoming decorations. The display will last two days longer.

Dr. Hall Preached.

Rev. Dr. William S. Hubbell, of this city, occupied the pulpit at the Crescent Avenue church Sunday evening. Prof. Hall preached in the morning.

NINETEENTH ANNUAL MEETING

HELD BY PLAINFIELD BUILDING AND LOAN ASSOCIATION MONDAY NIGHT.

Practically All of the Old Officers Were Re-Elected and a New Series Opened.

The nineteenth annual meeting of the Plainfield Building and Loan Association was held Monday evening, when all the reports showed a most gratifying condition of affairs. Practically all of the officers, were re-elected, showing that the association is well-pleased with the management. Among the business transacted was that of opening the tenth series, and about $10,000 worth of money was sold. The tenth series will be kept open for awhile to afford an opportunity for those who wish to take shares.

The election of officers resulted as follows: President, L. E. Barkalew; vice president, Henry Liefke; treasurer, W. R. Codington; secretary. B. Frank Coriell; finance committee, Wm. A. Woodruff, James P. Homan, Jacob Voehl; board of directors, L. E. Barkalew, Henry Liefke, W. R. Codington, Louis Klein, Jacob Voehl, James P. Homan, Wm. A. Woodruff, Joseph C. Blimm, J. E. Flannery, B. Frank Coriell, Peter McDonough and W. E. Collins. The two last named men take the places of Clarence Goss and D. W. Jones, who retire.

The officers are all men of well-known ability and the success of the association for so many years speaks well for it.

ADDITION TO HOME.

One of Provisions to Gift of James Clark to Children's Home, Will be Complied With.

There was an important meeting of the board of officers of the Plainfield Children's Home Association, yesterday afternoon, called for the purpose of accepting the generous gift of $10,000 from James Clark, of West Seventh street, in accordance with the conditions of the gift. These conditions are that the money shall be used for building an addition to accommodate at least twenty-five more children.

It is expected that the addition will be built during the coming season, but to prepare for this it is necessary that the association shall consider the matter. Mrs. Horace Kimball, president, has called a meeting of the advisory board to confer on the subject.

The regular monthly meeting of the association will be held Thursday, April 2, at which time there will be a general discussion of plans. The association is deeply grateful to Mr. Clark for his timely gift which will enable the members to accomplish a great deal of good.

ELECTED OFFICERS.

Woman's Foreign Mission Society Transacted Yearly Business at Meeting Yesterday.

The election of officers and the reading of several papers on "Africa," occupied the attention of the members of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society at the annual meeting held yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the parlors of the First M. E. church. The meeting was well attended and much interest was evinced in the proceedings.

The officers elected for the ensuing year are: President, Mrs. E. M. Winter; first vice president, Mrs. W. C. Snodgrass; second vice president, Mrs. Erastus Clark; third vice president, Mrs. Daniel E. Davis; recording secretary, Miss Minnie Sharp; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Charles E. Horne; treasurer, Miss Susie Jackson.

Interesting missionary papers were read by Mrs. Daniel Davis, Miss Susie Jackson and Mrs. L. M. French.

Additional Receivers.

Judge Kirkpatrick, this week, signed an order appointing James A. Kerr and John R. Will, of Seattle, Wash., co-receivers with Thomas B. McGovern and George D. Hallock, the latter of this city, of the Pacific Packing and Navigation Company in the suit brought by the Colonial Trust Company and Rudolph Pfeiffer, of New York.

Wage Increase Granted.

Passenger brakemen and baggagemen on the New Jersey Central have been notified by General Manager Besler that their request for an increase of wages has been granted. Ten per cent. is the amount of the increase.

Receives Valuable Stock.

Henry E. Bowen, of Watchung avenue, by the will of his stepmother, becomes a beneficiary to the extent of receiving several shares of stock of the Pennsylvania Railroad and of the Mechanics Bank, of New York.

HOUSE PASSES LOCAL BILL

Provides for Election of Collector by Plainfield Council by Three-Fourths Vote.

OTHER BILLS PASSED

Senate and House Kept Busy With Passaic Pollution and the Morris Canal Abandonment Bills—Date for Final Adjournment Fixed for Thursday, April 2.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Trenton, March 25—Between the Passaic pollution bill and the Morris Canal abandonment bill, the Senate and House were kept very busy yesterday. They found time, however, to transact a little other business and fixed the day for final adjournment for Thursday, April 2.

Of special interest to Plainfield was House bill No. 345, which went through the House. It provides for the election of a city collector by the Common Council of Plainfield by a three-fourths vote. It is the same bill which Assemblyman Newcorn attempted to get through the House and which was defeated largely through the influence of Assemblyman S. S. Swackhamer.

The Republican members of the Assembly devoted the greater part of the midday recess to a caucus. The primary election bill was considered. Ex-Senator Stokes and Corporation Attorney Record of Hudson county attended the caucus by invitation and explained the bill, which was prepared by them working as the State Primary Elections Commission. It was decided to amend the measure by inserting a provision whereby every voting district in the State should be entitled to at least one delegate to all party conventons. The railroad codification measure also was considered. After prolonged debate it was decided not to make this bill a caucus measure, but it was agreed that some of the features of the old bill which had been eliminated should be restored. The special committee appointed by a Republican caucus a few days ago to consider this bill reported against a number of the changes which had been made in the new act.

Among the bills passed by the Senate were the following:

Providing that telegraph companies may be dissolved in the same manner as corporations under the general act.

Requiring railroad companies to blow a whistle or ring a bell for a distance of 1,200 feet on approach of a train toward an overhead or undergrade crossing, the same as now required at grade crossings.

Permitting the State Home for Boys to employ for the uses of the institution the revenue derived from the labor of inmates.

Regulating the manner of voting on constitutional amendments.

Appropriating $5,000 for a battle monument to be erected on the site of the old Revolutionary Fort Lee.

Authorizing carp fishing in the Hackensack river.

In the Senate last night the bill providing for a new normal school in North Jersey came up, but Mr. Martin announced that he was opposed to the bill, and at Senator Bacheller's request the bill was laid over, the Essex Senator being fearful that the bill might be defeated, as several of the Senators were absent.

When Assembly bill No. 142, prohibiting the sale of milk from cows not daily supplied with pure water, came up. Mr. Martin voted for the bill with the understanding that the bill also required the water put in the milk to be pure.

Assemblyman Robert's bill, prohibiting the sale of cigarettes to boys under sixteen years, passed the Senate.

The Senate also passed the Assembly bill making it a misdemeanor to place any color, design or advertising device on the American flag.

Among the bills passed by the House were these:

Making it a misdemeanor for dealers to purchase junk from children under sixteen years of age.

Fixing September 22 for holding the special election on the proposed constitutional amendment.

Establishing a Bureau of Districts of shell fisheries.

Establishing the office of State Entomologist.

Compelling the erection of fans to blow from employes dust generated in factories.

Governor Murphy has signed the Scovel automobile bill passed by the Senate last week and fixing twenty miles an hour in country districts and nine miles an hour in cities as the minimum rate for automobiles.

THE CITY HIGH SCHOOL WON

DECIDING BASKET BALL GAME WITH BUSINESS MEN'S CLASS.

School Boys Won by Score of 21 to 14, Last Evening—The Lineups.

In a hotly contested game of basket ball which was played last evening in the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium between the High School of this city and the business men's gymnasium class, the former won by a score of 21 to 14. This was the deciding game between the two teams as each had one game to its credit. The lineups were:

High School.		Business Men.
H. Thompson	rf	J. H. Stone
H. Monroe	lf	Paul Whittord, J. H. Doane
H. Collier	c	A. Spicer
F. Anderson	rg	W. K. Browning
Vincent Miner	lg	Charles Zimmer, G. Clark

The score after the first half was a tie at 9 to 9 but in the second half the High School players took a brace and won out by a score of 21 to 14. The officials of the game were: Arthur Denton and Walter Cabonoe, umpires; C. E. A. Heywood, referee; timer, Harry Pittenger; scorer, Wililam Doane.

During the intermission an exhibition game of gymnasium hockey was played between a scrub team called the "blacks" and the "whites." The "blacks" were captained by Chauncey Koosn and the "whites" by Albert Utzinger.

TALK TROLLEY.

Board of Trade Will Use Its Influence to Improve Existing Conditions.

An adjourned meeting of the Board of Trade, held last evening, proved a very short session. The greater part of the time was devoted to a discussion of existing local trolley conditions and the devising of some way to better them. The sentiment was in favor of appealing to the officials to provide better and cleaner cars, prompt service and other changes and the secretary was instructed to correspond with the proper persons.

Three new members were elected, Clarence L. Murphy, William A. Coddington and William H. Abbott.

OWNER OF PIGEON.

Carrier That Sought Shelter Belonged to A. E. Faber, Jr.

A week ago Frank Keller, of Harrison avenue, was working in his barn when a pigeon flew in. He found that it was a carrier pigeon and when it died the following day he found on its leg a silver ring on which were the words, "Congo A." The bird belonged to A. E. Faber, Jr., of Mercer avenue, as he identified the ring as belonging to one of his birds which had escaped from the cage. The bird was a valuable one as it had traveled long distances in homing flights.

FELL OVER FENDER.

Geo. R. Fine Wants Damages Because Cars Were in His Way.

George R. Fine, of West Fourth street, has instructed Hetfield & Hetfield, attorneys, to claim damages from the Elizabeth, Plainfield and Central Jersey Railway Company, for injuries received by him. He was passing the West Fourth street barns on March 20 and was unable to get by owing to cars blocking the sidewalk. In attempting to go around one, he tripped over the fender and received painful hurts, besides ruining his clothes.

An Addicks Legislator.

Lavinus Austin, a member of the Delaware Legislature, and an Addicks man, has been the guest of his friend, H. C. Corsa, of East Second street. Mr. Austin has been very active in political affairs in Delaware, where for some time past there has been a hard fight between Democrats and Republicans.

All-Day Mission Meeting.

The nineteenth annual meeting of the Woman's Presbyterial Society for Home Missions in the Presbytery of Elizabeth, will be held in the Presbyterian church at Woodbridge Friday, with morning and afternoon sessions. A number of women from Plainfield will attend the meeting.

Much Improved.

Rev. E. E. Jackson, pastor of Mt. Olive Baptist church, who is at Southern Pines, S. C., for his health, writes that he is much improved. Several friends recently received some choice flowers from the south through the thoughtfulness of Mr. Jackson.

Birthday Social.

There will be a birthday social at the Monroe Avenue church, Friday evening, under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society.

DEMOCRATS IN POWER.

Controlled the Bridgewater Township Committee When It Organized.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, March 25—The annual meeting of the Bridgewater Township Committee was held in this place Monday. The newly-elected members were sworn in. The committee is now constituted as follows: Oscar Dow, Raritan, D.; James Q. Ten-Eyck, Somerville, D.; Bernhard Meyer, Finderne, D.; William Harris, Somerville, R.; Christopher Ehni, Raritan, R.

Organization was effected by electing Mr. Dow chairman. The following appointments were made: Treasurer, Ferdinand Vander Veer; counsel, Alvah A. Clark; physician, L. M. Linning.

The road lists were gone over and other routine business transacted.

NEW TEMPLE AT NEWARK

MYSTIC SHRINERS TALK OF A TEMPLE IN NEW JERSEY.

South Jersey Shriners Want One Built at Trenton—Say Newark Isn't Central.

The new shrine, to be named Salaam Temple, of the Ancient Arabic Order of the Nobles of the Mystic Shrine, which was organized in the rooms of Damascus Commandery K. T., of Newark, recently, has already met with opposition on the part of members from Trenton and other more southern parts of New Jersey. It is the intention of the new organization to at once apply for a dispensation from the imperial potentate, Henry C. Aiken, of Tangiers Temple, at Omaha, Neb., and the new temple will be instituted without delay, if the dispensation is granted.

The opposition to the new organization comes from members who are affiliated with Lulu Temple, of Philadelphia, and who proposed very soon to institute a similar organization at Trenton. The first temple in the State is called the parent temple, and other Shriners who wish to organize must first get permission from it before they can make application. It was for this reason that the members in the northern part of the State worked quietly and kept their intentions secret. A committee has been appointed by the Shriners in the southern part of New Jersey and a conference will be held at Newark soon.

There is some talk of a compromise, provided the Newark Shriners are willing to make the Raritan river the dividing line so that Trenton may establish a temple in the future if it so elects and procures the permission of the imperial body. Their position is that they have no objection to the temple in the northern part of the State, provided they are not forced to affiliate with it.

There are a number of Shriners in Plainfield and they have all signified their intention of affiliating with the new temple at Newark as soon as the opportunity is offered. It is the belief of the local members that the existing differences can be settled to the satisfaction of all concerned.

THIRD WAGNER MUSICALE.

Given by Miss Neuhaus at Home of Mrs. J. Kirtland Myers.

The third of the series of Wagner musicles was given at the home of Mrs. J. Kirtland Myers, of East Seventh street, yesterday, when a large and fashionable assemblage of women was present to enjoy the subject "Siegfried," as interpreted by Miss Estella Neuhaus. The subject was treated in a charming manner and the greatest interest was evidenced by those present. The last musicale will be given Tuesday morning, March 31, at the home of Miss Emilie Schipper, of West Seventh street, the subject being "Gotterdammerung."

Contract Suit.

The suit on contract between Hetfield & Company, coal merchants, against Emily M. Rand will be returnable in Justice Huff's court, March 31. Hetfield & Hetfield represent the complainant.

BOYS' DEPARTMENT ENJOYS A BANQUET

The Youthful Members of the Y. M. C. A. Dined by the Woman's Auxiliary.

THE YEARLY REPORTS

BRIEF STATEMENTS SHOWING THE PROGRESS DURING THE YEAR.

Interesting Remarks Made by Members of Association and Visitors—Those Who Assisted at the Banquet—Other Details.

An elaborate banquet was tendered the members of the boys' department of the Y. M. C. A., last evening, when reports were read and addresses delivered by prominent workers among boys in this State. The dinner was given by the Woman's Auxiliary of the Y. M. C. A. and fully 100 boys sat down to the feast at 6 o'clock.

Martin B. Stutesman, president of the boys' department, presided at the banquet and acted as toastmaster, after the last course had been served. The decorations were attractively arranged and on each table large lamps with fancy colored globes were set which gave a soft light to the room. Reports of the condition of the department were read by the chairmen of the various committees. Those who submitted accounts of the progress which is being made in that department were: Theodore Gavett, of the religious work committee, Arthur VanArsdale, of the social work committee, Harold Robbins, of the outing committee, Augustus Nash, of the rooms committee, Hudson Burr, of the membership committee, Frank Webster, of the athletic committee, and C. B. Leggett, of the musical club.

Remarks were made by O. S. Rogers, chairman of the boys' work committee, Charles P. Scott, State secretary of the boys' work, and Secretary Kenneth Robbie, of the local association.

Those of the Woman's Auxiliary who assisted in serving and looking after the comfort of the boys were: Mrs. W. S. Lowry, Mrs. Roger F. Murray, Mrs. F. J. Underhill, Mrs. L. M. French, Mrs. F. C. Harder, Mrs. Stephen Cahoone, Mrs. Joseph Robinson, Mrs. E. R. Taylor, Mrs. John Valiant, Mrs. Harry Gee and Mrs. J. W. Gavett.

SPRING STYLES.

Shown at the Millinery Opening at Lederer's, West Front Street, Which Begins Today.

Without doubt, one of the finest millinery displays which have been seen in this city in many years is that of Isaac Lederer's on West Front street, this afternoon. The store had its spring opening today and it will continue it tomorrow and Friday. Much more space has been given to the millinery display this year and the styles are more beautiful and in greater varieties than ever before at that store.

Miss Mayme Casey is in charge of the department this year. She has been in the millinery business for years and while at Lederer's she has built up a large business.

A visit at the store will not fail to be of benefit to the prospective buyer of a spring hat. Trimmings for hats can also be secured at the store and flowers and ribbons, in special designs can be secured there at the most reasonable prices.

PLANS COMPLETED.

Company K Anticipate a Pleasant Time Monday Evening.

Company K has completed all plans for the dinner to be given in honor of the second anniversary of its organization. It will take place Monday evening in the Hotel Rosell and, in addition to local celebrities, many of the high officials of the Second Regiment are expected to be present as guests. Among the latter will be Brigadier-General Gillmore, General Wanser, Lieutenant-Colonel Kline and Major Dungan.

Placed on Committees.

Mrs. F. H. Andrews, of this city, has been appointed a member of the State committee of the Young Woman's Christian Association and a member of the sub-committee on colleges, of which Mrs. Robert E. Spier is chairman.

—The choral society of the First M. E. church met last evening for a rehearsal of the cantata "Queen Esther," which will be given in the near future.

COLUMN FOR THE SHOPPERS

SOME OF ATTRACTIONS TO BE FOUND AT LOCAL STORES.

A Few Interesting Items Concerning Greater Plainfield's Merchants

With the approach of spring and summer one's feet need attention. If you want to walk with comfort and have shoes that look and wear well, make your selection from John H. Doane's stock of shoes for men, women and children.

The Japanese tea store on West Front street, is the centre of attraction for those who admire oriental goods. Mr. Dubois is showing a choice assortment of pretty cups and saucers, draperies, covers, etc., also a complete line of oriental delicacies.

Neuman Brothers particularly state that a strict guarantee is placed behind all the olive oil sold by them. It is imported by the firm direct from the producers in France and they know whereof they speak when they say the quality of the very best. Its equal cannot be found in the city.

James C. Hansen, of East Front street, has contracted with many of the city's leading residents to paint the interior and exterior of their homes during the coming spring. Those contemplating such an improvement can have one of Mr. Hansen's representatives call and furnish estimates by sending a postal.

Of all the charms of springtime, a handsome flower garden is perhaps the pleasantest. C. L. Stanley, the North avenue florist, makes a specialty of laying out artistic flower gardens and if the grass plot should need turning over, or seeding, plants need attention, or new beds laid out, Stanley, with many years of experience, is capable of doing it the best.

John Powers, the Somerset street pharmacist, says that if a spring tonic is needed, the best thing to do is to take one. The best tonic that he knows of is Powers' Sarsaparilla, which is sold at the Somerset Pharmacy at the corner of Craig place and Somerset street. Huyler's candy can be brought at that store as Mr. Powers is the agent for the tasty relish.

There is no need of anyone going out of town to do their shopping, when Hill & Shupp offer such values in every one of the many departments at the store. The new spring and summer goods are displayed for inspection and the quality of the goods and the prices are most attractive. The housefurnishing goods department is just filled with useful goods and one is able to get these things so reasonable that it is no longer expensive to furnish a house.

CITY JOTTINGS.

—William Milligan, of West Fourth street, has accepted a position with Woodhull & Martin.

—Miss M. V. Stickle, of East Fifth street, is disposing of her household goods, preparatory to moving to Baltimore, where she will take charge of a large laundry.

—The Junior Christian Endeavor Society, of the First Baptist church, will hold its business meeting this week on Thursday afternoon instead of Friday, the usual day

A NEW BRIDGE.

Looks as If Somerset's Freeholders Were Coming Round.

The members of the Somerset County Board of Freeholders will tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock, meet the bridge committee from the Union County Board of Freeholders at the Giraud avenue bridge, and it is hoped that some favorable decision will be reached regarding the building of a new bridge at that point. It is understood that the Union county members are willing to build the new structure, but that there is opposition on the part of the Somerset County Board.

What's In a Name?

Everything is in the name when it comes to Witch Hazel Salve. E. C. DeWitt & Co., of Chicago, discovered, some years ago, how to make a salve from Witch Hazel that is a specific for Piles. For blind, bleeding, itching and protruding Piles, eczema, cuts, burns, bruises and all skin diseases, DeWitt's Salve has no equal. This has given rise to numerous worthless counterfeits. Ask for DeWitt's—the genuine. L. W. Randolph.

Monthly Business Meeting.

The monthly business meeting of the First Baptist church will be held this evening, after a short devotional service.

Our Friends, the Druggists.

It is a pleasure to testify to the generally high character of druggists. But because of a few exceptions to the rule, it is necessary to caution the public to be on guard against imitations of Perry Davis' Painkiller. See that you get the right article, the soothing, helpful Painkiller that was used in your family before you were born. Don't be taken into buying a substitute. There is but one Painkiller Perry Davis'.

NOTES CONCERNING PLAINFIELDERS AND THEIR MANY GUESTS.

Some of Those That Go to Make Up the Day's Budget of Arrivals and Departures.

Mrs. G. L. VanEmburgh, of East Second street, is confined to the house by illness.

Miss Mary E. TenEyck, of Delaware, Hunterdon county, is the guest of friends on West Third street.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Shupp, of Madison avenue, have returned home from a stay at Washington, D. C.

Mrs. E. S. F. Randolph, of Park avenue, was a guest on Sunday of her sister, Mrs. Polhemus, in Brooklyn.

Mrs. B. G. H. Leonard, of East Front street, returned home today from a visit with relatives in Philadelphia.

Charles Wilson, of West Sixth street, who has been travelling with the Sells Brothers circus, is home for a few days.

Mrs. Webster, of Washington, D. C., is stopping at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Martin I. Cooley, of Rockview terrace.

Mr. and Mrs. E. K. McPeck, of North Adams, Mass., are guests of Mr. and Mrs. George B. Wean, of West Fourth street.

Miss Elizabeth Perrine, who has been the guest of the Misses DeMott, of Somerset street, has returned to her home in Martinsville.

Harrison G. Meyers, of Manchester, England, who has been in this country for almost a year, is visiting relatives on Mercer avenue, prior to his return home.

Mrs. S. R. Struthers, of West Front street, who has been enjoying a much-needed rest in Delaware county, New York, during the past week, returned home yesterday.

Miss Carrie Weiss, of Regent street, who has been suffering from appendicitis, was removed yesterday to Muhlenberg Hospital. An operation will probably be performed.

THEATRICAL.

Good evidence of the enormous favor with which George Ade's "Sultan of Sulu" has been received in New York is furnished by the suburban matinees at Wallack's. The management was unable to accommodate out-of-town patrons and decided on a mid-week suburban performance when a portion of the best seats in the house should be reserved for mail orders. The new departure proved immensely popular, the house being filled from the very first. Seats are being engaged four Wednesdays in advance and as many are being turned away at the matinee as at any of the night performances.

James T. Powers, in George W. Lederer's beautiful musical comedy production, "The Jewel of Asia," will return to the home of his former triumphs, Daly's Theatre, New York, Monday, March 30, for two weeks only. Mr. Powers and this dainty, melodious humorous play, have been one of the great Broadway successes for the past two months at the Criterion Theatre, and at the termination of this engagement go direct to Daly's Theatre, where for many seasons this star was the main factor in those great successes presented by the Augustin Daly musical comedy company, "The Geisha," "San Toy," "The Circus Girl," and "A Runaway Girl." Mr. Powers in his present play, "The Jewel of Asia," (of which he is the star), presents a character which reveals all of the humorous methods and inimitable mannerisms which have made him such a favorite with Broadway audiences. Besides Mr. Powers, many notable players are included in this production—Blanche Ring, Rachel Booth, William Cameron, Carrie Perkins, George O'Donnell, Richie Ling, Harry Short, being most prominent.

Talk on Religion.

At the prayer-meeting service in the chapel of the First Presbyterian church this evening, the pastor, Rev. C. E. Herring, will give a talk on the subject of "Religion."

Missionary Service.

A missionary service will be held at the Crescent Avenue church this evening. Prof. Thomas C. Hall will be in charge.

—Captain George F. Edwards and family will occupy the premises on the north west corner of Duer street and Park place after April first.

The best pill 'neath the stars and stripes;

It cleanses the system and never gripes.

Little Early Risers of worldly repute—

Ask for DeWitt's and take no substitute.

A small pill, easy to buy, easy to take and easy to act, but never failing in results. DeWitt's Little Early Risers arouse the secretions and act as a tonic to the liver, curing permanently. L. W. Randolph.

LAST YEAR'S PROFITS TO STOCKHOLDERS.

40% Dividends Paid by One Stock. Another in 13 Months Paid 27%

We want wide-awake agents in every town in the state. Insurance men and others are making $100 a week as a side line.

We sell railroad stocks, city and municipal bonds, and other conservative forms of investment paying from 4 to 6% annually. Also high-grade industrial stocks, a trifle speculative, paying much larger rates of interest. We will be pleased to send you our beautifully illustrated book for investors.

We have been established twelve years and have offices in all the principal cities of the United States and Canada.

We buy insurance policies, and those having insurance on the 10, 15, or 20 year plan, who desire their money before policies mature, will be able to make money by writing us for figures.

We have only a limited amount of the 40% dividend stock. We do not guarantee delivery at present prices after April 15th. Of the 27% stock we also have a small block. Both are solid industrial enterprises.

NO LIGHT ON KILLING

Mrs. Burdick Denies Knowledge of Husband's Slayer.

CHILDREN TESTIFY WITHOUT EMOTION

In Testimony of Widow, Covering Week In Which Murder Was Committed She Denies That Pennell Had Her House Key.

BUFFALO, March 25.—"Have you received any information as to who killed your husband?"

"No, sir."

"You swear you have no knowledge or information as to who killed him?"

"I do."

The above questions were addressed to Mrs. Alice Hull Burdick yesterday afternoon at the inquest into the death of her husband by District Attorney Coatsworth. The answers were returned by Mrs. Burdick in a calm, clear voice. The questions came abruptly while the district attorney was drawing from Mrs. Burdick information about her relations with Arthur R. Pennell. She had denied that Pennell took her key to the front door of the Burdick home while they were in New York together and had several duplicates made of it. The district attorney put the question regarding the key to Mrs. Burdick in a number of different forms, but the answers were always emphatic denials that she or Pennell had ever ordered duplicate keys made or that the key had left her possession during her last exile from home.

Mrs. Burdick was calmer and more collected while testifying. She left the stand at 4:15.

To complete the examination of every one who was in the Burdick home on the night of Feb. 26, when Edwin L. Burdick was murdered, the district attorney called to the stand the two youngest Burdick children, Carol and Alice, aged respectively thirteen and ten years. The district attorney spoke kindly to the children, but questioned them closely about the events that occurred at their home on the night before and the morning after the murder of their father. The children displayed no more sign of emotion than did their grandmother or mother or elder sister while talking about the terrible death of their father. Their recollection of the happenings at the time of the tragedy were rather hazy, and "I don't remember" was usually the answer they gave when the district attorney pressed them closely on any point.

Mrs. Burdick's testimony covered the week in which Burdick was murdered, and the name of Arthur R. Pennell was constantly upon her lips. She trusted him implicitly in everything. The district attorney read a number of letters written to Mrs. Burdick by Pennell in which he said life was not worth living without her and that death would not be unwelcome. She knew nothing of a document found in her safety deposit vault bonding Pennell to pay her $25,000 in the event of his being unable to marry her. Although it was among Mrs. Burdick's private papers in the vault she claimed to have been ignorant of its existence.

Mrs. Burdick declared that the last time she saw Pennell was on the Tuesday before the murder. He left her that night in Atlantic City, arriving in Buffalo Wednesday. She was informed of Mr. Burdick's death by a message from Mrs. Hull on the following Friday and hastened to Buffalo. She reached her home Saturday morning. A brief note of sympathy from Pennell came to the house that day. She never heard from him or saw him between that time and the day he was killed by his automobile plunging into the stone quarry.

Before leaving the stand Mrs. Burdick took occasion to say in reply to questions from her attorney that nothing improper or immoral had occurred between her and Pennell. At the same time she said her husband was fond of the society of other women and for some reason not quite clear said that Mrs. Pennell was quite familiar with the dining room and "den" in the Burdick home.

Palma Urges Ratification.

HAVANA, March 25.—The message of President Palma regarding the amended reciprocity treaty was read in the senate yesterday. The president considers that the amendments made by the United States senate should be adopted and refers the matter to the consideration of the Cuban senate. He explained that the exchange of ratifications must be made in Washington before March 31 or the treaty will lapse. He sent with the message a certified copy of the telegrams exchanged by Secretary of State Zaldo and the Cuban minister at Washington, Senor Quesada; also the amendments. There were twenty senators present at the session.

National Packing Company.

CHICAGO, March 25.—Announcement of the incorporation of the National Packing company, capitalized at $15,000,000 and including several of the smaller plants in Chicago, Omaha and elsewhere, is made by J. P. Lyman, president of the company. The incorporation papers were taken out in New Jersey, and it is announced that the purchase is made for investment with the idea of doing a business of about $150,000,000 a year.

House Moved Into Another State.

GRAND FORKS, N. D., March 25.—A sensation was caused here when a house, the ownership of which was claimed by both Mrs. John Jacobson and Phil Nett, was moved into Minnesota despite the vigorous protests of Nett. Judge Fisk and several attorneys were called upon, but before injunction papers could be secured the house was in Minnesota.

TEA TABLE TALK.

At the annual dinner of the Friendly Sons of St. Patrick held at Elizabeth, last Tuesday evening, and largely attended by Plainfielders, Rev. Father Bogan, of Elizabethport, gave a most interesting biography of St. Patrick, to whose memory all Celts do honor. It was prepared by him for delivery in response to the toast, "The Day We Celebrate" and in part was as follows:

"St. Patrick was born Wednesday, April 5, 372, either of Roman origin, or had assumed Roman titles. His father, Calphurnius, was a deacon; his grandfather, Potitus, Presbyter; his mother, Conchessa, was a near relative of St. Martin, Bishop of Tours (Holy Tours). His name at birth was Succoth.

"In the sixteenth year of his age, St. Patrick was brought to Ireland, where he was a slave or servant to Milcho and three brothers. After seven years he was either released from his captivity, according to Mosaic law, or more probably gained his liberty by flight.

"Much of his time was spent in traveling and investigating the manners, habits, customs and scientific attainments of various nations. He studied also at the Laternan Church at Rome, and was consecrated a bishop by Pope Celestine, who deputed him to succeed Platius and to Christianize Ireland. The Pope on this occasion dignified his Hibernian apostle with the honorable Roman title Patricius, father of the people.

"At the time of his consecration, Auxileus was ordained a priest, Isernius a deacon and, with others, were appointed his coadjutors. With twenty disciples he arrived in Britain, preached in Cornwall, and sailed for Ireland in the year 432; landed at Subher Bea, at the entrance of the river Dea, now part of Wicklow.

"The pagans drove him back to his ship and he proceeded to an island, called after him Holm-Patrick, on the coast of county Dublin, and having rested here a short time he sailed for the Bay of Dundrum, county Down. Dichu, the son of Trichan, prince of the country, came forth with his troops to murder the holy man, but was converted.

"After thirteen years of incessant labor, having Christianized a vast multitude of the Irish nation, he proceeded, in the year 445, to found the city of Armagh.

"The hill on which the city was built was a gift of Daire, a prince of the country. From him St. Patrick also received a small tract adjacent, on the eastern side, called Na Feata. Here St. Patrick resided with his family, prior to the building of Armagh. Various works attributed to St. Patrick and generally received as his composition are yet extant.

"St. Patrick founded at Armagh a college, which in process of time became famous through all Europe. In 461 he visited Rome, where he was honorably received by Pope Hilarius as the successful apostle of the Irish nation.

"After having established 365 churches, consecrated many bishops and many presbyters, he died in the abbey of Saul, on the seventeenth of March, 493, and at the age of 120 years. He was buried at Downpatrick, and here his remains were found, with those of Sts. Bridget and Columba, and in the year 1185, on the ninth of June, were removed to the cathedral of that town which bears his name."

THE BASEBALL PROBLEM.

It has been definitely decided to continue the City Baseball League as a four-cornered organization and the applications of the four new teams have been turned down. This decides a question of policy which has been greatly troubling the league officials for several weeks. Only time will show whether it was the wisest course or not. Naturally the action of the league did not meet with unanimous approval.

Two reasons seems to have been the most important in influencing the league clubs to continue last year's arrangement. The principal one was that there was not enough baseball loving people in Plainfield to properly support four games every Saturday afternoon. The leaders in the league would undoubtedly draw good crowds but those who fell behind would come out the little end of the horn and fail to meet expenses. It costs considerable money to run a baseball team properly and keep grounds and stands in condition and even last season, when there were only two games a week, some of the teams discovered the league was not a get-rich-quick scheme.

While there appeared to be no question as to the ability of the four league clubs to stand another season, some of the present league members doubted whether all the applying clubs would be able to hold together, especially in a financial way, if four games were played every Saturday and the gate receipts were not always very large. The disbanding of a club in the middle of the season would seriously interfere with the league arrangements.

Now that it is definitely known that the four new clubs will not be admitted into the league, there is much interest in what the spring will bring forth. Two of the clubs have announced that they will have teams on the field anyhow and play games regularly independent of the league. If the other two follow that example, it means that there will be from four to six games every Saturday afternoon. Of course, the league contests will be drawing cards but, if the other teams are powerful and secure good nines from the outside to come here, they will be bound to attract crowds. Furthermore, the feeling is going to be a hostile one instead of a friendly relation and, unless something happens to change the existing conditions materially, there will be a "baseball war."

Last season's league saw four teams remarkably evenly matched. They were so well matched that it excited general comment. With good close games every time, the league contests will be sure of a big crowd. If one or two teams are outclassed by the others, then the independent games, if good ones, will seriously affect the league attendance.

There you are. However you may arrange it, it looks as if the baseball arena in Plainfield was going to be filled with troubles. The great success of last season is largely to blame. It is to be hoped, however, that the sport will adapt itself to the limited conditions and not spoil the promise of the most successful season Plainfield ever enjoyed by overdoing itself.

It looks now as if the Common Council would not authorize the proposed extension of the sanitary sewers to the south-west and that the proposed residential park there, planned by Philadelphia capitalists, would not be built. The hearing on the proposed improvement Monday night brought out vigorous objection from a number of prominent Plainfielders. Only one man spoke in favor of the measure. The general sentiment was that while it would be a nice thing sometime, the present conditions did not warrant the expenditure necessary. The members of the Common Council had nothing to say on the matter at the hearing and one is left to draw his own conclusions as to what course they intend to pursue.

Former Mayor Alex. Gilbert does not believe that North Plainfield has an immediate need of sewers. It may be that some of the boroughites will live just as long if the sewers are not introduced immediately. Suppose, however, that Mr. Gilbert was a stranger to Plainfield and North Plainfield and should come here desirous of purchasing a home, which side of the brook would he go? And yet Mr. Gilbert says North Plainfield doesn't need sewers.

A crosswalk is needed so that passengers leaving the trolley cars on Watchung avenue for the east bound railroad station do not have to wade through several inches of mud rainy days.

CRITICIZES LEAGUE.

Attributes Refusal to Admit Other Teams to Either Greed or Lack of Courage.

Plainfield, N. J., March 24, 1903.

To the Editor of The Daily Press:—By the decision of their members of the City League in refusing to admit any other teams to its league they have placed themselves on record as being against an increase in the formation of other teams in Plainfield. It must have been either greed or a lack of courage on their part to refuse admission of any of the applicants. Everyone knows that among the four teams that applied there were teams that were equal, if not superior to those in the league.

The pennant offered by A. G. Spalding was intended for the best amateur team in Plainfield. Instead of being played for by the best amateur teams we find a combination that considers itself all Plainfield. One of its combination imported men last year to play on its team and its representative this year was instrumental in keeping out amateur teams made up of Plainfield boys.

This state of affairs should be condemned by all fair minded followers of baseball. J. J. Slevin.

LEAGUE'S ATTITUDE.

Is Characterized as Selfish at Attempting to Limit the Interest.

To the Editor of The Daily Press:—It is my opinion and the opinion of many other baseball enthusiasts in this city that the action of the City League or "trust," as it might well be termed, in refusing admission of any more clubs to its organization in spite of the growth of Plainfield, the increased enthusiasm in baseball and the character of the applicants as being very selfish and instead of encouraging baseball an attempt to limit the interest.

Their excuse that they were obliged to admit all or none of the applicants shows plainly that they lacked the courage to decide upon the merits of the various applicants.

FOUND DEAD.

Herman Drost Fell Dead on Threshold of Joseph Miller's Home on Clinton Avenue.

The family of Joseph Miller, residing on Clinton avenue, opposite Sherman avenue, just over the city line, discovered the body of Herman Drost, a boarder, lying over the front door sill, shortly before 8 o'clock this morning. He had started to go to work when taken with a hemorrhage of the lungs and fell without attracting any attention. Dr. Oregar was called but he declared the man had been dead some time.

Drost was a German about forty years old and was employed at the Mackey green houses on Clinton avenue. The Millers knew very little about him. As the death occurred in Middlesex county the local authorities had nothing to do with the case.

BOARD OF AGRICULTURE.

Quarterly Meeeting of Somerset County Board at Somerville.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, March 25—The quarterly meeting of the Somerset County Board of Agriculure will be held in the Court House here Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock. An interesting programme has been prepared. The representatives to the annual meeting of the State Board of Agriculture and the State Horticultural Society will give reports of what they saw and learned at those gatherings.

The speech of the afternoon will be made by Prof. E. B. Voorhees on "The Preparation of Soil and Seed for Spring Seeding."

The committee will provide refreshments.

GUESTS AT WESTFIELD.

Members of Lenox Whist Club Entertained There Last Night.

The Lenox Whsit Club was entertained last evening by Miss Amy Hodges, of Westfield. Mrs. Campbell and Miss Louise Piker won the first and second prizes for the women, while William Moore and Mr. Campbell were awarded the prizes for the men. A social time followed during which refreshments were served. Mrs. Pillapaugh, of Westfield, will entertain the club Tuesday evening, April 7, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Campbell in Westfield.

Special Easter Choir.

The choir of Trinity Reformed church is being augmented by twelve additional voices for the Easter musical programme which is being prepared under the direction of Arthur Titsworth. With this addition to the regular choir, some very fine music may be expected at both the services Easter Sunday.

Unusual Offer.

Frank Hand, the blacksmith, of Somerset street, has been receiving a number of letters from the Morris Plains insane asylum from a man who signs himself W. M. Foster. He offers to give Hand two dollars for one and says that he has been in the asylum for eight years and needs some money to pay for his board.

A Victory to Be Proud Of

is the final and absolute cure of a sore throat, in which the rawness and tenderness have been spreading dangerously near those guardians of life, the lungs. The luxury of a sound throat and robust lungs is most keenly enjoyed by people who, having suffered all the consequences of "a little cold, you know," have been rescued from misery and danger by Allen's Lung Balsam.

CANAL BILL PASSED

New York Senate For Hundred Million Plan.

FOURTEEN REPUBLICANS OPPOSE IT

Democrats Instructed by Leader Murphy to Vote For Measure. Malby and Grady Have a Lively Tilt.

ALBANY, N. Y., March 25.—After an entire day's debate upon the subject the senate at 6:20 o'clock last night, by a vote of 32 ayes to 14 nays, passed the Davis-Bostwick thousand ton barge canal bill. All the negative votes were cast by Republicans, the Democrats lacking of a unanimous vote only that of Senator Frawley, paired with Senator Ambler, who was called home by illness.

There were fears early in the day that the bill would be defeated, but late in the afternoon Senator Grady received a special delivery letter from Leader C. F. Murphy of Tammany desiring the Democrats to vote for the bill. They did so solidly and saved the day for canal improvement.

A striking feature of the debate was the earnest contention of Minority Leader Grady that both parties were pledged to support the measure, while Senator Raines, Republican leader, squarely repudiated this claim, declaring that the Republican platform committed the party to canal improvement, but not to the $101,000,000 scheme nor to any scheme calling for direct taxation. Senators Malby and Allds also earnestly opposed the bill on similar grounds.

Senator Green, on the other hand, believed the party was pledged to support the measure and declared that his district (Broome) favored it.

Senators Malby and Grady had a lively tilt as to the relative importance of St. Lawrence county and the big cities, the former claiming that St. Lawrence county paid a larger proportionate share of itaxes than New York city, Mr. Grady characterizing St. Lawrence county as a wilderness peopled by game and fish and trees. He called Senator Malby's district a "dependent" district and declared that it would not even allow New York to better itself at its own expense.

Senator Malby introduced an amendment striking out the direct tax provision, but subsequently withdrew it.

Senator Lewis returned to the attack with an amendment changing the proposed route through Monroe county and calling for another million of dollars for the purpose. This was lost—yeas, 12; nays, 31.

Later he proposed a year's delay in submitting the question. This, too, was defeated—31 to 14—after which Senator Grady began his extended speech in favor of the bill and spoke for an hour.

He ridiculed the petition presented by Senator Lewis and said that not one of those mentioned had ever been indorsed by popular vote of the people.

"Isn't that unkind to Coler?" asked Senator Elon R. Brown.

"No," replied Mr. Grady. "Even though Coler must fall let the truth of history be preserved."

Senator Grady contended that the state called on both parties to redeem their pledges.

Senator E. R. Brown replied to Senator Grady, saying his speech was simply a diatribe and contained no argument. He said the Republican platform called for canal improvement to be paid for from indirect taxation. He said he was against saddling the state with this great burden when the financial sky showed warning portents.

Senators Raines and Allds opposed the bill, contending that the Republican platform did not call for support of this bill.

The Bostwick bill is a special order on second reading in the assembly today. It has been agreed that the Davis bill passed by the senate shall be substituted and placed on final passage. The prospect is that it will be passed by a safe majority.

Stockholders Favor Expansion.

PHILADELPHIA, March 25.—The stock vote on the proposition to increase the capital of the Pennsylvania Railroad company from $251,700,000 to $400,000,000 and to increase the bonded indebtedness of the company, taken yesterday, resulted in unanimous approval. The shares voted numbered 2,892,452, more than 70 per cent of the outstanding stock. The vote was the largest polled on any proposition in the history of the company. The voting legalized the action of the stockholders at the annual meeting March 10, when the increase in capital and bonded indebtedness was authorized.

General Miles In Auburn.

AUBURN, N. Y., March 25.—Lieutenant General Nelson A. Miles was the guest last night of the Auburn Business Men's association at its annual banquet. The general was received with the utmost enthusiasm when he arrived in the city. He was escorted to the hall from the home of Mayor Osborne by the Second Separate company state militia. His toast was "Our Country," and the subject was treated along the same lines as in his recent speech in Boston.

Nicaraguan Rebellion Slight Affair.

NEW YORK, March 25.—In reply to a direct cable inquiry to President Zelaya, at Managua, Nicaragua, asking for the facts regarding the reported revolution in Nicaragua, the following dispatch has just been received: "On March 19 a small uprising occurred in a part of the department of Chontales, east of Nicaragua. The government has surrounded the insurgents and will soon destroy them. The remainder of the country is completely tranquil."

An Editor's Views on Home Gardening

"DON'T you think our readers would like something about spring garden work and flower planting?" asked the contributor, biting a pencil.

"Yes," answered the editor, with some enthusiasm. "Some of my friends have already begun. They have a cold frame with flower and vegetable seeds planted in it. When these sprout and get large enough, they will be transplanted to the open ground and—go on and write. Tell ladies first to see that all the rubbish is cleared up from their grounds, especially in back yards. Some back yards I know of are a holy terror, with ashes, old shoes and bones and boards.

"Tell our ladies that if they have only the tiniest bit of ground, no bigger than a blanket, to have it covered with brilliant green grass. A grass plot in a very small yard looks better than a mingled up mass of flowers without the grass. In such case a rosebush or two may be set in a corner and other flowers, a few choice ones, be grown in pots. Large pots full of steadily blooming, perfectly cared for flowers dotted around the edge of the central grass plot will redeem the poorest, shabbiest little home from ugliness."

The editor warmed up to his theme. He leaned back and thought. "By the way," he began again, "here in this English magazine is a picture you may like. Suppose you have it copied to illustrate what I call decorated gateways. Wherever there are those old fashioned gate entrances to yards they can be made objects of artistic beauty. There are hardy running vines which drape everything with graceful masses of flower and foliage. One of the best of these is the perpetually blooming honeysuckle. A wooden arch or frame may be built up over the gate without trouble or expense. A woman can make it. Why, I could do it myself! Then plant beside each gate pillar an evergreen honeysuckle, or, say, a honeysuckle one side and a clematis the other, and let them twine in a true lovers' knot, like the rose and the brier in 'Villikens and Dinah.'"

"Anything else?" asked the contributor.

"It is a subject most interesting," continued the editor, "and I have my ideas about it, though I don't say much. Now, I for one, think village homes and country homes would be far handsomer with no fences at all around them. In New England are miles and miles of farms with scarcely a fence to be seen from the highway, and the effect is beautiful, giving a splendid expanse to the landscape. In villages, where lots and plots must be divided, it adds greatly to the sightliness of a street to have the line between them marked by a row of flowers or a very low hedge. Next door neighbor ladies do not have their differences any more, as they used to, I am told, since the advent of the new woman, so they can unite on the style of plant, flower or hedge that shall most attractively define the line between lots, and together they can keep that line beautiful. Different colored phloxes are among the most effective for borders, or where fences cannot be done away let them be covered with flowering vines. Morning glories are among the prettiest and most graceful, morning glories mixed with their exquisite shadings of red, white, purple and blue and striped. Then, too, the most unsightly old sheds and outbuildings can be completely hidden with ivy and others of nature's beautifiers. There is no artist like nature."

"Anything more?"

"Why, yes, now you ask me. I notice throughout the country generally women are interested in village improvement, in cleaning up and making sightly neglected alleys and bare, ugly streets and houses. The same spirit is as much needed in farm districts as in villages to keep down weeds along roadsides and to plant shade trees and tend them till they are grown. All this belongs to the subject of making home beautiful, for one's whole neighborhood is his home. Women's clubs ought to attend to these matters, I am sure. In some places already they have obtained from municipal authorities the right to turn vacant lots into summer gardens for school children."

"Really you know more than I do on the subject," said the contributor.

"Young woman," replied the editor, with dignity, "an editor needs to know everything." JANE STORY.

for a moment she gave him a full glance from her deep sympathetic eyes.

"I did not sleep a wink last night, Mr. Fanshaw. I was so angry with him that I could not close my eyes. I came near asking my father to send him away. From a man's standpoint I presume you have done all that can be done."

He sat down by her.

"I never let my temper get the best of me, Miss Hasbrooke, without feeling dissatisfied with myself. I refrained from striking him when I found he would not fight, but what I finally did was just as bad." He was looking at the buttons and shoulder-straps in his hands.

Evelyn laughed softly.

"He may not have any more buttons here in the country," she said, "and he may have to discard his favorite suit for awhile."

"I did it in a spasm of uncontrollable anger," was Ronald's defense.

"He deserved more than that slight humiliation," she smiled; "and yet you must not try to conquer the divine inclination you now have to pity him. It shows you are truly noble—noble!"

Ronald blushed to the roots of his hair.

"When he refused to fight me," he said, "I ought to have left him. I think I could if his reasons for not fighting had not been quite so exasperating."

"I am going to help you about the buttons and the shoulder-straps," answered Evelyn. "I have a maid who can hold her tongue. I am going to get her to borrow the captain's coat from his room, and I shall restore his plumage."

He smiled, a new light in his eyes.

"I really think I should like to have you do it, if you will," said he.

"He will wonder who did it," she laughed, "and I half hope he will suspect me of knowing something about it; he is tiresome in all things, but he has more to say about his courage than anything else."

Just then the plantation bell rang.

"Oh, you men are awful—awful!" she went on, grown suddenly serious. "If Capt. Winkle had been of a different type you would have been shooting at each other at this moment—" she checked herself; there was a tense look about her lips. "You would have been in great trouble (for no man can escape it who has killed another). Then he might have taken your life."

He understood, and his heart beat wildly.

"If he had been of a different type, he would not have treated me as he did, and I should not have been here this morning."

She gathered up her ferns and flowers and rose.

"That is quite true," she rejoined, with a look towards the house. "I must be going now; good-by."

She took the buttons and sleeve ornaments from him, and put them into her pocket, and then held out her hand. "Good-by," she said again.

When Evelyn reached the house and had entered the great hall she called to her maid, Marie, a mulatto girl, to take care of her ferns and flowers.

"Have you seen Capt. Winkle this morning?" Evelyn asked.

The maid laughed impulsively as she filled her hands with the damp green things.

"Yessum, I seed 'im, an' he acted mighty strange. I never seed a man act so quar in my life." Again Marie laughed.

"What do you mean, Marie?"

"Wellum," answered the maid, "I noticed 'im go out fur his walk to'ds de spring, an' I would er bet my life dat he had on his brass buttons an' de straps on his shoulder, kase I seed um shinin' in de sun; he was smokin' an' walkin' as chipper as er game rooster, but about fifteen minutes ago I seen 'im slinkin' up de servants' stairs on his tip-toes. I met 'im face to face, I did, an', young miss, as God is in Heaven, he didn't have a sign of a button on 'is coat, an' he'd cut off his shoulder straps, too, an' more dan dat, he looked as mean as a egg-suckin' dog."

Marie giggled again. She had, with the usual perspicacity of her race, divined that the officer was not in high favor with her mistress.

At this juncture Capt. Winkle, dressed from head to foot in snowy duck, came down the front staircase, and, bowing to Evelyn, he went out on the veranda. Without speaking again to Marie, Evelyn turned into her own room to take off her damp apron.

She decided that she would, later in the day, ask Marie to get the captain's coat.

CHAPTER V.

After supper that night the three gentlemen remained at the table after the ladies had left, to smoke and drink their wine. The windows of the big dining-hall opened like a door onto the veranda, and Capt. Winkle, faultlessly attired in Tuxedo coat, low waistcoat and snowy shirt and necktie, watched the three ladies furtively as they, arm in arm, promenaded back and forth in the light of the big kerosene lamp on a post where the carriages stopped. It was not the colonel's habit to dress for the evening meal, especially in the hot season, so he still wore his cool suit of brown linen, and, in this respect, Mr. Hardy was glad to keep him company.

as as and really come to the country for an easy, unceremonious outing. The colonel liked nothing better than good listeners, and, as he sipped his wine and smoked, his pink complexion fairly shone while he discoursed on a favorite topic of his—the beauty and many virtues of the only lady guest in his house, Mrs. Lancaster, a snowy-haired widow not far from the colonel's age.

"I am glad she came to-day," he said. "She is hard to get at; she travels so extensively, and I am sure we never would have her now if it were not for Evelyn; they love each other like mother and daughter. Why, I'll bet Mrs. Lancaster doesn't stay in her Charleston home one winter in five; does she, Hardy?"

"No, I think she likes Italy," said the gentleman appealed to. "I think I should have had the pleasure of meeting her before this if she were often at home, but she goes out very little in Charleston and has few intimate friends. I should say she was by all odds the most exclusive woman in the city."

"I am pretty sure," remarked the colonel, tentatively, "that she is very well to do—that is, I judge so by the life she leads; it is one of expensive luxury from beginning to end."

"I happen to know that she is decidedly rich," replied Hardy. "It seems that her husband, who was killed in the war, owned extensive lands in the south upon which phosphate beds have since been discovered."

"Her husband was not killed while actually in service," explained Hasbrooke, "and his death was a most tragic one." The colonel looked round the room and seeing James, the black butler, standing behind his chair, holding a napkin and corkscrew, he said:

"I shall ring when I want you, James."

When the negro had bowed himself from the room, Col. Hasbrooke continued. "Yes, Mrs. Lancaster's life has been a sad one; she has revealed the great grief of her life to very few, and then only to her most intimate friends. She had been married to Lancaster only about two years when the first shot from Fort Sumter set his blood on fire. He was one of the first in South Carolina to offer his services, and as he had had some military training and was highly educated he was made a captain of a company. He made a good record but was taken ill when his regiment was stationed at a little town in the mountains of East Tennessee and was ordered home on a furlough. As it was in the month of August, Mrs. Lancaster thought that the climate of Charleston would not be so good for him as that of Tennessee, so she telegraphed him to wait and she would join him. She met him with her only child, a baby in arms, and they started through the mountains to a retreat that had been recommended to them as a highly suitable resting place. But on that journey they met with the catastrophe which blighted her whole life. The mountains in that section, like the mountains here, were infested with bandits who lived upon plundering stragglers, no matter of what politics. And it was a gang of these reckless ruffians into which they ran. They were in a spring wagon driven by a negro, who had all along shown himself to be an arrant coward. The first notificaton of danger was the sudden appearance from the bushes of half a dozen armed men, who demanded that the party alight that the vehicle might be searched. Evidently Capt. Lancaster, who happened to be holding the child in his arms, thought that immediate obedience was best, so he got out, telling the men that he had in his pockets all the money and valuables the wagon contained. He was still holding the child on one arm and opening his pockets with another when the negro, seeing that the robbers were not noticing the wagon, whipped up the horses and drove away at full speed. Mrs. Lancaster tried to stop him, but he was wild with terror, and as the robbers were now firing after them, he ducked his head and applied the lash. The woman was helpless; the negro was strong and half insane. She argued with him and pleaded with him to stop and let her out, but he drove on like a madman.

Do You Wish To Borrow Money?

In order to accommodate all classes of borrowers (those who cannot borrow at a bank, as well as those who can), the Mutual Loan and Investment Company, of 118 Market street, Newark, N. J., has a department for handling quickly and confidentially loans ranging from $10 to $500 on furniture, pianos, storage receipts, etc.

The security is not removed from your possession or in any way disturbed. The honest, careful and conservative borrower will try and decide two points before borrowing. First, where he can get the best terms. Second, where he can get fair and square treatment.

This company is in a position to give you by far the most satisfactory terms ever offered by any concern or individual negotiating this class of loans.

With this company you are assured of getting the lowest rates, easiest payments and longest time for repayment. The whole transaction from the time the application is made until loan is paid is entirely confidential. We give you another advantage in case you take the loan out for six months or a year, and wish to settle the same before the time expires: we charge you only for the time you have had the money. We also take up loans from other companies and advance more money.

Kindly call and let us explain our simple and up-to-date methods. If not entirely convenient for you to call, please write and our representative will call and give you any desired information. Remember it costs nothing to make applications. Loans promptly made in Elizabeth, Plainfield, Westfield, Roselle, Rahway, Perth Amboy and all suburban towns.

ATTACK AT SURIGAO

Governor Taft Gives Particulars of Ladrone Outbreak.

ESCAPED CONVICTS CAUSED TROUBLE

Captain Clark the Only American Killed—Late Dispatches From Manila Report Relief of the Town.

WASHINGTON, March 25.—Secretary Root has received a cablegram from Governor Taft giving the following account of the attack at Surigao:

"Affair at Surigao turns out to be escape ten prisoners sentenced to long terms for ladronism, who, with sixty or eighty of their fellows, returned to Surigao, succeeded in surprising and rushing the constabulary barracks, obtaining constabulary arms and ammunition, killing Constabulary Inspector Lewis K. Clark, and thus taking command of the town.

"The Americans, including two women, retreated to the provincial building, where, under the direction of Luther S. Kelly, provincial treasurer, formerly captain of volunteers, and still earlier Indian scout, known as "Yellowstone" Kelly, barricaded the building against the attacking party. The Americans, armed only with a few shotguns and short of ammunition, maintained their defense against the ladrones, refusing to yield to an ultimatum demanding guns by the reply of Kelly that they would not give up a single gun and would kill on sight any ladrone within range.

"Assistant Chief Taylor arrived at Surigao with constabulary force about eighteen hours after the attack. On his approach ladrones disappeared, and columns are now following them.

"Surigao extreme northeast Mindanao. Is so far removed that I have concluded to call upon General Davis to put military in command, with hope that by a large force ladrones and their guns may be captured and they may be prosecuted for murder and ladronism.

"So far as advised Captain Clark only American killed. The cable from Surigao landed near provincial building in which Americans took refuge, and they were thus able to communicate with military commander at Iligan and with constabulary headquarters at Cebu. Two constabulary inspectors were absent from Surigao in Cebu, where they were passing their examinations for promotion.

"Surigao has been regarded as quiet province since capture and sentence of ladrones, but their escape led to the difficulty. If deemed necessary by military commander commission will suspend writ of habeas corpus for Surigao, but it is to be hoped that this measure can be avoided."

The war department also received the following cablegram from General Davis, dated Manila:

"Have sent 150 infantry troops from Iloilo and Iligan to Surigao, Mindanao, at request of civil governor to restore order there. Place attacked Sunday by about 100 natives. Two or three Americans killed."

Surigao Relieved.

MANILA, March 25.—The town of Surigao, in the northeastern part of the island of Mindanao, which was captured Sunday by ladrones, has been relieved. The American officials and foreigners were found to be safe. Eighty ladrones, led by ten escaped convicts, participated in the attack on Surigao. They had twenty rifles and forty bolos and succeeded in surprising and rushing the constabulary barracks and stampeding the constabulary. Inspector Clark was killed at the first rush.

Preaching Orders Turned Down.

PARIS, March 25.—The chamber of deputies, by a vote of 304 to 246, rejected all the applications for authorization made by the religious preaching orders. The entire session was devoted to a discussion of the government's bill which opposes the application of the preaching orders for authorization. Among these orders who are thus expelled from France is the English Passionist order, who conduct a church in the Avenue Hoche for English and American Catholics and in whose behalf British Ambassador Monson and United States Ambassador Porter recently interested themselves.

Boston Cotton Jobbers Alarmed.

BOSTON, March 25.—The prospective strikes in the Lowell cotton mills and in the yarn mills at New Bedford, Fall River and Taunton, together with the friction in several other manufacturing towns, are having an effect on the goods and yarn market here and elsewhere. The jobbers are more alarmed than any one else outside of Lowell. Those that have sold heavily and are experiencing great difficulty to procure the goods promised view the threatening situation as almost a calamity.

Miners' Initiation Fee Raised.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., March 25.—On and after April 1 mine employees who desire to join the United Mine Workers will have to pay $10 as an initiation fee instead of $2, the present fee. This rule has been adopted by the three anthracite districts of United Mine Workers and applies to every local in the region. It is expected that nearly every mine worker will be enrolled in the union before March 31.

Two Children Burned to Death.

ON THE DIAMOND.

The Whittier School nine would like to arrange games with strong teams from this vicinity. The schedule for the season is now being made up. Address, Roy Guinn, 716 Carlton avenue.

P. F. Stone, of East Front street, has made an offer to the League officials to present the winner of this season's pennant with a large frame containing the individual portraits of the team's members. It will be acted upon at one of the future meetings.

The local police force will again be represented on the diamond this summer. Last season's record was an excellent one and Chief Kiely's "colts" anticipate doing still better. Captain Townley's firemen's team will be given the preference in arranging games.

Baseball practice will be on the programme at the Y. M. C. A., this afternoon. The members of the boys' department of the association will play ball on the Mountain avenue grounds for the purpose of allowing the officials of the teams to ascertain the playing qualities of the various candidates.

"Warrie" MacLaughlin's work on the Quaker City team this year, will be watched with a great deal of interest. His rise to a position on one of the foremost teams in the country has been phenomenal and in case of his "making good" in a short time he will be able to command a princely salary. As it is now, he ranks with many pitchers who have been in the National League for years.

INDOOR SPORTS.

The scores made at the Y. M. C. A. notice contest at the Y. M. C. A. Saturday evening were very good. The contest was the rope climbing event and was bon by William E. Neal who made the ascent in seven seconds. Chauncey Koons made the second best score of 9 seconds while Ray Smith made it in 9 1-5 seconds. Other entries were R. Collins, R. Tice and M. Brokaw. A championship quarter mile walk was won by Chauncey Koons in 1 minute, 16 and 4-5 seconds with Tice a close second. The second event, the standing kick, was not run off as the time was limited but will be one of the events of the coming Saturday evening when the potato race will be run and the running high dive will be features.

STRIKES AND SPARES.

The final matches in the "ten pin" and "cocked hat" tournaments will be rolled off at the Park Club Thursday evening at 8:30 o'clock. In the "ten pin" match L. H. VanBuren and J. C. Peck will roll, while Wm. Townsend and F. H. Ball will roll in the "cocked hat" tournament.

GOLF.

F. O. Reinhart, of this city, has been chosen captain of the golf team selected from the class of '05 of Princeton University. The team will enter the tournament for the interclass trophy.

QUIET CEREMONY.

Marriage of Miss Julia Belknap and Chas. N. Gray, at Home of Bride This Noon.

The wedding of Miss Julia Belknap, daughter of Mrs. Theodore Belknap, of Somerset street, to Charles Norman Gray, of this city, son of William H. Gray, of Nashville, Tenn., took place this afternoon at 12:30 in the presence of a few friends and relatives. On account of the illness of the bride's mother, the wedding was celebrated in a quiet manner. The bridal couple was unattended.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. C. L. Goodrich, pastor of the Congregational church, of which church the bride is a member. The bride wore a gown of tan colored material with trimmings to match. After the wedding a supper was served in the front rooms of the house on Somerset street.

Mr. and Mrs. Gray left early this afternoon for an extended wedding trip and upon their return they will reside on East Ninth street.

CITY JOTTINGS.

—The entered apprentice degree was conferred on five candidates at a regular communication of Anchor Lodge, No. 149, F. and A. M., last evening.

—James R. Blair is making several very necessary improvements in his recently acquired home, 78 Duer street, such as piping it for gas, hot and cold water, installing a bath room and other conveniences.

MILK BUSINESS CHANGES.

Transfer of Routes and Other Notes About Milk Supply.

John Y. Barrett, the former milk dealer, has rented the Stine farm on Greenbrook road for a term of five years.

J. L. Darby has sold his milk route to W. S. Terry, of Terrill road.

E. P. Kellogg, who has conducted a milk route in Plainfield for the past twenty-eight years, has sold his business to Stanley Emmons.

C. O. Smith, the milk dealer, has opened a milk depot on Watchung avenue, opposite Fourth street.

E. P. Gavin, the milk dealer, will next Thursday complete his thirty-fifth year in that business. He is one of the oldest dealers.

Clothes Fell on Stove.

A dangerous fire was started at the home of J. Fred Wharton, of West Sixth street, last evening, through a kitchen clothes line breaking and throwing the clothes on a stove. They ignited and the flames spread to the woodwork and doors of the room. With the assistance of neighbors, Mr. Wharton put out the blaze but not before he was badly burned.

New Glass Windows.

Employes from a New York firm placed two new glass fronts in the American Tailors and Outfitters Store in the Weinburger building on West Front street, this morning. Those formerly in place were ruined by the intense heat from clusters of electric lights in the top of the display part.

King and Queen Prizes.

The winners of the king and queen prizes in the Independent Gun Club, which has just closed, will hold a dinner, this evening, at the Hotel Arlington, Somerset street. Many outsiders will be present and a most enjoyable time is anticipated.

Missionary Society Meeting.

The yearly meeting of the Missionary Society of Hope chapel will be held tomorrow afternoon. A large attendance is requested.

STATE PAPERS TELL OF HOUSE ARGUMENT

Variety of Accounts of Encounter Between Assemblymen of Union and Somerset.

OVER COLLECTOR BILL

EXCHANGE OF COMPLIMENTS IN DISCUSSION OF THE BILL.

Somerset's New Assemblyman is Making Quite a Reputation for Himself at Trenton—What the Papers Have to Say.

That encounter on the floor of the Assembly at Trenton, between Assemblyman Swackhamer, of Somerset, and Assemblyman Newcorn, of Union, when the latter's bill aiming to make the tax collector in Plainfield an appointive office was under discussion, served to furnish material for a number of articles by the Trenton correspondents for the State papers. Some of them were quite amusing and both Assemblymen came in for a share of the good-natured fun.

The Jersey City Journal says:

"Swackhamer, in the house last night introduced a laugh into the debate on Newcorn's bill to make the Plainfield City Collector appointive instead of elective. Newcorn had questioned Swackhamer's right to attack the bill when his county would not be affected, and in defending his right to an opinion on any bill affecting any part of the State, Swackhamer told a story about a man who went to a doctor to be examined for some ailment that baffled the home remedies. The doctor had given the trouble a name unfamiliar to the man and when he got home his family wanted to know what ailed him. They suggested gout, rheumatism, rickets and things they had heard of, but it was none of these. Finally some one suggested non compos mentis, and the man thought that must be it, so he said: 'Yes, that's it, and I've got it bad.' The application to Newcorn was so pointed that the House laughed and Newcorn got back by telling how the newspapers mentioned Swackhamer as 'Samuel Satisfied Swackhamer,' and said it was due to the 'obituary' he had written.

"Swackhamer said he supposed Newcorn meant biography, and admitted that he had been attacked in the newspapers, but he had never seen Newcorn mentioned. Newcorn by that time had evidently made up his mind that the long member from Somerset was a good one to let alone."

The Philadelphia Record says:

"Assemblyman Newcorn's bill, designed to place in the hands of the Mayor and Council of Plainfield the choice of a Tax Collector for a term of three years, next met with opposition. It appears that the Plainfield Collector is a Democrat, elected by popular vote, and Swackhamer (Democrat), of Somerset, opposed it strenuously. He said it was taking from the hands of the people something that of right belonged to them.

"Scovel, of Camden, also opposed the bill upon the same grounds, and because it would affect Camden, where the people elect the Receiver of Taxes.

"Newcorn wanted to know whether he or the man from Somerset represented the city of Plainfield. Swackhamer instantly got back at him with: 'I represent all the people of New Jersey and do not propose to see them fooled in this way.'"

The Trenton True American says:

"Assemblyman Swackhamer, the Democratic representative from Somerset, is fast making for himself a reputation as a lawmaker who it is best not to trifle with. In several verbal encounters on the floor of the house Mr. Swackhamer has administered a severe drubbing to his adversaries, his ready wit and wide knowledge having won for him the name of being a dangerous man to go up against.

"Yesterday morning Assemblyman Newcorn, the pompous little package from Union, had the temerity to lock horns with Mr. Swackhamer, and, as usual, came out of the affray badly gored.

"The fight was precipitated by Mr. Newcorn's bill providing that the collector of taxes of Plainfield shall be appointed by the mayor instead of elected. Mr. Scovel, of Camden, came to the support of Mr. Swackhamer in opposing the bill, on the ground that the proposed innovation was dangerous and would invade the rights of the people.

"Mr. Newcorn spoke for the measure and incidentally intimated that Mr. Swackhamer did not know what he was talking about. The latter retorted with a few stories that put the laugh on Mr. Newcorn and made him wish he had never attempted the ventilation of his wit. The bill went the way of nearly all the measures of Mr. Newcorn, and was defeated by a vote of 10 to 31."

In connection with these it might be well to note that Mr. Newcorn has received high commendation from many Plainfielders for the way he has labored at Trenton in the interests of this city. During the two years he has been a member, he has won for himself a prominent place in the lower house and is concededly a man of influence there.

Last year, he was very prominent in getting the annexation and consolidation acts through the lower house and it may be that his connection with these measures has not been forgotten by the legislative correspondents.

Horse Wandered Away.

The leader of one of the tribes of gypsies, now in camp at Avon Park, reported to Chief Kiely this morning that a horse, he had bought yesterday, had broken its halter last night and ran away. None of the night patrolmen turned in a report that would throw any light on the animal's whereabouts.

Sermon at St. Joseph's.

Rev. Father McKenna, of New York, a Dominican preacher, will give a special sermon in St. Joseph's church, this evening, to the member of the Holy Name Society. At its conclusion there will be an enrollment for new additions to the organization.

The Stomach Is the Man.

A weak stomach weakens the man, because it cannot transform the food he eats into nourishment. Health and strength cannot be restored to any sick man or weak woman without first restoring health and strength to the stomach. A weak stomach cannot digest enough food to feed the tissues and revive the tired and run down limbs and organs of the body. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure cleanses, purifies, sweetens and strengthens the glands and membranes of the stomach, and cures indigestion, dyspepsia and all stomach troubles. L. W. Randolph

WENT TO THEATRE.

Concluding Meeting of Duplicate Whist Club Was Theatre Party.

The Duplicate Whist Club, of the borough, concluded the meetings for the season yesterday with a trip to New York. The club went to the Hotel Vendome for dinner, after which the performance of "The Sultan of Sulu," was witnessed at Wallack's. The whole affair was a pleasant one and an appropriate termination to a most successful season. The club has given no prizes at its regular meetings, saving that money for yesterday's trip. Those who comprised the party yesterday were Miss Elizabeth Smalley, Miss Ernestine C. Smith, Miss Hart, Miss Lillian A. Force, Miss Weller, Miss Todd, Miss Edna French and Harry Smalley, H. H. Coward, John G. McLaughlin, Percy Dayton, George Dunbar, Mr. Campbell, George E. Fisher.

Was Very Penitent.

Patrolman William Messler, a recent addition to the local force, made his maiden complaint as officer in the city court, this morning. He preferred a charge of drunkenness and disorderly conduct against Charles Callahan, who he arrested last night. The prisoner was very humble and as he had a perceptible case of "shakes" he was released with a suspended sentence.

ANNIVERSARY MEETING.

Given by Ladies' Aid Society of Hope Chapel Yesterday.

The Ladies' Aid Society, of Hope chapel, held an anniversary meeting, yesterday, in honor of the beginning of the new year. The afternoon was spent in an enjoyable way. Those in charge were the old officers: Mrs. Sweeney, Mrs. Hendry, Mrs. Grey and Mrs. Howard. The new officers are: President, Mrs. Hangliter; vice president, Mrs. F. A. Weber; secretary, Miss Anna Thain; treasurer, Mrs. L. R. Howard.

Mrs. G. Herbert Taylor, of West Seventh street, who has been quite ill, is very much improved.

MAN WHO HAS MADE JERSEY CENTRAL RAILROAD POPULAR

While many Plainfielders know that General Manager and Vice President W. G. Besler, of the New Jersey Central, lives in North Plainfield, there are only a few who know this well-known railroad man, even by sight.

W. G. Besler.

He is a very busy man and he spends but little time at his well-appointed and comfortable home in the borough. For the purpose of allowing The Daily Press readers to see Mr. Besler, a most excellent picture is published today through the courtesy of The Railroad Employee, that able paper which is so well managed by B. E. Chapin, of Newark.

Mr. Besler became better acquainted with Plainfielders during the time of the Westfield wreck on the New Jersey Central, because he took direct charge of affairs and with skill and ability brought complete order out of chaos. Mr. Besler is a good citizen and neighbor and notwithstanding that he has only lived in North Plainfield a short time he has the interest of the borough at heart and is pleased with its progress.

Accompanying the picture of Mr. Besler is the following well-written article from The Railroad Employee, which will be read with considerable interest by all:

"The qualifications of the individual who achieves success in this day and generation form an interesting absorbing study to those who watch with interest the swiftly moving current of events, and it is plainly apparent that if one man achieves marked success above his fellows that this man must of necessity possess the qualifications, knowledge, tact and diplomacy which go to make his services of superior value to himself if he is a merchant or manufacturer or to a corporation if his duties fall in that direction.

"Any one who can by his individual exertions rise in the railroad service from clerk to be vice president and general manager of a great railroad system in fifteen years is a remarkable person, and such a man is W. G. Besler, vice president and general manager of the Central Railroad of New Jersey.

"Mr. Besler comes from a family of railroaders. His father, J. D. Besler, is a railroad official of wide experience and from 1885 until quite recently, when he was advanced to a higher position in the service of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy, was general superintendent of that road with headquarters in Chicago.

"The present head of the New Jersey Central was born in Galesburg, Ill., March 30, 1864, where he attended the public schools and college in that city. He afterwards took a course in the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, in the class of 1888, after which he served in various capacities, including clerk, yardmaster, trainmaster and division superintendent [of the C., B. & Q., until 1898, when he accepted service with the Reading as division superintendent of the main line. A year later he was advanced to the general superintendency of the system and in the following year, when the control of the New Jersey Central passed into the hands of the Reading, he was made general manager of that system and early in the current year was advanced to his present position.

"Of the numerous requirements which enter into the make-up of an entirely successful railroad official, The Employee has always contended that one of essential importance is his ability to so shape the policy of the corporation as to create good feeling and harmony of relation between the working force and the corporation, and in this respect Mr. Besler has proven himself one of the strongest and ablest managers in the American railroad service.

"It is a well-known fact that when Mr. Besler took charge of the affairs of the New Jersey Central, the service of that corporation was in a chaotic state, the men in all departments were demoralized and disheartened, and it required a manager of more than ordinary ability to bring about that harmony of relationship through sensible discipline which alone insures the safe, satisfactory and the consequent profitable operation of a great corporation. All of this Mr. Besler has accomplished. He has surrounded himself with advisers who, like himself, are practical and sensible railroad men, not dreamers and theorists, with the result that on no other line in America does there exist a more perfect harmony of relation between the rank and file of the service and the management than on the New Jersey Central.

"Another distinguishing characteristic of Mr. Besler is his knowledge and thorough mastery of detail. In the line of his duties nothing is too unimportant to claim his attention. He applies 'horse sense' in his dealings with his subordinates, not 'red tape' and theory.

"Mr. Besler is in short a thoroughly practical railroad man who understands every detail of his profession, and whose future progress in the railroad world will be watched with interest by those who are interested in and who understand present conditions in the railroad world."

HOTEL AT SPRING.

Watchung Spring Water Company Is Preparing to Start Work on It Very Soon.

Plans are quietly being completed by the officials of the Watchung Spring Water Company to commence actual work on the hotel it contemplates erecting on Mountain avenue in the vicinity of its springs. An architect is preparing specifications and Monday a contractor inspected the Mair residence on the ground, with a view to devising the best method of razing it.

In its office on North avenue, the company now has a water coloring of the hostelry as planned and it shows a remarkably fine building. It is to have accommodations for several hundred guests. If matters can be arranged, ground will be broken about the latter part of spring.

BASEBALL AT WESTFIELD

A GREAT TEAM HAS BEEN GATHERED TOGETHER FOR THIS SEASON.

Jimmy Montross in the Box—Season Opens May 2—Other Games Booked for May.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Westfield, March 26—As in past years Westfield proposes this season to be an important factor in Union county baseball. While it is generally conceded that the team which represented the town last year was about the limit in fielding there was a noticeable hitting weakness which the management have fully considered in this year's make up. With enclosed grounds and ample seating capacity Recreation Park will come near being the ideal ball ground.

After a thorough overhauling of available talent the following team has been engaged: Jack Burke and Tom Cary, catchers; Delscher, Montross and Hartman, pitchers; Mulhaul, first base; Courtenay, second; Barry, third; Harry Jones, short; Goldberger, left field; Cary and Montross, center; and the reliable, hustling George Mallen, right and captain. Westfield put Jimmy Montross on the pedestal of fame and proposes to push him along. He will be given every chance to make good and will have the benefit of hearty support by as fast a backing as there is outside of the leagues.

The opening will be May 2 against the Seventh Regiment, National Guard, State of New York, other May games are, 9, Aeolians; 16, Madison; 23, Milburn-Springfield Consolidated. Decoration Day morning is reserved for the Plainfield team with which satisfactory arrangements can be made. Scotch Plains had chances good and plenty last year to try the rub and Decoration Day afternoon is reserved for them. Manager Johnston is quoted as saying, "Keep that date open and if we are strong enough by that time we will play you."

PASSAIC FIGHT.

Looks As If Pollution Bill Will Soon Become a Law Despite Vigorous Opposition.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Trenton, March 26—It seems likely that the Passaic pollution bill will soon become a law despite the vigorous fight being made against it. It was the most important measure before the Senate yesterday. An attempt to attach a referendum clause to it was defeated.

The Hudson county excise bill came near making an open breach in the Republican ranks. It came up at a caucus but Assemblyman Boyd, the majority leader, refused to see it made a party measure. The railroad codification bill occupied much of the attention of the House. Other minor affairs were considered.

The Plainfield city collector bill, providing for the election of that official by the Common Council, was favorably reported to the Senate this morning.

From Police to Farm.

Marshal Frank Winn, of the borough, has purchased a farm in the mountains, back of the borough, and will soon resign his position on the police force to take up farming. His successor will be Peter Blaich. Mr. Blaich now conducts a bakery route, but John Wirth, the West Front street baker, has bought his interests and will conduct the business.

Lecture on Birds.

Under the auspices of the New Jersey Audubon Society, an illustrated lecture on birds will be given in the Crescent Avenue church chapel, Friday afternoon, beginning at 4 o'clock. The lecturer will be Frank M. Chapman who is thoroughly familiar with the subject.

REASONS FOR SINGLE SESSION IN SCHOOLS

As Prepared by Supervising Principal Wightman, of the Borough Public Schools.

GIVEN TO SCHOOL BOARD

HE BELIEVES THAT THE ONE SESSION PLAN IS MUCH PREFERABLE.

That Statement Brought Out by Objection at Annual School Meeting—Comparison Made of the One and Two Session Plans.

Supervising Principal H. J. Wightman, of the North Plainfield High School, prepared a short communication which was handed to the members of the Borough Board of Education at the meeting, Monday night, in which he sets forth reasons why the one session a day plan is better than the two session plan. The one session plan had been objected to at the annual school meeting on the ground that the children are better off in school than on the streets. Under the two session plan the school hours are from 9 in the morning, to 12 noon and from 1:30 to 3 o'clock. The hour and a half intermission is utilized in going home, getting lunch and returning. In this plan all school studies must be done after school hours in the afternoon. One reason why the one session plan is favored is because it is considered necessary for growing boys and girls to have at least two hours for exercise in the day. It is argued that it is not wise to break this up into small periods of time. Pupils in the grammar and High School grades have an average of two hours a day study at home if they would be successful in their work. It is claimed that, with the two session plan in use, the student is obliged to do his study at night.

Under the one session plan the hours of the school are from 8:20 to 1 o'clock in the afternoon, with a ten minute intermission for a sandwich lunch. This plan gives exactly the same time in the school as the other plan and also allows the pupil to be out of doors between the hours of 2 and 4 o'clock, besides having his lunch without the necessity of rushing back to school.

Mr. Wightman in his article puts forth many other reasons why it is far better to have the one session plan in vogue. He says that the one session scheme is conducive to better results in the moral, physical and intellectual sense than the other plan.

This important matter is to be considered by a committee on complaints and after due consideration will be reported back to the board.

EXPENSIVE FUN.

Claimed That Boys Released Cars on Grade and Let Them Coast Down Hill.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, March 26—A number of boys for several Sundays past have been amusing themselves at the expense of the New Jersey Central Railroad. It is alleged that they uncoupled cars on the siding at Hamilton street and let them run down the grade to the bunker near the gas house, which they crashed into and were either badly damaged or derailed. Monday Detective Totten arrested Bert. Rogers, Geo. Condit and Henry Conner and yesterday he nabbed James Little, Eugene Titus, John Langdon and Elmer Brogley, all of whom are charged with the offense.

Justice Sutphen held the bunch in $100 bail each. All excepting Rogers gave bail.

Settling Clubhouse.

A meeting of the building and grounds committee of the Alis Club was held last evening at the home of Dr. A. H. Dundon, when various matters of importance were brought up for discussion. The meeting adjourned until Saturday evening when a report will, no doubt, be prepared for the next regular meeting of the club.

Basket Social.

A basket social will be held at the Swedish Pilgrim church Saturday evening. An interesting programme has been prepared by the committee in charge and a most enjoyable time will be spent by all who attend. Music will be rendered by some students of Upsala College.

Clam-Chowder Supper.

After the transaction of business Tuesday evening the members of Winfield Scott Post, No. 73, G. A. R., enjoyed a clam chowder supper.

COOPERS COMING.

Famous Gypsy Family Expected to Soon Join Throng Now Encamped at Avon Park.

Constantly arriving bands have greatly increased the number of gypsies at Avon Park and it is now declared the nomads are to hold a convention at this place. Those already in camp look forward with great expectancy to the coming of the Cooper family, which is recognized as the foremost among the gypsies in the east. They are now in the vicinity of Norristown, Pa., and are working toward Plainfield, and it is said, they will assume charge of the session.

The men in the camp have been working in this section, selling and trading horses. They are experts at driving a bargain and have already disposed of many animals at good prices.

KING AND QUEEN BANQUET

THE EVENT OF THE SEASON FOR THE INDEPENDENT GUN CLUB.

Dinner to Club by Man and Woman Champions—A Very Pleasant Evening Spent.

The annual dinner of the King and Queen, of the Independent Gun Club, was held last evening at the Hotel Arlington on Somerset street. There were twenty-five couples present, all of whom were members of the Independent Gun Club.

The King and Queen are the winners of the men and women's shooting contests which are held during the year. The King this year was Charles Jensen, the proprietor of the Arlington Hotel, and Mrs. Adolph Barrie was the Queen. It is the custom for the King and Queen to give a banquet to the rest of the members of the club at the end of the shooting season and last evening the event was held.

The evening was spent in playing games and listening to music. Piano selections were rendered by James Corse and phonographic renditions were given by Charles Jensen. Erasmus Jensen favored with accordian selections and Prof. Marcus Oberheimer, of Newark, provided violin music during the evening.

The rooms in which the reception was held was tastefully decorated with flags and bunting which gave to the parlors a patriotic effect. The menu was an elaborate one and during the evening many of the members made speeches, Charles Jensen acting as toast master.

Dancing was enjoyed until a late hour, the music for which was rendered by James Corse and Prof. Marcus Oberheimer, of Newark.

WATER POWER AGAIN.

Will Operate the Machinery in the City Mills in Place of Steam.

The work of relaying the sidewalk and putting a new flooring on the large truck scales in front of the City mill on Somerset street was started this morning. The sidewalk, which is now in a bad condition, will be relaid with flagging. Men have been engaged for several days in cleaning out the raceway in the rear of the mill up as far as Tier's pond. This raceway will be used to operate the machinery in the mill in place of steam.

Carpet Department Changed.

Woodhull & Martin's carpet department has been transferred from the corner store of the building to the rear of the firm's store. The corner store will now be changed so that the letter-carriers and the mail messenger will have a new entrance to the rear of the postoffice. The public will enter the postoffice just the same as ever.

To Give Oratorio.

The choir of the First Baptist church will render Stainer's oratorio, "The Story of Mary Magdalene," at the church Thursday evening, April 9, under the direction of Howard Case, organist. The choir will be assisted by a number of well-known voices.

First Baptist Endeavor Meeting.

The Christian Endeavor Society of the First Baptist church will meet Friday evening at 8 o'clock. The topic will be "Christ's Lessons about Judging Others." N. Douglass Drake will be the leader. A full attendance is desired.

Westfield Badly Beaten.

The basket ball team of the City High School defeated the team from the Westfield High School, yesterday afternoon, by a score of 38 to 5. The game was played in the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium.

—Neuman Brothers are making a specialty this week of strawberries and fresh pineapples; wholesome, delicious, low priced.

TOLD OF EXPERIENCE IN PROBATION WORK

Miss Elliot Addressed Friendly Visitors of the Organized Aid Association.

YESTERDAY AFTERNOON

MISS ELLIOT IS NOW WORKING IN THE NEW YORK POLICE COURTS.

Her Successful Efforts in Behalf of Young Girls—Her Other Duties—Plainfielders Particularly Interested in the Good Work.

A largely attended and helpful conference of the friendly visitors of the Organized Aid Association was held yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. Kirtland Myers, of East Seventh street, when for over an hour, Miss Ada Elliot, the probation officer for the Charity Organization Society of New York, told of her practical experience in probation work in that city and related the successes attending her efforts.

Miss Elliot has for her special field the police court and the Court of Special Sessions, and she has taken the place of the late Mrs. Foster, who was known for so many years as the "Tombs Angel." Her work is especially among girls, who are not really depraved, but who have been arraigned for first offences. The success of her work among girls can be learned from the fact that out of thirty girls cared for only one was rearrested. In the police court work Miss Elliot also has interested herself in non-supporting husbands and through the co-operation of the commissioner of charity the families of these husbands receive direct the necessary money for their support. The husbands give a bond to the commissioner and this assures these payments.

This work, although only two years old, has met with great success and this depends very much on the character of the probation officer. The officer must be truthful, honest and of unquestioned integrity. It is because Miss Elliot possesses these qualifications that she has been so successful. After her talk yesterday there followed an informal discussion of the subject which brought out many interesting facts.

This subject is of especial interest to Plainfielders, because the county now has a probation officer and the success of the work is being closely watched.

MORSE FOR MAYOR.

Garwood Citizens Want Him to Head the Ticket at First Borough Election.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Garwood, March 26—Now that the new borough of Garwood has asked the county board of elections to arrange a special election to elect officers for the borough, the residents of this place are preparing a ticket. A meeting of sixty voters was held last evening when the subject of a mayoralty candidate was discussed. It was the unanimous opinion that Frank W. Morse, superintendent of the Garwood Land Improvement Company and practically the father of Garwood, should be the candidate.

A committee of nine was appointed to arrange a ticket headed by Mr. Morse which will be submitted to the voters of the borough in a few days for ratification.

It is possible that some of the south side interests may have another ticket on the field.

IN BANANA BUSINESS.

Nicholas Martone is Building a Ripening Room.

Nicholas Martone is making some extensive imporvements to his place of business on Somerset street. He is about to go into the wholesale banana business and carpenters are at work in erecting a large ripening room in the rear of the building. The room will be used for the purpose of ripening green bananas and will have a capacity of nearly a thousand bunches of the fruit.

Steam Roller Busy.

The city steam roller has been employed in the West End of the city recently rolling down streets that are not macadamized. This is in line with the preliminary spring work.

Fifty Gathered.

The Misses DeCamp, of West Front street, entertained a company of fifty friends at their home Monday evening. Games, music and dancing were the features.

METHODISTS MEET AT NEWARK NEXT WEEK

Newark Annual Conference Will Convene There Wednesday, April 1.

PROGRAMME GIVEN OUT

WILL CONTINUE EVERY DAY UNTIL MONDAY, APRIL 6.

Speakers at the Various Sessions—Several Methodist Organizations Will Hold Meetings—A Number of Plainfielders Are to Speak.

The forty-sixth session of the Newark Annual Conference will open in the Halsey Street M. E. church, Newark, Wednesday, April 1, and will continue every day until Monday morning, April 6. Rev. Bishop Henry W. Warren, D. D., LL. D., will preside. The programme is of unusual interest to those identified with Methodism. It is not expected that there will be many changes the coming year among the pastors, as in a majority of cases the pastors have been invited to return to their charges for another year. In fact, this now seems to be the rule instead of the exception as in years past.

The conference will open April 1 at 9 o'clock in the morning. After the opening exercises there will be a memorial service. In the afternoon of that day there will be the anniversary of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society, with speakers from the foreign field. In the evening the anniversary of the Centenary Fund and Preachers' Aid Society will be held and prominent speakers will be present, including Rev. Dr. P. S. Henson, of the Hanson Place Baptist church, Brooklyn. At the same time there will be an anniversary meeting of the Freedmen's Aid and Southern Education Society at St. Paul's Methodist church.

Thursday afternoon the anniversary of the Woman's Home Missionary Society will be observed to be followed by the consecration of deaconesses. In the evening three separate services will be held. One, the anniversary of the Educational Society at the Halsey Street M. E. church. The second the anniversary of the Total Abstinence and Prohibition Society at the Central M. E. church and the third, the anniversary of the Sunday-school Union and Tract Society, at the Eighth Avenue M. E. church. At each one of these meetings there will be addresses by prominent divines. Friday morning, as well as the preceding mornings, will be devoted to business. In the evening two services will be held. One at the Halsey Street church, where the anniversary of the Church Extension Society will be observed and the other at the Franklin Street M. E. church, where the anniversary of the Conference Epworth League will be held. Much business has been planned for Friday afternoon commencing at 2:45 o'clock with the appointment of committees on credentials, nominations, resolutions and auditing. Then will follow addresses by E. T. Lovatt, of Spring Valley, N. Y., Archer Brown, of East Orange, the president's address, concluding with "Quiet Moments."

The regular session in the evening will include reports of committees, election of officers and introductions and several addresses.

There will be a short business session Saturday morning, but on Sunday services will be held all day, commencing at 9 o'clock in the morning with a conference love feast, ordination of deacons and followed with a sermon by Bishop Warren. In the afternoon there will be the ordination of elders, followed by a missionary service, while the evening will be devoted to the observance of the anniversary of the missionary society. At this service Rev. Dr. H. K. Carroll, of North Plainfield, will make an address.

The conference will close some time during Monday morning after the conclusion of what business in left. In connection with the conference the Laymen's Association will hold its annual meeting in St. Paul's church, Newark, Friday evening. At present it looks as though the conference will be one of the best ever held and great good is expected as a result.

Full Degree Team.

Dr. J. Hervey Buchanan, of Columbia Lodge, A. O. U. M., has been appointed chairman of a committee to arrange for a full degree team. The idea is to do the initiatory work similar to that done by the team from Camden.

SOME OF ATTRACTIONS TO BE FOUND AT LOCAL STORES.

A Few Interesting Items Concerning Greater Plainfield's Merchants

Wm. Lindsay & Son, of Mountain avenue, handle only certified milk under a permit issued by the Board of Health. The firm guarantees all milk sold by them to be pure.

Fowler's candy kitchen on East Front street continues to be the mecca for lovers of pure confections. They are to be had at this store fresh every day. The best of chocolates and bon bons.

Bears Brothers, of West Front street, are carrying a select line of suitings, cloaks, etc., for women and children. The goods are all of the first quality, strictly fashionable and reasonable as to price.

Charles Conover & Company, painters and decorators, are making good progress in the work at the new home of Robert McCutchen on Plainfield avenue. The firm recently completed a handsome job on one of W. J. Buttfield's houses in North Plainfield.

The New York Painting and Decorating Company is showing a fine assortment of the latest patterns in wall papers and the firm will be pleased to show them to you and give you an estimate on papering and painting. All work is guaranteed.

Great inroads are being made on Powlison & Jones' spring stock of furniture by eager buyers who know good bargains when they see them. More lots are coming in, however, and the opportunity still remains. Don't delay purchasing before warm weather comes.

Some new additions have been made this week to the line of spring suits at Harry Werner's West Front street clothing house. Special attention is called to the fact that Werner handles the "Kirschbaum" hand made suits. They wear better, look better and cost less than the price for an inferior grade.

Why need one go to New York to have a gown made when right here in this city is a tailoring shop which keeps abreast of the leading styles and is capable of making over dresses to look like new. S. Hirsch, of 430 Watchung avenue, has made this a study and is prepared to please the most fastidious.

Where in this city can one find a more general assortment of home made delicacies than at R. W. Barnes, on Park avenue. This week he has some home made crullers, just like mother used to make, potato salad, apple and peach butter, potato chips, fresh eggs and fancy Elgin creamery butter.

A Free Stage School.

Klaw & Erlanger's free stage school, which has opened at the Knickerbocker Theatre in New York, has attracted wide attention. Many applications for admission have already been made. In this school music, dancing and stage business will be taught young women and men free of charge of any character. Ensemble or chorus work has become a very important part of the great spectacular and musical productions made by this firm and the object of their school is to increase the efficiency of those engaged in this branch of stage endeavor by unusually careful preparatory training.

Avoid all drying inhalants and use that which cleanses and heals the membrane. Ely's Cream Balm is such a remedy and cures Catarrh easily and pleasantly. Cold in the head vanishes quickly. Price 50 cents at druggists or by mail.

Catarrh caused difficulty in speaking and to a great extent loss of hearing. By the use of Ely's Cream Balm dropping of mucus has ceased, voice and hearing have greatly improved.—J. W. Davidson, Att'y at Law, Monmouth, Ill.

THEATRICAL.

Miss Mabelle Gilman who tripped gracefully into public favor as a comic opera star at the Bijou Theatre, New York City, last November, possesses the vivaciousness of Anna Held, the daintiness of Lulu Glaser, and the sprightliness of Irene Bentley. This happy combination of attractive qualities, added to the fact that she sings and acts well, and has an uncommonly sympathetic voice and manner, insures for this young actress success and popularity when she appears at the Grand Opera House next week. Miss Gilman will play her first and only mid-week matinee of the season at the Grand on Wednesday.

The success of Miss Marie Cahill in the new musical comedy, "Nancy Brown," at the Bijou Theatre, has been one of the most pronounced of the New York season, the audiences, since the opening on February 16, being to the capacity of the theatre. Miss Cahill will remain at the Bijou until the warm weather makes it necessary to close the doors. Her manager, Daniel V. Arthur, received several offers to take the entire "Nancy Brown" production to other cities for a summer run, but he decided it would be wiser to allow his new star to rest in preparation for her next season's work.

Annual Meeting.

On Wednesday evening, April 8, the annual meeting of the First Presbyterian church will be held, when reports for the year will be presented and officers will be elected.

LAST YEAR'S PROFITS TO STOCKHOLDERS.

40% Dividends Paid by One Stock. Another in 13 Months Paid 27%

We want wide-awake agents in every town in the state. Insurance men and others are making $100 a week as a side line.

We sell railroad stocks, city and municipal bonds, and other conservative forms of investment paying from 4 to 6% annually. Also high-grade industrial stocks, a trifle speculative, paying much larger rates of interest. We will be pleased to send you our beautifully illustrated book for investors.

We have been established twelve years and have offices in all the principal cities of the United States and Canada.

We buy insurance policies, and those having insurance on the 10, 15, or 20 year plan, who desire their money before policies mature, will be able to make money by writing us for figures.

We have only a limited amount of the 40% dividend stock. We do not guarantee delivery at present prices after April 15th. Of the 27% stock we also have a small block. Both are solid industrial enterprises.

BALL PLAYERS IN TRAINING.

League Teams In Southern Climes For Practice.

NEW YORK, March 26.—All the baseball clubs of the American and National leagues are now getting their spring training in southern climes in preparation for the opening of the regular playing season. The Brooklyn National league club, which was the last one to go, begins practice today at Beaumont, S. C. The majority of the other clubs have been training for more than a week.

The owners of the clubs make no effort to have the spring training trips pay expenses, and the training grounds of the different clubs are more varied this year than ever before.

The New York Nationals are working at Savannah, Ga., while the New York Americans are loosening up joints and kinks at Atlanta, in the same state. The rivalry between the two teams representing New York this year promises to be intense. The Nationals, although weak last year, have been strengthened by the addition of a number of young players who are more than making good. The New York Americans on paper have one of the strongest teams in the country.

The Pittsburg Pirates, winners of the National league pennant for the past two seasons, are doing their spring training at Hot Springs, Ark.

Philadelphia is equipped with two teams for the coming season. The Americans have located at Jacksonville, Fla., and the National leaguers are getting into shape at Richmond, Va. The Philadelphia National leaguers appear to be at the present time about the weakest proposition in the league.

The Boston National league club, under the guidance of Manager Buckenberger, is at Thomasville, Ga. The Boston Americans are at Macon, Ga., working under the direction of Jimmy Collins.

Racing at Bennings.

WASHINGTON, March 26.—Two favorites and two heavily played second choices won at the third day's racing at the Bennings spring meeting. Bright sunshine and a fairly good card attracted a big crowd. A brisk wind had dried out the track materially. While the track was heavy the going was a great improvement over the first two days of the meeting. In the first race Illyria, the Daly entry, won handily by two lengths, but on a protest by Ahola's jockey, Henderson, Illyria was disqualified for bearing in on Ahola on the last turn, and the race was given to Ahola. The biggest upset of the day came in the fifth race. Lowly, the 7 to 10 favorite, with Redfern up, got away badly and did not figure in the race, which was won by Goldsby, backed down from 10 to 6. Dark Planet won the sixth race under a heavy pull, although he was last until the stretch was reached.

Close Finish at Little Rock.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., March 26.—The closest finish of the day came in the fifth race at Clinton park. Ed L., Reducer, Claud Walton and Aimless finished so close together that only the judges could separate them. They placed Ed L., the favorite, first and Claud Walton second. The best class of the day was engaged in the fourth race, which went to Kenova, who was well played. The time, 1:43, is very fast for the track.

Only Two Favorites Won.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 26.—The bookmakers again profited at Oakland yesterday, only two favorites winning. Golden Light won the mile race by a narrow margin, but was disqualified for fouling and was placed second. Fossil was awarded first money. The mile and a sixteenth handicap resulted in an upset. Flush of Gold, a 7 to 1 shot, won from Grail, while Horton, the favorite, was third.

Hudson River Baseball League.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., March 26.—Representatives of Poughkeepsie, Newburg, Hudson, Kingston and Peekskill met here and arranged preliminaries for the formation of a Hudson River Baseball league. Another meeting will be held next Wednesday to perfect organization and elect officers.

Chicago Bench Show.

CHICAGO, March 26.—The third annual bench show of the Chicago Kennel club opened with 600 blooded animals on exhibition. An accident in transportation prevented the installation of the benches until late in the day, and the judges were unable to commence work until night.

Princeton Crack Shots Beaten.

PRINCETON, N. J., March 26.—The Delancey school gun team of Philadelphia defeated the Princeton team here by the score of 131 to 126. The score was a tie at the end of the shoot, each member having shot at thirty birds, and to decide the match each member shot at five extra birds.

Stratton Will Case Up.

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., March 26.—The hearing of the famous Stratton will case, in which I. Harry Stratton, only son and heir of W. S. Stratton, is suing for his father's estate, valued at $15,000,000, which was left by the latter to Colorado Springs for a memorial home for indigent poor, has begun in the district court here.

FAVOR HIGH LICENSE

New York Senators Pass New Raines Bill.

RAISES FEES IN STATE 50 PER CENT

Led by Senator Grady, Democrats Solidly Oppose Measure, While the Republicans Unitedly Vote For It.

ALBANY, N. Y., March 26.—By a strictly party vote after nearly seven hours of parliamentary struggle and active filibustering on the part of the Democratic minority led by Senator Grady and twelve calls of the senate the bill introduced by Senator Raines increasing the liquor license fees by 50 per cent was passed at 7:10 last night.

Senator Hill of Buffalo (Rep.), whose attitude on the subject was for a time regarded as uncertain, voted for the bill, supplying the necessary vote to make a full Republican showing of twenty-six, just enough to pass the bill. Senators White and Ambler, Republicans, were absent.

The battle began with a motion by Senator Raines to take the bill from the committee of the whole and put it on third reading for final passage. Senator Grady offered an amendment making the bill a special order on final passage immediately after the reading of the journal on Monday evening. This was lost by a vote of 24 to 21, Senator Hill voting in the affirmative with the Democrats.

A recess of half an hour was then taken, during which the committee on rules, consisting of Senators Raines, Malby and Grady, adopted a rule making the excise bill the immediate and precedent order in the senate, fixing a limit of three hours for the discussion of the bill and of one hour for the discussion of the rule, the time to be divided equally between the two sides.

Senator Grady bitterly fought the proposed rule in committee and continued the fight when the rule was introduced in the senate after recess, exhausting every parliamentary resource at his command to delay the proceedings.

The rule was adopted by a strictly party vote, and the bill was put upon final passage, the president ruling that one hour and a half for each side was available for the advocates and opponents of the measure respectively.

Senator Grady at once announced that he would speak in favor of the bill and that his time should be charged against the affirmative side.

"The senator will speak as a Republican and vote as a Democrat," said Senator Raines.

"No," retorted Senator Grady, "I shall take the position of a Pharisee and look down upon the liquor traffic, no matter how warmly I shall take it by the hand tomorrow."

For more than an hour Mr. Grady proceeded to speak ironically in favor of the bill, speaking ostensibly as one defending the position of the Republicans on the measure.

"The chief argument in favor of this bill is that we, my Republican colleagues and myself, need the money, and we don't care how we get it. I am satisfied that the bill will do no real harm. In the first place it will give the majority the money they need now, and in the second place in the early days of next November it will win for the Republican party the chastening at the polls which is always beneficial."

Following Senator Grady, Senator Lewis with the same irony pretended to oppose the bill.

Senator Foley was the first seriously to discuss the bill. This he did with great earnestness, opposing the measure as unjust and oppressive upon a legitimate form of business.

When Senator Malby moved to proceed to a roll call, the Democratic senators contended that they still had a lot of time left, as Senator Grady had spent his time in favoring the bill, and his time should be charged against its adherents. The chair ruled that Senator Grady had not been in good faith, but had spoken really in opposition.

At this juncture an emergency message was received from Governor Odell declaring that a public emergency required the passage of the measure.

The final roll call showed a strictly party vote—yeas, 26; nays, 22—and the senate adjourned for the day.

Promoter Flower Held For Trial.

NEW YORK, March 26.—Dr. R. C. Flower, promoter of mining companies and who has figured in the Hagaman case, has been held in $50,000 bail by Judge Foster in part 2 of general sessions on an indictment for grand larceny found by the grand jury. Thefts of $500,000 are charged.

HELP FOR IRISHMEN

Long Expected Land Bill Before the Commons.

A GRANT OF $60,000,000 PROPOSED

British Government to Loan Tenants Funds at Low Rate of Interest—Measure Expected to Settle Old Troubles.

LONDON, March 26.—The Irish secretary, Mr. Wyndham, introduced the government's long anticipated Irish land bill in the house of commons yesterday afternoon. It proposes a free grant of $60,000,000 for the purposes of the bill. Tenants are to pay 3¼ per cent interest on loans from the government. Mr. Wyndham said he thought the scheme would not involve $500,000,000, but that $750,000,000 could safely be advanced on Irish land. The advances to tenants are limited to $2,500 in the congested districts and $5,000 elsewhere.

The bill also provides that untenanted farms and grazing lands shall be sold to neighboring tenants and that three commissioners to be known as estates commissioners shall supervise the sales. The names of the three commissioners are Michael Finucane, secretary to the government of Bengal revenue, general and statistical department; Frederick S. French, now one of the Irish land commissioners, and William F. Bailey, one of the assistant commissioners on the Irish land commission. They will be under the general control of the lord lieutenant of Ireland. The bill will become effective Nov. 1.

The keen interest felt in this new legislation, which, it is hoped, will promote peace and contentment in Ireland, was shown by the crowded house. The peers' gallery and the distinguished strangers' gallery were filled, and there has been no such gathering of members of parliament since the opening of the session. In the diplomatic gallery sat United States Secretary Henry White, an interested spectator, while almost every Irish peer listened to Mr. Wyndham's exposition of the bill. From an early hour the stone benches from the house of commons entrance to the doors of the lobby were packed with impatient Irishmen, among whom were many priests. Most of these went away without seeing even the inside of the legislative chamber, the galleries of which were crowded as has not been the case for many a day. Michael Davitt, the "father" of the Land League, celebrated his fifty-seventh birthday by re-entering the house for the first time since he ceased to be a member in order to hear the chief secretary for Ireland unfold his plans.

For the most part the Liberal members sat glum, the applause coming from the Irish benches. A hush of expectation fell on the assembly as John Redmond, the Irish leader, arose to speak. If he refused to countenance the bill, its death and perhaps even the government's downfall was decreed. When the galleries of the house found him sympathetic and noncommittal, a feeling of relief pervaded all sides. What Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, the Liberal leader, and the others said had little effect.

The passing of the first reading of the bill was followed by a rush to the lobby, where ensued scenes that might well make the ghost of Parnell turn in his grave. The tall form of Lord Dudley, the lord lieutenant of Ireland, could be seen amid a crowd of Nationalists who scarcely a year ago would rather have suffered every penalty than associate with the official head of the Irish government. Beside Lord Dudley stood the grizzled little Sir Anthony McDonnell, the first national assistant Irish secretary. He it was who drafted the bill. Horace Plunkett, Lord Iveagh, Lord Ashbourne and many Unionist members joined the group. The Duke of Abercorn, the most powerful landlord in Ireland, asked to be introduced to John Redmond, and a mutual friend brought the duke to the leader of the Nationalist party, with whom the leader of the Irish landlords heartily shook hands, and they patched up the peace of Ireland over the house of commons refreshment bar.

Earl Dunraven, who, with John Redmond, shares the greatest responsibility for the day's procedure, slipped out quietly to avoid congratulations. He said later: "I believe the bill will meet the requirements of all parties. Though I have not had a chance to read them and cannot speak definitely concerning the details of the measure, it certainly seems as though a new era was dawning on a new Ireland."

The Duke of Abercorn said: "Today's proceedings are certainly a matter for congratulation. I hope that the provisions of the bill when carefully studied will be carried out. It looks as though the ancient hatchet had been buried."

John Redmond said he was unable to add anything to his utterances in the house, but he seemed in quite a hopeful mood. Various members of his party, however, frankly discussed Mr. Wyndham's plan.

OPENING MILLINERY DISPLAY

TRIMMED HATS—myriad matchless creations in our remodeled beautifully decorated parlors, and a splendid showing of fashionable walking or partly made hats and materials.

Small flowers and fruits are in high favor for trimmings—petite blossoms, such as lilies of the valley, forget-me-nots, daisies, June roses, honeysuckle or wisteria and cherries, strawberries, grapes, crab apples and gooseberries are among those most in evidence. Then there are black and white silk cluny laces, malines, handsome scarfs, ribbons, pompons, plumes, ornaments and all of the many things essential in the evolving of the new spring hat.

Trimmed Hats at $4.95, others at $10.00, and intermediate prices up to $35.00 each. Many copies of high cost and imported patterns, but none prettier than those designed in our own great workrooms.

STRIKE SEEMS UNLIKELY.

Troubles of New York, New Haven and Hartford Road Nearing End.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., March 26.—The employees of the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad company who are members of the trainmen's grievance committee met last night informally to study the schedules which President Hall and the directors' special committee submitted to them late in the afternoon at their second conference of the day, following the notification sent by the directors early in the morning.

It is expected that there will be at least one or two more discussions before the conductors' grievance committee is received. From all appearances the trouble seems to be nearer a solution than at any time within two weeks, but despite these indications mutterings are heard in certain quarters among the men that they may go out without waiting for their grievance committees to settle the matter.

Against such disturbing elements in the ranks of the men extra effort is being made at once to quell any rash outbreak. The men who are out on the road do not comprehend the difficulties which confront their committee, and many disturbing messages are received here by the committee. Valentine Fitzpatrick, the Brotherhood of Trainmen's adviser, has issued a frank statement of the situation.

President Hall upon learning its contents said that Mr. Fitzpatrick had done much to help matters and commended him for the stand he took in the statement and at the same time said that the railroad company will pay its employees as much as other railroads with which it has connections.

CHASE FOUND AT LAST.

Young Man From Indiana, Lost For Years, In Paris Sanitarium.

PARIS, March 26.—United States Consul General Gowdy has just succeeded in locating in a private sanitarium in this city Moses Fowler Chase of Lafayette, Ind., whose whereabout has been the subject of diligent search for several years.

Two French physicians, Drs. Antheaume and Fisher, examined the youth and pronounced him incurably insane. The institution has handed Chase over to Mr. Gowdy's care. Secretary Hay cabled to the consul general an authorization to act as the guardian of the youth. The French courts will appoint him as guardian.

Moses Fowler Chase is the central figure of a celebrated case which has occupied the courts of Indiana and Ohio. He is the grandson of Moses Fowler, a leading capitalist of Indiana, after whom the city of Fowler is named. The grandson's share in the inheritance has been the subject of controversy.

Four years ago his father lost track of the youth and has since been endeavoring to find him. A detective from Chicago remained here two months prosecuting the search, later turning over the task to an agent here. His father's attorney, Addison C. Harris, former minister to Austria, requested Consul General Gowdy last January to take up the search. This has been prosecuted systematically and resulted in the discovery of Chase as above stated. These facts have been cabled to Attorney Harris and the state department.

Decision In Beckham's Favor.

FRANKFORT, Ky., March 26.—The Kentucky court of appeals has affirmed the judgments of the Franklin and Woodford circuit courts respectively, holding that the Democratic state executive committee had ample authority for calling the state primary election fixed for May 9 next and granting Governor Beckham a writ of mandamus compelling the committee to place his name on the ballot as a candidate for the gubernatorial nomination. The committee had declined to place his name on the ticket because of the contention of other candidates that he was not eligible to re-election for a term of four years.

Wedding In College Dormitory.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., March 26.—For the first time, it is said, in the history of "Old Holworthy" one of the most famous dormitories at Harvard, a wedding has taken place there. The groom was Pascal de Angelis, a student who has just withdrawn from Harvard, and the bride Miss A. C. Gottschalk of Roxbury. The ceremony took place in the room of Mr. Angelis. The bride was born in Calcutta, India, and educated in convents in France and Spain. The bridegroom comes from Utica, N. Y., where his father is a prominent lawyer.

Dr. Soper to Remain In Ithaca.

ITHACA, N. Y., March 26.—At a special meeting of the board of health of Ithaca a definite agreement was made with Dr. Soper of the state board of health to remain in Ithaca for three months longer in order to continue his efforts to eliminate the sources of secondary infection of typhoid fever. After July 1 it is Dr. Soper's intention to visit Ithaca once every week until September.

Alleged Murderer Captured.

GENEVA, N. Y., March 26.—Edward Myers, the alleged murderer of Mrs. George W. Payne, has been captured in Gorham, nine miles west of here. The crime was committed in Jackson township, Tioga county, Pa., on Feb. 23. Myers was captured by a former employer of whom he sought protection.

California Wine Goes to Europe.

SAN JOSE, Cal., March 26.—A wine firm in this county has shipped 500 barrels of burgundy wine to Europe. Four hundred barrels go to Antwerp and 100 to London. Another shipment of 100 barrels will soon go to New York.

TOOK LIFE IN PARIS

General Macdonald Feared to Face Court Martial.

GRAVE CHARGES HAD BEEN MADE.

Famous British Commander Had Set Out For Ceylon to Meet His Trial — Suicide Causes a Shock In London.

PARIS, March 26.—Major General Sir Hector Macdonald, commanding the British forces in Ceylon and one of the foremost officers in the British army, against whom charges based on immoral acts were filed some time ago, committed suicide at the Hotel Regina here. He shot himself in the right temple shortly after noon and expired a few minutes later.

The general was alone in his small chamber on the mezzanine floor of the hotel at the time of the tragedy. One of the female attendants heard the pistol shot and, opening the door, saw the general's figure outstretched on the floor with the blood gushing from a bullet wound in the head. She ran screaming to the balcony overlooking the lobby of the hotel, where many guests, including a number of ladies, were assembled.

The proprietor of the hotel was the first to reach the dying man. Medical help was immediately summoned, but was found to be useless, death ensuing quickly on the fatal act.

The commissary of police was notified and, accompanied by a doctor, proceeded to make a preliminary investigation. No money or papers of any kind were found in Sir Hector's baggage. Two notes written in English were found lying on a table in his room, and these were taken possession of by the authorities, but it is understood that their contents have no bearing on the suicide. In the general's coat, lying on the bed, were found some photographs.

The British embassy and consulate were notified later, and Consul General Inglis visited the hotel and took charge of the body, which was placed on the bed. The door was then locked, the consul general taking the key. The French officials took possession of the revolver, which was of nine millimeters caliber and apparently new.

Sir Hector Macdonald arrived in Paris last Friday evening from London on his way back to Ceylon, where it was understood that an immediate court martial would be held to clear up the charges made against him. On reaching the hotel at 11 o'clock at night he was told that only a small and indifferent room was available. He replied that that was quite sufficient. He was not accompanied by any aid-de-camp or a valet.

Little was seen of him since his arrival. He was, however, in the hotel lobby yesterday about noon, and it is believed that a newspaper printed in English containing a resume of the grave charges brought against him and embellished with the general's portrait in full uniform came under his attention. He left the lobby, going to his room, and the pistol shot followed soon after.

"FIGHTING MAC'S" CAREER.

Strong Sympathy In London Over Soldier's Untimely End.

LONDON, March 26.—The tragic end of "Fighting Mac," who, the son of a highland cottier, rose from a position of a draper's assistant to be an honored general in the British army, has caused great surprise and deep sorrow in London. The nature of the offenses with which he was charged had not become generally known to the public, but had been common gossip in military circles, and although in the army and among his highlander comrades especially there is keen grief, their feeling is that it was "better to die thus than face dishonor." Sir Hector Macdonald was separated from his wife many years ago before he got his commission. He has not lived with her since. He leaves a son who is being educated in an English public school.

Sir Hector Macdonald's great chance came when as a sergeant during the Afghan campaign of 1879 to 1880 with a small force he by a furious bayonet charge cleared out a body of Afghans who were lying in ambush for Lord Roberts. For this feat Lord Roberts offered him the choice of the Victoria Cross or a commission. He chose the latter. His greatest military achievement was leading the black Sudanese brigade in the Omdurman campaign against the khalifa.

The official announcement made by the governor of Ceylon in the legislature on Monday that Major General Macdonald would be court martialed and the publicity given to the affair were evidently the determining motives for the suicide. His friends attribute the unfortunate business to his broken health and shattered nerves, the outcome of two campaigns in the Sudan and South Africa. An attack of dysentery and a touch of sunstroke at Paardeburg during the South African campaign left serious effects, and a wound he received in the leg healed badly. It is stated that he often complained of pains in the head, and in Ceylon his health and the depression from which he was suffering grew worse to such an extent that there was talk of invaliding him from the service.

The newspapers here comment sympathetically on the inexpressibly pitiful end of a brave man and say that his countrymen will remember him best as the man of whom on his return from Omdurman King Edward, then Prince of Wales, greeting him, said: "In 1875 you were doing sentry go in India, and now you are a general in the British army. I am proud to have met you."

A POPULAR OFFICIAL.

Through the courtesy of the Railroad Employe, The Daily Press is enabled to publish an excellent likeness of W. G. Besler, vice president and general manager of the Jersey Central Railroad. While Mr. Besler's name is a familiar one in Plainfield as well as through the State, there are comparatively few who know him by sight. This illustration will serve to give them a glimpse of a man who is, without doubt, one of the most prominent citizens of the community.

The Jersey Central Railroad can thank Mr. Besler for transforming public opinion in Plainfield. At the time he took command of the Central's management, the local patrons of the Jersey Central were very much dissatisfied with the treatment they were receiving. Without a moment's delay, he began an investigation of the complaints, altered conditions to suit the majority and so changed the policy that the city's pride in its railway service, which was at a very low ebb under the previous management, returned full fold. Today, complaints against the Jersey Central's service are the exception rather than the rule.

When the Westfield disaster shrouded Plainfield in gloom, Mr. Besler was prompt in his actions and rendered every possible service to the stricken city during its grief and in the investigation which followed. From the members of the coroner's jury and the host of newspaper men, who thronged the city, there was only the highest praise for Mr. Besler's conduct and his efforts to assist the coroner's inquest.

Those who have met Mr. Besler personally have found him an unassuming gentleman, always willing to listen to any complaint and ready to treat everyone with fairness. He has won the respect and admiration of the railroad men and is equally popular with those he meets outside of railroad circles. Plainfield is fortunate in having such a man among its citizens.

Some of the local milkmen have obtained the impression that the new sanitary code is intended to make things as hard as possible for them. Everybody knows that the milkman has no easy task and that a great deal of milk has to be sold to make much profit. It is, however, to the interest of every dealer to use every possible precaution to prevent the spread of disease through his supply of milk. If these precautions are not taken and any dealer is unfortunate enough to be to blame, it may mean the wrecking of his business. People are very particular about such things and the milk dealer who is careless or is responsible for the spread of disease, is going to suffer.

Orders have been issued for a portion of the New Jersey National Guard to attend the State encampment at Sea Girt this year. The Second Regiment, of which Company K, of this city, is a part, will not go to camp, however. The Second and Third Regiments went to Sea Girt last summer. The appropriation for the State militia is not large enough to permit the entire guard to turn out every year so it is necessary for the regiments to take turns. Company K will turn out again in 1904.

It looks as if the bill, allowing the local Common Council to elect the city collector, was going through the Legislature after all. The bill has this advantage. No collector, elected by popular vote, is going to jeopardize his chances of reelection by using strenuous measures to collect delinquent personal taxes. If he knows that enemies made in that way cannot injure his chance for re-election, there is reason to believe that the collector would be more active along those lines.

Sometime ago it was rumored that Chas. C. McBride was going to retire from the editorship of the Elizabeth Journal. Now he is reported to be a candidate for the place on the State Board of Assessors. Mr. McBride has done valiant work in behalf of his party and he is certainly deserving of any good thing that can come his way. With men like Mr. McBride behind it, there is no wonder that the Republican party carries New Jersey.

Westfield promises to have a crack baseball team this season. Last year its weakness was batting and that is to be remedied.

LEAGUE'S ACTION.

One Writer Says League Teams Have Erected High Picket Fence Around Themselves.

To the Editor of The Daily Press:—Some of the arguments advanced by members of the City League in explaining why they have erected a high picket fence around themselves to keep out other local enthusiasts who think they know a thing or two about the great National game remind one of a story by George Ade. One of the most popular young society men in Ade's native place was a little chap with a curly-maple complexion and an ingrowing face. Everyone was stuck on his conversation because he said so much that could be thought about later on. People who heard him went home and thought about what he had said and wondered what he was driving at.

It appeals to the writer that the reasons so far advanced by City Leaguers inside the fence are not tenable from the standpoint of true amateur sportsmanship. The universal watchword of your real sportsman is "May the best man win." If other clubs are admitted, and the present League really contains all the best baseball timber in Plainfield, its victory at the end of the season will be all the more to its credit. Without detracting in the slightest from the excellent showing made by the League players last season, this question is certainly open to debate.

In the opinion of many Plainfielders there are other local clubs capable of putting up good, clean, fast ball, and if public sentiment is not wholly wrong these players are entitled to recognition. There should be no "I am holier than thou," in any branch of sport which appeals to the public at large. William Starr Bullock.

The dancing class will meet in Excelsior Hall tonight.

COL. TEN EYCK DEAD.

An Old Somerville Resident Has Passed Away.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, March 26—Col. Arthur Schenck TenEyck, eighty-three years old, passed away Tuesday night at his home here from Bright's disease. He was the president of the Thirtieth Regiment Association and was well known and popular among the veterans of this vicinity. In 1862 he organized Company A, of the Thirtieth N. J. V., going to the war as a captain and returning as a lieutenant colonel.

He was in the milling and farming business for many years and at one time owned and managed the brick yards here. In 1871, he ran for sheriff on the Democratic ticket, but was defeated by Capt. Benj. S. Totten, of Middlebush. A widow and one son survives.

The funeral will be held tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock, at the house. Rev. W. S. Cranmer will officiate.

Last Chance.

Saturday will be the last day on which North Plainfield property owners can pay their delinquent taxes of 1901. Borough Tax Collector George F. Brown says that if all delinquents have not paid their taxes by that day the properties will be sold in accordance with the authority vested in him at a recent meeting of the Borough Council.

An Opportunity.

Here's an opportunity to purchase an elegant home at your own price. The premises known as Nos. 313, 315, 317 and 319 East Front street, a large and commodious house and barn, house with all improvements, large tract of land, all will be sold at auction on premises, Thursday afternoon, April 2, at 2 o'clock.

Lunches at High School.

By means of an arrangement made by Principal Travell of the City High School, the pupils are now able to secure lunches in the building. Each day at recess a pupil may secure at the cost of few cents either bananas, oranges, apples or sandwiches.

Cake Sale.

The Junior Endeavor Society of Trinity Reformed church will hold a cake sale in the Sunday-school room Saturday afternoon.

HEALTH BOARD INVESTIGATES.

No Truth in Rumors That Ptomaine Poisoning Came From Milk Supply.

Rumors that a number of cases of ptomaine poisoning were traceable to the milk supply have been current for the last twenty-four hours. An investigation by the City Board of Health brought out the fact that while there happened to be two cases of ptomaine poisoning they could not be traced to the same source and that there was no truth in the current stories of a contaminated milk supply. The Board of Health has the cases under observation.

DRAWING ROOM TALK.

Second of Series Given by Mrs. Isabella C. Davis.

The second in the series of drawing-room meetings under the auspices of the City Union of King's Daughters, was held this morning at the home of Mrs. F. S. Martin, of Hillside avenue, when Mrs. Isabella Charles Davis, corresponding secretary of the International Order King's Daughters, gave a talk on the subject "Now are we all the Sons of God." There was a large attendance of King's Daughters and like the first talk, it was a helpful and inspiring service for the members of this order. The third meeting will be held Thursday morning, April 2, at the home of Mrs. J. C. Peck, of Myrtle avenue.

CAUGHT IN MACHINERY.

Wm. Myzie Injured at Potter Press Works This Morning.

While working about a large hand crane in the yard of the Potter Press Works, this morning, William Myzie, an employe, became caught in the machinery and was badly injured. He received a compound fracture of the right leg and innumerable cuts and bruises. He was taken to Muhlenberg Hospital and the physicians fear amputation may have to be resorted to in order to save his life.

J. E. Townsend, of Berkeley avenue, is detained at home by an attack of the grip.

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

Topic For the Week Beginning March 29, "Missionary Meeting; Heroes of Africa; Livingstone, Cox, Mackay, Good."

"Ethiopia shall haste to stretch out her hands unto God."

The interest in missions aroused among the young people of the country is one of the noteworthy events of the times. It is one of the most hopeful indications as to the future of the church.

Events move with such marvelous rapidity that it is difficult to keep well posted in some matters of great importance. But the facilities put in our hands for a clear understanding of the work of missions makes it possible in every community by a little care to make our people thoroughly intelligent as to the progress, prospects and needs of our church work in all lands.

Africa is the least civilized of all the great divisions of the earth. Within the memory of many who are not counted old the whole interior of the continent was marked on maps "unexplored." Now the project of a railway from Cairo to Cape Town is actually under way.

The progress of discovery around the shores and through the interior of the dark continent is one of the most thrilling of stories. No one person has done more to open this vast land to civilization and Christianization than did David Livingstone, the missionary explorer, who died while in the very heart of the wilderness.

Every league should arrange one evening at least for a public meeting, when addresses or papers should be read on the work done by the men whose names we enroll on our topic for the week as "Heroes of Africa." Much interest will be added if a large outline map can be hung where all can see the places mentioned in the story of each man.

Cox will ever be remembered in the Methodist Episcopal church, not for the great work he did either in exploration or evangelization, but because of his indomitable zeal and faith as the first Methodist missionary to Africa and his memorable words, which have become the rallying cry of the church, "Though a thousand fall, let not Africa be given up."

The evangelization of Uganda is one of the miracles of this age. No greater triumphs of the gospel have been witnessed in any of the nineteen Christian centuries. No brighter examples of heroism and Christian martyrdom have been seen in any land.

These records should be given to our people until their hearts thrill at the recital, and this not merely to raise more money for missions. It will have that effect, but that will not be the greatest gain. It will quicken the zeal, broaden the sympathies, deepen the faith and elevate the hope of multitudes who hear. The home churches will feel the inspiration of noble achievement and the fires of revival power will be kindled on the home altars. Young people will catch the gleam and give themselves to the work, and the whole church will receive a divine uplift.

Partnership With God In Patience.

The example of God's forbearance and the incentive of his trust help to prepare us for that self control and patient waiting which are perhaps the most difficult arts of living. Preachers of the strenuous life often forget that for one who dares to act there must be many who are compelled to wait and to endure. It is not the charge which commanders dread for their commands. It is the waiting before the word to charge is given. Action relieves the tension of the nerves and occupies the thought. The example of God's patience is not in itself a sufficient incentive in our time of need. God waits because He knows. He sees the end from the beginning and is never tempted to gather unripe fruit, as we so often are. He asks us to be sharers of His patience by the exercise of faith. We can wait because we believe. He trusts us in the partnership of work and waiting, and we renounce and have patience because we trust Him for the end He promises.—Congregationalist.

Life a Stewardship.

Time and again, in order to impress upon men the solemnity of living, the Master treated life as a stewardship, insisting that all life is a gift, that a faithful use of it is the one requisite to successful living and that for its use we must all give an account when the period of our stewardship is ended. So poorly have we learned our lesson in this matter that the man with five talents frequently squanders them because he has five, and the man with one talent neglects it because it is only one.—Episcopal Record.

Serving Faithfully.

He who serves the Lord faithfully need have no regrets. Duty, rightfully performed, gives no stings at the dying hour. It is neglected work which renders it so hard to die. God "taketh pleasure in the death of His saints," not because of the grace then dominant, but because of the useful life then about to receive its coronation recognition.—Presbyterian.

Genuine Piety.

Genuine piety can always be distinguished from the spurious type. It never advertises itself; it never seeks to make itself conspicuous; it never tries to elicit the praise of men, but seeks by secret prayer and personal devotion to worship the Creator and Redeemer in spirit and in truth.—Independent.

The Path to God.

Paint not, poor traveler, though thy way
Be rough like that thy Saviour trod;
Though cold and stormy lower the day.
This path of suffering leads to God.
—Andrews Norton.

All Plainfield People Have to Do Is to Follow Their Neighbors' Advice.

Our readers have no excuse for going astray. The way is almost fenced with guide-posts in Plainfield. They are on every highway and by-way. "He who runs may read." Investigate this example:

Mrs. R. A. Martin, of Jackson street, says: "I had pain in my back and loins for about a year or more, no doubt caused by my kidneys being out of order. I felt it more in the morning, just after getting up or if I did any stooping or lifting. Notwithstanding the fact that I took all kinds of medicines I never found anything which helped me until I got Doan's Kidney Pills at L. W. Randolph's drug store. They not only removed the pain, but they strengthened me in other ways."

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Topic For the Week Beginning March 29—Comment by Rev. S. H. Doyle.

Topic.—A mission study of Africa.—Ps. lxviii, 29-31; Isa. xliii, 3.

The continent of Africa comprises nearly 12,000,000 square miles. It is 5,000 miles long and 4,600 miles wide. It is as large as Europe and South America combined. It is crossed by both tropics, and the equator cuts it a little below the center. Thus it lies largely within the tropics. Africa has been described as "our universal den of desolation, misery and crime," and no continent upon the face of the earth has been so characterized by degradation, wretchedness and woe. It has well been called "darkest Africa," for from all times the vast mass of its population has been submerged beneath appalling moral and spiritual darkness.

The population of Africa is supposed to be about 200,000,000, or one-seventh of that of the globe. Many races and languages are found on the continent. Egyptians and Arabians principally occupy the northern and eastern part. The negro race occupies the greater part of the western and northern central Africa from the Atlantic to the Nile. The Bantu race comprises almost all the natives and tribes south of the equator. They resemble the negroes proper in many respects, yet have more regular features and speak entirely different languages. The Zulus and Kaffirs belong to this race. The Hottentot bushmen include the Hottentots, the bushmen and the pygmy tribes who live in the heart of the continent. This group is the lowest in the scale of African humanity.

Paganism is the original and principal religion of the native African tribes. African paganism includes a belief in a supreme being and in a spirit world. The grossest forms of superstition prevail. Idolatry, as usually understood, scarcely exists. It is replaced by fetichism, the worship of charms, which may be almost any object—a tree, stick, stone, shell or plant. These are supposed to have power to keep off danger and to give the power to injure enemies. "One guards against sickness, another against drought, a third against the disasters of war; one is used to draw down rain, another to secure good crops, and a third fills the sea and rivers with fishes and brings them to the fisherman's net." Three-fourths of the people of Africa are pagans. Next to paganism Mohammedanism prevails. It was spread by fire and sword over northern Africa in the seventh century and has advanced in recent years. Nearly one-fourth of the population is Mohammedan. The Mohammedans are found in north Africa, the eastern and western Sudan and on the eastern and western coasts. Several millions of the people are Christians. Of these about one-half are Copts and Abyssinians and the remainder Protestants and Catholics in about equal proportions.

For many years our great Christian denominations have been working to evangelize the dark continent. These efforts, though put forth in the face of tremendous obstacles, have produced remarkable results. Our God can redeem and save even Africa. Egypt is turning toward God, and by prayer and offerings we should do our part in the redemption of this vast continent. The nations of the world have cursed it with slavery, opium, rum and immorality. Let us make retribution for the past by sending the gospel to these people who sit in great darkness and need the light of Christ.

NOTE.

Make a special study of your denominational mission work in Africa.

A Forward Movement.

Dr. Clark recently wrote the following stirring appeal, addressing it especially to New York state Endeavorers through the columns of their new official organ, Empire State Notes. The message has a wider significance and is worthy of being put into operation not only in New York, but everywhere:

Fellow Endeavorers of New York—Let us make a definite forward movement in Christian Endeavor this coming year.

Let us set a stake in advance and come up to it.

In this first number of your bulletin I would earnestly urge that we all honestly resolve and heartily strive to add at least one-tenth to the number of our societies, counting the new Junior societies, of course, as part of the aggregate increase, and that we strive to add at least one-tenth to our total membership in every society.

The number of our associate members ought to be quadrupled, for this is our evangelistic agency.

Our active members could be increased also by a vigorous canvass, for these are our working forces.

The honorary membership might well be doubled, thus bringing new sympathy to the society and a new stimulus to all the other activities of the church.

These additions foot up far more than one-tenth, but they are all easily possible, and they will all add to the spiritual life of the whole society.

Will New York state and the New York societies be on the honor roll of "Denver 1903?" I believe they will. Yours for a definite forward movement for Christ and the church. FRANCIS E. CLARK.

Nuggets.

Christian Endeavor stands for the devotional spirit.—H. A. Kinports, Secretary New York State Union.

We can't afford to be without a constant passion for souls. This is the chiefest aim of Christian Endeavor.—Rev. Dr. S. Parkes Cadman.

It was not till they had reached a farmhouse nine miles from the scene of the robbery that she induced the negro to stop. Here they were received by a family in which there was one man too old to do service in the war. He said he was willing to do what he could for her, but that the 'bushwhackers,' who were a power in the land, would hang him if he molested their plans. He went out to see if he could get together any of his neighbors who would help her, but when he returned at dusk he brought the intelligence that he could find nobody who would dare take a hand in such an enterprise. She spent that night in the farmhouse and the next day she drove back absolutely alone in search of her husband and child. Near the spot where she had been separated from them she found her husband's hat, the little cap worn by the baby, stained with blood, and a pool of blood by the roadside. She spent all that day alone on that road and returned at night to the farmhouse. Here she stayed a month making inquiries and searches in all directions for more conclusive proof of the death of her child and husband. Finally the old farmer came to her one day with the report that one of the robbers had just died and that he had made a deathbed confession that he had shot and killed Capt. Lancaster. The baby, he said, was not killed at the time, as there was some reluctance among the men as to who should do it. They had gotten over this difficulty by drawing straws and the man upon whom the task had fallen had promised that he would drown the child, that its death might be an easy one. This was the only crumb of comfort the poor lady got; think of that, gentlemen, she could only hope that her son's death had been quick and painless. The dying man refused to tell who had undertaken the crime." The colonel paused, stroking his gray Van Dyke beard. "Is it any wonder that her face is sad and her hair white?"

"It is reported in Charleston that she has had many advantageous offers of marriage," put in Mr. Hardy, as he emptied his wine glass.

"Hundreds of them," enthused the colonel. "Why, Gen. Beauclare followed her about like a slave and so did Senator Waugh; I couldn't count the men who were in love with her, but she turned 'em all down."

The promenaders had quitted the veranda, and there was a light touch on the piano in the drawing-room and a sweet voice singing an old song.

"That is her!" cried the colonel, whose enthusiasm was not often governed by rules of grammar.

This was the signal for leaving the table, and the men went into the big, ancient-looking parlor where the lights burned low and the breeze from the distant mountains fanned the lace curtains into the room. Evelyn sat in a rocking-chair, her eyes on the singer's face. Caroline was noiselessly placing a whist table and playing cards near the center of the room. She, her father, Mr. Hardy and Capt. Winkle were the only ones who were fond of the game.

"But we shall interrupt the singing," protested the colonel, when he noticed the preparations.

"I shall stop if you don't go on with the game," declared the gentle old lady, a smile crossing her sweet, sad face; "and furthermore, I shall not sing unless you all talk over your game."

To this the jovial host agreed under protest, and the whist-players took their places. Evelyn sat at the end of the piano near enough to touch the elbow of the singer. There was infinite pathos in Mrs. Lancaster's voice as she sang:

"Dey ain't no use fer to fret an' pine,
Steady on de way, believers.
It's de same ole worl' w'en de sun don't shine,
Steady on de way, believers."

The colonel was dealing the cards, but he made a mistake in the count, and with a low laugh he threw the cards down. "I must wait till that one is over, anyway," he whispered. "That blamed thing always gets the best of me."

"It's de same ol' worl' in de sun an' de rain—
Same on de hilltop an' same on de plain,
So keep up yo' shoutin' an' keep on yo' prayin'—
Steady on de way, believers.

Dey's a great big blossom on de watermelon vine,
Steady on de way, believers;
Fur peace come 'long w'en you done wid pain,
So keep up yo' shoutin' an' keep on yo' prayin';
Steady on de way, believers."

There was just the faintest quiver in Mrs. Lancaster's voice, which Evelyn alone noticed, and a hint of moisture in her eyes as the melody died in the still room. She turned towards the card players, who, with the exception of the dapper captain, seemed deeply moved by her song.

"I knew I would stop your game," she laughed, "you are too polite to enjoy life. Come, Evelyn, let's take another stroll."

The view from the veranda was beautiful, and as the two walked back and forth across the wide floor arm in arm they enjoyed it silently. The moon had risen and hung like a great globe of yellow light just beneath a floating canopy of filmy clouds. Two rows of wind-moved elms stretched out past the great iron-wrought gates and between gleamed the white chert drive. On a sloping lawn to the left lay luxuriant parterres of flowers diversified by well-kept walks, and smooth plots of grass. Near the center stood a fountain, its sprays gleaming like rain in an April shower against the dark background of magnolia trees. The air which fanned their faces was laden with the perfume of hyacinth and roses. When they had walked several minutes in silence they paused at the window from which they had reached the veranda, and looked in on the players. Mr. Hardy was dealing the cards and Capt. Winkle was relating some sort of experience of his own which seemed to have roused the interest of his host.

"Of course," the captain was saying, "the fellow's challenge was a great surprise to me. I confess that I did drive against him out of pure devilment, for I had heard what an egotistical, presumptive ass he was, an' I wanted to pay him back for throwing my tip in the river as if he were the prince of Wales, but heaven knows, I didn't think I'd get a bloody duel on my hands. As you know, colonel, there was nothing for me to do but to—to make him see the absurdity of the thing."

"I suppose not," returned the colonel, in a noncommittal tone. Whatever may have been his secret opinion of Winkle's valor he knew his duty as host too well to impugn it, or to render his guest uncomfortable by sharp criticism. "And what did you say to him?" he ended.

"Why, I told him, of course, that his challenge was a proof of downright cowardice; that he knew well enough that a man in my position could not fight a man in his. That settled him. He retired like a whipped cur."

"And you did not explain or apologize?" slipped almost unconsciously from the lips of the colonel.

"Not I, I assure you; ha, ha! Apologize to him! That would have ruined him forever."

Evelyn grasped the hand of Mrs. Lancaster, nervously, and drew her across the room to the players.

"Your story, Capt. Winkle," she said, her eyes flashing, "reminds me very much of a piece of fiction I have read somewhere. The circumstances were identically the same except that the officer in the story allowed the hero to humiliate him by cutting off the buttons and shoulder-straps from his uniform. I am so glad your experience did not end that way. The truth is your case was far more agreeable than the fiction in the other."

Capt. Winkle paled and interlaced his fingers tightly on the smooth top of the mahogany table. For one second he glared like a condemned man at the speaker and then the fierce stare of her eyes bore his own to the ground.

"Perhaps," spoke up Mr. Hardy, whose jests were rare and often too personal, and who did not admire the captain, "perhaps Capt. Winkle did not tell us all the story after all. I noticed that he was not wearing his togs today."

Capt. Winkle seemed to have lost his speech. And the colonel, fearing that his daughter had inadvertently made a disagreeable comparison, frowned up at her.

"What are you talking about, Evelyn?" he asked sharply.

"Oh, only a little story I have read," she said, coldly. "I shall try to look it up. It had a beautiful moral."

With that parting shot at the cowering victim of his own folly, she drew Mrs. Lancaster again out on the veranda.

"Why, dear, you have almost frightened me," said Mrs. Lancaster, under her breath. "What did you mean by what you said?"

"I meant to cut the very soul of that little coward, if he has one," the girl said, fiercely. "I almost feel as if I ought to have exposed him to the others before whom he was posing as a brave man when he is no more than—"

Evelyn had been speaking so rapidly that her words ran upon one another and became a jumbled, unintelligible

Do You Wish To Borrow Money?

In order to accommodate all classes of borrowers (those who cannot borrow at a bank, as well as those who can), the Mutual Loan and Investment Company, of 118 Market street, Newark, N. J., has a department for handling quickly and confidentially loans ranging from $10 to $300 on furniture, pianos, storage receipts, etc.

The security is not removed from your possession or in any way disturbed. The honest, careful and conservative borrower will try and decide two points before borrowing. First, where he can get the best terms. Second, where he can get fair and square treatment.

This company is in a position to give you by far the most satisfactory terms ever offered by any concern or individual negotiating this class of loans.

With this company you are assured of getting the lowest rates, easiest payments and longest time for repayment. The whole transaction from the time the application is made until loan is paid is entirely confidential. We give you another advantage in case you take the loan out for six months or a year, and wish to settle the same before the time expires: we charge you only for the time you have had the money. We also take up loans from other companies and advance more money.

Kindly call and let us explain our simple and up-to-date methods. If not entirely convenient for you to call, please write and our representative will call and give you any desired information. Remember it costs nothing to make application. Loans promptly made in Elizabeth, Plainfield, Westfield, Roselle, Rahway, Perth Amboy and all suburban towns.

REBELS HOLD SANTO DOMINGO.

Government Officials Said to Have Surrendered.

MONTE CHRISTI, Santo Domingo, March 26.—The advices received here from Santo Domingo show that General Alejandro Wos y Gil and his revolutionary followers are masters of Santo Domingo City, and it is said that General Miguel Pichardo, the minister of war, and General Juan Francisco Sanchez, the minister of foreign affairs, who had sought refuge in the United States consulate, have surrendered themselves to the revolutionists, with a small group of followers.

The revolutionists are in possession of two of the three Dominican war vessels—namely, the cruiser Independencia and the gunboat Colon.

General Horacio Vasquez, the president of Santo Domingo, has left Porte Plata, on the northern coast of Santo Domingo, for Sanchez on board the Dominican cruiser Presidente, the only war vessel remaining in the hands of the government. It is believed that President Vasquez intends to make an attack on Santo Domingo in conjunction with General Luis Maria Hernandez, the governor of San Pedro de Macoris, who has left that city in order to gather recruits for the government forces. If the capital is attacked, a stubborn resistance is expected on the part of the revolutionists.

General Lico Castillo, the officer who commanded the government troops at Santo Domingo and who was reported to have been killed, is alive, but is suffering from a wound.

Several skirmishes have taken place in this vicinity, and the government forces have lost considerable quantities of ammunition, arms and provisions. In addition about twenty government soldiers have been killed and a number have been wounded.

Lively Debate at Trenton.

TRENTON, N. J., March 26.—The railroad codification bill, which has been the subject of so much discussion, came up last night on third reading, and there followed the liveliest debate of the session. The bill was vigorously attacked by the Democrats, and speeches in opposition to the measure as it has been amended were made by Messrs. Treacy, Cannon, Fielder, Swackhammer and Hamill. Mr. Treacy charged that the bill had been so doctored that it did not represent the work of the codification commission. Mr. Hamill made an impassioned speech, in which he told the majority they were digging their own political graves. That feature which had been injected into the bill giving railroad companies the right to condemn adjacent property would permit railroad companies to take by condemnation the most valuable property in Jersey City. When the vote was taken, the result stood 36 to 18. Three Democrats voted with the Republicans in favor of the bill.

Vanderbilt Denies Reported Change.

PARIS, March 26.—W. K. Vanderbilt arrived here late last evening from London and went to his residence in the Champs Elysee. In reply to an inquiry concerning the report published in New York that the New York Central railroad had passed into the hands of the Rockefeller-Pennsylvania-Morgan interests with his consent Mr. Vanderbilt made the following statement: "There is no truth in the statement that the New York Central railroad has passed into other hands. The present directors act in harmony each with the other. No changes are contemplated, and I know of no one of them who wishes to shirk his responsibility."

SPORTING NEWS

ON THE DIAMOND.

George Mehl has been slated for the position of pitcher on this season's firemen's team. At several trials already given him he "made good" and he is now anxious to send a few twisters about the eagle eyed batsmen constituting the police nine.

The St. Mary team, this season, will have some surprises in the way of new players. The management is losing no time in getting the men together and practice games will soon be in full swing. Last season's grounds will be retained, the several houses built in the vicinity offering no particular obstruction.

The members of the Y. M. C. A. committee on baseball have not been idle during the past few weeks. They have secured a number of additional names of men who promise to make good showings during the season. Manager Johnston, of the Scotch Plains team, has been in this city and has made offers to several of the man who have signed with the Y. M. C. A. to play on the Scotch Plains team.

It was announced this morning at the City High School, that the baseball game to be played Saturday with the Orange Field Club, will be played on Hope Common instead of on the High School field as scheduled. On account of the unsettled condition of the weather in the past few days the High School management has been unable to have the diamond laid out, but it is probable that by the last of next week the grounds will be in good condition for playing.

Announcements made that an unusual number of baseball teams are to be placed in the field in and about Plainfield this season, has made the city a mecca for dealers in sporting goods. In the past few days no less than ten salesmen were in town, representing firms in New York and Newark, while the managers having been receiving dozens of catalogues. The local dealers have not been napping, however, and are fully able to compete with the outsiders.

WHIST.

The Park Club whist four will try conclusions with the Brooklyn Whist Club tomorrow evening at the Park Club. The Parks are the holders of the Metropolitan challenge trophy and their many friends hope that another win will come to them with the Brooklyn four. The challengers now lead with the greatest number of wins, eleven, for the trophy.

STRIKES AND SPARES.

The final matches in the "cocked hat" and "ten pin" tournaments will be rolled off at the Park Club this evening at 8:30 o'clock. In the "ten-pin" match L. H. VanBuren and J. C. Peck will roll, and in the "cocked hat" tournament Wm. Townsend and F. H. Ball will roll.

ORDERS FOR STATE CAMP

FIRST, FOURTH AND FIFTH REGIMENTS WILL GO FOR WEEK EACH.

Militia Men Will Not be Allowed to Send Substitutes—General Orders Just Issued.

Major General Wanser has issued orders through the adjutant general's department regulating next summer's encampment at Sea Girt.

The order assigns the Fifth, Fourth and First regiments, Battery A, field artillery, signal corps and First troop to duty at the State camp for one week each. The Second and Third Regiments were in camp last year.

The order reads as follows:

National Guard of New Jersey,
Headquarters Division,
Jersey City, March 19, 1903.

Special Orders No. 4.

1. Pursuant to permission granted by the Governor and commander-in-chief, by special orders No. 19, adjutant general's office, dated March 17, 1903, the several organizations of the First brigade and the signal and telegraph corps will encamp upon the State camp ground, at Sea Girt, as follows:

Fifth regiment and Battery A, field artillery, Monday, July 6, to Saturday, July 11, inclusive.

Fourth regiment and signal corps, Monday, July 13, to Saturday, July 18, inclusive.

First regiment and First troop, Monday, July 20, to Saturday, July 25, inclusive.

2. No man will be taken to camp who is not enlisted before the 30th of June, instant, and borne upon the quarterly returns of that date, and no substitute will be permitted under any circumstances.

3. Transportation, camp equipage and substance will be furnished by the quartermaster general and commissary general, upon requisition duly approved.

4. The troops so encamped will be paid by the paymaster general in accordance with the provisions of "An act concerning the military and naval forces," approved March 22, 1901.

5. The organizations herein referred to may, if they so desire, enter camp on Saturday, July 4, Saturday, July 11, and Saturday, July 18; provided, it is understood that no pay will be allowed for July 4, 5, 11, 12, 18 and 19.

6. One meal for July 4, 11 and 18, and one ration for July 5, 12, and 19 will be issued by the commissary general, on requisition duly approved.

7. Servants, grooms or other camp followers will not be permitted to wear the State uniform or any part thereof.

8. Brigadier General Edward A. Campbell, First brigade, is charged with the execution of this order.

By command of Major General Wanser.

THOMAS S. CHAMBERS,
Assistant Adjutant General.

FEARING ARREST HE HID AMONG BEAMS

But Patrolman Higgins Finally Found His Man and Delivered Message.

NO ARREST AFTER ALL

JAMES MURPHY THOUGHT HE WAS WANTED FOR SOMETHING.

Fled When the Officer Was Sighted and Hid Under Floor—He Finally Ventured Out and Was Discovered by Mr. Higgins.

James Murphy, of North avenue, small in stature and a cripple, made strenuous efforts yesterday afternoon, to escape Patrolman Higgins' clutches and succeeded for the time being in greatly mystifying the officer. He was eventually captured in the cellar of a Grant avenue house and was very much chagrined to learn that the officer only wanted to speak to him.

Murphy's wife appeared before City Judge Runyon, yesterday morning, and asked that her husband be called to account for neglecting his family, refraining however, from preferring a complaint. His Honor consented to invite the recreant spouse to his office and have a talk with him. Patrolman Higgins was instructed to see Murphy and tell him what was wanted.

The officer located him late in the afternoon in Watson's saloon on Grant avenue and started to go toward him. Thinking he was to be placed under arrest, Murphy ran out of a back door, scaled a six foot board fence with the agility of a cat and disappeared in a nearby house. Higgins followed in close order but a hurried search of the premises failed to locate Murphy. The officer then called a friend to aid in the hunt but after scouring the house from top to bottom they were compelled to believe the fugitive had gotten out somehow. Not to be baffled, Higgins decided to make a last attempt and descended to the cellar to work upward. After a little beating around he was greatly surprised to find Murphy crouched down behind a coal box in a space hardly large enough for a boy.

"Great Scott," ejaculated the assistant searcher, "he wasn't there a few moments ago when I looked."

"That's right," said Murphy, "I was up in the beams."

The latter fact proved to be true. While the two men were looking for him, he had been pressed against the lower part of the kitchen flooring, holding himself up by gripping the cross supports and letting his toes rest on the top of the side wall. He had remained in this position twenty minutes and gave up only when he thought his pursuers were going away.

When Murphy was told what was wanted he was greatly relieved and consented to accompany the officer to City Judge Runyon's office. He related his side of the case and the Cadi managed to patch up matters without either having to appear in court.

PRESIDENT RESIGNS.

A. J. Nolan Withdraws as Head of Democratic City Committee.

A meeting of the Democratic Club was held last evening in their rooms on East Second street when much business was transacted. The resignation of Andrew Nolan was reluctantly received from the chairmanship of the city committee. He was re-elected to the position a week ago but after due consideration Mr. Nolan decided to withdraw from that committee.

A committee was appointed to revise the bylaws of the club. The club has been governed by the State rules but being desirous of having rules and regulations of their own they have decided to place the matter in the hands of a committee which comprises Andrew Nolan, W. T. Banks and J. B. Guttridge.

On Ground of Desertion.

Mrs. Clarence R. Demarest, who was formerly Miss Jennie Cuddy, of New Brunswick, has begun action for divorce from her husband on the ground of desertion and non-support. Mr. Demarest, who formerly lived in Park avenue, has recently been in Plainfield. For a considerable time since her marriage, Mrs. Demarest has been on the stage.

Burning Rags Caused Excitement.

An alarm of fire was sent into the fire headquarters this afternoon at 2 o'clock by telephone for a heap of rags in the rear of the Crescent Embossing Company on West Second street. A bucket brigade was organized among the employes and in a few minutes the blaze was under control. Several barns were in danger and the entire apparatus went out.

Rescue Mission's Anniversary.

The Plainfield Rescue Mission will observe its first anniversary Thursday evening, April 9, with an appropriate programme.

MISSIONS IN CHINA.

Miss Carter Told of Them at Congregational Church Last Night.

A large audiences at the Congregational church, last evening, listened with great interest to a talk on mission work in China, given by Miss Alice Carter, of Montclair. She is thoroughly familiar with the subject and is to leave for the field within a short time.

In addition to Miss Carter's talk, a short programme of music was given, including solos by Mrs. Charlotte M. Ross and others. Light refreshments were served and a social hour was passed. The affair was given by the Christian Endeavor and Woman's Societies.

Miss Croft on Missions.

Miss Julia G. Croft, who is an interesting speaker, will talk on her work in Burmah at the thirteenth anniversary of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of the First Baptist church to be held tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock in the church. Miss Julia G. Shinn, connected for some years with the First Baptist church, was associated with Miss Croft in her missionary work, and her many Plainfield friends will find an added interest to Miss Croft's address.

Dance at Bound Brook.

The Florodoras, a local social organization, will give a dance on the evening of April 17 in Bound Brook. SENATE PASSES REPEALER AFTER LENGTHY DEBATE

Senator Hutchinson Leaves the Chair to Advocate It and Offer Opinions.

THE VOTE WAS 13 TO 3

IN MAIDEN SPEECH SENATOR CHILDS DECLARED HIMSELF FOR IT.

Action Makes Little Impression on Local Advocates of Union—What Mayor Smalley Has to Say in Regard to Vote.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Trenton, March 27—After a long and lively debate, the Senate passed the repealer to the annexation law, yesterday afternoon, the vote being 13 to 3 in favor of the measure. Courtesy to President Hutchinson, of Mercer county, who introduced the bill prompted many to vote for the repeal of the law now on the statute book and the result is a surprise to no one. Though it has been pulled through the Upper House there is little fear that it will ever become a law.

When considering the bill the Senate had before it Attorney General McCarter's opinion regarding the status of the annexation law. In compliance with a resolution passed by that body, the attorney general submitted an opinion on the question whether a second election could be legally held according to the strict terms of the law. The opinion given by the official legal advisor of New Jersey was non-committal in nature It showed however, that research had been made by the attorney general.

President Hutchinson left the chair to advocate his repealer. He declared that if it was not passed that Plainfield and North Plainfield would be left in a constant state of agitation over the matter to the great detriment of business and other considerations. Somehow or other Senator Hutchinson has received an impression that if his measure is passed it will end the growing agitation in favor of the much needed union. Senator Samuel S. Childs, of Somerset county, made his maiden speech in favor of the repealer. After speeches were made by friends of annexation a vote was taken with the result noted. Senators Joseph Cross, of Union county, Wakelee, of Bergen county and Welsh, of Morris county, voted against the scheme.

The repealer will now go into the hands of the Assembly's committee on the revision of laws. Should it be reported before the close of the Legislature there is little chance that it will ever became a law for these is a pronounced sentiment in the Lower House against interfering with the affair which primarily concerns Plainfield and North Plainfield. The committee to whom it will now be entrusted is composed of Assemblymen Jackson, Newcorn, Boyd, Harrison and Dalrymple.

The action of the State Senate in passing a repealer to the annexation law has made little impression among the advocates of union of city and borough. The annexationists do not appear to view the matter seriously, feeling confident that the repealer of Senator Hutchinson, of Mercer county, will not become a law.

When seen this morning, Mayor Smalley declared that the action of the Senate makes no material difference in the fight.

MAY BUILD BRIDGE.

Somerset Freeholders Agreeable to New One on Giraud Avenue.

A committee of five from the Union County Board of Freeholders, headed by William A. Westphal, met the entire Somerset county board on the Giraud avenue bridge, yesterday afternoon, and discussed the advisability of building a new bridge at that point. After a short conference the Somerset members withdrew and then returned with the announcement that they were willing to share the expense of a new structure similar to the one over the brook on Madison avenue.

As the Union county committee had no power to decide for its board, the members agreed to offer a resolution that the bridge be built at the next session to be held Thursday. It's estimated cost is $3,000.

Men's Assembly Tonight.

The regular monthly meeting of the Men's Assembly of Grace M. E. church will be held this evening at 8 o'clock. Rev. Dr. Herring will deliver an address. Violin and piano music will be a feature of the evening. All men are cordially invited.

QUIETLY MARRIED.

Justice Mosher Called Upon to Unite Mrs. Ferdie Funks and Nicholas Klockner.

Justice J. P. Mosher was called upon last evening, to unite a couple in the holy bonds of wedlock and the genial Justice promptly responded.

The bride was Mrs. Ferdie Funks, aged 50 years, of 420 Watchung avenue, and the groom was Nicholas Klockner, aged 52 years, a machinist, also a resident of Plainfield. The ceremony was performed at 7:30 o'clock at the home of the bride on Watchung avenue, and after the knot was tied, all sat down to enjoy a bountiful collation. Mr. and Mrs. Gustav Meissner, of Watchung avenue, were the witnesses. In celebration of the event, the couple has announced that a dinner will be given at the house Sunday.

DIVORCE PROCEEDINGS ENDED

PLAINTIFF'S COMPLAINT IN POILLON CASE DISMISSED BY JUSTICE TRUAX.

Has Been in the Supreme Court of New York for More Than a Year and a Half.

The divorce suit brought by Frederica M. Poillon against her husband, John J. H. Poillon, which has been pending in the New York Supreme Court for a year and a half, has at last been terminated in favor of the defendant.

The case was tried before Justice Steckler last spring, and on appeal from the judgment rendered by him, the appellate division of the Supreme Court, in a unanimous opinion, declared that there was no evidence sustaining the charges, except the uncorroborated testimony of one colored witness, whose testimony was contradicted by the defendant, the co-respondent, the co-respondent's husband and several other witnesses; that the circumstances connected with and surrounding the parties at the time to which that witness referred, were such as to justly bring her testimony under suspicion, if not to render it unworthy of belief; that the finding based on that testimony was so manifestly against the weight of evidence that the judgment must be reversed on the facts alone, and it was unnecessary to consider any questions of law raised in the case; that it would not do to dissolve a marriage contract or injure the reputation of others not parties to it upon such testimony; and that a previously good character could not be destroyed in that way by judicial decree.

Upon the case being brought up by the defendant for re-trial, yesterday, before Justice Truax, the plaintiff asked leave to discontinue her action, and on the defendant's refusing to consent to that, her complaint was dismissed.

GLEE CLUB ENTERTAINS.

Students From Rutgers College Give An Excellent Programme at Y. M. C. A.

Under the auspices of the North Plainfield High School Athletic Association, the Rutgers College Glee Club gave a most creditable concert in Y. M. C. A. Hall, last evening. There was a large and thoroughly appreciative audience present.

While the club only has a membership of thirteen, its work was of a high order, showing much care in training under the direction of G. W. Wilmot, leader. The programme was a well selected one, comprising several new numbers. The club sang well together, while the solo work by Mr. Wilmot, Mr. Shivler, as well as the selections by a quartette, consisting of Messrs. Wilmot, Shivler, Gaston and Murphy, was excellent.

W. K. Flanagan's piano selections, as well as his recitations, assisted largely in making the programme one of great pleasure for all. The college boys were recalled time and again and they generously responded to the encores. There was a local interest in the concert by reason of the fact that Arthur Smith, a graduate of the Borough High School, and now a junior at Rutgers, appeared as a member of the club. It is believed that a goodly sum will be realized as profit from the affair.

Agriculturists to Meet.

The quarterly meeting of the Somerset County Board of Agriculture will be held tomorrow at 2 o'clock in in the Court House, Somerville. There will be interesting addresses, after which refreshments will be served.

—Neuman Brothers will offer tomorrow: Asparagus, green beans, tomatoes, spinach, cucumbers, oyster plant, Boston lettuce, water cress, radishes, rhubarb, egg plant, celery, new beets and new potatoes.

FIRE ALARM WHISTLE WILL BE GIVEN UP

To Be Abolished As Soon As the Fire Department Has Enough Regular Paid Men.

REASONS FOR ACTION

NOW USED TO SUMMON THE "CALL MEN" TO A FIRE.

Incidentally it Summons a Good Share of the Population—Dangers of Crowd That Hurries to Fire—No Change Immediately.

Plainfield's fire alarm whistle, the sonorous tones of which carry news of a conflagration to every part of the city, is to abolished. While it will not be given up this year, perhaps not next or the year after, it is only a question of time when that general alarm will be dispensed with and Plainfield will adopt the method used in the larger cities. Such is the aim of the fire committee of the present Common Council which it hopes to carry out successfully some day.

It was not with the intention of notifying the public that the whistle was utilized for a fire alarm. Like the old bells, it aimed to tell the volunteer fire fighters that they were needed. Incidentally, a great many other people took the message to themselves and hastened to the scene of action. When the "call system" was established, the whistle was still necessary as the call men were not on duty at the engine houses and had to be informed of the fire in some way.

Just as soon as the finances of the city will permit it, the regular paid men will be increased in sufficient numbers to meet all requirements and it will then be possible to attend fires without half the population of the city going too. The fire committee is hoping for that day and will work toward that end as rapidly as the city's best interests allow. With a regular paid department, the whistle will be abolished and the alarm sounded by tappers in the different engine houses.

"It will be the best thing in the world for the city when that whistle goes out of commission as a fire alarm," remarked a Plainfielder who, while not a city official, is fully in touch with the fire committee. "Every time the alarm sounds now, everyone who can spare the time hurries to the fire. They not only get in the way of the apparatus at the fire but they interfere with its progress on the road. People seem to forget everything except a wild desire to be the first at the fire. The result is that the streets are filled with hurrying vehicles and scorching wheelmen while running boys and men occupy most of the sidewalk. It is a great wonder to me that somebody has not been killed ere this by the careless drivers who run their horses to the fire.

"Of course, there would be a few who would go to a fire even if there was no public alarm. They would see the apparatus running and would follow it. But that number would be insignificantly small compared with the crowd that would be attracted by a whistle that could be heard all over the city. It would give the apparatus a clearer field and would eliminate a very dangerous feature which exists now. Every time that alarm sounds now, my heart comes up into my throat and I expect to see two or three people killed. The police could prevent some of that wild racing by arresting a few and making examples of them but the danger will always be great as long as the whistle continues to sound the alarm."

Offers Valuable Privileges.

The Y. M. C. A., with its attractive building, is enabled to offer, at a low figure, privileges that cannot be duplicated in this city at any price. The privileges offered embrace gymnasium, shower baths, swimming pool and various other valuable privileges. A cordial invitation is extended to all young men to visit the building.

Cake and Candy.

The Junior Christian Endeavor Society of Trinity Reformed church will hold a cake and candy sale in the primary Sunday-school room tomorrow afternoon, between 2 and 5 o'clock. The proceeds will be for missions.

Red Star Stamps Free.

Tomorrow you can secure $1 worth of stamps free by presenting the Saturday special card with your stamp book at the store, 118 Madison avenue. See ad on page 2.

PRINCETON MEN HOLD BANQUET

Annual Dinner of the Union County Graduates Held in This City Last Evening.

AT PARK AVENUE HOTEL

Elaborate Decorations, Unique Bills of Fare, Excellent Menu and Addresses by Prominent Men Combined to Make It a Great Success.

Yellow and black, the colors of Princeton University, predominated at the banquet of the Princeton Club, of Union county, when that organization held its annual dinner, last evening, at the Park Avenue hotel. The banquet was one of the finest ever prepared at that hostelry and the enthusiasm waxed warm during the evening when vivid recollections of college days, now past, were brought again to mind in story, song or speech. The old college yells and calls were shouted again by collegians who have become prominent in different professions, but who for a few hours permitted themselves to be carried back to the happy days at old Nassau.

The menu was prepared in a very attractive manner and the several courses were indeed a credit to Mrs. Wagstaff, who has recently taken the hotel under her management. On the outside of the menu card was a hand painted Princeton flag, the whole tied with a yellow and black bow. About the room the "Tiger" colors prevailed in every nook and corner. At the eastern end was hung a large banner on which was the word "Princeton," in large black letters while in front of the flag stood a bank of yellow jonquils. Beside each plate at the tables were little boutonnieres of the same flower tied with black ribbon. Through the centre of the tables ran a tapered strip of yellow and black bunting. About the rooms were hung festoons of bunting fastened here and there with banners bearing the class numerals of each class represented in the club. The effect was pleasing and very appropriate.

Those who sat down to the banquet were Walter Gaston, president; Rev. H. E. Mott, toastmaster; Dr. P. W. Brakeley, N. C. J. English, Craig A Marsh, Rev. Professor Thomas C. Hall, of Princeton; Rev. Dr. Henry Elliott, of Princeton; Prof. Paul Van Dyke, of Princeton; S. St. John Mc Cutchen, and Judge E. D. Atwater, of Elizabeth. These sat at the head of the table and among them were the principal speakers of the evening. Others present were: Augustus VanDeventer, Dr. E. W. Hedges, John T. Baker, O. G. Waring, J. P. Murray, E. J. Patterson, Rev. W. E. Rommell, H. C. Munger, Dr. William H. Murray, George P. Mellick, Dr. B. van D. Hedges, D. W. Taylor, Dr. J. Hervey Buchanan, Gardner Miller, Conover English, S. H. Chidester, Henry C. Irons, James Hayes, William Atkinson, Mr. Shellabarger, H. R. Woltmann, F. W. Morris, E. L. Mack, Mr. Scott, H. P. Howe, Schuyler Cady, John A. Bernard, Irving W. Clark, Knox Taylor, R. W. Bailey, McCready Sykes and Mr. Truesdale, Mr. Hack, Mr. Miller and Mr. Murray, who constituted a quartette from the college.

During the dinner the quartette sang several of the college songs which served to awaken enthusiasm in the breasts of those present. After the last course had been served and the cigarettes had been lighted, the toastmaster, Rev. Dr. Henry Elliott Mott, pastor of the Westminster Presbyterian church at Elizabeth, arose and in a jovial manner introduced the first speaker of the evening, Prof. Paul VanDyke. He responded to the toast, "The University." In a simple, though eloquent, manner he told of the aims of the university. He said that it was not aiming so much at teaching young men how to become wealthy but how to take care of wealth.

Prof. Thomas C. Hall, D. D., responded to the toast, "The Alumni," telling of the large number of graduates which have been turned out into the world where they have acheived prominence, wealth and in some cases fame.

S. St. John McCutchen was the next one to respond and after being introduced to the assemblage spoke on "Yale." He dwelt particularly

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN C. E.'S CLOSE YEAR

Reports Showed An Encouraging Condition of Affairs Spiritually and Financially.

NEW OFFICERS ELECTED

COMMITTEES APPOINTED AND OTHER ITEMS OF BUSINESS TRANSACTED.

Society Has Been Active During Past Twelve Months, and Has Accomplished Much Good in Many Quarters.

The annual meeting of the Christian Endeavor Society, of the First Presbyterian church, was held last evening in the chapel, when reports for the past year were received and officers and committees for the coming year were chosen.

The reports showed an encouraging condition, spiritually and financially. While the active membership is but forty, much good has been accomplished in Endeavor work. Under the head of general expenses the report of the treasurer showed the receipts to be $38.92, the expenditures $30.44, leaving a balance of $8.48. The missionary fund showed receipts to be $96.79 and the expenditures $73.22, leaving a balance of $23.57. In all the society has contributed $80.46 to missions. The sum of $20 each is given to foreign and home missions and the balance to camp work, etc.

Among the other reports, the most noteworthy, probably, is that of the committee on good literature and temperance. This committee has during the past year, supplied two local hotels with copies of "The Christian Herald," and "The Endeavor World." All the other reports showed progress along the various lines of work.

After the transaction of the foregoing business, officers and committees for the coming year were chosen as follows: President, John S. Johnston; vice president, Robert Pruden; recording secretary, F. C. Lounsbury, Jr.; corresponding secretary, T. Edward Burroughs; treasurer, Norman Hill; superintendent Junior Christian Endeavor, Mrs. Charlotte Ross; assistants, Miss Beatrice Miner and Miss Leah Hammond. Prayer meeting committee—Mrs. John S. Johnston, chairman; Miss Leah Hammond, Miss Mildred Ulrich, Miss Lizzie Wilcox, Miss Mabel Conover, Mrs. Chas. Hazeltine. Lookout—T. Edward Burroughs, chairman; A. V. Searing, Jr., Miss Jessie Pruden, Miss Bertha Wilcox, Miss Lizzie Bittenbender, Miss Kittie Albert, Miss Beatrice Miner. Social and music—Mrs. A. R. Bond, chairman; Martin A. Korff, Rev. C. E. Herring, Wesley Messersmith, Howard George, Harold Luckey, F. C. Lounsbury, Jr., Norman Hill. Missionary — Miss M. Lou Karner, chairman; Miss Lottie Remsen, Miss Helen Burroughs, Mrs. A. R. Bond, Miss Florence Morrison, Miss Miriam Wilcox. Flower and visiting—Miss Gertrude Conover, chairman; Mrs. C. M. Hummer, Miss Mamie Mehl, Miss Catherine Finger, Miss Fanny Mills, Miss Gertrude Hazeltine. Good literature and temperance—C. M. Hummer, chairman: J. B. Hill, Edgar George, Robert Pruden.

NEW WIRES AND RAILS.

Local Trolley Company is Repairing Its System.

The local trolley company has been making many repairs to its lines during the past three weeks. The repairs were in the shape of new cross wires in many places, new rails and repairing the road bed. Some of the cars have been receiving some attention although the repairs have not been very extensive. It will not be long before the summer cars are placed upon the local lines and then the winter, or closed cars will receive attention.

New Quarters Considered.

It is quite likely that L. Singer, proprietor of the New York Bargain Store on West Front street, will move to the store now occupied by S. Scheuer & Company, when the latter firm moves to its new property where J. A. Smith & Brother are now located. Scheuer's lease does not expire until a year from the coming May, but arrangements will probably be made to sub-lease the store to Mr. Singer.

Dance by Whist Club.

Invitations will be issued in a few days by the Lenox Whist Club for the dance and reception to be given at the Casino on Tuesday evening, April 28. Westervelt, of Newark, will furnish music.

I. C. T. AS HOST.

Entertains One Hundred Friends at One of the Most Successful Dances Yet Given.

The I. C. T. Club again played host last evening when it entertained fully a hundred friends at a reception and dance. It proved to be a most enjoyable affair. The rooms were decorated with bands of red bunting and gave to the hall a very pleasing appearance. The music, which was exceptionally fine, was provided by Suhr's Imperial Orchestra of four pieces. The committee having the affair in charge comprised Charles Overbaugh, William Waters, Edmund Texier, Irving Mills and Leonce Texier.

The dancing began shortly after 9 o'clock and continued until midnight when refreshments were served during an intermission. It was one of the most successful dances yet given by the club.

WILL JOURNEY TO HONDURAS

REV. GEORGE N. KARNER TO INSPECT LA MESA PLANTATION FOR LOCAL CO.

Property is Devoted to the Raising of Bananas, and Plainfielders Hold Stock.

Now that the Plainfield Banana Growers Company has secured subscriptions for 200 shares of the stock, arrangements have been made with Rev. George N. Karner, of Plainfield avenue, for the latter to visit Honduras and inspect the LaMesa property in accordance with the contract entered into on January 13, 1903, between the LaMesa Plantation Company and the trustees, Mayor O. L. Jenkins, J. Fred MacDonald and Frank H. Smith.

Mr. Karner is a graduate of Princeton University and the Princeton Theological Seminary. He was pastor of the West End Presbyterian church of Albany, for twelve years and chaplain of the New York State Assembly. He is the son-in-law of A. L. Cadmus, of Plainfield avenue, and was brought up on a farm near New Brunswick. He spent some time farming at his home and also some time among large farms in Dakota. In the judgment of all concerned Mr. Karner seems to be well fitted to go to Honduras and inspect the banana plantation in which so many Plainfielders have taken stock and are otherwise interested. Mr. Karner will make arrangements for the trip in the near future.

TO GIVE FARCE COMEDY.

Members of Cup Bearers' Circle Want Funds for Worthy Cause.

The members of the Cup Bearers' Circle, King's Daughters, under the direction of Mrs. L. H. Biglow, Jr., are planning to give an entertainment at the Casino, Tuesday afternnoon, April 14, at 3:30 o'clock, the proceeds of which will be used to employ a city missionary to take care of a reading room for girls at Miss Sara Curry's mission on Eighth street near Avenue B, New York. Girls about the age of the members of the Cup Bearers' Circle will be looked after and assisted in a practical way.

The entertainment will consist of a farce comedy in one act entitled "The Trouble at Satterlee," to be followed with tableaux from "Cinderella." There will also be vocal and instrumental music.

LAST GRIGGS LECTURE.

Given Yesterday Afternoon on "The Expiation of Margaret."

The sixth and last lecture of the course given on Goethe's "Faust," by Prof. Edward Howard Griggs, was given yesterday afternoon at Vincent chapel. The subject was "The Expiation of Margaret" and, after treating it at some length length, Professor Griggs gave an extensive resume of the second part of "Faust."

It was announced at the close of the lecture that Professor Griggs will give a lecture on "Saint Francis of Assisi," at All Souls church, on the evening of Friday, May 1.

Sawed Off His Finger.

While sawing some wood in the rear of his house on Somerset street, Saturday, William Johnson, who lives near the end of the trolley terminus, sawed his third finger on the left hand nearly off. He went to a borough physician and had the injured member dressed.

Basket Social.

A basket social will be held at the German Lutheran church, tomorrow evening. An interesting programme has been prepared by the committee in charge and a most enjoyable time will be spent by all who attend. Music will be rendered by some students of Upsala College.

UNITY LODGE PASSES TWO DECADE MARK

Knights of Pythias From This City and Vicinity Help Make It An Auspicious Event.

HAD A FINE PROGRAMME

VAUDEVILLE ARTISTS ENTERTAIN WITH STORY AND MYSTERIOUS TRICKS.

Grand Chancellor P. F. Shanley, of Jersey City, Addresses Gathering and Offers Congratulations—Those in Charge of Affair.

Twenty years of life as an organization were rounded out by Unity Lodge, No. 102, K. of P., last evening. In honor of the event the members entertained several hundred Knights from this city and other places in Reform Hall. An entertainment of exceptional merit furnished by professional talent and refreshments afterward were the features of the gathering.

The artists taking part in the programme were from vaudeville circuits and were very clever. The house was kept in one continual roar of laughter by S. V. Sanford and Bert Forest, character comedians and vocalists. They had an inexhaustible fund of new jokes and performed some good impersonations. Another artist was Professor Neuman, an expert in mental telepathy or mind reading and an adept handler of playing cards, doing some tricks that were startling in their originality. In his mind reading work he was helped by several of the lodge members who sought to baffle him but without success. Other numbers on the programme were given by Chris Praetorius, pianist.

In addition to these, the Knights enthusiastically received Grand Chancellor P. Frank Shanley, of Jersey City, who gave an address in his usual excellent and interesting way. He was unsparing in his congratulations to Unity and bespoke for it continued success during the next two decades. The address of welcome to the guests was made by George L. VanEmburg, chancellor commander of Unity, and a roll call of members showed a large per centage present. Following the entertainment, adjournment was taken to the lower hall where refreshments and a smoker were enjoyed.

The committee in charge during the evening consisted of Horace J. Martin, chairman; Jere VanWinkle, J. W. A. Bauersachs, B. G. H. Leonard and Frank Humpston. They were assisted by the majority of Unity members in receiving the guests. Among the latter were delegations from Perseverance Lodge, No. 74, Crescent Company, No. 13, Uniformed Rank, of this city and K. of P. lodges at Bound Brook and Elizabeth.

OFFICERS ELECTED.

By Members of First M. E. Church Sunday-School Board at Annual Meeting Last Evening.

The annual meeting of the Sunday-school Board of the First M. E. church was held last evening in Vincent chapel, when reports for the year were given and officers elected. The report of the secretary showed a total enrollment of 458, including forty-three in the Home department and twenty-six on the cradle roll. The treasurer, Arthur E. Crone, reported that all bills are paid and there is a balance of $8 in the treasury. He also reported that the missionary society of the school had raised $250 during the year for missions.

The officers elected for the coming year are as follows: Superintendent, James R. Joy; secretary, James A. Stafford; treasurer, Arthur E. Crone; librarian, Thomas H. Stafford. The officers for the missionary society were elected as follows: President, J. M. Derby; vice president, Samuel Bingaman; secretary and treasurer, Arthur E. Crone.

Feathers in His Throat.

Samuel P. Saunderson, a resident of West Third street, is ill at his home suffering with a peculiar throat trouble. He was picking some chickens, Sunday, when some feathers lodged in his throat while in a fit of coughing. He was unable to dislodge the foreign matter and since then his throat has been badly inflamed. He is to submit to an operation, today, for the removal of the feathers.

Iona's Dance.

Iona Council, Degree of Pocohontas, will hold a dance in Red Men's Hall Wednesday evening, April 1.

COLUMN FOR THE SHOPPERS

SOME OF ATTRACTIONS TO BE FOUND AT LOCAL STORES.

A Few Interesting Items Concerning Greater Plainfield's Merchants

M. Weisberger, the West Front street clothier, is showing an unusual assortment of clothing for men and boys, in all the latest styles, best quality of goods and the lowest prices.

Jerry Foss has an experienced buyer to select his stock of fish every day. It's always fresh. "Get in on the ground floor" as they say in vernacular and have a nice shad sent home. Telephone your orders.

J. Hervey Doane, of Park avenue, is an optician and he is perfectly able to fit any eyes with glasses. Examinations are free and satisfaction guaranteed. Only the best quality of pebble glass is used and great care is used in fitting the eyes.

Meats—the kind that nourish, invigorate and make new blood, not those that were better left alone. That's what VanSickle, the North avenue market man offers. None but the best. Low cash prices, prompt deliveries without cost.

Since the H. E. Gayle Hardware Company has secured additional room, the firm is better able to display its large and attractive line of goods. All the necessary implements for farming, as well as a full line of seeds will be found in stock.

"In spring the young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of love" but the practical man thinks about his health. How is yours? Feel weak, run down, perpetually tired? Nagle, the West Front street druggist, has the remedy that does the business. Pleasant to take, always effective.

One of the record-breaking sales of the season is that which is now going on at the New York Bargain Store on West Front street. The sale is one of the great sources of bargains and some of the inducements offered by the managers in hats, caps, knee pants, trousers and suits is without parallel.

With one of the most elaborate assortments of flowers, ribbons and other hat accessories I. H. Boehm's spring millinery opening has begun with a most liberal patronage. This department has proven to be one of the most popular in the store and careful attention is taken in remodeling and making hats to order.

Charles Conover & Company, painters and decorators, of Elmwood place, are showing samples of the finest English wall-papers which cannot be excelled in quality or price. The firm is also showing American goods in a wide variety. Now is the time to contract for papering and the firm will be pleased to give you an estimate.

CITY JOTTINGS.

—Mr. and Mrs. James Huntington moved yesterday from Pearl street to Elm place.

—Ellis T. Jacobsen, of Westfield, has secured a position with the Pond Tool Works in this city.

—N. Douglass Drake will lead the Christian Endeavor Society service at the First Baptist church, this evening. A full attendance of the members is desired.

—Mrs. Charlotte M. Ross, who will sing at the Y. M. C. A. meeting Sunday afternoon, was the contralto soloist at the last orchestral concert of the Y. M. C. A.

Samuel T. Montcalm, of Bound Brook, who has been employed in one of the local shops for the past year, will leave this week for Cuba, where he will engage in fruit raising with a New York concern.

Clarence H. G. Norton, of Somerville, who will leave shortly for Europe where he will study engineering, was in this city yesterday and was entertained by his friend, James Harris, of East Fifth street.

Long Report.

W. E. Collins, who is engaged in auditing the accounts of the city, is progressing favorably with the work. He hopes to conclude the work within a short time. The report will be a voluminous one.

Church Election.

A business meeting for the election of trustees will be held at the First M. E. church Monday evening.

A Remarkable Case.

One of the most remarkable cases of a cold, deep-seated on the lungs, causing pneumonia, is that of Mrs. Gertrude E. Fenner, Marion, Ind., who was entirely cured by the use of One Minute Cough Cure. She says: "The coughing and straining so weakened me that I run down in weight from 148 to 92 pounds. I tried a number of remedies to no avail until I used One Minute Cough Cure. Four bottles of this wonderful remedy cured me entirely of the cough, strengthened my lungs and restored me to my normal weight, health and strength." L. W. Randolph.

The Stomach Is the Man.

A weak stomach weakens the man, because it cannot transform the food he eats into nourishment. Health and strength cannot be restored to any sick man or weak woman without first restoring health and strength to the stomach. A weak stomach cannot digest enough food to feed the tissues and revive the tired and run down limbs and organs of the body. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure cleanses, purifies, sweetens and strengthens the glands and membranes of the stomach, and cures indigestion, dyspepsia and all stomach troubles. L. W. Randolph

INQUEST FRUITLESS.

Burdick Case Closed, but Murder Mystery Unsolved.

PENNELL INQUIRY NEXT WEEK.

Three New Witnesses on the Closing Day, but No Light Thown on the Ashland Avenue Tragedy—Several Theories Developed.

BUFFALO, March 27.—The inquest into the death of Edwin L. Burdick, who was murdered just a month ago in his home on Ashland avenue, ended at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon. At the close of the inquest Judge Murphy announced that an official inquiry into the tragic death of Arthur R. Pennell, who has figured so prominently in the Burdick inquest, will be begun next Monday.

The Burdick inquest has served to develop several theories relative to the crime that had been suggested many days ago, but it would be hardly correct to say that the investigation has added anything more than an appearance of reasonability to any of these theories. Aside from the failure of the authorities to secure evidence bearing directly upon the commission of the crime or to establish the identity of the murderer, there is a feeling of satisfaction that the name of Mr. Burdick has been lifted from the mire in which it was first dragged and his character shown in its true light. The evidence brought out under the skillful examination of witnesses by District Attorney Coatsworth has shown Burdick to have been a loving father, always willing to sacrifice his own happiness and pride for the sake of his children; that he was the victim of false friendship and broken pledges and, in face of it all, a forgiving, indulgent husband.

The efforts of the authorities to fix the crime upon some one of course will not end with the inquest. At the same time there is now little hope of fastening the crime upon any one, and the murder probably will go down in criminal history as one of the great unsolved mysteries.

Three new witnesses appeared on the stand yesterday. They were the Rev. L. M. Powers, pastor of the Church of the Messiah, where the Burdick family and Mrs. Hull were regular attendants, and Detectives Cornish and Coughlin, who were the first police officials to arrive at the Burdick home when the crime was discovered.

Trenton Legislation.

TRENTON, N. J., March 27.—The Passaic pollution bill was the subject of another long discussion in the senate yesterday. It was advanced to a third reading Wednesday night, but Mr. McKee asked to have the bill returned to a second reading for the purpose of amendment. Mr. McKee was supported by the Democrats, who were prompted to a spirit of retaliation because of the action of the Republican house caucus Wednesday night in deciding to support the Jersey City excise bill. Mr. McKee's motion prevailed, and the Passaic senator offered an amendment that so far as practicable only union labor and citizens of New Jersey should be employed by the contractors in the building of the sewer.

McKinley Portrait For White House.

WASHINGTON, March 27.—The portrait of the late President McKinley painted by W. D. Murphy, who was in competition with a number of artists, has been accepted by Colonel Bingham, superintendent of public buildings and grounds, as the one that will be hung in the White House. The portrait has met the approval of some of the late president's closest friends from Ohio. The portrait is life sized and represents the president in one of his characteristic attitudes. It was submitted to Justice Day before being accepted, and he suggested a few minor changes, which have been made. The picture is incased in a frame of gold.

New Rapid Fire Gun.

CLEVELAND, O., March 27.—A test of rapid firing guns the invention of Dr. S. N. McClean of this city was made in the presence of General Nelson A. Miles and General Joe Wheeler in this city. General Miles was present as the president of the board of fortifications. The firing was done from the top of a tall building into Lake Erie. The McClean gun shoots twenty-five times with one pull of the trigger. A circular plate fitted to the side of the weapon feeds the cartridges. Gas generated by the first explosion sets the plate automatically in motion. The gun can also be used as a machine gun.

Carthusian Monks Shut Out.

PARIS, March 27.—The chamber of deputies has completed the government's programme regarding the male religious orders which applied for authorization to remain in France by refusing by a large majority the application of the Carthusian monks, who were separated from the other orders as forming a class apart, they being employed in manufacturing a cordial. Theirs is the wealthiest order in France.

New Brunswick Legislature Opens.

FREDERICTON, N. B., March 27.—The New Brunswick legislature was opened yesterday afternoon by Lieutenant Governor Snowball, with attendant ceremonies. The speech from the throne referred to the prosperity of the province and Canada as a whole, the fishery award, the effort put forward against the distribution of federal representation in parliament and other matters of less importance.

Weather Probabilities.

LAST YEAR'S PROFITS TO STOCKHOLDERS.

40% Dividends Paid by One Stock. Another in 13 Months Paid 27%

We want wide-awake agents in every town in the state. Insurance men and others are making $100 a week as a side line.

We sell railroad stocks, city and municipal bonds, and other conservative forms of investment paying from 4 to 6% annually. Also high-grade industrial stocks, a trifle speculative, paying much larger rates of interest. We will be pleased to send you our beautifully illustrated book for investors.

We have been established twelve years and have offices in all the principal cities of the United States and Canada.

We buy insurance policies, and those having insurance on the 10, 15, or 20 year plan, who desire their money before policies mature, will be able to make money by writing us for figures.

We have only a limited amount of the 40% dividend stock. We do not guarantee delivery at present prices after April 15th. Of the 27% stock we also have a small block. Both are solid industrial enterprises.

BIG FIGHT AT ALBANY

The $101,000,000 Canal Bill Passed by Assembly.

FIFTY-TWO REPUBLICANS OPPOSE IT

Vote on Referendum Stood 87 to 55 After Nine Hours of Heated Discussion—Every Amendment Defeated.

ALBANY, N. Y., March 27.—The $101,000,000 canal referendum bill passed the assembly last night just after 8 o'clock by a vote of 87 nays to 55 yeas after a discussion of nine hours, in which party lines were practically abandoned.

All but three of the negative votes were cast by Republicans, the Democrats voting almost solidly for the bill. The three exceptions on the Democratic side were Leader Palmer of Schoharie and Messrs. W. V. Cooke of Albany and Pallace of Monroe.

On the Republican side, of the thirty-five committee chairmen only twelve voted for the bill, most of the chairmen of important committees being in the negative, including Leader Rogers, Burnett, Fowler, Hammond, Phillips, Dickinson, Apgar, Plank, Stevens, Nye, Landon, Platt, Leggett, Alston, Hanford, Traub, J. T. Smith, Reynolds, Hooker, Hoadley and M. Davis. The committee chairmen who voted for the bill were Morgan, Bedell, Doughty, Remsen, Patton, Lewis, Costello, Chambers, Hughes, Cook of Erie, Graeff and Orr.

The absentees were Candee, Coon, Duer, J. J. McCarthy, G. H. Smith, Treat and Ulrich. Speaker Nixon did not vote.

The debate was long and covered exhaustively the oft repeated arguments upon the canal project. Among the speakers were Messrs. Palmer, Bostwick, Hinson, Nichols, Butler, Cox, Fowler, Burnett, Merritt, W. V. Cooke, McKeown, Landon, Stevens and Pallace.

The real battle was after the speeches were ended, when it came to the vote upon the twenty-four amendments which had at earlier stages been introduced, the adoption of which, Mr. Bostwick, introducer of the assembly bill, declared, would be an act of bad faith. Every possible means was used by the opponents of the bill to put off the final roll call. Upon most of the amendments they demanded the yeas and nays, and fully an hour of extra time was expended in this way, but each and every one was defeated by a vote approximately the same as that which finally passed the bill.

Upon the roll call Leader Rogers opposed the measure, explaining that he had reserved his expression of opinion so that there should be no semblance of party influence in the result, but each man should be free to vote according to his judgment and the wishes of his constituency. He was unreservedly opposed to the bill, he said, in its principle and in its detail.

Mr. Merritt of St. Lawrence in opposing the bill referred to the "interference" of Leader Murphy of Tammany Hall in the matter, regretting that he himself had been forced to abandon the hallucination, as he called it, that the Republican majority was dominated by its own voters and its own leaders.

There was an attempt immediately after the adjournment last night to get the excise committee of the assembly together so as to report on the bill raising the excise fees by 50 per cent. Chairman Conkling tried to get a quorum, but the tired members would not attend. He thereupon announced a meeting for next Tuesday. The probabilities are that the bill will come up for final passage Wednesday. Governor Odell, it is understood, will await its passage before he signs the canal bill, as he desires to have the revenue producing bill a law before he signs the big canal bill.

Railroad Officials Indicted.

NEWARK, N. J., March 27.—The grand jury has returned a big batch of indictments in connection with the Clifton avenue disaster in which nine school children lost their lives when a trolley car was run down by a train on Feb. 19. It is rumored that the grand jury has found indictments against the president and most of the officials of the North Jersey Street Railway company and has not indicted the motorman and conductor of the car and the engineer of the train.

Big Fire In Akron, O.

AKRON, O., March 27.—The explosion of a can of gasoline at the plant of the American Cycle company here resulted in the destruction by fire of the entire works and also the plant of the india rubber company adjoining. The flames spread with remarkable rapidity. Charles Leroy and Lewis Hireman, workmen in the bicycle plant, were painfully burned by the exploding gasoline. The losses will aggregate $250,000, with $140,000 insurance.

Children Ate Poisonous Roots.

GLENWOOD, Ia., March 27.—Two children, aged eight and twelve years, the sons of J. Y. Johnson, are dead from eating the roots of an unknown plant growing in the yard of their home. A third child is still in a precarious condition. Physicians are unable to say what the plant is, as it is strange to this part of Iowa.

Typewriter Strike Ended.

LITTLE FALLS, N. Y., March 27.—The strike of 127 alignment men and inspectors in the Remington typewriter works at Ilion has been settled, and the men returned to work this morning. The wages to be paid for aligning machines, which was the cause of the strike, will be settled later.

THE FIRE ALARM.

The statement is made on good authority that it is the desire of the fire committee of the Common Council to abolish the fire alarm whistle as soon as the present fire department can be enlarged sufficiently to allow it to answer alarms without having to wait for outside help. While it would seem strange to no longer hear the roar of that whistle, one cannot help but see the wisdom of much a move.

The Daily Press has often pointed out the danger to life and limb which comes every time the fire alarm blows. Small boys in vehicles and a-wheel and some boys not so small, feel it their duty to be the first at the fire. It would be all right if it didn't happen to seriously endanger the rest of us. While there has been a decrease in this reckless driving of late, there is still room for much improvement.

It is perfectly proper that the fire apparatus should lose no time in getting at the fire but that is no reason why the spectators should enjoy the same privilege. There are city ordinances which forbid fast driving or wheeling and no provision has been discovered attached to these ordinances which makes them void at the time of a fire. A few arrests of some of the worst of these offenders might serve as a wholesome lesson. Parents should feel safe when their children venture out on the street and not be compelled to feel that the sounding of the alarm may carry death or injury to their offspring.

The Board of Trade has joined in the campaign to secure better service on the local trolley system. The secretary has been instructed to communicate with the proper officials and see if something cannot be done. One change, which would be generally appreciated and which could be made with no trouble at all, would be to change the meeting place of the cars on the Watchung avenue switch from Second street to North avenue. The later corner is the natural centre, owing to its proximity to the railroad station, and the public would be the gainer if the cars met at that end of the switch instead of the other. The transfer agent could also be moved to that corner.

Those who have kept posted with the progress of educational affairs in this State will freely admit that the one-session plan for public schools is advisible for the older grades. It was started in Plainfield years ago and there has never developed any circumstances which would lead the people to desire a return to the old two-session system.

It is a new idea that an engine shall be compelled to give warning of its approach to a bridge or overhead crossing. The suggestion appeals strongly, however, to owners of spirited horses. The Legislature has viewed it so well as to take favorable consideration on the subject in the shape of a bill.

The idea that an advertisement has more chances of being read in a newspaper which carries few is a mistake, remarks the Philadelphia Record. Most people read "ads" for information, and look for them in newspapers of character which are used by many advertisers.

The Legislature is beginning to see the wisdom of selecting an expert to outline the proper course for that body. It has just appointed Senator Childs as a member of the committee to arrange the dinner to Governor Murphy. What could be more appropriate?

It is pleasing to note that one of Plainfield's wealthy citizens has just enabled one of the city's worthiest charitable institutions to considerably enlarge its scope. The Children's Home is well deserving of the generous gift it has just received.

Both of the local golf clubs are planning to open earlier this season than ever before. In neither club is there any apparent loss of interest in the royal and ancient game.

It is consoling to remember that building operations on air castles are never interrupted by strikes among workmen.

on the good feeling which existed between the yellow and black, of Princeton and blue, of Yale, and said that he hoped that that feeling would continue to grow.

Craig A. Marsh was the next introduced and his response was "Union."

His address went right to the heart of those who were his hearers when he said that in the alumni being merged into clubs throughout this part of the State the best interests of the college were served as the alumnus is always in touch with his Alma Mater. Other impromptu addresses were made during the evening and it was very late before the banquet broke up with many rousing cheers.

The committee which had the affair in charge comprised Dr. B. vanD. Hedges, Dr. W. H. Murray, E. J. Patterson and Conover English. The committee was assisted in decorating by Mrs. E T. Patterson, Mrs. Henry Irons, Mrs. Joseph Shellabarger and Mrs. W. H. Murray.

The oldest Alumni present at the banquet was Judge E. D. Atwater, of Elizabeth, who graduated in the class of 1862, Prosecutor English came next, having graduated in the class of 1865 and Dr. P. W. Brakeley, of Dunellen, follows, having been a member of the class of 1867. From these classes the representation ran up to the undergraduates.

Previous to the banquet a meeting was held when, as is the custom of the club at that time, officers were elected. They were: President, Dr. W. H. Murray; vice president, Senator Joseph Cross; secretary, Dr. B. vanD. Hedges, and treasurer, Rev. H. E. Mott, of Elizabeth.

Horses for Chemical Engine.

A new team of gray horses has been secured and placed in commission at fire department headquarters on West Second street. They were secured from Stonewall Jackson and have proven to be one of the best teams bought for the local department in some time. They have been detailed to the chemical engine.

Probably at Casino.

It is quite probable that William Holmes will arrange to give the "Pirates of Penzance," at the Casino, after Easter. Those who are to appear in the opera have been rehearsing for some time past and excellent progress has been made. The dates will probably be May 21 and 22.

Compromise Expected.

An attempt will be made April 6, at Newark, to settle the long-standing troubles between V. L. Frazee and the Wilkinson, Gaddis Company. It is understood that a compromise will be made to the satisfaction of both parties.

Rehearsals Progressing Favorably.

The rehearsals for the oratorio, to be given at the First Baptist church just before Easter, are progressing favorably. E. J. Fitzhugh, of New York, is in charge.

SUBURBAN NEWS

A Department Devoted to the Minor Events in Greater Plainfield's Suburbs by Our Own Correspondents.

DUNELLEN.

Quite a large number gathered in the Presbyterian chapel last evening to hear Rev. C. E. Herring deliver a lecture on a trip through Belgium and Holland. Mr. Herring is an unusually interesting talker and his address was much enjoyed. The money which was received at the door will be used for the usual purposes.

The schedule of the local baseball team is being filled rapidly and some excellent games will be played here this year. It is said that the team will be strengthened by several strong players from the Levering & Garrigues factory.

The wedding of George Apgar, of this place, and Miss Chrissie Ames, of New Bridge, has been announced to take place on Wednesday, April 8. The wedding will take place in Hackensack.

Thomas Thomas, formerly of this place, has recently won second honors for Academic Seniors at Princeton University.

The residence of Charles Dickason on South avenue has been rented to an employe at Levering & Garrigues factory.

An extra force of fifteen men will enlarge the number now at Levering & Garrigues factory on Monday.

Mrs. Cornelius Taylor is staying in Paterson for a few days because of the death of her mother.

Miss Laura Lowrie, of Dover has returned home after a visit at the home of Robert Lowrie.

The Dunellen Gun Club will soon start operations for the coming season on its present range.

Cottage prayer meeting will be held this evening at the home of Eugene Runyon.

The Ladies' Orchestra played at a concert given in Somerville last evening.

Garretson & Gray have recently purchased two new horses.

A regular meeting of the W. C. T. U. was held yesterday.

NEW MARKET.

The Farther Lights Missionary Society will hold a social and apron sale at the home of R. L. Pierce on April 9. Ice cream and cake will be on sale.

Mr. and Mrs. F. P. Vail have been entertaining Mrs. D. P. Vail, of New Burnswick, and her neices for the past few days.

Noah Raby, the aged inmate of the Piscataway poor farm, will celebrate his 131st birthday next Wednesday.

Regular practice was held by the brass band last evening at the usual place.

George Coriell has been laid up for the past few days with a sprained ankle.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

The High School baseball team will journey to Westfield tomorrow afternoon to cross bats with the team of the Westfield High School. Manager Bryant Johnston has had his team out for practice for the past two weeks and while some of the material is new, still the team gives promise of making any of the school teams hustle to win out. As this is the opening game of the season, quite a number from town will go with the boys to help root out a victory.

The first of April will see a number of changes among the residents of the village. Real Estate Dealer Thomas M. Paff cannot begin to get enough $10 and $12 per month houses to supply the demand. Nearly every week he has out of town parties making inquiries for small houses.

A number from town attended the "Edison Moving Pictures" at the Park Avenue Baptist church last night. George E. Hall, superintendent of the Park Avenue Sunday-school is a former popular superintendent in the local Baptist Sunday-school.

Twilight Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., held a regular meeting in the Library rooms last night. The members of Twilight are making a determined effort to infuse more interest in the meetings and to increase the membership of the Council.

Collector Chas. Scheelen, of the borough, has nearly a clean tax budget for the past year. The only outstanding taxes being on several pieces of real estate. These will probably be settled in the near future.

The members of the Brooksides will hold a sweepstake shoot tomorrow afternoon on their grounds along the brook.

Mrs. Warren Ackerman, who has been spending several weeks at Lakewood, is expected to return home this week.

Miss Kate McDonough, who has been spending a few days with Newark friends, has returned home.

Miss Susie Parse was the guest Thursday of her niece, Mrs. Wm. R. Buckley, of Plainfield.

The Friday evening meeting at the Baptist church tonight will be led by the pastor.

Richard Hart, of New York City, is spending two weeks with friends in town.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

A child was recently born into the family of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick McDonough.

The sermon topic by Rev. W. A. Spinney tonight will be "The Patience of God."

Huber Cubberley is under the care of Dr. W. J. Nelson for a severe cold.

Sumner Randolph and family, have taken up their residence at Plainfield.

Mrs. Oscar Thorn is suffering from an attack of tonsilitis.

Mrs. W. A. Spinney has returned to Newark.

MISTAKES GIRLS MAKE.

The Greatest Is Telling Their Troubles to Other Girls.

"What is the greatest mistake girls make, in your opinion?" asked little Miss Debutante.

"Telling their troubles to other girls," responded Mrs. Worldlywise promptly. "Lord help the innocent who does that! The number of women who cannot keep a secret is positively appalling. The shortness of women's friendships is also appalling. Now, while there are women who will keep secrets as long as a friendship lasts, there are practically none who will keep any kind of a secret after it is all over. Therefore, when you have confided in a woman, either don't quarrel with her or else resign yourself to have your secrets public property."

"I shall be pretty careful," was Miss Debutante's comment. "If you don't mind pouring out another cup of tea for me," continued Mrs. Woldriywise. "I can continue on this subject for a good hour, for certainly the way of the average girl is simply peppered with mistakes—mistakes for which she has to atone very heavily at times. If there is anything I despise, it is the girl 'rusher,' for instance, the politic girl 'rusher.' She discovers that you give little Sunday evening affairs, for example, or that you have a lot of men friends. That settles it. She becomes introduced to you, she 'dears' you and hangs around you until you invite her, then she haunts your house morning, noon and night until she has annexed all your desirable friends, principally those of the male sex. When your parties become fewer or else ancient history, she adjourns to another woman's house and does the same thing over again. Then there is the intense sort of girl. She writes you interminable letters, wondering why you don't call and begging you to ring her up on the telephone and say whether she has hurt your feelings. Oh, why will a girl have the interminable letter craze either with women, or, worse still, with men? Oh, the precious time wasted, the tears spent over them, the midnight oil burned! And if girls only knew the contempt men have for the letter writing fiend! Such an awful bore she becomes!

"Being selfish and talking about one's petty affairs is another ailment common to girls; being stupid or personal in their conversation when they are invited out is another. How can they help it? Why, you're not invited out to dinner, for instance, to make a clam of yourself and simply guzzle food. Do as a clever friend of mine did. She kept a little book in which she wrote every bright thing she heard, and she always had an anecdote, a joke or some witty saying ready. That girl never had to angle for invitations.

"One of the most heinous faults, though, is neglecting little courtesies, particularly notes and such. I know of a girl who lost the best friend she had simply by neglecting to thank her for a favor. When a woman puts herself out for you, the least you can do is to thank her. Girls who are careless in this respect may make friends, but they never keep them. A thoughtful little note, a mere line or two, means so much.

"One of the silliest things girls do with men is to lose their temper. I think nearly all the unhappiness between men and girls arises from this one cause. Always remember that it takes two to make a disagreement, and it never pays to lose your temper. If he has been inconsiderate, either pass it over in silence, be good natured about it or else drop his acquaintance entirely. Don't always be looking for offense. That is the trouble with girls—they are always imagining things which men don't even dream of, for men take a large view of things. They are not all the time looking for little snags. If you want men friends, be good natured—dignified, of course, but good natured. Don't nag and don't be fussing all the time for fear they are trying to injure your feelings. I think that is about all I have to say, but perhaps it can help you," Mrs. Worldlywise remarked dryly as she rose and put on her gloves.

MAUD ROBINSON.

To Tax Old Maids and Bachelors.

A bill has been introduced into the New York legislature providing for a tax on old maids and bachelors, the proceeds to go to the support of foundling asylums. This is not fair. Women may not pop the question, and when a woman remains single she is entitled to the benefit of the doubt whether or not it is her own fault.

[Copyright, 1900, by A. N. Kellogg Newspaper Co.]

Mrs. Lancaster turned Evelyn's white, impassioned face towards the light of the moon and grasped her rigid hands. "You almost frighten me, darling," she repeated; "what has wrought you up to such a pitch of excitement?"

"I think I ought to tell you all about it," answered Evelyn, after a moment's deliberation, "but it must be in confidence."

"You can trust me, dear," the sweet old lady assured her.

They sat down in a hammock and Evelyn kept it in motion with her slippered feet as they rested lightly on the floor.

"Do you remember the young man I showed you at church that day?"

"The one," questioned Mrs. Lancaster, "who you said had saved your life?"

"Yes; do you remember him?"

"Quite well; his face made a wonderful impression on me, and I have thought of him a hundred times after all you told me of his struggle to better his condition and educate himself. I don't think I ever saw a finer specimen of physical manhood; he had a superb face. Were you alluding to him?"

Then in a low voice full of agitation Evelyn explained.

For several minutes after the girl had finished the old lady remained silent, then she asked gently, cautiously, as if she were treading on ground upon which she had not been invited:

"Do you realize what all this means, dear Evelyn?"

"I realize that Mr. Fanshaw is a friend of mine, and that Capt. Winkle has tried to humiliate him in public."

"I did not mean exactly that," the widow corrected, quickly. "It is your own danger that I am thinking about."

"My danger?" Evelyn emphasized the first word.

"Yes, you see it is difficult for a young girl to be wholly in sympathy with such a noble, suffering character as this Mr. Fanshaw without running a risk of becoming dangerously interested. Young girls are prone to care for what is withheld from them, and you may not be an exception to the rule. You ought to keep the fact always before you that nothing but disaster could come from an alliance with one so far beneath you, at least in point of birth; you see what I mean."

Evelyn drew herself up stiffly.

"You need have no fears in that direction," she averred. "We have neither of us thought of that."

"But," gently persisted the old lady, "you may not even now know your own heart. I am afraid you could not have been so fierce just now had the captain been talking about any other man."

"I don't like to think for a moment, Mrs. Lancaster, that Mr. Fanshaw is beneath us in any respect."

"Ah," interrupted the older woman, "that is still another proof of your peril; you even want to feel that he is your equal, when, my poor child, all that you may know him to be mentally, morally or otherwise cannot make him so. Remember your father's pride—the high standing of your family. It would break his heart, Evelyn."

"What would break his heart?" burst petulantly from the girl's lips.

"It would break his heart to refuse you anything, and yet he could not consent to your marrying into such a family as Mr. Fanshaw's."

Evelyn's face was very white, and in the moonlight it looked ghastly.

"I have never dreamt of such a thing," she said, quite truthfully. "I have thought only of his happiness—I have only prayed that he might triumph over all the obstacles in his way to success and happiness."

The negro quarter, consisting of a village of about thirty log cabins, lay on the left of the mansion, and from its intricate, lanelike streets came three mulatto musicians, carrying a guitar, a mandolin and a mouth organ. They paused at the steps and began playing. This caused the card players, who were evidently tired of their game, to rise and come out on the veranda, the colonel last of all, clapping his fat hands in unison with the music.

Mrs. Lancaster spoke quickly, as if she feared the others might come down to where she and Evelyn sat.

"I fondly hope Mr. Fanshaw will succeed. He may become a great man in time, but he ought not to be hampered by anything, and I know of no greater hindrance to a young man than for him to love some one above his station. Therefore, dear, you must be very careful; you must not allow him to fall in love with me."

"In love with me?" the words were spoken scarcely louder than a whisper,

"I SHALL REPORT THIS TO YOUR FATHER," HE THREATENED.

and then Mrs. Lancaster felt a shudder pass through the figure in her arms. Evelyn was thinking of a look she had seen in Ronald Fanshaw's eyes as they sat alone that morning.

At this juncture the couple saw Capt. Winkle sauntering down the veranda towards them.

"He is looking for you," said the widow; "shall I leave you alone with him?"

Evelyn's voice sounded harsh when she replied:

"I presume you might as well; it is plain that he wants to have it out with me. I think I can manage him."

Mrs. Lancaster rose as the officer drew near.

"I think I shall ask the musicians to play my favorite," she said, speaking at Winkle, to whom she had nodded.

As she moved away the captain started to sit in the hammock beside its occupant, but Evelyn promptly stood up and leaned against the balustrade. Her action was greeted with a grunt of disapproval on the part of the young man.

"It is just a little cool at this end," she said, half apologetically.

"You make me feel that it is decidedly so," he retorted. "But I hope you will bear the temperature a moment longer."

"You wish to speak to me, sir?"

He was evidently under great agitation and he seemed to reduce his voice to calmness only by extra effort.

Do You Wish To Borrow Money?

In order to accommodate all classes of borrowers (those who cannot borrow at a bank, as well as those who can), the Mutual Loan and Investment Company, of 118 Market street, Newark, N. J., has a department for handling quickly and confidentially loans ranging from $20 to $500 on furniture, pianos, storage receipts, etc.

The security is not removed from your possession or in any way disturbed. The honest, careful and conservative borrower will try and decide two points before borrowing. First, where he can get the best terms. Second, where he can get fair and square treatment.

This company is in a position to give you by far the most satisfactory terms ever offered by any concern or individual negotiating this class of loans.

With this company you are assured of getting the lowest rates, easiest payments and longest time for repayment. The whole transaction from the time the application is made until loan is paid is entirely confidential. We give you another advantage in case you take the loan out for six months or a year, and wish to settle the same before the time expires: we charge you only for the time you have had the money. We also take up loans from other companies and advance more money.

Kindly call and let us explain our simple and up-to-date methods If not entirely convenient for you to call, please write and our representative will call and give you any desired information. Remember it costs nothing to make application. Loans promptly made in Elizabeth, Plainfield, Westfield, Roselle, Rahway, Perth Amboy and all suburban towns.

SHAW TO BUY BONDS

Secretary of the Treasury Makes Refunding Offer.

ISSUES OF 1907 AND 1908-18 INCLUDED

Desire to Put Out More Two Per Cents, Which Could Be Used to Increase Circulation in Case of Stringency, the Object.

WASHINGTON, March 27.—The secretary of the treasury has published a circular announcing that on and after April 1, 1903, he will receive for refunding under authority of section 11 of the act of March 14, 1900, to an amount not exceeding $100,000,000 any of the bonds of the 3 per cent loan of 1908-18 and the 4 per cent funded loan of 1907. They may be surrendered at prices yielding to the investor an income of 2¼ per cent per annum, and the new bonds will be issued in exchange at a premium of 2 per cent. Accrued interest on both old and new bonds will be calculated to date of exchange.

There are now outstanding about $97,000,000 3 per cent bonds and $233,000,000 4 per cent bonds of 1907 which are affected by the circular. There are also outstanding about $446,000,000 of the 2 per cent consols of 1930 issued under the act of March 14, 1900. These 2 per cent bonds were issued in 1900 at par under provisions of the refunding act. If the new bonds were to be issued now at par, there would be a profit to the owners of the bonds, taking the present market valuation as a basis, of about 4 per cent for the 3 per cent bonds surrendered and about 5½ per cent for the 4 per cent bonds of 1907. The secretary desires to obtain an equitable share of this profit for the government, which is the reason for charging a premium of 2 per cent upon the new bonds to be issued.

The circular will contain full particulars for the guidance of those who desire to avail themselves of the privilege of refunding and will be sent to each recorded owner of registered bonds of the two loans in question.

The 5 per cent bonds of the loan of 1904 will not be received for refunding under this circular, but will be reserved for redemption. They mature Feb. 1, 1904. The secretary stated in explanation of his action that he desired to put out a larger amount of 2 per cents which could be available to increase circulation in case of a stringency.

New York Brokers Surprised.

NEW YORK, March 27.—The offer of Secretary Shaw seems to come as a surprise to bond brokers, some of whom profess to be unable to understand its scope or purport. It was generally looked upon as an emergency or relief measure, inasmuch as the offer will release from $5,000,000 to $8,000,000, the amount depending entirely upon the proportion of threes or fours turned in. One broker thought the proposition was designed to induce the banks to increase their circulation.

End of Colorado Strike Near.

COLORADO CITY, Colo., March 27.—Unless all indications fail, the strike of the Colorado City mill men will be ended within the next forty-eight hours. President Charles M. Moyer of the Western Federation of Miners arrived from Denver and went into conference with the members of Governor Peabody's advisory board. Later he held a conference with General Manager McNeil of the United States Reduction and Refining company. It is understood that the company and federation have agreed to abide by any decision the strike commissioners may arrive at and that pending the announcement of this decision the embargo on all trust plants and mines at Cripple Creek is to be declared off.

Liquor License For New Hampshire.

CONCORD, N. H., March 27.—Both branches of the legislature have come to an agreement on a bill to license liquor selling, and after the bill was passed it was immediately sent to the governor for his approval. It is expected that he will sign it at once and at the same time appoint the three license commissioners provided for under the new act. The bill provides that the hour of closing be left to the discretion of the mayor and aldermen in cities and the selectmen in towns and for no sales of liquor by hotels in no license towns except with a meal costing at least 25 cents.

Lawmakers Come to Blows.

RICHMOND, Va., March 27.—In the course of a debate in the senate yesterday Judge Mann, senator from Nottaway and author of the bill for restricting the liquor traffic, struck Senator Bryant of Henrico and almost precipitated a fight on the floor of the chamber. One blow was made by the judge. It was well met, landing only on the quickly uplifted forearm of Mr. Bryant. Doorkeeper Donald was between the two men in a second, and order was quickly restored.

Another Postoffice Robbed.

RALEIGH, N. C., March 27.—A special to the News and Observer from Asheville, N. C., says the postoffice at Flat Rock, in Henderson county, was burglarized at an early hour in the morning and over $700 in stamps and cash secured. Not only was the safe completely demolished, but a large hole was blown through the store building in which the postoffice was located. No clew to the robbers has been obtained.

Textile Workers Order a Strike.

LOWELL, Mass., March 27.—The textile council has voted to order a strike in seven mill corporations Monday morning unless its demand for a 10 per cent increase in wages is granted by that time.

The Freshman-Sophomore baseball team from the Borough High School will play its first game of the season with the Underwood team, Monday afternoon.

Wreck Victim Settles.

Through his counsel, Isaac P. Runyon, H. Russell Voorhees, of Putnam avenue, yesterday settled his claim for damages with the New Jersey Central, for injuries received in the wreck in January at Westfield. The amount settled for will not be given by Lawyer Runyon or the railroad company, but it is known to be very fair. Various reports have been circulated lately as to other settlements, but they cannot be confirmed by the railroad officials.

Geisha Whist Club Met.

The Geisha Whist Club met last evening at the home of Mrs. Roeche on West Sixth street. Miss Madge Lewis won the first women's prize and Mrs. Harry Connett, the second. W. R. Townsend won the first men's prize and the second was awarded to Harry Yeager. Refreshments were served and a social time followed. The club will be entertained two weeks from last evening at the home of Miss Madge Lewis, of Arlington avenue.

In City Court.

Before City Judge Runyon this morning the following cases were heard: George A. Bauer and Andrew Carney, charged with fighting; sentence suspended; Michael Bell and Charles Creamer, charged with being drunk and disorderly; committed for twenty days; Lawrence Mitchell, disorderly conduct; sentence was suspended; Harold Gloak, arrested on complaint of Harry Leek; sentence suspended.

Oldest Mason in State.

Isaac M. Brown, who is supposed to be the oldest Mason in the State, is today celebrating his ninety-third birthday at his home on Watchung avenue. He was initiated into St. John's Lodge, Free and Accepted Masons, of Newark, in 1838.

FRIDAY EVENING CLUB CLOSES THE SEASON

Vaudeville Programme of Exceptional Merit Delights a Very Large Audience.

VERY CLEVER ARTISTS

MISS ELSIE MARTIN AND M'CRADY SYKES MAKE DISTINCT HIT.

Dancing and Other Amusements Follow—Those Who Have Had Charge During the Winter—Season Proved Very Successful.

As a closing event of a most successful season, the Friday Night Club held a vaudeville performance last evening at the Casino at which there were fully 250 people present, most of whom are members of the organization. Those appearing as entertainers were nearly all local society folk, although some New York people, amateurs before the footlights, assisted in the evening's entertainment.

Music by Mack's orchestra from New York was a feature and until the curtain rose several of the local popular airs were played, the chorus of which the audience joined in singing, as it did also between the acts. Shortly before the curtain went up for the first act a large placard was brought out and placed upon the easel at the side of the stage announcing that the first piece would be a sketch by "America's Tone Artists," Fox and VanBuren. Miss Eleanor Lansdale Fox, of Philadelphia, and Laurens VanBuren were the first to appear and the sketch they presented was clever. They scored a decided hit.

The next number consisted of several songs by Mrs. Roy Mack. She sang popular airs with the snap and vim that won for her much applause. Miss Fox, in the next act presented an "animated song sheet" in a clever manner, and was encored several times.

One of the hits of the evening was the sketch by "Martin and Sykes." This was a little farce comedy in one act which figuratively brought down the house. Miss Elsie Martin and McCready Sykes were the performers in this and the manner in which it was produced was creditable. Miss Martin, a maid, was waiting for her mistress' father from the country who was expected in town to pay a visit when in walked Mr. Sykes as a typical suburbanite.

The visitor proceeded to make himself at home in the luxuriant surroundings and his antics convulsed the audience. While he was waiting he picked up a copy of The Daily Press and read several accounts therefrom. The first thing his eye lighted upon was the picture of W. G. Besler and he remarked that he was glad to see that his photograph had gotten in the paper ahead of his arrival. Many timely jokes were cracked which were, in some cases, hits on the prominent members of the club.

Steve Scanlon gave several clever exhibitions of buck and wing dancing. Willard Wadsworth, of this city, contributed monologues which were well received.

"Orthello, or No More of Venus," was a good burlesque by McCready Sykes, under the name of "Tomato Salvini." This was one of the best sketches of the evening and his renditions were well received.

Mrs. Mack again favored the audience with several Japanese songs, after which the programme concluded with the comedy sketch in one act, entitled, "A Proposal Under Difficulties." The cast consisted of Miss C. Grace Jeroloman, Miss Alice Jeroloman, Hugh MacKinnon and W. C. Thompson, all of New York. This was enthusiastically received.

After the performance dancing was enjoyed by some while others spent the rest of the evening on the bowling alleys or in the pool and billiard parlors.

The committee which had the arrangements for the performance in charge and who have been conducting the meetings through the season is composed of G. Herbert Taylor, Miss Florence Huntington, Miss Maude VanBoskerck, Mrs. Daniel Ginna, Evarts Tracy and Thomas R. VanBoskerck.

Whist Association Meeting.

The next monthly meeting of the New Jersey Whist Association will be held at the Jersey City Club, Friday evening, April 3. The game will be progressive pairs for prizes, including contest for possession of the New Jersey trophy.

SUITS STARTED.

Jersey Central Made Defendant in Two Actions for Injuries.

The first of the suits brought against the New Jersey Central as a result of the wreck at Westfield in January, were started on Wednesday by E. Maxwell Honeyman and Clifford S. Braider, of this city. Each has brought suit for $5,000 damages. Lawyer Stillman, of Jersey City, represents both Mr. Honeyman and Mr. Braider.

It is understood that the railroad company was about to settle with these two men and had agreed to give Mr. Honeyman $200 and Mr. Braider $150, with the understanding that no suit would be brought. On Wednesday the company received notice of their action.

HELD THIRTIETH ANNIVERSARY

INTERESTING FACTS REVEALED AT FIRST BAPTIST W. F. M. S. MEETING.

Members Transact Business, Hear Reports and Listen to Missionary Address.

The thirtieth anniversary meeting of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society, of the First Baptist church, was held in the lecture room of the church, yesterday afternoon, when a number of interesting facts were recalled in the history of this society. Mrs. B. J. Shreve, the secretary, stated in her report that of the 274 original members, almost half have died. A few are working in the Park Avenue Baptist church, and there are still forty of the original members in the parent society. Of the first corps of officers, Mrs. Shreve and Mrs. David J. Yerkes are the only two living and still retain their repsective offices. Mrs. David J. Boice has been a manager for thirty years and Mrs. Alex. Thorn and Mrs. Charles Smith, have been collectors continuously for thirty years.

Miss Ida Yerkes, as treasurer, reported that during the past year the society had received and expended for missions, $505.10. This concluded the business, and Miss Craft, a returned missionary from Burmah, was introduced. She told in a graphic and entertaining manner of her work in the mission schools in Burmah. She has a knowledge of medicine and nursing, and she said that these things had enabled her to cope with difficult problems in her work. She teaches the Bible, sewing, housework, music, etc., but there are many things the natives can do and these they are willing to do after once being shown how.

At the close of the address a social time followed and tea and wafers were served by members of the Young Ladies' Missionary Society.

POLE INFLICTS INJURIES.

Swinging Cross-Arm Struck James Ellis With Serious Results.

James Ellis, of Arlington avenue, an employe of the Plainfield Gas and Electric Light Company was seriously injured yesterday afternoon while working among some poles in the yards of the company on West Second street. He was taken to the office of Dr. Long and was later removed to his home where he is still confined.

Ellis was moving some of the poles when one of them with a long cross arm turned over suddenly, striking him full in the face. He received a glancing blow above the nose on the forehead which rendered him partially conscious.

Wesleyan Glee Club Concert.

The reserved seats for the Wesleyan Glee Club concert, which is to be held at the Monroe Avenue M. E. church on the evening of April 16, are to be secured at Neuman Brothers grocery store at the corner of Watchung avenue and East Fifth street, at Hodge's pharmacy and at E. S. F. Randolph's drug store. The concert promises to be very good and the seats are already selling rapidly.

Building Canoes.

A number of the members of the boys' department of the Y. M. C. A. are busily engaged in building canvas canoes in anticipation of the canoeing trips which have been planned for the summer by the secretary of that department, Kenneth Robbie. Most of the young men have succeeded very well in their first attempts.

BUILDING RESIDENCE PARK

WEALTHY NEW YORKER TRANSFORMING EIGHTY AGRES OF GROUND.

He Proposes Having Picturesque Drives, Walks, Fountains and Many Other Things.

J. H. Hand, a wealthy New Yorker, who recently purchased eighty acres of land opposite Oak Tree on Park avenue, near the turn on the road to Metuchen, has decided to lay out a park there for a private residence and work has already commenced. At present there are fifteen men employed on the place and it is hoped to have a good part of the work completed by July 4. J. H. Brown, of New York, is the architect, and A. R. Kyle, of this city, the landscape gardener and engineer, has charge of the work. Under him is W. H. Johnson, of Scotch Plains, builder and contractor.

It is proposed to build a handsome residence on the place, with all modern improvements and picturesque drives and walks, with fountains, flower beds, conservatory, etc., are also included in the plans. Mr. Hand has a family consisting of a wife and child, and he proposes to have a fine summer residence.

Mr. Kyle is especially well fitted for the work, having had wide experience. He was the one who laid out Glen Island and the Residence Park at New Rochelle.

JERSEY CENTRAL DEMURS.

Wont Give Cranford Elevated Tracks on Account of Cost.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Cranford, March 28—It would appear that the people of Cranford are to be disappointed in their request for the elevation of the New Jersey Central tracks and the depression of the streets. It is estimated that the improvement would cost the railroad company, according to prepared plans, nearly $180,000. The amount will include the erection of a new station. So far as can be learned all efforts to abolish the dangerous grade crossing at Cranford this year are off. It is understood that the company offered to give Cranford an overhead bridge to cost $3,000, but that the people of Cranford do not want this.

A subway has been talked of, but the company says that this would cost too much money in view of the fact that the conditions at the station and crossing are not permanently settled. It is said that the company is figuring for a subway to be located near the Union avenue crossing. The scheme to open Alden street under the tracks has been denied by the railroad company. The company wants the town to pay a share for the abolition of the grade crossing, but the township is not able to do this at present.

Talented Artists to Appear.

The Mozart Symphony Club, of New York, which is to appear at the Casino, Tuesday, April 7, enjoys the reputation of being one of the best concert companies in America, and is composed of the following named talented artists: Miss Marie Stori, solo violinist and prima donna soprano; Mario Blodeck, 'cello, zither and DaGamba soloist; Richard Stoelzer, viola, lute, saxaphone and viola d'Amour soloist; and Herr Theodore Hoch, cornet virtuoso, Roman triumphal trumpet and Alpine echo horn soloist. A programme of merit and novelty is assured. Reserved seats will be on sale at Armstrong's pharmacy, Monday, March 30.

Death of Young Girl.

Mary E. Kneeland, the nine-year-old daughter of Patrick Kneeland, of Prescott place, died this morning afetr a brief illness. Funeral services over the remains will be held from her late home, Monday, at 8:30 and from St. Mary's church at 9 o'clock. Interment will be in St. Mary's cemetery.

Mrs. Pembrook Dead.

At the Hotel San Remo, New York City, occurred, yesterday the death of Mrs. William A. Pembrook, widow of the late William A. Pembrook, of the well-known New York firm of Sweetzer, Pembrook & Sweetzer. The deceased was the aunt of Mrs. John Ulrich, of College place, this city.

Missionary Address.

Leon H. Vincent will give the second of his interesting courses of lectures before the Monday Afternoon Club at the Casino on Monday at 3:30 o'clock.

CHANGED THE DATE.

Continental Chapter, D. of A. R., Makes New Plans for Proposed Entertainment.

Continental Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, held a meeting yesterday afternoon at the home of the regent, Mrs. David P. Hall, to make further arrangements for the entertainment to be given at Mrs. Philip V. R. VanWyck's. It has decided to change the date from Saturday, April 18, to Friday, April 17, since that date will be more convenient to some of the members of the chapter. The occasion will be in celebration of the Battle of Lexington, the anniversary of which falls on Sunday, April 19. There will be music and patriotic recitations. Simple refreshments will be served. The women of the tea and reception committees and the young woman who assist, will appear in colonial costume. The proceeds of the entertainments will be added to the fund for placing a suitable monument at Washington Rock.

BIRTHDAY SOCIAL.

Pleasant Affair Held in Monroe Avenue Church Last Evening.

A birthday social was held last evening at the Monroe Avenue Methodist church when there was a large number of people present. The affair was a great success and a most enjoyable evening was spent. It was given under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society of the church. The floral decorations, which were arranged by the committe in charge of the social, were very attractive.

An elaborate programme was rendered. The Misses Sadie and Carrie Brower favored with several songs and Miss Bertha Nelson recited several pieces very cleverly. Piano solos were rendered by Miss Marion Pierson and selections on the violin were played by Miss Helen Shupp.

The programme was in charge of a committee comprising Miss Annie Stafford, Mrs. J. C. Pierson, Mrs. J. W. Daub, Mrs. Nicholas Brouard, Mrs. P. Wenzel, Miss Mary Browher, Mrs. I. P. Larue and Mrs. T. Van Pelt. The decorations were under the supervision of Miss Mae Brower and Miss Lula Randolph.

TRIO DISAPPEARED.

Watson Says Bartender Took $70 and Watch He Didn't Own.

On opening the bar-room of the Grant Avenue House, this morning, Michael Watson, the proprietor, discovered $70 missing from the cash register. Inquiry revealed the fact that a new bartender, Thomas Egan, had departed during the night. The information was furnished by a boarder who said his gold watch had gone, too.

Watson concluded Egan, the money and the watch had all gone together and preferred complaint to Chief Kiely. The police learned Egan had taken the 2:14 train, this morning, for New York, where he came from to work for Watson two weeks ago.

RETURNED TO THE SOUTH.

Demented Colored Girl Sent Back to Relatives in Virginia.

Patrolman F. S. McCarthy left last night for Dolansville, Va., taking with him Lizzie Clary, a demented colored girl, who came from there to this city several months ago. She has been gradually growing insane and developed several harmless manias, one of which consisted of going about the streets blowing a large horn. As most of the girl's relatives and friends reside at Dolansville it was decided to send her there in preference to an institution. McCarthy will return home tomorrow.

MORE TESTIMONY IN OLCOTT WILL CASE

Miss Carter Tells What She Knows About Spiritualism and Some Other Things.

NEVER BELIEVED IN IT

ALLUDED TO GRAVEYARD VISIT IN RESPONSE TO MESSAGE FROM SPIRIT.

Court Appoints Tuesdays and Fridays for Taking of Testimony in This Most Remarkable Will Case on Record.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, March 28—The Joseph H. Olcott will case was the chief attraction in the Orphans' Court here again yesterday and nearly the whole of both sessions was taken up in the cross-examination of Miss Maude Virginia Carter, of East Millstone, the principal of a select boarding school for girls and who was a very intimate friend of the Olcotts, having lived with them for short periods at different times. The previous testimony in this remarkable will case has been reported in detail in The Daily Press.

Miss Carter said she had heard from the boys of the digging for treasure at Eagle Rock. She said that Mr. Olcott had seemed much disgusted with the whole affair and wanted to hear nothing more about it. The visit of Dr. Hawkins to the Olcott home, as far as she knew, was merely a social affair; she saw nothing of his removing or treating Mr. Olcott for an elemental spirit. Whenever witness talked to the old man about Josephine he said she would be taken care of. She had never heard Mr. Olcott say Josephine was a medium in spiritualism. It was quite a usual thing for the Olcotts to entertain many guests.

The witness testified that she had always known about spiritualism; that she had been instructed in that line when she was five years old; never believed in any of it, however. She told of attending many seances at the Olcott home, of the use of the ouija board, table tipping and mysterious raps. One night Mrs. Olcott, Josephine and the witness had a dark seance. The lights in the room were all put out and the three waited very quietly. Soon the table began to tip. Every time the table legs tipped on the floor the medium repeated the alphabet. The letters at which the stops were made were put together and furnished an intelligent answer from a person long since dead. The witness did not say who.

Miss Carter alluded to the time when Mr. Olcott and his daughter Josephine visited the grave of John Garretson at midnight, some time after a message was received from his spirit over the ouija board.

Geo. E. Pace, of East Millstone, and others testified briefly in regard to the property valuations of the estate.

Hereafter Thursdays and Fridays of each week will be devoted to taking testimony until this case is brought to a close. Next Thursday, at 10 a. m., the next seance will be held.

Entertained Whist Club.

Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Potter, of East Second street, entertained the Fortnightly Whist Club at their home Thursday evening. Mrs. H. S. Potter won the first prize for the women, while F. H. Smith won the prize for the men. Miss Ella Titsworth was presented with the consolation prize. The club will be entertained Thursday evening, April 9, by Miss Ella Titsworth.

A Correction.

Through an error, it was stated in yesterday's Daily Press that Chancellor Commander G. L. VanEmburgh had made the welcoming address at Unity Lodge's anniversary, Thursday night. Mr. VanEmburgh was not present owing to the illness of his wife. The address was given by Frank Humpston.

Agent for Imperial Wheels.

Harry Dreier, of West Front street, dealer in sporting goods of all kinds, is the exclusive agent for the celebrated Imperial bicycle. This wheel, for men and women, has an established reputation and is fully guaranteed. Mr. Dreier will be pleased to explain its merits to all who think of purchasing a wheel this season.

Easter Dance.

The entertainment committee of the Park Club announces that the Easter dance will be held at the clubhouse on Tuesday evening, April 14.

AUDUBON LECTURE.

Professor Frank M. Chapman Will Tell Something About Birds.

The New Jersey Audubon Society announces an illustrated lecture on "Birds" by Prof. Chapman, the editor of Bird Lore, and superintendent of the National History Museum in New York. Prof. Chapman is too well-known hereabouts to need any commendation to a Plainfield audience, and is so much an authority on all bird matters that all parents should give themselves and their children the benefit of his entertaining instruction. The lecture is to be given on Friday afternoon, April 3, at 4 o'clock in Crescent Avenue church chapel, the hour having been fixed with especial reference to the convenience of school children.

PLAINFIELD WOMEN ATTEND

ANNUAL MEETING OF WOMAN'S PRESBYTERIAL SOCIETY AT WOODBRIDGE.

Mrs. I. C. Pierson, of This City, Was Elected Vice President—Next Meeting Here.

A number of women from the Presbyterian churches of this city attended the nineteenth annual meeting of the Woman's Presbyterial Society for Home Missions, held yesterday at the Presbyterian church of Woodbridge.

There were two sessions, one in the morning and the other in the afternoon. The former was devoted to the hearing of reports and listening to addresses by prominent mission workers, including one by Mrs. T. Amos, a colored woman, who is at the head of Harbison College in the south. Devotional exercises, roll call and addresses occupied the afternoon meeting.

With the exception of the secretary of literature, the same officers were elected for the ensuing year as follows: President, Mrs. M. J. Gildersleeve, Westfield; vice presidents, Mrs. I. C. Pierson, Plainfield, Mrs. J. M. McNulty, Woodbridge; corresponding secretary, Mrs. J. A. Frazer, Elizabeth; recording secretary, Miss Anna Alward, Basking Ridge; secretary Young People's Work, Mrs. Ad. Lyon, Perth Amboy; secretary for Freedman, Miss Ella Beale, Roselle; treasurer, Mrs. J. C. Keron, Elizabeth.

The next annual meeting will be held next March, at the First Presbyterian church of this city.

BETHEL FAIR CLOSES.

The Attendance on Last Night Good and Proceeds Gratifying.

The fair, which has been going on at Bethel chapel on East Fifth street, came to a close last evening. The bazaar has been a great success and the proceeds will be devoted to the general church fund. The prize for the woman who sold the greatest number of tickets, was won by Mrs. Moses Carey and the man's prize was awarded to Albert Brinkley. Both sold over $10 worth of tickets.

During the evening musical selections were rendered by Miss Beulah Thompson and Charles VanHorne. A quartette of members of the church favored with several selections during the evening. The quartette comprises Miss Bettie Davis, Miss Beulah Love, Miss Anna Davis and Miss Elizabeth Kinley.

Painter Lost His Coat.

A painter employed by Woolston & Buckele, of North avenue, met with a misfortune Thursday while at work on Miss Lincoln's building on West Fourth street. He had laid off his coat and a little later when a rag-man came along, some one living in the building sold a quantity of papers, rags, etc., and in some way the painter's coat was included in the deal. When the man quit work he could not find his coat and inquiry revealed the facts. The rag-man could not be found and the painter was obliged to return home without a coat.

Time for Sprinkling.

It is to be hoped that the Elizabeth, Plainfield and Central Jersey Street Railway Company will not forget the date, Wednesday, April 15. On that date the company is compelled by the city ordinance to commence sprinkling streets through which its cars are operated.

Installation Deferred.

Owing to lack of a quorum there was no meeting of Protective Conclave, Improved Order Heptasophs, Thursday evening. An attempt will be made to install the officers next week.

Fountain Open.

The memorial drinking fountain on West Second street, has been repaired and painted and is ready to continue its good service to the public.

PARK CLUB WHIST FOUR WINS BY ONE POINT

First Ties With the Brooklyn Whist Club, and Then Takes the Deciding Match.

EXCITING AND CLEAN

REFRESHMENTS WERE SERVED DURING INTERMISSION AND AFTER MATCH.

The Game Was Not Completed Until After Midnight—The Next Game Will be Played With the Newark Bay Club.

Success once more crowned the efforts of the veteran Park Club whist four, last evening, when in a battle royal, the Brooklyn Whist Club, challenger for the Metropolitan challenge trophy, was defeated by one trick. It was by far the most exciting of the contests yet held in this city. So closely and evenly matched were the two teams that at the end of the regular game the score was a tie, each team having made nine points. There was some talk of playing off the tie at some future date, but after due consideration, all agreed to remain last evening and decide the match.

The Brooklyn Whist Club has eleven wins for the Metropolitan challenge trophy, and is in the lead. Every member of the team is a crackerjack and for this reason it would not have been surprising had this four taken the trophy last evening. The Parks were their equal and more, as the score of 11 to 10 shows. Both teams play practically the same style of game and for this reason the scores were so close.

At the end of the first round the score was even up, each team making six points. The Brooklyns took the second round 3 to 1, while the third round went to the Parks 2 to 0, making the score a tie 9 to 9. In the last round the holders of the trophy gave a fine exhibition of their skill, winning the round 2 to 1, and making the final score 11 to 10 in their favor. The play throughout was clean and sharp, very few mishaps being made on either side.

It was nearly 12:30 o'clock this morning, when the game was finished. During the intermission and after the match, the Parks entertained their visitors, serving light refreshments. The next game for the trophy will be with the Newark Bay Whist Club. This will be played at the Park Club Thursday evening, April 2.

Samuel Townsend, S. St. John McCutchen, George T. Rogers and Joseph H. Howell represented the Parks last evening, and Adam Ohlweiler, E. A. Leslie, George Kling and E. S. Field were the challengers. W. J. R. Hegeman, Jr., was the referee.

Held Barn Dance.

A pleasant surprise party was tendered to Miss VanCourt, of Oak Tree, Thursday evening. The affair was arranged by several young people and there were nearly forty couples present. The evening was spent in dancing, the large and commodious barn at Mr. VanCourt's home being used for the purpose. At midnight supper was served, after which dancing was continued until early yesterday morning. The excellent music was furnished by Prof. Sam Frazee.

Honors for Plainfield Boy.

Unusual honors have come to a former Plainfield boy. Harold A. Nomer, a graduate of the local high school, has won the first prize of $30 in an oratorical contest at Williams' College. He has also had the honor conferred upon him of being appointed on the debating team which will wrest for honors with the Dartmouth College at Dartmouth, this year. Mr. Nomer is a freshmean in college.

Woman's Auxiliary Meets.

The March meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary to the Board of Governors of Muhlenberg Hospital was held yesterday, when encouraging reports were received. Appointments for April were made as follows; Purchaser, Mrs. Samuel Huntington; visitors to the hospital, Mrs. Monroe B. Long, Mrs. Wynkoop, Mrs. A. C. Vail, Mrs. E. Arthur Janke, Mrs. Harry M. Stockton.

To Close Out Stock.

The New York Bargain Store, 324 West Front street, will close out its entire stock of clothing, gents' furnishings, boots and shoes, hats, etc., on Monday and Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock. P. H. Latourotte, the auctioneer, will sell to the highest bidder, without reserve, all the stock, as the store is to be vacated by the first of April.

COLUMN FOR THE SHOPPERS

SOME OF ATTRACTIONS TO BE FOUND AT LOCAL STORES.

A Few Interesting Items Concerning Greater Plainfield's Merchants

A. M. Harper, of Park avenue, carries a desirable line of stationery, as well as toys of every kind. His store is a delight to both old and young.

Meats in season can always be found in the best grades at Smalley Brothers' butcher shop on North avenue. Special care is taken in the delivery department, as would be expected in a modern, up-to-date meat market.

These are opening days for the Boston Cloak and Fur Store on West Front street and the firm is meeting with much success. A full line of women's and children's suitings and cloaks is being shown in attractive styles and quality. An inspection is invited.

Putnam & DeGraw, the dry goods merchants, are now prepared for a large spring and summer trade and they invite their patrons to inspect the attractive stock of goods. You can save money by trading at this store and at the same time you will get the best goods.

When it comes to the best place in this city to get men's furnishing goods, J. R. Blair's store on Park avenue is the place to go. He makes it a point to keep abreast of the times and it matters not whether it is in a tie, collar or hat, the prevailing styles can be found there.

A good place to quench your thirst is at L. W. Randolph's pharmacy on West Front street. He always keeps the popular drinks in pure fruit syrups, while his ice cream concoctions are hard to beat. If you need a spring tonic Mr. Randolph has just the thing at a reasonable price.

If one would be content it is necessary to trade at W. W. Dunn's Park Grocery. During the coming week he will have cucumbers, rhubarb, green beans, radishes, lettuce, string beans, celery, egg plant, water cress and all the other vegetables in season. All kinds of fruit will also be found at the store.

PERSONAL.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward White and son, who have been spending the winter in Florida, will return home about April 1.

Mrs. Henry L. Mahan, widow of one of the victims of the recent Westfield accident, will move this week to Trneton, her former home, where she will reside permanently.

A. V. D. Honeyman and his party, including Mr. and Mrs. William Sandford, of East Front street, returned home Thursday night from a delightful pleasure trip to Porto Rico and Mexico. They have been away nearly six weeks.

THEATRICAL.

J. Al. Sawtelle's Dramatic Company will be the attraction at the Central Theatre, Plainfield, for the whole week, commencing Monday, March 30. The repertoire consists of up-to-date comedy and dramas, and specialty acts of a high order are also to be presented between each act. List of players and opening bill will appear later in these columns.

"I'm yours, sweetheart forever," "Perhaps," "Mr. Dooley," "I want to be a lidy," "Roly Poly," "Nursery Phymes," "A Little Paper Fan," "Weary Hearts," "Emperor Hang Chow," "The Marriage Chant," "My Little Hong Kong Baby," "The A La Girls," "Official Mother-in-law," "In Ylang-Ylang" and the other musical gems of "A Chinese Honeymoon" continue to delight as large audiences as ever at the pretty Casino, the American home of musical comedy. The 350th performance of "A Chinese Honeymoon" at the Casino was given Wednesday evening, at which time Managers Sam S. Shubert and Nixon and Zimmerman gave away heavily gold-plated treasure caskets—the most expensive and prettiest souvenir ever presented to theatre patrons on this continent.

"Innocent as a Lamb," a roaring comedy in four acts by Lytten and Fowler, and successfully played all over the country by the late Roland Reed, will be the offering at Proctor's Fifth Avenue Theatre, New York, next week. Another generally good "round-up" of vaudeville acts will be the attraction for the patrons of Proctor's Twenty-third Street. John L. Sullivan, former champion pugilist, has developed a really interesting monologue, in which he tells of various happenings and incidents during his professional career. His monologue is replete with bright and witty sayings of his own composition, which make this "big fellow" a popular favorite wherever he appears. Rose Stuart and Company will present a new comedy sketch away from the general run. Proctor's 125th Street next week will depart from its regular schedule, and, instead of the stock company a big vaudeville bill, headed by Florence Burns, "The Brooklyn Heroine" will be presented. Over at Proctor's Theatre in Newark a splendid bill, headed by Roland B. Molineaux's brilliant one-act sketch "Was it a Dream" will be the offering. Others on the bill will be Williams and Tucker in "Driftwood," the Grand Opera Trio, Little Elsie, John Healy, Barton and Wakefield, and several other acts.

"Mr. Blue Beard" at the Knickerbocker Theatre, New York, despite the adverse influence of Lent, when attendance at all theatres usually drops off, continues to play to the utmost capacity of the house. Lent, this season, has affected the attendance at the New York theatres more than in years, with the exception of the Knickerbocker, where the tremendous advance sale noticeable from the opening of "Mr. Blue Beard" still keeps up. This production will undoubtedly maintain its record-breaking pace till its final performance of the season. The explanation of this is easily found in the fact that "Mr. Blue Beard" is the grandest spectacular production ever presented in this country and offers a greater measure of entertainment than any other now before the public. Everyone who witnesses this attraction leaves the theatre with the satisfactory feeling that he has seen his money's worth of fun and novelty. One of the distinct personal hits of the performance has been made by Bonnie Maginn in the role of "Imer Dasher, from Chicago," who undertakes to manage Blue Beard's palace in Bagdad. Miss Maginn is a very beautiful young girl who sings and dances splendidly. The cast of "Mr. Blue Beard" displays the greatest array of comedy talent seen on Broadway in years.

A New Excursion Resort.

For pleasure clubs, lodges, singing societies and Sunday-schools—Squan Beach, N. J.,—ninety minutes ride from Newark direct to the Beach. Exclusive use of the grounds for guaranteed parties of from 300 to 3,000 persons; large dancing pavilion, boating, bathing, fishing, merry-go-round, baseball grounds, and numerous other attractions. For descriptive pamphlet, rates, etc., apply to W. C. Walsh, Jr., district passenger agent, Central Railroad of New Jersey, No. 838 Broad street, Newark, N. J.

—P. H. Latourette will remove his auction room from 23 to 39 Somerset street on or about April 1.

—C. O. Smith announces the opening of his store, the Plainfield Certified Creamery, at 327 Watchung avenue, on Wednesday, April 1.

A Victory to Be Proud Of

is the final and absolute cure of a sore throat, in which the rawness and tenderness have been spreading dangerously near those guardians of life, the lungs. The luxury of a sound throat and robust lungs is most keenly enjoyed by people who, having suffered all the consequences of "a little cold, you know," have been rescued from misery and danger by Allen's Lung Balsam.

ALMOST CONNECTED.

Short Link Only Needed to Complete Philadelphia-New York Line.

By the completion and operation of the Philadelphia, Bristol and Trenton Street Railway, continuous trolley connections are now possible between Jersey City, Trenton, Philadelphia, Wilmington, Allentown, Easton, Reading and other points in New Jersey. The Philadelphia, Bristol and Trenton road covers the distance from Morrisville, across the river from Trenton, to Philadelphia, with the exception of a short stretch at Croyden, a few miles below Bristol. At this point the famous Neshaminy Elevated Railroad is in course of construction and will be completed in a few weeks. This road is a single mile of track, but it has cost upward of $100,000 in addition to the actual construction figures, seven years of litigation having been needed to determine whether the line could be built.

REALTY TRANSFERS.

Deeds Recorded at County Clerk's Office at Somerville.

The following real estate transfers of property in North Plainfield have been recorded in the County Clerk's office at Somerville:

THE IRISH LAND BILL.

Details Not Disclosed by Secretary Wyndham's Speech.

LONDON, March 28.—The text of the Irish land purchase bill, which was introduced in the house of commons by the Irish secretary, Mr. Wyndham, on Wednesday last, has been given out. It occupies thirty-nine pages of a parliamentary paper and bristles with technicalities. The full wording reveals many important features which were not mentioned in Mr. Wyndham's speech when the bill was introduced. All arrears of rent due at the time of the purchase of land are recoverable by the land commission, and not the arrears for a year only, as previously cabled. The land commissioners, however, are given power in special cases to remit part or all of the arrears.

The commissioners are not permitted to purchase estates which are not mainly agricultural or pastoral. Thus, Killarney is exempt under this clause. In cases of untenanted estates purchased by the commissioners they are empowered to execute the necessary works of improvement, which tremendously enlarges the scope of the commission's expenditure. The commission is empowered to declare subtenants to be tenants of any holding occupied by them, which will vastly benefit hundreds.

Fishing, sporting and mineral rights, which are among the most controversial, will be vested in the commissioners when an estate is purchased and can be disposed of as the commissioners decide. The commissioners are also empowered to determine boundary and other disputes between the proprietors of holdings under the bill.

The commission has the first claim to purchase bankrupt estates and can resell them to tenants or use portions of them for the repatriation of evicted tenants. The latter point is regarded as being one of the most vital features of the bill.

CONDITIONS IN FINLAND.

Encouraging Report by Dr. Reuter, Agent For Relief Committee.

ST. PETERSBURG, March 28.—Dr. J. N. Reuter, a lecturer of the University of Helsingfors, who was detailed by the Finnish national relief committee to make a tour of Finland, positively denies that his party either found or heard of any parish where there are 5,000 destitute persons, as has been stated. During the whole trip Dr. Reuter was only able to procure one bit of "hunger bread," which was composed of flour made from green grain mixed with bark, and even this had been preserved since the early part of the winter, before the relief committee was able to extend its operations to cottages in out of the way places. Dr. Reuter and his party visited fifty poor cottages and found in every one of them plenty of bread and supplies of flour.

Dr. Reuter adds that of course there would have been untold suffering but for the assistance of the committee, which was so largely helped by American funds. The committee now has branches in every village and parish, and every case of suffering discovered is carefully attended to. Potatoes and milk are scarce, but the committee supplies sufficient bread, peas and salt fish, while carefully avoiding making the people more comfortable than in ordinary years, and exacts labor in payment of its help wherever possible, so as to avoid pauperizing the people. As to the stories of deaths from famine, Dr. Reuter adds, no such happenings have been reported anywhere.

CUBAN POSTAL TREATY.

A Domestic Rate System Will Soon Be In Operation.

WASHINGTON, March 28.—The permanent postal treaty between the United States and Cuba is now in course of negotiation and probably will be in operation within a few weeks. Minister Quesada has had a conference with Second Assistant Postmaster General Shallenberger on the subject and will communicate immediately with the Cuban administration regarding the final draft and its ratification.

The treaty is substantially the same as the one now in force between this country and Canada and practically continues the system in vogue between the Washington and Havana administrations since the American regime in Havana began. This puts the relation of the United States and the Cuban governments on a domestic postal system basis. The only question has been over the prepayment of postage on letters and postal cards, and this doubtless will be adjusted shortly in a mutually satisfactory way.

Cuba, it is probable, will announce formally its adherence to the universal postal union at the congress of the postal governments of the world at Rome two years hence.

Bulgarian Cabinet Quits.

SOFIA, Bulgaria, March 28.—The entire cabinet has resigned owing to the inability to find any one who will accept the portfolio of war unless the cabinet agreed to the army appropriations. It was the ministry's refusal to do this which caused the resignation on March 8 of Major General Paprikoff, the former minister of war, his colleagues having rejected his demand for a credit of $1,600,000 for the purchase of war material.

Old Printing House Fails.

BOSTON, March 28.—The Mills & Knight company of 150 Congress street, this city, one of the oldest printing and bookbinding houses in New England, has made an assignment to T. H. Keenan. Some of the paper of the concern is held in New York. The liabilities are placed at $91,279, with assets nominally about the same. The trouble is attributed to debts of an old company before the organization of the present one.

ARBITRATION BOARD

Report at Albany Favors Compulsory Measures.

OPPOSES INCORPORATION OF UNIONS

Labor Commissioner McMackin Says the Public Service Corporations Should Be Forced to Settle Differences.

ALBANY, N. Y., March 28.—The sixteenth annual report of the state board of mediation and arbitration now made public by Labor Commissioner McMackin, who, with Deputy Commissioners Williams and Lundrigan, constitutes the board, disapproves of compulsory incorporation of labor unions, but advocates compulsory arbitration as a condition of the granting of public service franchises.

"Public service corporations have been created," the board contends, "for the express purpose of relieving the state of certain work, and to that end have been endowed with certain sovereign powers of the state, notably the right of eminent domain, or allowed the use of public highways. Considering the privileges which the state grants corporations thus chartered to serve the public, it seems illogical to allow such service to be interrupted by disagreements among those who perform it."

With respect to disputes in industries not thus affected by a public use the board believes the most satisfactory remedy thus far devised to be the trade agreement between associations of employers and employees.

"Where a joint agreement between associations of employers and employees has covered an entire industry, it has commonly worked so satisfactorily that the objection formerly made by employers to the effect that such agreements with labor unions were of little effect because of the irresponsibility of such organizations has to a considerable extent fallen away."

The board announces its determination hereafter in cases where the mediation of the board is declined, after the exhaustion of all other methods to reach a settlement, to make a public investigation of disputes. The board believes that the essential facts in a dispute can be brought to light in a public investigation and that the publication of the facts will enable public opinion to crystallize and practically force a settlement, and it calls attention to the opinion expressed by the coal strike commission that such a public investigation might have averted the recent coal famine.

The report contains particulars of 142 industrial disputes, involving 862 establishments and 38,013 employees and the loss of 550,381 days.

Nearly one-half of the disputes were occasioned by demands for increased wages, and of these twenty-five were entirely successful, fourteen partially successful and twenty-one unsuccessful.

Uruguay Peace Pact Ratified.

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay, March 28.—An assembly of the chiefs of the revolution just ended has ratified and acclaimed the peace convention which was signed with the government last Monday. The Uruguayan revolution broke out on March 16 in the departments of Rivera, Flores and Maldonado. It was brought about by the Nationalist or White party, which was dissatisfied with the new president, Ordonez, who succeeded President Cuestas, and with the recent appointments of departmental prefects. Peace was signed exactly a week after the outbreak of the revolution through the government agreeing that the prefects in five departments should be chosen by the leaders of the Nationalist party from among the nonparticipants in the rising and that amnesty should be proclaimed.

A Double Drowning.

SHARON, Pa., March 28.—A double drowning occurred here last evening on the Shenango river within sight of several hundred people who were powerless to give aid. The victims were Gaylord H. Locke, aged thirty-eight years, a prominent business man of Sharon, and his nephew, Frederick Mapous, aged nineteen years. The bodies of both were recovered two hours after the accident. Locke and Mapous drove a horse and wagon in the river at the foot of Silver street to wash the buckboard. They apparently got in a sinkhole, for the horse and the two men were swept down stream into deep water and all drowned. Mrs. Locke was an eyewitness to the tragedy.

Hanged For Highway Robbery.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., March 28.—Will Dorsey, colored, has been hanged here for highway robbery, it being the first instance in the state's history where the death penalty has been imposed for this crime. He entered the home of David McNamara, a mine operator, near Pratt mines, three years ago and shot down McNamara and robbed the place. McNamara, though badly wounded, recovered.

Girls Struck Without Reason.

PASSAIC, N. J., March 28.—Two hundred Polish girls in the handkerchief factory of Heller & Long have gone on strike. They refused to give a reason for their action. It is said that the girls organized a union, and as soon as the officers were elected they called a strike, but without any cause known to their employers.

Strike at Brick Plant.

WOODBRIDGE, N. J., March 28.—Five hundred employes of the brick and terra cotta plant of Henry Maurer, at Maurer, N. J., are on strike. Over 200 of the strikers are Hungarians, Poles and Slavs.

TREATY MAY FAIL.

Three Committee Reports In Cuban Senate.

SECRETARY HAY SENDS A WARNING

A Majority Favored Adoption as Amended—This Report Likely to Be Adopted, but With Fatal Time Limit.

HAVANA, March 28.—Three separate reports on the reciprocity treaty with the United States were presented to the senate yesterday afternoon by the foreign relations committee. One, signed by the chairman, Senor Bustamente; the president of the senate, Senor Capote, and by Senator Dolz, recommended the approval of all the amendments adopted by the United States senate.

Senator Zayas presented a report against the ratification on account of the action of the United States senate in confining the 20 per cent basis of the tariff rates in the law of 1897. Senor Tamayo submitted the third and adverse report upon all the amendments.

Both the minority reports were rejected by the senate. The majority report is being discussed, and it is expected that it will be approved by a small majority. Its provision requiring the adoption of the treaty by the United States congress before Dec. 1, however, is generally believed to be fatal to the treaty, since the acceptance by the United States senate of this provision is impossible.

It is barely possible that the trio of senators may yet make an amended report.

Hay Warns Cuba.

WASHINGTON, March 28.—Secretary Hay has sent a warning to Cuba that the slightest amendment of the Cuban reciprocity treaty by the Cuban congress, even that which proposes to make its ratification conditional on the treaty going into effect during the current calendar year, certainly would defeat the convention itself, since any amendment must be submitted to the United States senate, and before that can be done the date fixed for the final exchange of ratifications, March 31, will have passed. Mr. Squiers, the United States minister at Havana, has transmitted this note to the Cuban foreign minister, and he is hopeful that it will be sufficient to curb the desire to amend the treaty. It is fully realized here that foreign influences in Havana which would be affected injuriously by the treaty are working upon Cuban pride to defeat the ratification by attaching amendments to the treaty.

Philippine Exhibit at the Fair.

WASHINGTON, March 28.—There is to be no delay in making ready for the Philippine exhibit at the world's fair now that the war department and the management of the exposition have mutually agreed on the details governing the expenditures therefor. The $450,000 which has been appropriated for the exhibit is immediately available, and Colonel Edwards, chief of the insular bureau, under whose jurisdiction the arrangements must be promulgated, has directed Colonel Wilson of the Philadelphia museums and a Philippine commissioner to proceed early in April to St. Louis and have the space allotted to the Filipinos' exhibit prepared for buildings. The exhibit will be a very large one, involving the erection of a number of roomy buildings. There will also be buildings for housing upward of 1,000 native islanders, who will live on the exposition grounds during their stay in the United States.

Cabinet Meeting.

WASHINGTON, March 28.—Yesterday was held the last meeting but one of the cabinet before the president's departure on his western tour, and the trip itself and the speeches the president will make were the subject of discussion. Secretary Hay expressed the belief to the cabinet that the Cuban senate would ratify the reciprocity treaty without amendment. Secretary Shaw, who has been absent from the city for a fortnight, talked over some matters relating to his department, including some contemplated changes in the department. It is probable that the president will appoint the assistant secretary of commerce and labor before he leaves for the west next Wednesday.

Will Fight to Save Ames.

MINNEAPOLIS, March 28.—The attorneys for former Mayor Ames have decided to fight every inch of the way in the courts. They have withdrawn all the pleas of not guilty to all the indictments against him and have filed notice of a motion to quash each one which will be heard on April 2. If this fails, they will enter demurrers, and if they fail and the case shall go to trial they will object to evidence being taken because the indictments are not good and will move to dismiss on the same ground. It will be a weary fight, but they can delay the termination for at least a year.

Weather Probabilities.

Fair; variable winds, mostly north to northwest and fresh.

CONDENSED DISPATCHES.

The German consul at Caracas, Venezuela, accidentally killed himself.

A number of passengers were hurt in a wreck on the Burlington road near Thompson, Ill.

Governor Batchelder of New Hampshire has signed the license bill and appointed a board of commissioners.

Articles of merger filed by the steel trust at Trenton, N. J., were amended so as to change the name of the new corporation to the Carnegie Steel company.

BIG DAY AT BENNINGS.

Sloan Won $15,000 on a 100 to 1 Shot.

WASHINGTON, March 28.—The biggest "killing" of the meeting at Bennings was scored in the first race yesterday when Tommy Foster, a 100 to 1 shot, romped home an easy winner.

Cash Sloan, the jockey who rode him, won $15,000 on the race, and his owner, A. P. Doyle, and a few of his intimate friends also made small fortunes.

Tommy Foster opened at 200 to 1 in the betting, but, under the flood of five, ten and twenty dollar bills which poured into the ring on his chances, the price steadily fell until at post time 100 to 1 was the best obtainable.

Once the barrier shot up Tommy Foster jumped away from his field and, leading all the way, won by a length from Eloim, a 15 to 1 chance, who beat Shrine by a head for the place.

Three favorites and two well played second choices captured the other events. Demurrer, an odds on favorite, won the fifth race by a neck in a hard drive from Daly. Odom landed Colonsay, one of Daly's horses, at 7 to 1, a winner by a short head. Ornature, in the last race, broke his leg after crossing the wire and was destroyed. The track was very fast and the crowd large. Splendid sport is promised for the remainder of the meeting.

Spinnaker For the Reliance.

BRISTOL, R. I., March 28.—It has been decided by Mr. C. Oliver Iselin, the managing owner of the Reliance, that the racing spinnaker for the boat will be made out of a combination of silk and sea island cotton, which will give it both strength and lightness. There was a proposition to make the sail entirely of silk, but it was thought that the material would easily tear. This sail will be used only in very light weather, two other spinnakers being constructed of heavier material for strong winds.

A large amount of cotton duck has arrived from Lawrence for club topsails and staysails for both the Reliance and the Constitution.

The main boom of the new boat was painted yesterday and the steel hoops for the mainsail placed around the mast.

The Cable Chess Match.

BOSTON, March 28.—The gymnasium of the Boston Athletic association began yesterday the play in the fifth annual international cable chess match between a team of six picked from the chess clubs in connection with Columbia, Harvard, Yale and Princeton universities against a like team drawn from the Oxford and Cambridge universities' chess clubs. The play in the morning session was devoid of any startling feature, the contestants confining themselves to shaping their play after conventional lines. Shortly before adjournment, however, Sawin of Yale succeeded in winning a pawn from Davidson of Oxford, thus giving the American players a temporary advantage. The other five games stood about even.

Coaching to Lakewood.

NEW YORK, March 28.—The four-in-hand coaching trips to be conducted by James H. Hyde between the Holland House, in this city, and Lakewood, N. J., had their initial trial yesterday. The success was complete. Not a hitch occurred, and the schedule laid down was met, save for five minutes. To accomplish these daily runs fifty-two well selected horses are employed, and twenty-five men are necessary for their care and to make quick changes. There are ten actual relays, the remaining twelve horses being for emergency purposes. The distance by road taken is just seventy-nine miles and was covered in ten hours and a half.

Collegiate Amateur Gymnasts.

NEW YORK, March 28.—The Intercollegiate Association of Amateur Gymnasts of America held its annual meeting yesterday in the gymnasium of New York university. Officers were elected as follows: President, C. de Zafra, New York university; vice president, F. D. Farnham, Yale; secretary, P. M. Kempf, Pennsylvania; treasurer, G. G. Smith, Princeton; executive committee, W. C. Belcher of New York university, G. E. Mix of Yale, H. S. Osborne of Columbia and C. P. Wilbur of Rutgers. In the evening the competitions for the championships were held.

Kelly Offers $5,000 on McGovern.

ST. LOUIS, March 28.—"Honest John" Kelly, the well known New York gambler, has announced that he wishes to bet $5,000 on Terry McGovern to beat "Young Corbett" in the featherweight championship battle, which takes place in San Francisco on next Tuesday night. Kelly said that if no one would cover the entire $5,000 he would bet any part of it.

A Surprise at Oakland.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 28.—The surprise at Oakland was the victory of Cambacerese, a 40 to 1 shot. He displayed great gameness and landed by a narrow margin from Tom Slavin, who was played from 30 to 1 to 10 to 1.

Trotter Brings $7,000.

LEXINGTON, Ky., March 28.—The best sale at the Tranter-Kenny horse auction was Re-elected, g. s., 2:11½, by Re-election—Sister, to David Lee of New York for $7,000.

Died In Rome.

ROME, March 28.—Mrs. De Wolf of Providence, R. I., has just died here of an internal cancer. Her daughter nursed her in her illness. Her two sons are expected to arrive today from the United States.

German Empress Has Arm Broken.

BERLIN, March 28.—The empress was thrown from her horse while riding at Grunewald during the day, and her right arm was broken.

TRADE CONDITIONS.

Weather Causes Irregularities—Cotton Rules High—Grain Inactive.

NEW YORK, March 28.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade says:

Irregularity in retail trade is due to weather conditions. At most points an early season stimulates business, but in other sections there has been interruption from excessive rains. More uniform activity is reported in wholesale trade, with a notably large movement of groceries, millinery, paper and builders' materials, while conditions are satisfactory for the season in jewelry. Manufacturers of clothing, furniture, footwear and iron and steel are well engaged, ample supplies of fuel greatly facilitating operations, but extensive strikes threaten to render idle many New England textile mills.

An output of about 300,000 tons of coke in the whole Connellsville region for the last week indicates that fuel troubles are almost ended in the iron and steel industry. With this difficulty removed it is certain that all records of production will be surpassed, and the demand is so great that a ready market will be found for the entire output. Quotations are sustained by the vigorous home consumption, and there is the additional support of stronger markets abroad. Work is resumed on bridges and buildings wherever the places of strikers can be filled, and several contests in this department have been averted.

No improvement has appeared in the dry goods market, buyers urging deliveries on old contracts, but placing little new business at existing prices.

Cotton is still the chief feature of the staple markets, spot middling uplands ruling at a very high position while the options are held within a few points of 10 cents. There is no element of weakness in the statistical situation, visible supplies declining much more during the current month than in any other year for a decade.

Grain is less active, good weather here and heavy exports from Argentina tending to weaken prices. Poor quality wheat is profitably fed to live stock, and no excessive supplies are expected at the end of the crop year. Interior arrivals of wheat for the week were 2,284,959 bushels against 2,747,094 bushels last year, while exports from the United States increased to 3,515,761 bushels compared with 3,088,642 bushels a year ago. Receipts of corn are smaller, but 2,469,397 bushels exceeded 1,976,064 a year ago. The customary gain in Atlantic exports is shown, 3,549,450 bushels comparing with only 138,344 last year.

Failures this week numbered 214 in the United States against 205 last year, and 26 in Canada against 22 a year ago.

To Reproduce Fort Dearborn.

CLEVELAND, O., March 28.—L. O. Armstrong of Toronto, who is well acquainted with the Indians in the north of the middle west and throughout Canada, had a conference here with Charles R. MacLoon, secretary of the Chicago centennial executive committee, and proposes to bring to the centennial in September 500 or 600 Indians who descended from the tribes that possessed Chicago lands before Kinzie arrived and for many years after his arrival. It is proposed to reproduce Fort Dearborn and the Kinzie house on the new grounds on the lake front. Mr. Armstrong proposes to have all of the work on the reproduction performed by the Indians, even to the building of the fort.

SAN MIGUEL SLAIN?

Main Body of His Force Badly Defeated.

FORTY-FIVE DEAD LEFT ON THE FIELD

The Ladrones Were In a Strongly Intrenched Position, but Were Dislodged by a Charge. Three Americans Killed.

MANILA March 28.—Two companies of Maccabebe scouts signally defeated the main body of San Miguel's force. It is believed San Miguel was killed. Lieutenant Reese was seriously wounded. The scouts lost three men killed and had eleven men wounded.

The enemy occupied an intrenched position midway between Mariquina, San Francisco and Del Monte and had erected a stone fort, which was garrisoned by 200 men. The First and Fourth companies of Maccabebes, commanded by Lieutenants Reese and Nickerson respectively, attacked the enemy's position.

The two officers led a gallant and successful charge, during which Lieutenant Reese fell seriously wounded.

The enemy then broke and ran, leaving forty-five men dead on the field, including a general officer, who is believed to be San Miguel, though his identification is incomplete.

Lieutenant Reese From Georgia.

CARROLLTON, Ga., March 28.—Lieutenant Boss Reese, who was seriously wounded in the engagement with San Miguel's forces in the Philippines, is the son of Colonel Oscar Reese, an attorney of this city, and nephew of Congressman W. C. Adams. He is twenty-two years old. He served in the Second Georgia regiment during the Spanish war.

PERSHING LIKES MOROS.

Interesting Letter From Commander of District Where They Live.

WASHINGTON, March 28.—Captain J. J. Pershing, Fifteenth infantry, who has been in command in the Moro country, has written a letter under date of Camp Vickers to a personal friend in the war department in which he gives in detail many interesting facts in connection with the disturbances in Mindanao. Captain Pershing says that the Moros do not realize any other kind of government than a one man power. He says he has been able to keep all the promises he has made, which has enabled him to be more successful in command of that district. They regard him as representing the president of America and are somewhat uneasy as to what his successor will do.

The question of slavery is intimately connected with their religion and is something of a vassalage or serfdom and not slavery as known in this country. He thinks it is a subject that should remain untouched until it is understood better. The Moros, he writes, should have a government which they can understand, and it should be the policy of the United States to let it alone, but to make each sultan and datto responsible for the acts of his people.

"We cannot afford," he says, "to tear down their established form of government without giving them something better, and I fear it will be a long time before this can be done."

The Maciu campaigns have had a convincing effect as to the impossibility of any natives escaping punishment when they commit depredations. Captain Pershing says the Moros have some admirable traits of character. "Once a friend, they will go to the limit for you." They are industrious and have splendid ricefields and other agricultural crops. The country is capable of great things from an agracultural standpoint. The country is somewhat like the Mohawk valley, and the whole district can be compared to that about Lake George.

Governor Taft's Illness.

WASHINGTON, March 28.—In reply to the inquiry of the secretary of war stating that the press had alleged that Governor Taft had dysentery a cablegram just received from Governor Taft contains the information that he has been under treatment for a few weeks recovering from an attack of dysentery. Examination last Saturday indicated that treatment had been successful. A later examination indicated that he needed rest, and by the advice of his physician he would remain in bed for a couple of weeks to secure it. His strength and appetite were reported good.

Pacific Cable Extension.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 28.—The first steps in the work preliminary to laying of the cable between Honolulu and Midway islands have been taken up. The Pacific Commercial Cable company has chartered the steamer Grace Dollar, and on April 10 she will depart from this port, carrying supplies and materials for the construction of the cable station on Midway island. She will also have on board a number of carpenters and engineers, and the work of erecting the buildings will be commenced immediately upon her arrival.

California Fruit Growers to Combine

LOS ANGELES, Cal., March 28.—The Fruit World today announces the impending amalgamation of a majority of the fruit growers and shippers in southern California into a co-operative combination, modeled somewhat upon the lines of the Deciduous Fruit exchange of Sacramento and the Raisin Growers' association of Fresno. The amalgamation will involve a combination of capital amounting to more than $1,000,000 and will stop the bitter warfare of past years.

WORK TOGETHER.

The remarkable growth of the rural free mail delivery system, and the willingness of Congress to appropriate money for extensions faster than the extensions can be made have been surprising even to the most enthusiastic friends of the system. "Why, the thing is spreading like wildfire," remarked a man who had been reading up on the subject, "At this rate, rural free mail delivery will be universal in a few years." At first place, this view appears to be correct, but in fact such a view is merely superficial. It takes no great amount of investigation to convince one that the system must meet and overcome some very great obstacles before it can even become general, to say nothing of being universal.

The great obstacle to the general spread of the rural free delivery system is the miserable roads of the country. So far the system has only been extended to communities blessed with good roads. Among the many communities demanding the introduction of the system, the postoffice department has been able to select those which have good roads, either as a result of favorable natural condition or superior wealth. The less favored communities which have been passed by have consoled themselves with the thought that their turn would come soon. But when these disappointed communities—and their number is increasing very rapidly—find out that they are permanently barred from enjoying the benefit of free delivery on account of the condition of their roads, a cry of indignant opposition will be raised.

Suppose the minority says: "Why don't you improve your roads, and thus secure the blessings of free mail delivery?" The majority can answer: "In improving our roads, we have to overcome greater obstacles, and our means are less. Why not help us improve our roads through general taxation." Such a demand as this is almost certain to result from the agitation for rural free delivery of the mails.

And what is there unreasonable or unjust about such a demand? The general improvement of the roads of the country is a work too stupendous to be left entirely to the small municipalities. Besides, is it not more deserving of national aid than the building of the railroads and canals and the improvement of rivers and harbors?

A proper distribution of the expenses of general road improvement among the nation, the States, and the local communities appears to be the only practical solution of the road problem, and the road problem must be solved if rural free mail delivery is to be made general.

The determination of the Somerset county Board of Freeholders to assist in having a new bridge replace the antiquated structure now doing service on Giraud avenue over Green brook, is one that will meet with the hearty approbation of city and borough. It has long been the aim of the Union county board to have the work done but it has been held up again and again by those from the other side. Since the avenue was recently widened on the city side the traffic over it has more than doubled and the need of the improvement was more apparent than ever. There is no doubt but what the freeholders of this county will vote to bear half the expense when the committee reports Thursday, and the actual work of construction cannot commence too soon.

Essex county's Grand Jury most certainly "went higher up" when it found bills of indictment against the officials of the North Jersey Street Railway Company for complicity in the Newark grade crossing horror which blotted out the lives of nine school children. The list extends from the assistant division superintendent to the Board of Directors.

Reports from New York declare that the circus, now holding forth in the big Garden, is turning away hundreds every night. Those of us who crawled under the tent and braved the canvasman's bale stick in the days gone by, can realize why Gotham is said to be a "city of sighs and tears."

A Remarkable Record.

Among the Plainfielders who will attend the annual session of the Newark conference which opens at Newark, April 1, is Rev. Dr. W. C. Nelson, of Somerset place. Dr. Nelson has been a member of the conference fifty years and in that time has only missed attending the session once. That was three years ago, when he was detained at home by illness.

Assisted in Installation.

At the service of installation in the Christian Union Congregational church at Upper Montclair, Thursday evening, when Rev. R. G. Davey was installed as pastor, Rev. Charles L. Goodrich, pastor of the Congregational church, of this city, made the address to the people. The local Congregational church sent J. R. Martin as a delegate.

A Department Devoted to the Minor Events in Greater Plainfield's Suburbs by Our Own Correspondents.

DUNELLEN.

From 8:30 until 2 o'clock last night, Apgar Hall was thronged with a large crowd of dancers. The occasion was the dance which was given by Wm. G. Holton Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., for the good of the order. The music was furnished by Suhr's Imperial Orchestra, of Plainfield, and the floor was crowded by the dancers. Many were present from New Market, Bound Brook, Plainfield and other nearby places. Fred Vail was chairman of the committee which had charge of the affair and to its efforts the great success of the dance is due. The treasury of the order will be greatly benefitted by the proceeds.

The entertainment which will be given next Tuesday evening in the Methodist church under the auspices of the trustees, will be quite extensive. The mandolin club will be the main feature on the programme and will be assisted by Miss Etta Raybert, soprano; Miss Jessie Haynes, contralto; Mrs. Charles Hazeltine, soprano, and Mrs. J. D. Anderson, cornetist.

A sociable will be given on the evening of April 15 by the members of St. John's church. It will be held in Apgar Hall. Dancing and refreshments will be feature.

The ball team will hold regular practice this afternoon on its field. A large number of candidates are expected out.

A game of baseball was scheduled for this morning between the Dunellen Juniors and a junior team from Plainfield.

Regular cottage prayer meeting was held at the home of Eugene Runyon, last evening with a good attendance.

George Vliet is suffering from a severely burned hand which was caused by contact with a hot poker.

NEW MARKET.

Quite a number from here will attend the game between the Orange Field Club and the Plainfield High School, at Plainfield, this afternoon. Whitley, the local pitcher, will be in the box for the Orange Field Club.

A large number from here attended the dance given by Wm. G. Holton Council, of Dunellen, last evening.

Miss Hannah Danz entertained a friend from New York, last evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Day have been entertaining out-of-town friends.

Mrs. Herbert Pierce spent this morning in Plainfield.

Abram G. Nelson was in Plainfield this morning.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

Ever since Manager Johnston learned that he was to lose Joe Alberts at left field he has had his eagle eye out for some one who could cover this important outfield territory in such a manner that the blow of losing Joe would be somewhat softened at least. He has at last got his eye on a Brooklyn man who comes well recommended by Malli, who covered third base part of last season. Alberts' agreement with the Aeolians is for Saturday games only, so the cranks will no doubt see Joe playing holiday games at least with Manager Johnston's colts.

The Epworth League, of the Methodist church, held a social gathering for the League and their friends in the church last night. An interesting address was listened to, Mr. Webb, of Westfield, being the speaker. At the close of the social, a business meeting of the League was held.

The local school team is crossing bats this afternoon at Westfield with the High School team of that place. As this marks the opening of the local season quite a number of the lovers of the game went with the club to see how they show up.

The usual services will be held Sunday at the Baptist church: Sunday-school, 9:30 p. m.; morning preaching by pastor, 10:45; B. Y. P. U. meeting, 7 p. m.; evening sermon, 7:45.

Miss Inez Walker, who has been visiting her brother, Ira G. Walker, returned yesterday to her home at Coxsackie, N. Y.

John Patterson, of Morris Plains, a former old resident of the village, has been visiting at the home of relatives in town.

The music for the Saturday evening dance at Earle's pavilion will be furnished by Naylor's orchestra, of Plainfield.

The regular weekly prayer meeting will be held at the Methodist church tonight. Rev. Mr. Bayliss will lead.

Miss Sadie Ryno and Mrs. Isaac Ryno, of Park avenue, are spending a few days with friends at Oak Tree.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Meyers removed Friday from the Corey property to the Marsh flat over Wade's store.

The matter of agitating a borough jail seems to have been allowed to die out by the boroughites.

Fanwood Council, R. A., is arranging to hold an entertainment in the near future.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

The service at the Baptist church last night was of unusual interest, nearly every one present took part by speaking. The last day of Mr. Spinney's work here will be tomorrow. The subject of the morning sermon will be: "The Importance of Prayer." In the evening: "Obedience."

A boy's overcoat was found after the entertainment in Washington Hall, Saturday night. The owner can have it by calling on Mrs. Linnaberry.

LOVE FOUND A WAY.

How Cupid Tricked Chicago's Marriage License Clerk.

When Antonio Couldn't Marry His Little Sweetheart Without Guardian's Consent, He Appointed Himself Guardian.

Cupid tricked the law, overwhelmed one lover and brought delight to another when he found a way the other day by which a man of 24 could legally marry a little miss of less than 15 years.

To do this the successful suitor had himself appointed legal guardian of his sweetheart and then, imitating the example of the chancellor in "Iolanthe," he asked of himself permission to wed his ward.

This permission was instantly granted.

Alligretto Antonietta came all the way from Naples to Chicago along about six months ago. She made her home with her aunt in the heart of the west side Italian colony. Along came Joseph Marchesi, also from Naples, and began making violent love to her. Alligretto knew something about love, but she did not like the kind that Joseph offered. Her aunt said Joseph was a splendid catch. The child shook her head.

"You are all alone in the world," continued her aunt, "and few girls could get such a good husband as Joseph."

About this time Antonio Ardoini arrived on the scene. He was 24 and handsome. Little Alligretto fell a victim to his charms.

When Antonio appeared before the Chicago marriage license clerk he was given the disappointment of his life.

"You say she is just past 14 years," said the clerk. "Well, you can't marry her."

"But I love her and she loves me," pleaded Antonio.

"Can't help that," replied the interpreter of the law. "If you can get the consent of her parents or guardian you might be able to marry her."

"CAN'T YOU BE MY GUARDIAN?"

Antonio shook his head. "Her parents are in Italy and she has no guardian," he moaned. He carried the doleful news to Alligretto. She muttered a few soft Italian invectives against the law and then looking up said: "Why can't you be my guardian?"

Antonio was overwhelmed with hope at the suggestion. He rushed to an attorney and got some advice. Then with the blushing Alligretto he appeared before Judge Cutting. The girl addressed the judge by petition, asserting that her parents were in Italy and she was a minor and needed the services of a guardian.

"Whom do you want for a guardian?" asked the court. The little girl pointed to Antonio. The character and reputation of Antonio were investigated and found good. Thereupon papers were issued declaring him the legal guardian of Alligretto.

Next day Antonio again appeared before the marriage license clerk. This time he was all smiles. He proudly unrolled his guardianship papers and to the astonished clerk said: "I am her guardian and I consent to her marriage to me."

The papers were examined, found correct and a license was issued. In the meantime Alligretto's aunt was in ignorance of the turn that affairs had taken. Antonio with his license and his guardianship papers, accompanied by Alligretto, faced her and announced that Joseph was out of the race.

"I am her guardian," said Antonio, "and now I am going to be both husband and guardian." The aunt accepted the situation and last Sunday, in the Italian chapel on Clark street, Antonio and Alligretto were made husband and wife.

"I did not understand that the young man I appointed guardian of the girl intended to marry her," said Judge Cutting. "Yet, had I known that, my action would have been the same."

His Copship Talked Back.

Burglaries have recently been very numerous in Richmond, Va. A local minister met a policeman in the street the other day, and said to him: "What a number of burglars there are at work in the city at present! Why don't you officers arrest them?" The policeman regarded the minister solemnly. "Sir," he replied, "there are thousands of people going to Hades every day. Why don't you ministers stop them?"

Where Wives Rule Things.

It is the rule in Abyssinia that the wife is boss of the ranch. The house, with all its contents, belongs to her, and if the husband offends her she turns him out until he is fully repentant and makes amends.

Cold Drinks Ruin Digestion.

Cold drinks are bad for the digestion; therefore, the police of Berlin have issued an order forbidding hotelkeepers and others to sell beverages below a certain temperature.

KODOL
Digests What You Eat

Are due to indigestion. Ninety-nine of every one hundred people who have heart trouble can remember when it was simple indigestion. It is a scientific fact that all cases of heart disease, not organic, are not only traceable to, but are the direct result of indigestion. All food taken into the stomach which fails of perfect digestion ferments and swells the stomach, puffing it up against the heart. This interferes with the action of the heart, and in the course of time that delicate but vital organ becomes diseased.

Kodol

Digests What You Eat

Mrs. Loring Nichols of Penn Yan, N. Y., writes: After eating, my food would distress me by making my heart palpitate and I would become very weak. Finally I got a bottle of Kodol and it gave me immediate relief. After using a few bottles I am cured.

Kodol cures indigestion, dyspepsia and all stomach disorders, and gives the heart a full, free and untrammeled action.

Bottles only. $1.00 Size holding 2½ times the trial size, which sells for 50c.

ACCESSORIES OF DRESS.

Deep Berthas of Lace—Fashionable Evening Skirts.

Some of the new galloons and embroideries, besides being obtainable in the straight bands now so fashionable, have vandykes and lozenge shaped motifs which can be disconnected and employed in many useful ways. Entire gowns of panne decorated with lace are among the spring models, and for morning and country wear there are bolero costumes of serge and cheviot ornamented with braid or Russian galloon.

Skirts with a hip yoke are much favored, and these certainly lengthen the figure. Many evening skirts have the yoke of lace or entirely covered with tucks, and a tulle skirt nearly covered with puffs and frills is very smart made this way.

The deep bertha or frill of lace is very modish on evening bodices, and when the decolletage is very low and the frill deep there is quite a bolero effect.

Shirt waist dresses will be worn a great deal this summer, and they will comprise a great variety of material, from gingham to silk.

The new skirts are made with kilted effects and folds of the goods smartly stitched. The majority of the trimmings are placed perpendicularly to give the long, flowing lines now considered so necessary; still, there are a few new models which show horizontal, or, rather, sloping, effects. These consist of bands of shirrings or embroidery.

So far there are few actual novelties in sleeves, but slight modifications in cuffs or wristbands are sufficient to give an air of novelty.

The illustration shows a blouse of point d'esprit and silk.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

SHIRT WAISTS.

The Wash Waist Is Now Being Made of Serviceable Materials.

In spite of many adverse rumors the separate waist still continues to hold its own.

For street wear with the coat and skirt costumes it is most necessary. The shirt waist of the summer of 1903 will be more substantial than last year. Sad experience taught the majority of women that the dainty lingerie waist of tucks and valenciennes insertion was far too perishable to look well after the third washing. The shirt waists of this season are substantial enough not to show the effects of the hard hand of the laundress.

Shirred bodices and skirts are without doubt the novelty of the spring.

CASHMERE BLOUSE.

and nothing can be prettier than a gown of veiling made in this manner, the deep shirring around the shoulders of the waist being outlined with silk fringe.

Hats, particularly the dressy ones, are flatter than ever, the sole beauty consisting in the outline and in the tuckings and shirrings which cover the frame.

Sleeves continue to grow fuller at the cuffs, with no perceptible change at the tops.

The favorite material is doubtless white linen either made up plain or embellished by heavy linen embroidery. The sleeves, slightly full at the top, graduate into puffs at the wrist.

The collars worn are of stitched linen or of pique in the popular stock and four-in-hand effect.

The illustration shows a cashmere blouse which is useful for cold days during the spring and summer.

[Copyright, 1900, by A. N. Kellogg Newspaper Co.]

"I have for some time suspected that you were allowing yourself to become interested in that country bumpkin," he said, almost brutally; "but I did not dream till to-night that you were in correspondence with him."

"Most of your dreams occur at night, do they not, captain?" Evelyn had lifted her eyebrows and was smiling coldly, defiantly.

"I guess there is no dream about your corresponding with him—at least that he has written you to-day," returned Winkle, in a white heat. "You have been in the house all the afternoon, and besides no one but him could have—could have—"

Winkle found himself sliding into a pitfall of his own making, and the startled vacuity of his small face caused Evelyn to laugh out immoderately.

"Oh!" she exclaimed, "you think he wrote me about the shearing process."

For a moment the captain could only stare stupidly, then a lame defense came to his lips.

"I could not think of anyone else who could report such a lie to you," he said.

"Then I am not to believe that it really happened?" queried Evelyn.

"The very idea is absurd on the face of it," was the captain's perturbed response.

"I can't believe that Mr. Fanshaw would write me a deliberate falsehood," she returned, still smiling tantalizingly. "He is quite truthful and honorable."

Winkle's lip curled and quivered impotently.

"Do you consider it an honorable thing to write a lie about a man—a—a—rival? I presume I may call him that, since you have encouraged him to that extent."

"He has never thought of you as a—a rival," mocked Evelyn, with a pronounced sneer. She moved towards the others, but he grasped her arm and detained her. His fury was now unbridled.

"I shall report this to your father," he threatened.

"You intend to tell my father that I correspond with Mr. Fanshaw?" she asked, sternly, coldly.

"I shall feel it my duty as his friend, knowing that he would disapprove of it, and that you are doing a most foolish thing."

"Then you will tell him a falsehood," she said, with a white smile, and eyes which flashed like diamonds in the moonlight.

"You do not correspond with him? He has not written to you to-day?"

"He has never written me a line in his life. I happened to be a listener to his challenge and a witness to your cowardice. As for his unique humiliation of you, I actually quivered with delight when he cut off your brazen badges of bravery. He repented of having done it—like a brave man would—when he saw that I had seen it all, and he gave me the things to sew back on your coat, but you are fighting with a woman now, and I shall retain them. I may need them in the future."

He shrank from her as if she had struck him in the face. And with a little taunting laugh, Evelyn left him. She was so agitated that she avoided the others who were listening to the negroes as they sang a spirited ballad.

If Ronald Fanshaw could have witnessed what passed at Carnleigh that evening, it might have softened his sharp self-censure for what he had done in the heat of passion. He had always looked upon duelling as radically wrong, and he now told himself he had gone too far in further humiliating a man after he had tacitly thrown himself on his mercy. Before he had quitted the colonel's wood that morning he was brought face to face with a product of his example that added a fresh sting to his general discontent.

He had almost reached the boundary fence when he came upon his shaggy-haired, barefooted brother, standing up to his ankles in the wet loam of a swampy spot. Dave was leaning on a rifle as tall and sturdy-looking as himself, an old-fashioned treasure which he brought out only on special occasions, such as prize shooting matches—at which he was a champion shot—and when there was a threatened "black uprising."

"Why, Dave, what are you doing here?" Ronald asked, in astonishment.

"Huh! I ain't a-doin' nothin', but what I would a-done, ef I'd a-been needed, would a-been a plenty."

His brother stared at him.

"You mean you thought of taking a hand, Dave?"

"I was a-goin' to give you yore chance fust," said the fellow; "but, you bet, I was a-goin' to see which one was able to keep on his feet after the scrap, an' ef it had a-been him, he'd a-been my meat. I blowed this tube out with a prayer" (Dave patted his gun caressingly and smiled). "I kissed ——— patchin', blessed my powder, an' rammed my lead home with the arm of justice to all men."

"Dave, that would have been murder."

"Murder a dog's hind foot! Ef that little eymlin'-headed puppy had killed you, Ron, I'd a settled his hash ef I'd a-had to do it with my bare fists."

Dave broke into an impulsive laugh. "By hunkey, Ron, you give me the shivers awhile ago. I wasn't nigh enough to hear what was passin' twixt you an' him, but when I seed you draw yore knife an' ketch 'im by the collar, I thought you was goin' to dig out his heart, an' that he was a-goin' to stand still while you was at it. What in the name o' common sense was you doin'?"

Ronald gave him the benefit of an explanation, and Dave laughed incredulously.

"An' you didn't even slap his jaws?"

"No, I was satisfied."

"Well," was the philosophical remark, as the speaker drew one of his feet out of the mire and prepared to walk on, "ef satisfaction was good t' eat, an' growed on vines, I wouldn't send you out to pick none fur my dinner."

CHAPTER VI.

One morning in the month of July, when Ronald returned from his tobacco field, he found a score or more mountaineers in the front yard. They were discussing an awful crime that had been committed about dawn that day. Mrs. Telplay, a widow who lived alone in a cottage at the foot of the mountain, was found brutally murdered. It had been generally known that she kept quite a sum of money in an old hair trunk under her bed, having always refused to take the advice of her friends to put her savings in a more secure place. The trunk was found to have been split open by the bloody ax which had killed the owner, and the money was gone.

Sydney Hart, a tall, raw-boned young man, with sharp black eyes and a big mustache dyed to match, sat astride his fine horse and told what he knew of the affair. As he talked he fanned his aquiline face with his sombrero.

"As soon as Jeff, that's her nigger house boy, came in to make the fires," he was saying as Ronald approached, "he seed what had happened, an' run out to give the alarm."

"Didn't nobody suspicion Jeff?" queried old Fanshaw, who sat on the steps in his stockings.

"Don't be so blamed fast," snarled the narrator, with a frown. He could not abide interruption. He was a sort of leader of moonshiners, though it had never been proven against him, and he was accustomed to more respect than he deserved.

"Well, go on," grunted Fanshaw, "you are about as good at tellin' a thing as a one-legged man is at a kickin' bee. You no sooner make a start than you kick the end o' yore spine up in the ground an' thar you are."

The crowd laughed impulsively, but the fierce glare of Syd Hart's eyes soon put an end to the merriment.

"You must a-had razor soup fur breakfast," he grunted, letting his eyes rest on Fanshaw, and then he began to smile. "Thar wasn't no use a suspicionin' Jeff," he proceeded; "fur as soon as the news got out Thad Williams straddled his mare an' notified the sheriff. Ratcliff is quick on trigger, an' he tuck Thad's mare an' made fur the spot armed to the teeth."

"Well, did he ketch the one that did it?" broke in Dave Fanshaw, impatiently, and anyone could have seen from his face that he was not one of Hart's followers.

Syd bent his eyes on Dave's face and sneered. "You are like yore daddy," he observed, "you want yore hog 'fore it's barbecued. Yes, you bet he ketched 'im; that's what he was out after. About half a mile from the widow's house he run across a young stranger a-hidin' in a barn nigh the talc mines. He was too good a thing to be missed, so Ratcliff arrested 'im then an' thar an' made 'im turn 'is pockets wrong side out. He had fifty dollars in hard cash, an', moreover, his hands was red in streaks, an' he had blood on his handkerchief an' shirt-sleeves. He was a young fellow, an 'cried like a baby; he said he hadn't killed nobody, nur stole nobody's money, but Ratcliff tuck 'im in tow. He was sech a little fellow that Ratcliff 'lowed folks ud get the laugh on 'im if he roped or handcuffed 'im, so he started on with 'im jest so. They made it all right till they got back heer a piece to the beginnin' o' Col. Hasbrooke's swamp. Thar, at Swiff's cabin, Ratcliff stopped to git a light fur his cigar. Nobody ever heerd tell o' him takin' a prisoner to jail without he had a cigar stuck in his jaw. He don' spend a dollar a yeer fur cigars, but he has to smoke one when he jugs a man. It makes him look important. He had jest called fur a chunk o' fire, an' Miz Swiff was fetchin' it out to 'im, when lo an' behold, the little stranger showed he was up to snuff. He dodged off behind a haystack before Ratcliff could draw his gun an' was off into the swamp like a skeered rabbit. A hoss ain't wuth a tinker's dam in swampy land an' cane brakes, an' Rateliff ain't as limber as he wuz twenty yeer back. And," the speaker broke off with a laugh, "the little skunk's in the swamp yit. Me an' these fellows is to watch this road, an' Ratcliff's gone round t'other side to stir up the people. They'll drive 'im this way before long, an' then the ——— will begin."

Do You Wish To Borrow Money?

In order to accommodate all classes of borrowers (those who cannot borrow at a bank, as well as those who can), the Mutual Loan and Investment Company, of 118 Market street, Newark, N. J., has a department for handling quickly and confidentially loans ranging from $10 to $300 on furniture, pianos, storage receipts, etc.

The security is not removed from your possession or in any way disturbed. The honest, careful and conservative borrower will try and decide two points before borrowing. First, where he can get the best terms. Second, where he can get fair and square treatment.

This company is in a position to give you by far the most satisfactory terms ever offered by any concern or individual negotiating this class of loans.

With this company you are assured of getting the lowest rates, easiest payments and longest time for repayment. The whole transaction from the time the application is made until loan is paid is entirely confidential. We give you another advantage in case you take the loan out for six months or a year, and wish to settle the same before the time expires: we charge you only for the time you have had the money. We also take up loans from other companies and advance more money.

Kindly call and let us explain our simple and up-to-date methods. If not entirely convenient for you to call, please write and our representative will call and give you any desired information. Remember it costs nothing to make application. Loans promptly made in Elizabeth, Plainfield, Westfield, Roselle, Rahway, Perth Amboy and all suburban towns.

DR. PRICE'S CREAM FRYABITA FOOD

THE ONLY CELERY WHEAT FLAKE

MR. LOEB PROMOTED.

Appointed Secretary to the President of the United States.

Knows More Public Men Than Any Other Man of His Age and Has Always Been Popular with Mr. Roosevelt.

William Loeb, Jr., who took the oath of office the other day as secretary to President Roosevelt, promises to make as popular and successful a man in the position as Secretary Cortelyou. Mr. Loeb is business-like, discreet, tactful. He probably knows the president and his characteristics better than any man at the white house, and undoubtedly starts out with the complete confidence of the chief executive that his management of his new office will be all that it should be.

William Loeb, Jr., was born October 9, 1866, at Albany, N. Y., of German parentage. He graduated from public school No. 14 and entered the Albany high school, where he remained for two years. He then began the study of shorthand and found employment, first with a newspaper correspondent, and then with several business concerns. He was Bishop Doane's amanuensis for a time. His ambition was to be a law and general reporter, and in furtherance of it he formed a connection with the late Eugene Burlingame, a prominent attorney and the republican leader of Albany county. Mr. Loeb early evinced a taste for politics, and under Mr. Burlingame's tutelage he began to take an active part in political affairs and became his chief lieutenant. He was a member of the republican county committee for several years and was its secretary. He was also prominent in the management of the Unconditional Republican club, and was its vice president for two years. At the organization of the legislative session of 1888 he had strong political backing and was elected official stenographer of the assembly by four votes. For several years thereafter, in connection with his business of a general law stenographer, he reported various legislative and investigating committees, and served as private secretary and stenographer for Mr. Fassett, president pro tem. of the senate, Speaker Malby and Lieut. Gov. Saxton. He was Mr. Fassett's secretary when the latter was a candidate for governor against Roswell P. Flower, and accompanied him on his tour of the state. In 1894 he was a member of the stenographic corps that reported the debates of the New York constitutional convention. The year following, on the enactment of the law providing for a district attorney and grand jury stenographer for Albany county, District Attorney Burlingame appointed him to the position, which he held until a few months after Mr. Burlingame's death, in 1898. When Mr. Roosevelt became governor, January 1, 1899, Mr. Loeb was appointed one of the four executive stenographers. His ability and familiarity with public men and affairs soon attracted the notice of Gov. Roosevelt, who made him his private and confidential secretary. When the governor was nominated for the vice presidency and made his memorable tour of the country Mr. Loeb accompanied him, and when he was elected vice president was made his secretary. When Mr. Roosevelt took up the reins as president he appointed Mr. Loeb his assistant secretary.

Mr. Loeb has a home at 249 State street, Albany, N. Y., where his father, three sisters and brother Edward live. He was married December 12, 1901, to Katharine W. Derr, of Albany. Their Washington home is No. 1738 Riggs place. He is prominent in masonic circles, being a member of Wadsworth lodge, No. 417, F. and A. M., of Albany, and of Washington chapter, No. 2, Royal Arch Masons, of Washington.

Heavy Tax on Bachelors.

Bachelors are heavily taxed in one of the provinces of the Argentine Republic. Between the ages of 20 and 30 he must pay five dollars a month; after the age of 30, ten dollars; when he is between 35 and 50, $20; between 50 and 75, $30. When a widower has been three years wifeless, he must remarry or pay the tax. If he can prove that he has been thrice refused as a husband within one year, he is not taxable.

Sight Restored by Science.

Contact with poison ivy caused the total blindness of Miss Fanny Knowles, of Harrison, N. J. After enduring her severe affliction for ten years, an operation performed a short time ago completely restored sight to her left eye.

Onions Prevent Malaria.

In damp or marshy districts it is said that the eating of raw onions is a preventive of malarial complaints.

SPORTING NEWS

ON THE DIAMOND.

George Bolsterli, formerly of the Y. M. C. A. baseball team, has signed for the coming season with Scotch Plains.

Charles Smith has signed to play with the Y. M. C. A. baseball team this season. The management has secured an exceptionally fine pitcher, but will not disclose his name for the present.

The City High School baseball team met for practice yesterday afternoon on Hope Common. The work was under the direction of Captain Van Auken and consisted of light practice. The playing was highly satisfactory and the boys are considered in good form for today's game with the Orange Field Club.

The members of the boys' department of the Y. M. C. A., will have a game of practice baseball this afternoon on their grounds on Mountain avenue. There are many who have enrolled for places upon the several teams which will be formed among the members of that department and the game this afternoon will probably result in some of the best players being given positions on the nines.

Physical Director C. E. A. Heywood, of the Y. M. C. A., has received eighteen applications for positions on the Y. M. C. A. baseball team for the coming season. Many of those who have applied for places promise good work and it is pretty sure that the association team this year will be composed of very good material. A practice game will be played early next week when the team will be made up.

BASKET BALL.

The basket ball game, which was to have been held last evening at the Y. M. C. A., was postponed. The game was to have been played between the local association and the Brooklyn Polytechnic Institute. It will be played at Brooklyn next Friday evening. A supper will be enjoyed by the members of the local team in New York, after the game.

At Y. M. C. A. Tomorrow.

James F. Parker will speak and Mrs. Charlotte M. Ross will sing at the Y. M. C. A. meeting on Sunday at 4 o'clock. A chorus of mixed voices will lead the singing. All men are invited.

DEATH OF A MUSICIAN.

Mrs. Clarence Smith Died This Morning at Netherwood.

The death occurred this morning of Nellie Udell, the wife of Clarence Smith, at the home of her sister, Mrs. Charles Lewis at 639 Belvidere avenue, Netherwood.

Mrs. Smith was born in Cedar Springs, Michigan, in 1875 but moved to New Jersey when a child. In September of 1897 she married Clarence Smith, of Newark. She is survived by her husband and one son, Lyle. She was an accomplished musician, having at different times been a pupil of Kricesel and Grinsberg, of Boston and Damrosch, of New York. She was a member of the Ladies' String Quartette and traveled with the Minnie Marshall Concert Company.

The funeral arrangements have not been completed.

INTERESTING ADDRESS.

Given at Men's Assembly in Grace M. E. Church Last Night.

A meeting of the Men's asembly, of Grace M. E. church, was held last evening when the principal speaker was Rev. C. E. Herring, of the First Presbyterian church. He spoke of the municipal, social and intellectual condition of Naples and her people. John Valiant led in a general discussion of the British Isles and the political and social conditions in Europe and the pastor, Rev. E. L. Earp, also made a few remarks. There were about thirty-five present. Music was supplied during the evening by Dykman Winckler and Edward Spier.

Police Committee Met.

A meeting of the police committee of the Borough Council was held last evening. Nothing of importance was done other than looking over the plans for the coming year.

Our Friends, the Druggists.

It is a pleasure to testify to the generally high character of druggists. But because of a few exceptions to the rule, it is necessary to caution the public to be on guard against imitations of Perry Davis' Painkiller. See that you get the right article, the soothing, helpful Painkiller that was used in your family before you were born. Don't be taken into buying a substitute. There is but one Painkiller. CLEVER CROOK OUTWITS POLICE "Professor Litten," Who Has Operated in Plainfield, Escapes From Scranton Jail.

GAVE $2,000 AS SECURITY

Chief Kiely, of This City, Arrived a Few Hours After He Had Been Released From Jail—He Swindled Women in This Place Out of $800.

Wanted by the police of 100 cities, John Hazel, with a dozen aliases, was arrested and then let go at Scranton, Pa., Thursday, just a few hours before Chief Kiely of the local department, arrived to take him in charge. He was released on $2,000 cash bail, furnished by himself, without the knowledge of the Scranton police and immediately decamped. He was tracked twenty miles out in the country where all trace of him was lost.

Hazel is regarded by detectives and sleuths in every part of the country as one of the slickest swindlers that ever operated in the states. He generally works his graft under the guise of a clairvoyant and trance medium, his victims in nearly every case being women or servant girls. He has been known alternately as R. H. E. Waite, Dr. Hamilton and Professor Litten. Under the latter alias he operated in this city about eighteen months ago and got away with $800, all taken from poor women. One lot of $500 was taken from a West End victim and represented the savings of a life time.

At that time Chief Kiely made a determined effort to capture the man and received assurance from the head detective bureaus that he would be given the first chance at Hazel once he was captured. The fellow was heard from at various places, always getting away, until Thursday, when the Scranton superintendent of police telegraphed that Hazel was in jail and the Plainfield authorities could have him.

Chief Kiely left at once and arrived in Scranton, Thursday night. He was dumbfounded to find that the swindler had again outwitted the police and was at large. There was nothing for him to do but return and he is now waiting for news of Hazel from some other quarter as he has never been known to let an arrest keep him from operating.

BOUND BROOK BURNED.

Jersey Central's Costly Double-Decked Ferryboat Almost Totally Destroyed.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Jersey City, March 30—In a mysterious manner, the New Jersey Central ferryboat Bound Brook caught fire yesterday afternoon, while lying at her pier at Communipaw and before the flames could be extinguished she was damaged to the extent of $25,000. The boat was taken out into the river while ablaze and after a three hours' hard fight the blaze was put out by the several fire boats which were called into play. Originally the Bound Brook cost $200,000. She was built two years ago.

NEW WARREN CHAPEL SITE.

Option Secured on Ground at Fairview and Watchung Avenues.

The members of Warren chapel have secured an option on the lot at the corner of Watchung and Fairview avenues, belonging to Councilman Robert Clark, Jr., and it now seems an assured fact that a new edifice will be erected in the near future. This has been made possible through the generous gift of $5,000 by James Clark, of West Seventh street. Other gifts have also been promised. The present chapel and property will be sold and the proceeds will be used in erecting the new place of worship.

Entertained Friends.

Mr. and Mrs. William J. Dodd, of East Fifth street, entertained a party of twelve young friends at their home, Saturday evening. Music, games and dancing were features of the gathering that proved a delightful combination. An elaborate repast was served shortly before midnight.

Amicably Settled.

A landlord and tenant case was returnable in Justice Mattison's court, Saturday, but before it was brought to trial it was settled out of court. The principals in the case were John W. Codington against Jas. Codington.

THREE MORE EVENTS.

Novice Contest at Y. M. C. A. Getting Interesting and Drawing Crowds.

Three more events in the novice contest at the Y. M. C. A. was run off Saturday night. Many spectators occupied seats in the gallery and took much interest in the various events, which were the standing high jump, the running high dive and the potato race.

Walter McNaughton won the standing high jump by clearing the tape at 3 feet 11 inches. All the other contestants in this event tied at different heights. Scull and Koons tied at 3 feet 10 inches, Bentliff and Smith tied at 3 feet 9 inches and Swaim and Collins tied at 3 feet 8½ inches.

The potato race was one of the most exciting events of the evening. McNaughton and Smith tied at 1:50 1-5. The tie will be run off later. Other positions at the close of the race were: Koons, 1:50¼; Scull, 1:51 3-5; Sebring, 1:54 4-5; F. Neal, 1:56 4-5; Collins, 1:58 3-5; Martin, 1:59.

The running high dive was won by Walter McNaughton who cleared 5 feet 8 inches. Other scores were: Bentliff, 4 feet 11 inches; Tice, 4 feet 10 inches; Collins, 4 feet 9 inches; Smith, 4 feet 3 inches and Neal 5 feet 2 inches.

The official scorer was Physical Director C. E. A. Heywood. He has not yet given out the events for next Saturday evening.

LAST EXTENSION LECTURE

PROFESSOR ZEUBLIN COMPLETES THE INSTRUCTIVE COURSE AT Y. M. C. A.

Subject "Public Wealth" Was Ably Handled and Revealed Facts of National Interest.

Professor Charles Zeublin, of the University of Chicago extension course, gave the last of a series of lectures Saturday evening at the Y. M. C. A. His subject was "Public Wealth" and it was well handled. The course of lectures has been well attended and much interest has been shown in them by the people of this city.

The speaker said that the object of government is to insure a free life for each citizen. This, he said, necessitates the relaxation of many old restrictions and the imposition of new, especially economical regulations. Public functions are naturally being extended. Where the consumption of a commodity is compulsory there the government should undertake its provision and where no pecuniary return is received for the supply of any commodity or service, it is the function of the government to undertake it. Where the service is furnished irrespective of cost, it must of necessity be assumed by the government and where the good of the community demands that the consumption of any commodity or service be as great as possible there government intervention is necessary.

On the contrary, where it is desirable that the consumption be as small as possible, public regulation is necessary and the government should control all monopolies. Another form of necessary governmental control is found in the execution of public works. Other services in which public control is necessary are those which make possible an improved standard of consumption.

The speaker declared that public ownership promotes private initiative and good citizenship. The public ownership provides for the coming generation and thus fulfills the community's law of life. It also sustains and raises the standard of living of the workers.

DISASTROUS BLAZE.

Fire Badly Damages Home of Geo. Auton, Near Somerville.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, March 30—The home of George Auton in East Somerville was badly damaged by a fire that broke out Friday at about noon. The blaze is believed to have originated from the chimney and before the firemen, who fought the flames heroicly, could check them, the roof and upper story of the building were destroyed. The loss will amount to about $1,000; partly insured.

Lenox Whist Club Dance.

The Lenox Whist Club is making preparations for a dance which will be given at the Casino on April 28. The dance is being arranged on an elaborate scale and a most enjoyable evening is anticipated.

What a Hanging Cost.

It might be interesting to know that it cost Monroe county, Pennsylvania, $153.89 to hang Chas. Grether, the murderer.

BUILDING BOOM IS STILL MAKING GAINS

Building is Going On in the Extreme West End, Near the New Factories.

NEW WORK STARTED

MONTH OF MARCH SHOWS A STEADY GAIN OVER PREVIOUS ONES.

Some of the New Houses for Which Permits Have Been Granted During the Present Month by Inspector Doane.

The month of March, although not quite over yet, promises to hold the record so far this year for the largest number of building permits granted for new buildings, remodelling of buildings and moving of houses and buildings. This is conclusive evidence that there is a steady, healthy growth which is hardly perceptible except upon the outskirts of the town where the noise of the carpenter's hammer and the scrape of the mason's towel is to be heard on every hand. A trip through the outskirts of the city will show that there are many new houses going up, particularly near where the new factories are locating. It is a noticeable feature of the boom, that the houses, or the great majority of them are of the small variety, for which kind there is such a great demand.

During the past few days these permits have been granted by Building Inspector T. O. Doane:

Howard Cox, of 1155 South Second street, will shortly erect a dwelling on Clinton avenue near Third street. The house will be a modern one with improvements. Charles Force is the architect and Titus & Pope are the carpenters.

John A. McNally, of 409 Spooner avenue, has been granted permission to erect a dwelling house on Webster place near Watchung avenue. The house will be a double one and will measure 22x35x33 feet and will be two and a half stories in height. F. L. Lancaster is the architect, Cormick Caufield the mason, and John A. McNally the carpenter.

James E. Totten, of 810 West Sixth street, has been granted permission to move a house from the present site to 941 West Fourth street.

Otto Arens, through Architect A. L. Marsh, was granted permission to renovate his house on the Rahway road. Many improvement will be made to the house and some of the latest sanitary devices will be installed. B. J. Tallamy is the contracting mason and Charles M. Wilson is the carpenter.

Permit was also granted to M. N. Norton, of 145 East Fifth street, to erect one dwelling house on that street. The house will measure 24x24x28 feet and will be modern in every particular. The contracting mason is D. E. Moore and the carpenter W. D. Bird.

USED A BARROW.

Patrolman Lunger Adopts a New Method of Getting a Drunk to Jail.

Patrolman Lunger demonstrated early yesterday morning that the drunk transportation problem can always be solved in his department. When he found John Crawford near the Netherwood station, helplessly intoxicated, and not a vehicle in sight, he secured a wheelbarrow from a nearby yard and carted the man to jail. Crawford was sober enough to appear before City Judge Runyon this morning and was released on his promising to push the wheelbarrow back to Netherwood.

George Gardner, the youth whose father died on the street on hearing of his committment to jail a few weeks ago, was arraigned this morning, charged by his mother with drunkenness and disorderly conduct. When the case was called she relented and begged for his release. He was let go with a warning that his next appearance meant $50 and fifty days.

Engine Headlight Starts Fire.

A peculiar accident occurred on one of the Central's large freight engines, opposite the North Avenue station, early yesterday morning. It was drilling cars and a sudden heavy jar knocked over the headlight sending oil over the boiler. It took fire and in an instant the engine was enveloped in flames. The engineer summoned the crew and the fire was put out in time to save the wooden running board from being consumed.

HIGH SCHOOL DEFEATED BY ORANGE FIELD CLUB

First Baseball Game of the Season Took Place Saturday in Blustering Wind Storm.

THE SCORE WAS 4 TO 3

O. F. C. PLAYERS BEST IN FIELD WORK AND SUPPORTING EACH OTHER.

VanAuken in Fine Form and Proved An Enigma to the Opposing Battery — Other Details — The Lineup and Summary.

The Orange Field Club baseball team defeated the Plainfield High School, Saturday afternoon by a score of 4 to 3. The game was played on Stillman Field and was the first of the season for both teams.

Both played an even game until the sixth inning. At the beginning of this a strong wind sprang up and blew fiercely across the diamond. For fifteen minutes it was a regular gale and the High School boys were unable to judge the ball in the field. This netted two runs for the Orange Field Club.

VanAuken pitched a good game for the High School, striking out fifteen men. The team, however, gave him no support him in the field and made some costly errors. The Orange boys played a far better game in the field and won much applause by their neat pickups and assists. They hit VanAuken but four times, each for a single, but the hits were timely and well placed.

The summary follows:

ANOTHER FACTORY COMING

RUSHMORE DYNAMO COMPANY HAS LEASED OLD CARPET FACTORY.

Manufactures Electric Devices and Will Employ in the Neighborhood of 100 Men.

Within a week or two another industrial establishment will be added to Plainfield's list of manufacturing plants. The Rushmore Dynamo Company, which is well-known in the business world, has leased the former carpet factory building on South avenue near Berckman street and has already nearly completed installing machinery. When running on full time the firm will employ in the neighborhood of 100 skilled men.

At present the company's factory is in Jersey City where it has been located for the past three years. An increase of business made it necessary to secure larger quarters and the Plainfield factory was selected. Many of the old employes will be retained and Hand & Son have already been engaged to move fifteen families to this city within the next two weeks.

The company manufactures search lights and a patented advertising device which, it is said, reveals letters high in the air at night so they can be read at a great distance.

Red Men's Excursion.

Assemblyman William Newcorn is one of a committee from the Great Council, Improved Order of Red Men, that is arranging for an excursion of the New Jersey members to Atlantic City next fall. Mr. Newcorn introduced the matter at the meeting of Miantonomo Tribe, last week, and received assurances of hearty support.

GLEE CLUB PROVIDES A FINE ENTERTAINMENT

City High School Musical Organization Makes Initial Appearance Saturday.

IT WAS WELL RECEIVED

ORIGINAL SONG BY G. A. BRAKELEY A PROGRAMME FEATURE.

The Proceeds Are for the Benefit of the School Baseball Team for This Season — Those Comprising the Glee Club.

The Mandolin and Glee Clubs, of the City High School, gave an excellent concert Saturday evening in Franklin Hall. It was a departure from the regular order of High School entertainments and each number of the programme was well received.

The programme consisted of four numbers by the Glee Club and three by the Mandolin Club. Aside from this there were two recitations by members of the club, one a selection from Mark Twain by Norman C. Hill, and the other a dialogue from Mark Twain's "Innocent's Abroad," given by Norman C. Hill and Francis K. Anderson.

After the opening "Hail," by the Glee Club, Ralph S. Lane sang "Our Crew," the club joining in the chorus. As an encore to this, Mr. Lane sang "Blue Eyes." The Mandolin Club quartette, consisting of William P. VanEps, Lucius T. Koons, Chester H. Briggs and Theodore Gavett, played "Blaze Away" in a highly spirited way.

The Glee Club next appeared in the parody "The Facult-e-e," sung to the tune of "Mister Dooley." This parody, composed by G. Archibald Brakeley, was the hit of the evening. It consisted of a verse for each member of the faculty, every one being a good-natured "hit" on the teacher. The verses were sung by Charles P. Titsworth while the Glee Club joined in the chorus.

The last number of the programme was the new school song "Red and Blue." This song was composed by Vincent B. Miner and was sung to the tune of "The Princeton Tiger."

The Glee Club consisted of the following young men of the school: Ralph S. Lane, leader, Francis K. Anderson, George L. Babcock, G. Archibald Brakeley, VanWyck Brooks, Harold C. Fenno, Norman C. Hall, Vincent B. Miner, Alden E. Moore, Michael T. Moynihan, C. Clarence Rocap, Charles P. Titsworth, Edwin J. Weseman and Albert F. Yaeger. Throughout the programme the piano accompaniments were played by Miss Mary Collier.

At the close of the concert, an informal dance was held. The music was furnished by Suhr's Imperial Orchestra. About $40 was realized from the affair and it will go toward the support of the baseball team.

CRITERION CLUB ACTIVE.

Is Planning Pleasant Affairs and Adding New Members.

The Criterion Club is planning to hold a dance in the Casino on May 7. It was intended to have it on April 23 but the committee has been unable to secure that date. Three pieces of music from Westervelt's orchestra will be present and a novel scheme will be introduced in serving the refreshments.

Plans are under way to hold a duck dance in June. The arrangements have not yet been completed but it promises to be one of the most successful dances ever given by the club.

At a recent meeting of the club four new members were received and applications have been handed in for five more. Negotiations are now going on with a view to securing rooms again in the Babcock building when the repairs to the structure have been completed. The club now holds its meetings in rooms on North avenue.

Sixth Birthday Anniversary.

Mrs. Alfred Seidel, of Jackson avenue, gave a party in honor of the sixth birthday of her son, Alfred, Saturday afternoon. Games were played for several hours by the twenty children present and refreshments were served early in the evening. Mrs. I. V. Smalley and the Misses Florence Smalley, Agnes Bailey and Edna Lewis assisted Mrs. Seidel in entertaining.

Elected to Classis.

The Consistory of Trinity Reformed church has elected H. E. Gayle and Robert Clark, Jr., as delegates to the Classis, which meets at Newark, Wednesday, April 15.

SONG AND STORY.

Basket Social of Swedish Lutheran Church Proves Highly Enjoyable.

Under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society of the Swedish Lutheran church a basket social was held Saturday evening in the German Lutheran church parlors. A pleasant evening was spent by fifty young people of the congregation. The social was given for the benefit of the church and the net proceeds were quite large.

The early part of the evening was devoted to song, recitation and story telling. A quartette from the Upsala College was present and favored during the evening with several selections. The quartette comprised: Wilfred Anderson, August Pearson, Carl Turnberg, Olaf Lundgrin and Alfred Lundgring, leader. Others who took part in the programme were A. M. Andrea, Carl Turnberg, Miss Anna Nelsen, Miss Vega Tulin, John Chester, Miss Deen, August Pearson and Rev. Hilmer Johnson, pastor of the congregation. The evening's programme came to a close with a short address by Wilfred Anderson.

Refreshments were served during the evening in baskets which were donated by the members of the congregation. Coffee was served by the committee having the affair in charge. It comprised: Mrs. Louisa Geier, Mrs. Charles Johnson, Mrs. John Gjetelson and Mrs. Charles Keller.

COUNCIL WILL BUILD SEWERS

BELIEVES IN PROVIDING FOR HOUSES IN THE PROJECTED PARK.

Increase in Valuation of Real Estate Will Offset Cost and Aid in the City's Growth.

If the Common Council decides adversely in the matter of sewer extension as proposed according to plans recently drawn, this does not mean that that portion of the southwestern part of the city which it is the purpose of a number of capitalists to improve, will not be provided for. The Common Council has no idea of allowing this improvement to go by default and thus lose an increase in the valuation of real estate. The Common Council will provide sewer accommodation for the proposed new houses if they are erected and this seems to be an assured fact.

G. Herbert Taylor, of West Seventh street, together with several Philadelphia capitalists, has the matter in charge and undoubtedly the ten or fifteen handsome residences proposed, will be built. According to the present plant these houses are not to cost less than $10,000 each and they will be situated in the midst of a large park, somewhat similar to Washington Park. While the Council may not feel warranted in expending $65,000 or more, they will probably feel justified in providing sewers for the new section, thereby making Plainfield additionally attractive. The streets and sewer committee will probably make a report on this matter in the near future.

PROJECTOSCOPE ENJOYED.

Large Audience at Park Avenue Baptist Church Delighted.

The new model of Edison's projectoscope was seen by several hundred people on Thursday evening last in the Park Avenue Baptist church. It was the first time that the genuine Edison machine has been seen in Plainfield, and the large audience present was delighted. The pictures were perfectly steady on the canvas and remarkably clear and distinct. D. W. Robertson, the manager of the projectoscope received many warm congratulations on the success of the evening's entertainment and was assured that he would be asked to give another exhibition of his wonderful machine in Plainfield in the near future.

NO FOURTH OF JULY GAMES.

City Baseball League Decides to Omit That Holiday.

But little business of importance was transacted at Saturday evening's meeting of the City Baseball League. President W. N. Runyon presided and representatives from the four clubs were present.

It was decided to cross off the Fourth of July for games and to adopt the constitution of last year for the season. President Runyon appointed C. E. A. Heywood and Thomas Comerford, a committee of two on schedules.

John, the son of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Carney, of Liberty street who has been seriously ill with typhoid fever at Bayonne, is reported to be recovering.

PAINTER MET HORRIBLE DEATH

Chas. Hill Struck by An Express Train on the Jersey Central This Morning.

BODY BADLY MANGLED

Was Working on the Clinton Avenue Railroad Bridge, and Evidently Became Confused When He Saw Engine Swiftly Approaching.

Charles Hill, a painter in the employ of the New Jersey Central, whose home was in Dunellen, was struck and probably instantly killed by an express train at Clinton avenue, shortly before 10 o'clock this morning. The accident occurred on the left side of the engine and the engineer continued on, not perceiving it. Hill's body was thrown to one side and was found lying between the tracks, badly mangled.

Just how the accident occurred, the authorities could not ascertain. Hill was working at the Clinton avenue bridge and evidently became confused when the express bore down upon him. There was no one in his immediate vicinity at the time. The remains were taken to Cole's undertaking parlors and the county physician granted a permit for their removal home.

Hill was fifty years old and was well known in this city, having resided here at one time. He had worked for the Central many years and was very well liked by the officials. He leaves a large family.

SUCCESSFUL SALE.

Neat Sum Realized by Junior C. E.'s of Trinity Reformed Church for Mission Work.

The Junior Christian Endeavor Society, of Trinity Reformed church, conducted a successful cake and candy sale in the Primary room of the Sunday-school, Saturday afternoon, between the hours of 2 and 5 o'clock. Notwithstanding that a large number of cakes and considerable candy were contributed toward the enterprise, the young folks had no trouble in disposing of their entire stock at good prices. In all $12 were realized from the sale, $2 at the candy table and $10 at the cake table.

The candy table was in charge of Miss Ethel Lorton, Miss Louella Day and Miss Ida Tier, while Mrs. J. M. Tier and Miss Berkaw, assisted by members of the society were at the cake table. The proceeds will be devoted to the cause of missions, this object being contributed to systematically by the society. The members feel much encouraged over the success of the sale and are grateful to all who assisted them.

SUDDEN DEATH.

Mrs. R. B. Doremus Passes Away After Apopletic Stroke.

Mrs. Rhoda B. Doremus, widow of the late Francis J. Doremus, died suddenly on Saturday at her home, 43 Prospect place, following an attack of apoplexy. She resided in this city for fifteen years, after which she took up her residence with her daughter at Orange for a time. Four years ago she returned to Plainfield, where she remained up to the time of her death.

She leaves two daughters, Mrs. W. C. Townsend, of Batavia, N. Y., and Mrs. F. J. Trest, of Orange; two sons, Monroe Doremus, of Genesseo, Ill., and John Doremus, of Green Village, N. J., also a sister, Mrs. Caroline Smith, of Passaic. The funeral services will be held from the late home Wednesday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock and the interment will be in the family plot at Chatham, N. J.

Officers Nominated.

The nominating committee of the Missionary Society of Trinity Reformed church Sunday-school met yesterday afternoon after the Sunday-school session when the officers for the ensuing year were nominated. The names will not be made public until next Sunday, when after the school sessions, the regular meeting will be held.

Offers Reward.

Maliciously inclined persons set fire to the woods belonging to William Palmer Smith, of Belvidere avenue, yesterday afternoon, and destroyed a large number of valuable plants. Mr. Smith offers a reward of $25 for information leading to the arrest of the guilty parties.

COLUMN FOR THE SHOPPERS

SOME OF ATTRACTIONS TO BE FOUND AT LOCAL STORES.

A Few Interesting Items Concerning Greater Plainfield's Merchants

L. Moralier & Sons, the Park avenue jewelers, have received a new stock of fine jewelry. This is the time to get the benefit of the spring prices and especially Easter silverware and jewelry.

Follow the crowd. It's going to Fred Endress' market, where the best of everything in the meat, poultry and seafood line is to be had. Orders telephoned will receive careful attention and be delivered.

Plainfield Milk and Cream Company is now in its new store, 191 North avenue, and will be glad to meet its customers and the public in general at this location.

"Grant oaks from little acorns grow" and pneumonia, pulmonary troubles and other serious infections result from slight colds. Hodge, in the Y. M. C. A. building, is the pharmacist who has the sure cure for just such troubles.

When it comes to the point of getting the best smoke for the least money the best place to go is Dobbins' cigar store on Park avenue. He always carries a large assortment of pipes and tobacco and also a large stock of fancy cigars.

In the course of a year, the cost of proper footgear totals up to a surprising amount—that it unless discretion is used. A synonym for discretion is, "buy shoes of VanArsdale." His emporium is headquarters for all the best makes for men, women and children.

The grocery and meat bills are important factors in the living expenses and for this reason S. Scheuer & Company, of West Front street, always strive to sell at the lowest market prices. In trading at this store you will learn that the firm will help you to economize and yet you will get the best goods.

If you want anything in the jewelry line don't forget to give Charles E. Vail, of Park avenue, an opportunity to please you. He is confident that he can sell you goods equal to those in New York and the prices will appeal to you. Mr. Vail also conducts an optical department, and guarantees to give the eyes a perfect fit.

Dudley S. Miller, the Park avenue druggist, is selling one of the best spring tonics in the market. It comes in tablet form, being easy to take and in price is more reasonable than other preparations. Mr. Miller is expecting his new soda fountain every day and when this is put in position he will better able than ever to serve his patrons with the best drinks.

CITY JOTTINGS.

—The Sunday-school of the First Baptist church is preparing for an elaborate Easter service, when special music will be rendered.

—William Snell, of Watchung, has resigned his position with F. A. Nelson and has accepted a position with Borough Councilman Robert Clark, Jr.

—A pair of fine dapple gray horses has recently been purchased by Fred Meyers, of Watchung. The horses were bought of a local dealer and cost $350.

—The removal of the fence in front of Isaac Giles' home, on Grove street, is in keeping with most of the adjoining premises and gives a desirable width to the street.

Spring Time in Washington.

Washington is a typical spring resort and its bustle is purely social and political. There are gathered in the Capital representatives of every nation and country, and their comings and goings are of no little interest. Then the doings of the Senate and House are features which every tourist delights in following, and these features together with the visits to the numerous public buildings keep one busy all the while one is in Washington. The Royal Blue Line of which the New Jersey Central is the initial road is going to operate an excursion to Washington on April 9, and cost of tickets for the three days' excursion including all expenses is $12. Train leaves New York at 1 p. m., and arrives Washington at 6:10 p. m. If you want to know about the trip drop a postal to C. M. Burt, General Passenger Agent, New York City, for tour book. Free for the asking.

THEATRICAL.

"The Prince of Pilsen" has "caught on" in New York and Henry W. Savage has another metropolitan success to his credit. The Pixley and Ludors' musical comedy has just closed its first week at the Broadway Theatre and that popular playhouse has been crowded at every performance. The New York critics have endorsed in unqualified terms the latest offering of Mr. Savage to Broadway and there is no doubt but that the tuneful piece will enjoy a long run in the metropolis. Mr. Luders' melodies are being whistled all over the United States.

Aubrey Boucicault will make his next appearance as a star at the Princess Theatre in April. Following the engagement of the Amelia Bingham Company at that pretty playhouse there will be a double bill of joyful comedy and intensest heart interest. The regular evening bill, and including the customary matinees on Thursday and Saturday, will be the London laughing success, "There and Back." This is the roaring farce comedy, written by George Arliss who has made such a signal success in David Belasco's "Darling of the Gods." As a curtain raiser to "There and Back." Aubrey Boucicault will produce the fine half-hour play of laughs and sentiment, "The Man Who Stole The Castle." This little playlet is the work of Tom Galion and L. M. Lion, a dramatization of the former's pretty story of the same name.

—Among the recent removals in this city is that of C. M. Zabriske, from West Sixth street to 406 East Sixth street.

WORKING TO BETTER THE CITY'S STREETS

Spring Campaign Has Been Started by Street Commissioner A. J. Gavett.

PLANS FOR THIS SEASON

THE WORK SOON TO BE STARTED ON A LARGER SCALE.

Some of the Streets to Receive Important Repairs—New Macadam Roads Depend on the Property Owners Themselves.

Gangs of men to be seen in all parts of the city at the present time, indicate that Street Commissioner Gavett has commenced his spring campaign of street repairing. The frost of the past winter was unusually hard on the macadam roads of the city and necessitated early attention.

For the present, the men will be kept busy making slight repairs but within a short time, the work will be pushed on a larger scale. A number of thoroughfares, including West Second street, east from Central avenue and Richmond street, are to be re-surfaced and placed in first class condition by the aid of the steam roller. Other streets which have become somewhat worn and frost shaken will be given a binding.

New macadam, this year, will depend upon the abutting property owners. Several streets have already been spoken for but action will not be taken until the Common Council receives a money guarantee as good faith. Among those which will probably receive attention through funds being advanced are South Second street from Plainfield avenue to Muhlenberg place; East Third street east of Richmond street; Spooner avenue, Berckman street, Prospect avenue and Dunellen avenue. All are thoroughfares that are largely used and the improvement will be welcomed.

New Mileage Books May 1.

The interchangeable mileage bureau in trunk line territory will positively be in operation by May 1 by the selling of mileage books over all lines except those of the Vanderbilt system, Reading, New Jersey Central and Delaware and Hudson. The charge for these books will be $30. A rebate of $10 will be made if the contract is not violated by letting the books get in the hands of scalpers.

Glanders at Newark.

An epidemic of glanders among horses has struck Newark and already several stables have lost many horses, which have had to be killed on account of this disease. This disease is very contagious and local horse owners and liverymen should be careful lest the disease reach this city. Glanders may be caught by a horse in drinking from a watering trough from which an infected animal has drunk.

Politicians May Play Golf.

The New York Mail and Express is authority for the statement that "there is a chance of New Jersey political lights engaging in a golf match over the links of the Essex County Country Club. Assemblyman Everet Colby, who lives in Llewellyn Park, is trying to arrange a match between members of the House and Senate after the Legislature adjourns.

Palm Sunday Preparation.

Preparations are being made for Palm Sunday which falls on Sunday, April 5. Special services will be held in the Episcopal and Roman Catholic churches. At that time the ceremony of the blessing of the palms and the distribution of them will take place in the Roman Catholic churches after the masses in the morning.

D. of L. State Council.

The State Council of the New Jersey Daughters of Liberty will be held at Atlantic City, April 21 and 22. The reports of the State officers will show a membership of 13,003, a net gain of 743 for 1902. There is a net gain of five new councils for the year.

New Scale Satisfactory.

The new scale of wages agreed upon between the New Jersey Central and a committee representing the locomotive engineers has been accepted as satisfactory to all concerned.

Former Central Man Gone.

Henry R. Hawley, formerly for a number of years master mechanic of the New Jersey Central, died recently in Brooklyn, aged fifty-nine years.

New Stationer.

W. T. Maxwell, stationer for the New Jersey Central, has resigned and has been succeeded by W. B. Durse, with office in New York City.

Granted a Pension.

Michael Albert, of Warrenville, has just been granted a pension of $10 a month.

Fair After Easter.

A fair will be held in the parish house of Grace Episcopal church soon after Easter.

LOWELL'S LOCKOUT.

Sudden Action of Mill Owners Sets 17,000 Men Idle.

UNION LEADERS STRENGTHEN LINES

A Long Siege Considered Probable. One Official Says Mills Will Be Closed Till All the Operatives Want Work.

LOWELL, Mass., March 30.—With a long mill holiday ahead union labor in this city is busy. Interest centers in the textile council, which for hours yesterday was in session at labor headquarters working out plans for controlling the army of textile operatives enlisted under its banner for a 10 per cent increase in wages. Labor men declare that the shutdown has done more to strengthen the union cause than any other incident. Hundreds of new members were admitted to the unions, urged on probably by the prospect of strike benefits. In this connection President Conroy and members of the textile council who are at the head of local unions say that all operatives who have joined in the issue will be cared for.

While the shut down went into effect Saturday noon there are many people at work today, these being chiefly the finishing room hands, the machinists, section hands and overseers, for the mill agents intend to put property in their charge in good condition for a long period of idleness, to make necessary repairs and to prepare finished product for shipment.

After the textile council meeting President Conroy stated that plans were perfected for a "long siege," indicating that he believed the shutdown would not be one of a few weeks. He also said that he had been asked to furnish thirty to forty weavers for a mill outside the state, and he would send married weavers there. The use of labor halls has been given without cost to the textile council, and these places will be fitted up as reading rooms. Fourteen meetings are called for today, and speakers from out of town are expected at several of them.

There is considerable talk among operatives that Friday an offer of 7 per cent increase was offered as a compromise, but one of the mill agents when asked in regard to this said it was not so and further added that there was no possibility of the increase.

In preference to fighting the textile unions of Lowell the agents of seven big cotton mills ordered an entire suspension of work for an indefinite period. Three days ago these agents officially announced that a canvass of the help showed that upward of 80 per cent were nonunion and were opposed to a strike. This sentiment changed, and when a second canvass was taken of the loom fixers, mule spinners, carders, nappers, weavers and beamers it was quickly seen that the textile council was able to fulfill its threat and strike the mills.

Without delay notices of a shutdown, to take effect at once, were posted on the gates, and as piece hands completed their work they were told to leave. Fully 17,000 operatives had been forced into idleness. The length of the shut down is problematical, but it is likely to last many weeks.

Agent W. S. Southworth of the Massachusetts mills, secretary of the Manufacturers' association, says that if the mill people think that the shutdown will be for a fortnight they are greatly mistaken. It will last, he says, until the agents are positively told that all the operatives want to work, and when this time comes the agents will consider the matter of resumption.

Roosevelt Family Afloat.

WASHINGTON, March 30.—Mrs. Roosevelt and her children are taking their projected cruise on the president's yacht, the Mayflower, this week. They bade goodby last night to the president, who leaves on his western trip Wednesday morning, and they then boarded the Mayflower, which has been lying at the navy yard here for some days. The vessel has been entrely remodeled recently and is in fine condition. Mrs. Roosevelt expects to be absent about a week. If the weather is good, the vessel will go out into the open sea, the first stop being made at Port Royal, S. C. If the weather conditions prove unfavorable, the Mayflower will cruise in Chesapeake bay. The start from the navy yard was made early this morning.

Anthracite Mine Reopened.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., March 30.—The Woodward mine, operated by the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Coal company, which has been idle for some time past, resumed work this morning. The output at this colliery is over a thousand tons a day, and 1,200 men and boys are employed. The Bernice coal mines, which were closed by the Connell Anthracite Mining company when it took possession about a month ago, will be reopened on April 1. They will employ between 300 and 400 men.

Safe Blowers In Massachusetts.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., March 30.—Professional safe blowers broke into the big grocery store of Rood & Woodbury in this city at an early hour, obtaining $1,200 and escaping without any difficulty. The store is on Main street, near the heart of the business section, and the break was a decidedly bold one. Entrance was obtained by the burglars through an ice shoot in the rear.

A Fire Scourge.

VIENNA, March 30.—An extraordinary epidemic of fires has been reported during the last two days in various country districts of Austria, Hungary and Galicia. The authorities suspect that the fires are of incendiary origin.

Correct Style Millinery for Easter.

A feature of our assortments for the coming season is the exclusiveness that predominates. The extremes of the Parisian have been very becomingly modified by our staff of expert designers, and, with the representations from abroad, forms a strong combination, which, associated with our reasonable prices, makes this a desirable place just at present.

One of the popular Hats for the season of 1903 is a creation in horsehair braid; its simplicity makes it charming, not only from a standpoint of refinement, but along lines suggested by correct modes. It is pen-pictured as follows: Drawing the brim to graceful contour and attaching same at back with two clusters of roses arranged at proper intervals, provides the foundation for this chic turban; the front is relieved by an immense velvet bow, the whole forming a very natty evolution in millinery, you'll pay 9.00 for one not as correct; our price 4.75

Second Floor.

The Costume for Easter.

Appropriate and Correct Modes for Women, Misses and Children,

Representing the very best materials that the looms produce, combining the artistic, refined features of dress assembling and particular tailoring, the whole forming a strong combination, of contrasts with the general lines, and at this season finding augmentation at prices that attract daily a clientele of appreciative buyers.

This department portrays the very desirable in all that applies to proper apparel, and our system of profit-making adds to the pleasure of buying.

Suits for Women and Misses.

Fine tailored in broadcloth, canvas cloth, cheviots and other pretty mixtures. Jackets made in the newest shape blouse, skirts in various flares and kilt effects, beautifully trimmed with fancy ornaments and strapping of taffeta, some silk lined throughout. Special values at 12.50 to 25.00.

EXTRA SESSION SURE

Cubans Ratified Treaty on President's Pledge.

BOTH HOUSES OF CONGRESS MUST MEET

Action on Reciprocity With Cuba Required Before Dec. 31.—Final Acceptance at Havana Without Modification Is Satisfactory.

WASHINGTON, March 30.—There is general satisfaction in official circles over the action of the Cuban senate in approving the treaty without conditions. An extra session of both houses of congress in November is considered certain. All that remains now is the passage of a concurrent resolution by both branches of congress carrying the provisions of the treaty into effect. Both the president and Secretary Hay expressed themselves as highly gratified when they heard of the favorable results of the special session at Havana.

Although somewhat out of the regular order, informal exchanges of ratifications of the Cuban treaty will be made today or tomorrow by telegraph, so as to meet the requirements that ratification shall be had by the 31st of the present month, when the limit of time within which this may be done expires. Final ratification by the usual method will be had later.

For three days last week Secretary Hay was in active cable communication with Minister Squiers, and no doubt the action of the senate committee in receding from its position was influenced more or less thereby.

Secretary Hay in his final message to Minister Squiers gave the positive assurance that the president would call an extra session of congress in the fall. The time was not stated, but the secretary said that congress would be convened sufficiently in advance of the regular session to assure its action on the treaty as required by the senate amendments before Dec. 31.

CUBAN SENATE ADJOURNS.

Particulars of the Fight For Acceptance of the Treaty.

HAVANA, March 30.—The senate called in special session by President Palma to act on the amended reciprocity treaty with the United States finished its labors late Saturday night and adjourned. The treaty was approved by a vote of 12 to 9. This approval is absolute and is not hampered by any conditions, the questionable time limit amendment having been dispensed with through the receipt of the cable message from Secretary Hay, in which it was positively declared that President Roosevelt would call a special session of congress before Dec. 1.

The purport of this assurance was transmitted to the senate by President Palma and read at the beginning of the session, an understanding having been reached previously with Senators Bustamente, Capote and Dolz, composing the majority of the foreign relations committee, that the objectionable condition in the report be eliminated. This was done by the offering of amendments by other administration senators substituting the unconditional adoption of the amendments to the treaty by the American senate for the qualified acceptance contained in the original report.

Final action was delayed for a long time by the discussion of an amendment offered by Senators Sanguily, Tamayo and Recio, requiring the house to pass the treaty.

Senator Sanguily, in a long and impassioned speech against the ratification of the treaty, impressively pictured the gradual absorption of Cuba by the United States, in which he said the present action was one step. He argued that it was practically disgraceful for Cuba to be a party to such a scheme. The conclusion of his speech was greeted with a roar of applause.

Senator Bustamente in a brief and able final speech cited various incidents of history to show that neither weak nor wicked nations make commercial treaties and predicted with certainty the results in this case.

The vote was taken separately on each section of the substitute report. The vote on the unconditional ratification of the treaty was 12 to 9; on the recommendation to the executive it was 11 to 9.

Missing Hunter's Remains Found.

SOUTHINGTON, Conn., March 30.—The mystery in connection with the disappearance of young William Hall on Nov. 13 last has been cleared by a party of boys who found Hall's body in a swamp in the northern part of the town. Near the body was a gun and the pelt of a fox. Medical Examiner Steadman, who viewed the body, decided that death was accidental. He is of the opinion that Hall shot the fox, but did not succeed in killing it and rather than injure the pelt started to club the animal to death and in doing so accidentally discharged the gun. A bullet wound was found in the young man's breast.

Youthful Firebug Caught.

LOCKPORT, N. Y., March 30.—Harry Sanderson, nineteen years old, formerly of Bridgeport, Conn., was arrested in the act of setting fire to E. W. Rogers & Sons' cotton batting factory. To District Attorney Stockwell he made a written confession, admitting having fired the warehouse on three previous occasions, causing a loss of $15,000. Two Buffalo detectives were brought here to trap the incendiary.

German Empress Doing Well.

BERLIN, March 30.—The German empress, who broke one of the bones of her left forearm through being thrown from her horse last Friday, is making good progress. There is no local swelling or pain.

MORE EYLER TROUBLE.

It now looks as if the board of managers of the State Home for Girls would have to begin another probing into the affairs of the institution in order to ascertain just what sort of discipline is maintained by Mrs. Myrtle B. Eyler, its matron. It is declared the condition of affairs at present is similar to those which existed three years ago when Mrs Eyler narrowly escaped removal after an investigation that was the talk of several states.

If the inmates of the home are in the state of turmoil as reported it is, indeed, time that something was done in the matter and the board cannot act too quickly. Rules and regulations can be made and re-made but if the ones in authority are unable or incapable of forcing their observance very little is gained by the maintenance of the place and it may as well be given up. This home was erected and is supported by the people of New Jersey in order that the tendencies of wayward young women may be curbed until they are either outgrown or obliberated. If they are released at the end of their term, after having done about what they pleased, the State is a loser instead of gainer. During the Eyler administration it has been demonstrated more than once that something is wrong with the principalship. The investigation of three years ago should have revealed enough to cause a change of affairs, but it was finally allowed to pass over. Now agitation has started anew and it is to be hoped that the commonwealth will be spared the spreading broadcast of tales of incompetency, mismanagement and disorder at one of its most important institutions. By all means place the managerial reins in the hands of some one fitted for the purpose.

Evidently the local trolley company intends following up its announced intention of improving the condition of its service and the betterment of the rolling stock. Since the Common Council and the Board of Trade made the officials to understand that "most anything" was not good enough for Plainfield an evident attempt has been made to give the public what it wants. The time schedule is superior to what it was and the cars are looking a little cleaner since the removal of the germ carrying seat covers but there is still room for improvement. Lots of things remain to be done before the road can be regarded as an equal to those in other nearby cities. It remains for the recently appointed officials to keep up the good work.

Strenuous times, these, down at the nation's Capitol. The President's son had to climb out of a window to escape a crowd of curious women and attendants of the White House had a pitched battle with a mob of relic hunters. Lovers of continuous performances should move to Washington without delay.

Time and tide and Judge Dixon wait for no man. The latter was on the bench at the Hudson circuit promptly at 10 o'clock the other morning but not a lawyer was in sight. After giving five minutes grace he adjourned court for a week remarking that the lesson in punctuality would be salutary.

Ran Into Steam Roller.

While attempting to catch No. 3 hose wagon on West Fourth street, last night, Alexander Muir, a member of the fire department, ran against the city steam roller which had been left standing near the curb. He was knocked down and painfully bruised.

THE GREAT REMOVAL SALE

NOW IN FULL SWING.

Bargains here, there and everywhere throughout our entire establishment. Important reductions in the price of the most reliable and desirable merchandise make this sale a most attractive one for those who appreciate good goods for little money. Housekeepers should be especially interested, for in towels, table linens, bedding, etc., some of the greatest inducements are offered. Wash goods are also being sacrificed. Those who are familiar with our showing of these fabrics will understand what this means. Remarkable values in Dress Goods are being offered. Hosiery, Underwear and Ladies' Dress Skirts are selling at greatly reduced prices. This is a bona fide sale that means much to this community. The early callers get the best.

CITY JOTTINGS.

—Mr. and Mrs. Eward Feickert, of Fairview avenue, moved Saturday to East Front street corner of Richmond street.

—The Board of Governors of Muhlenberg Hospital will hold the regular monthly business meeting this evening.

—The monthly consecration service of the Christian Endeavor Society of Trinity Reformed church will be held this evening at 8 o'clock.

—The North Plainfield High School Athletic Association netted $60 from the concert given last week by the Rutgers College Glee Club.

—Edward Golden, who has been night operator at the North Avenue station for some time past, has given up that position temporarily and his place is being filled by an extra man from Jersey City.

A Plucky Driver.

Frightened by the noise of an automobile, a horse driven by Mrs Hollister, of Westfield, plunged on the sidewalk at Fourth street and Central avenue, Saturday afternoon. The woman was thrown out and narrowly escaped being trampled on. She was assisted to her feet by several men and the frantic horse was captured in time to prevent a runaway. Mrs. Hollister pluckily resumed her seat in the vehicle and continued her drive.

Old Meeting House at Crosswicks.

"An old Quaker Settlement" is the title of a short illustrated sketch on the Friends' old meeting house at Crosswicks, N. J., published March 28 in the Saturday Pictorial Review of the New York Commercial Advertiser. This is the third in a series of articles on old meeting houses in New Jersey, written by Mrs. B. J. Shreve, of Grove street.

Cross Favors Appointment.

Councilman J. F. Buckle has received a letter from State Senator Joseph Cross in which the latter assures Mr. Buckle that he will do all in his power to secure the enactment of the law making it possible for the local Common Council to appoint the collector of taxes, instead of having him elected by the people.

Quarterly Review.

A very interesting session was enjoyed by the Park Avenue Baptist church Sunday-school, yesterday, when Rev. G. M. Shott, of Scotch Plains, reviewed the lessons of the past quarter, illustrating the same by means of the stereopticon. The latter was handled by Superintendent G. E. Hall.

SUBURBAN NEWS

A Department Devoted to the Minor Events in Greater Plainfield's Suburbs by Our Own Correspondents.

DUNELLEN.

The debt resting on the Methodist church has been nearly lifted and the institution will probably be entirely free by April 1. Two payments have already been made on the mortgage and only $800 remains to be paid. It was announced last evening, that all of this but $45 dollars had been paid in the money is not really due until May 1, but will probably be paid a month ahead of time.

On Wednesday afternoon a meeting of the Ladies' Aid Society, of the Methodist church, will be held at the home of Mrs. Jacob Fisher. At that time the annual election of officers will be held.

Rev. S. K. Doolittle will attend the Newark conference to be held at the Halsey Street Methodist church in Newark, beginning on Wednesday. The conference will last a week.

A large attendance is anticipated at the concert by the Mandolin Club in the Methodist church tomorrow night. A very elaborate programme will be presented.

Rev. C. E. Herring, of Plainfield, exchanged pulpits with Rev. N. J. Sproul, of the Presbyterian church, yesterday and preached to a large congregation.

The Dunellen Juniors defeated the Plainfield Newsboys in an interesting game of ball on Saturday morning by a score of 10 to 7.

Herbert Richardson, of Stamford, Conn., and James Holt, of New York, spent yesterday at the home of James Craig.

Prayer meeting in the Methodist church on Wednesday evening will be in charge of the temperance committee.

Mrs. Elwood Campbell and Miss Campbell, of Newark, visited at the Methodist parsonage yesterday.

A meeting of the Literary Circle will be held tomorrow evening at the home of Lester Meserole.

Mrs. Nettie Kissam, of New York City, spent Sunday at the home of her sister Mrs. James Craig.

A meeting of the trustees of the Methodist church will be held this evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Giddes, of Philadelphia, spent Sunday at home.

Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Jacobus entertained out-of-town friends yesterday.

Miss Louise Brakeley returned home on Saturday from a visit at Easton.

NEW MARKET.

No practice was held by the local ball team on Saturday afternoon as a number of the team attended the ball game in Plainfield.

Rev. Frank Fletcher occupied his pulpit in the First Baptist church yesterday and preached to good congregations.

The local Junior team was defeated by the Dunellen Silver Leaves in an exciting game of ball on Saturday morning.

The Piscataway farmers are making preparations for their spring planting now.

Miss Kate Coriell is spending today in Plainfield.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

The local school team defeated the team of the Westfield High School quite handily on Saturday afternoon. The game was to have been played at Westfield but on Friday night the arrangements were changed and the local fans were enabled to see their first game of the season. The locals put up a good fast article of ball both at the bat and in the infield, and with a little more practice will make any of the school teams hustle. One of the features of the game was Johnston's pitching, the visitors having hard work to find his delivery, making but three base hits. The local team lined up as follows: P. Jahn, c. f.; Coles, l. f.; Douglass, r. f.; Marsh, 3b; Winters, s. s.; Vanderbilt, 2b.; Frents, 1b.; H. Douglass, c; Johnston, p.

A party of four bicycle riders from out of town, who had made too many stops at "wayside inns," annoyed the residents of Park avenue yesterday afternoon. The loads they were carrying were too much for their wheels, so they balked, and threw the riders at every attempt made to mount. The appearance of an officer would have been a welcome sight, as it would have relieved the residents of the annoyance and have given the riders a chance to rest their weary wheels.

A cocking main between birds from Westfield and Rahway was held not many miles from the village on Saturday night. It is reported that four battles were fought, honors being even, each side winning two battles.

The usual spring annoyance from mountain fires along Johnston's drive has started. The residents near the drive are obliged to turn out every fall or spring and fight the fires which threaten their property.

The baseball game on Saturday afternoon was too much of an attraction for the members of the Brookside Gun Club, so the weekly shoot was abandoned for the first time since the club's organization.

"Our Heritage Among the Heathens," was the topic of the weekly meeting of the B. Y. P. U., of the Baptist church, held in the church parlors last evening.

The large bill board, which stood until a short time ago on the Park avenue corner of the trolley, has been erected along the line of the trolley beyond Cook's corner.

Several from town attended the Sunday-school session yesterday afternoon at the Park Avenue Baptist church, Plainfield. Rev. Mr. Shott made an address.

The members of the Epworth League held a large and interesting meeting in the Methodist church last night.

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Jimerson, of Westfield, were the guests yesterday of their daughter, Mrs. George W. Marsh.

Anthony Pfleg, formerly of the village but now of Elizabeth, spent Sunday with friends in town.

John E. Flannery, of Plainfield, spent Sunday with his daughter, Mrs. George Johnston.

Mr. Broadwell and family, of Newark, were the guests of Mrs. Augusta Miller, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel MacCauley entertained friends from Plainfield yesterday.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

Rev. W. A. Spinney, who has been assisting the Baptist church in a series of evangelistic meetings the past two weeks, has returned to his home in Newark. Good success has attended the work. Large and interested audiences attended the services yesterday.

Hollis B. Cubberly and his friend, Walter Wilbur, have returned to their studies at Brown University, Providence.

To Locate Here.

Plainfield is soon to have another physician. He is Dr. H. M. O'Reilly, son of the eminent practioner of Morristown. He has been in this city for several days looking for a suitable site for an office and will probably start in business in a day or two.

In Justice Huff's Court.

Justice Huff has issued papers in the landlord and tenant case of Fred Endress against Ernest Morris, returnable April 1; also in the contract case of the Coleman Clothing Company against R. D. Waring, returnable the same date.

A Remarkable Case.

One of the most remarkable cases of a cold, deep-seated on the lungs, causing pneumonia, is that of Mrs. Gertrude E. Fenner, Marion, Ind., who was entirely cured by the use of One Minute Cough Cure. She says: "The coughing and straining so weakened me that I run down in weight from 148 to 92 pounds. I tried a number of remedies to no avail until I used One Minute Cough Cure. Four bottles of this wonderful remedy cured me entirely of the cough, strengthened my lungs and restored me to my normal weight, health and strength." L. W. Randolph.

Death of Aged Woman.

Miss Carrie White, an aged woman who for many years has been living on Elm place, died at Muhlenberg Hospital this morning at 1 o'clock. She had been a sufferer with Bright's disease and her death was not unexpected. She was a member of the Seventh-Day Baptist church and was a devoted Christian. She leaves one brother, who resides in Brooklyn.

A Plain Moral.

Last week a Plainfield woman lost a valuable dog. She advertised her loss in The Daily Press. The advertisement was seen by Miss Gertrude King, the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David King, of Craig place, and when the girl found the dog she returned him to the owner and received a reward of $3. The moral is very plain.

Registration Day Appointed.

The courts have appointed Tuesday, April 7, as registration day for the new borough of Garwood, and Tuesday, April 14, as election day. The latter date is the same as designated for the election of officials for the new borough of Westfield.

Back From Florida.

Mr and Mrs. Edward White and son returned home last evening from Daytona, Fla., where they have been spending the winter. Mr. White has the genuine bronzed countenance, the result of cruising in southern waters.

IMMIGRATION GAINS.

All Records Broken at Port of New York.

LARGE PROPORTION OF ITALIANS.

Nearly One-third of the Foreign Invaders Are of That Nationality, and Thousands Can Neither Read Nor Write.

ALBANY, N. Y., March 30.—The very great increase in recent months in immigration at the port of New York is commented upon in the quarterly report of the state department of labor, just made public. Says the report:

"Although immigration at the port of New York surpassed all previous records in the fiscal year ended June 30, 1902, there has since been a steady increase even into the cold season. In the third quarter of 1902 there were 108,800 and in the fourth quarter no fewer than 122,028, as compared with 93,628 in the fourth quarter of 1901. Four-fifths of the recent arrivals belonged to one of the following eight races:

"Southern Italians, 26.1 per cent of the aggregate, Hebrews 11.5 per cent, Germans 8.7 per cent, Poles 8.3 per cent, Scandinavians 6.9 per cent, northern Italians 6.9 per cent, Slovaks 6.1 per cent and Magyars 4.4 per cent.

The largest numerical increase is among the southern Italians, and the next largest among the Hebrews. Of all the immigrants 27,550 could neither read nor write, just half of these being southern Italians."

Great Rush of Immigrants.

NEW YORK, March 30.—Immigrant arrivals at Ellis island yesterday broke all records for Sunday in the history of the harbor of New York. By nightfall, when Commissioner Williams' staff had sifted through the great mass brought in by the Philadelphia, the Campania, the Savoie and the Graf Waldersee, it was found that 4,569 men, women and children had passed through the shoots and were either speeding to their new homes or else awaiting further investigation in the "detention compartments." This is the beginning of the rush season for immigration, and this year's record is expected to exceed all others by many thousands. During March of last year 54,000 foreign born persons were passed through the bureau. This year March, with two days yet to come, has brought the number up to 64,000, while today and tomorrow will perhaps add 10,000 to the list.

Honor to Macdonald In London.

LONDON, March 30.—The dispatch of the remains of Major General Macdonald, who committed suicide in Paris, to Scotland last night by train was the occasion for a remarkable demonstration. Owing to the fact that his widow had decided that the burial shall take place at 6 o'clock in the morning, immediately after the arrival of the body at Edinburgh, hundreds of Scotchmen representing the highland societies and several Scotch members of parliament gathered on the platform at the Kings Cross railway station here. Most of the Scotchmen wore their national costumes. Wreaths were placed on the coffin in the name of the different clans, and the pipers played national dirges as the body was entrained. All attempts to persuade the widow to delay the interment and permit the highlanders to arrange for a national funeral in the highlands failed.

Re-election of Diaz Favored.

CITY OF MEXICO, March 30.—Largely attended mass meetings are being held in various states of the republic to promote the candidacy of President Diaz for re-election. At meetings held in Chihuahua, Colima, Vera Cruz and other large cities resolutions were adopted unanimously commending the administration of President Diaz and asking that he accept the candidacy again. At a meeting in this city a new party was organized, which will be known as the Liberal Union party. The party will hold a convention in June next for the purpose of nominating General Diaz for the presidency.

Gales and Snow In North Carolina.

CHARLOTTE, N. C., March 30.—A special to the Observer from Newbern, N. C., says: "A severe wind and rain storm has been raging here. The Neuse and Trent rivers presented scenes almost equal to the Atlantic on a rough day, being white from shore to shore. In some portions of the city the streets are impassable, and down on Union Point people have to be taken from their houses in boats, the tide covering the first floor of their homes. It is said by a prominent trucker that the damage done to crops in Craven county will amount to $15,000." A little snow fell early in the morning."

French Nuns Come to Canada.

ST. JOHN, N. B., March 30.—Twenty-one sisters of the Daughters of Jesus expelled from France under the law of associations have been cared for by the Sisters of the Good Shepherd and the Sisters of Charity of this city. The French sisters arrived on the steamer Lake Erie from Liverpool, and most of them are on their way to Three Rivers, Que., where eight houses of the order have been founded.

Preparing the Zeigler Expedition.

TROMSO, Norway, March 30.—Captain Coffin and twelve men who will take part in the Zeigler arctic expedition have arrived here. The repairs to the expedition's steamship America are completed. The whole of her stores will be purchased in the United States.

A COSTLY RACE TRACK.

New Yorkers to Build a Park to Cost $4,500,000.

NEW YORK, March 30.—Ground has just been broken for the magnificent new race track of the Westchester Racing association at Belmont park, as it is to be called, in Nassau county, just over the line from Queens, on the Jamaica plank road, between Jamaica and Hempstead. There for the next two years about 2,000 workmen of many kinds will be employed in the building of what doubtless will be the most magnificent establishment devoted to high class turf sport in this or any other country.

The plans involve an expenditure of about $4,500,000 between now and the opening of the season in 1905, at which time August Belmont and his friends hope to enjoy racing under conditions that will be as nearly ideal from a physical point of view as money will provide.

There will be six distinct tracks, and the park will cover 666 acres. This area is larger than Prospect park and pretty nearly as large as Central park.

Crew of the Reliance.

BRISTOL, R. I., March 30.—Nearly one-half of the crew which is to man the Reliance has arrived here from New York. They are mostly Scandinavians, rugged, active looking men who have had years of experience in racing on the coast. Temporary quarters for them were found in lodging houses, but later room for them will be provided on the steam tender Sunbeam, which vessel, with Captain Barr and the remainder of the crew, is expected here Friday.

A Chance For Wing Shots.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., March 30.—Wing shots are showing much interest in the Grand American handicap at flying targets to be held here April 14-17 under the auspices of the Interstate association. Expert marksmen from nearly every state are arranging to attend, and it is expected there will be from 500 to 800 entries to contest in the main events.

This Week at Oakland.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 30.—One of the features of the week's racing at Oakland will be the Gebhard handicap for two-year-olds, to be decided next Saturday. It will be over the futurity course and will be the first time the youngsters have been asked to go the distance. The New California Jockey club has distributed $360,000 in stakes and purses.

Titus Reinstated.

NEW YORK, March 30.—The Union Boat club has reinstated C. S. Titus, the oarsman. The club passed a resolution which recited that there had been an irregularity in his expulsion and adding, "That the said expulsion be rescinded solely on the ground of such technical irregularity."

SAN MIGUEL WAS KILLED.

Death of Last Filipino Insurgent Leader Confirmed.

MANILA, March 30.—The report that San Miguel, the Filipino leader, was killed in Friday's fight near Mariquina is confirmed. His body has been identified and delivered to his relatives for burial.

San Miguel, with his bodyguard, consisting of thirty men, abandoned the fort at Mariquina and attempted to escape, but the Maccabebe scouts surrounded the party, mortally wounded San Miguel and killed six of his bodyguard. After he fell San Miguel emptied his revolver among the Maccabebes and died fighting.

General San Miguel was the last unreconciled Filipino insurgent. He failed to attain prominence during the insurrection.

The bodies of the insurgents killed in the fighting at Mariquina, to the number of about fifty, have been taken to Calorcan and surrendered to relatives of the deceased. Lieutenant Reese and the other wounded scouts will recover.

Automobiles to Compete With Cars.

DETROIT, Mich., March 30.—It is announced here that a system of motor vehicles capable of being operated as double deckers in summer and carrying forty passengers each will within ninety days be placed in competition with the Detroit United railway by a stock company. There will be fifteen cars run at first on a five cent basis, but the intention of the company is to extend the system all over the city and eventually cut into the state.

Fierce Storm In Georgia.

SAVANNAH, Ga., March 30.—A northeast storm of considerable severity has prevailed here. Trees were broken and fences blown down in the city. Street railway and telephone traffic was interfered with. At Tybee island the wind blew sixty-five miles an hour. Lowlands on the island were flooded. The bell buoy on the outer bar was broken from its moorings and cast on the beach.

Killed by a Hammer.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., March 30.—R. D. Lachridge of the track team of the University of Indiana at Bloomington was accidentally struck on the head by a twelve pound hammer at the high school athletic grounds here and killed. The hammer was thrown by J. R. Horn, coach from the University of Indiana.

Cunard Steamship Line Profitable.

LONDON, March 30.—The annual report of the Cunard Steamship company shows a profit of $1,318,085. A dividend of 4 per cent is declared.

United States Squadron at Leghorn.

LEGHORN, Italy, March 30.—The United States squadron, consisting of the Chicago, Cincinnati and Machias, has arrived here.

THE PREVAILING MODES.

Fawn and Gray Tones Smart—New Cape Ruffles Very Elaborate.

Fawn and pearl gray tones are even more popular than ever this spring.

The goods for dressy wear are of smooth surface, while those employed for the little walking costumes are of rough cheviot or Scotch materials.

The flat stoles of feathers which are seen in the shops at present will not retain their popularity, for they are utterly unsatisfactory as wraps and too flat and hard to be either graceful or becoming. This summer we shall see elaborate editions of the cape ruffle in velvet or lace and chiffon and in glace silk with tiny borders of feathers or chenille.

For those who dress their hair high and adopt the present mode of flat shoulders something fussy round the neck is absolutely necessary. The new hats with spreading brims in front also make the broad ruffle indispensable.

The cut shows a smart street costume of the fashionable shades of fawn cloth. JUDIC CHOLLET.

NEW HATS AND FRILLS.

White Silk and Satin Shapes—The New Capes.

Many of the new hats are of the picture order, but have flat crowns, and are trimmed tolerably low with an osprey or aigret in front.

The new shapes are shown in silk or satin incrusted with ivory motifs or ecru lace and bound with velvet. Two large choux of satin or two feather pompons are usually placed in front, but feathers droop on the sides of some and large velvet lilies or orchids are wreathed on others.

There are some figures to whom the new capes or pelerines are becoming, but for the average woman they are in nowise desirable, as they add to the width and detract from the height. Lace will be much used on spring gowns, and the newest motifs and applique designs show a combination of guipure passementerie and embroidery, or chine or pompadour medallions sometimes take the place of the embroidery.

GOWN OF WHITE NUN'S VEILING.

Very smart arrangements of jet in termingled with black chiffon characterize the black lace gowns. Pretty fichus of black chiffon are trimmed with narrow black velvet bows, and these have tiny paste buckles in the center of each bow.

Nun's veiling is a material very much in fashion just now, especially in the paler shades.

The cut shows a gown of this material in white. JUDIC CHOLLET.

Handmade Philosophy.

Ingenuousness in a pretty girl is inquisitiveness to a homely one.

Some people show a friendly interest in our affairs, while others are trying to attend to our business.

Some people seem to delight in learning how we are getting along and others want to know too much.

Yet they all ask the same questions. —Chicago Tribune.

[Copyright, 1900, by A. N. Kellogg Newspaper Co.]

"What do you mean by the fun?" broke in Ronald sharply.

The gaunt giant on the horse shrugged his shoulders and bent a critical, half-aggressive glance on the questioner.

"Oh, I reckon the boys won't want to wait fur them blamed thievish lawyers in town to get a whack at 'im an' finally git 'im turned loose. We hain't got much book l'arnin', but we know when a man's guilty, an' we know what lawyers is."

A murmur of approval rose from the group, even Mrs. Fanshaw, who sat rocking between her two daughters on the porch, granted as if Syd Hart had furnished the key to a problem which involved the welfare of the nation.

Ronald's face was flushed, a look of determination was in his eyes.

"No," he said, firmly; "they must give him a trial."

Sydney Hart leaned back in his saddle and laughed tantalizingly.

"Oh, you want to get a chance at him, eh? You are studyin' to be a lawyer, an' you've already begun to look after the intrust of your gang. Well, you won't make anything out of this job if I can help it."

"We shall see," answered Ronald. "He may not be guilty and you shall not lynch him!"

The rider of the horse leaned towards Ronald and snapped his fingers, a white look of fury unbridled on his sinister face.

"Bah!" he said, contemptuously. "If I couldn't thwart you I'd cut my throat. It's a go, then; you are a-goin' to give the scamp a trial an' I'm a-goin' to let the boys have the'r fun. Ha, ha! you make me sick."

Ronald said nothing and Hart wheeled his horse and, followed by the crowd, he started towards the edge of the swamp. Dave lingered by the side of his brother.

"Don't stick yore head in the fire, Ron," he counseled; "no human power can balk Syd when he once makes up his mind. Besides, you'll make a dangerous enemy out o' him, an' everything points to the fellow's guilt. What did he break an' run fur if he was innocent?"

"That's what I want to know," interposed Jade Fanshaw, in a surly tone, and his wife and daughters nodded approvingly.

"Because," was Ronald's reply, "he perhaps knew that the law is not upheld in these mountains and was afraid he would be lynched."

"I believe he killed Mrs. Telplay," affirmed Mrs. Fanshaw, "an' as fur as I'm concerned, they may take 'im off an' hang 'im. The way justice is cheated in court is enough to dissatisfy anybody."

Ronald did not carry the argument further. He went up to his room, and from his window watched Sydney Hart placing his men along the road which led by the edge of the swamp. In about an hour Dave came upstairs and leaned in the doorway, an air of indecision on him. "I have been studyin' over this, Ron," he said, sheepishly, "an' I'm mighty sorry I can't go the whole hog with you, but I jest can't look at it like you do. I have decided to make it a draw—I'll not jine Hart's crowd nor yores nuther. I mought be with you ef I could see a ghost of a chance o' winnin', but them fellers would shoot us down like black cats on a white fence."

Ronald looked him over with a steady eye. "I could never feel like a patriotic American again if I do not fight for this fellow's life," he said. "Will you lend me your revolver again?"

Dave slowly drew it from his hip-pocket.

"I feel like you are a-goin' to git yoresef in a awful fix," he said. "I wisht you would think better of it. You nur me, nur no one man can't run the universe."

"You are right," replied Ronald, "but we can help do it. Our father, Dave, was an outlaw up in Tennessee during the war and I am going to try to atone for his conduct by upholding the law down here to the best of my ability."

David sat down in a chair near Ronald's book-strewn table.

"I've been powerful afraid somebody down heer would git hold o' all that," he said, with some concern. "I wish we had never located so near his old stamping-ground as this."

"There is no use trying to escape the consequences of crime," responded Ronald. "I believe he thinks of his past night and day. I have seen him jump out of bed in the middle of the night as if he thought some one was trying to kill him."

"And I think ma is as much afeerd as he is," answered Dave. "Sometimes I think she took a hand in all of it."

To this Ronald made no answer.

CHAPTER VII.

That morning the negroes on Col. Hasbrooke's plantation, being the first to rise, came first into possession of the grewsome news. Many of them had assembled on the steps of the veranda in the rear of the mansion and were speaking of the awful details in low tones.

"Ef de do lay han's on 'im," opined Ephraim, the antiquated and disabled carriage driver of the colonel's father, "Marse Ratcliff couldn't tek 'im a mile to'ds de jail house, 'fo' some gang er white trash 'ud string 'im up ter a limb."

"Now you er talkin', Eph," agreed Melvina, the portly head cook, as she stood in the door washing half a dozen dismembered chickens in a tub of water. "He won't stan' no mo' show dan a stump-tail bull in fly time."

"What's all this about?" The voice came from the upper floor of the veranda, where the colonel stood in dressing-gown and slippers, his round, rubicund face aglow from his morning bath.

Half a dozen negroes essayed to explain, but the result was a noisy confusion of tones and words. The colonel stamped his foot and swore furiously. This left Ephraim with the floor; he was too deaf to hear his master's command for silence. The colonel heard the story from his lips.

"In my swamp, eh?" he exclaimed, when the carriage driver had finished, "a pretty come off! The next thing we hear all the cutthroats in Georgia will be hiding in my corn house and gin, and you lazy scamps will stand by and allow it."

With this parting shot into the black, upturned faces, the colonel retreated into his room to finish dressing and to tell his guests the news. In a few minutes Hardy and Winkle came down for their early morning promenade on the front veranda and they were promptly followed by the ladies.

"I hope they will chase 'im out near us," observed the captain, as he helped himself to one of the colonel's apple toddies, which James was passing round in a punch-bowl. "As long as I have lived in this section I have never been present at a lynching bee."

As he finished speaking he found himself under the cold stare of Mrs. Lancaster's mild blue eyes.

"I should think, Capt. Winkle," she remarked, "that you would have more consideration for a human life at stake than to look upon the matter as providing you with a new form of amusement."

This young man smiled indulgently as he put down his glass and daintily touched his lips and waxed mustache with his handkerchief.

"My dear Mrs. Lancaster," he cried, "you ladies are such delicious bundles of inconsistency; you would not, in your hearts, have these bloodthirsty fiends run at large, but as soon as one is about to suffer for his crime you fill his cell with flowers. Now, this swamp-rat has killed a helpless old woman and the people are rising to see that justice is done. He ought to be hung, and that promptly."

The colonel was listening to this colloquy as he stirred the apples up in the toddy with an old-fashioned silver ladle.

"Of course," he remarked, "lynch law is a deplorable thing. It is fundamentally wrong, because mistakes have now and then happened; but how on earth are you going to stop it? Why, Mrs. Lancaster, those chaps—Syd Hart, Thad Williams and their ilk—would burn me out of house and home if I uttered a protest in this matter."

STATE OF NEW JERSEY.

Department of State.

CERTIFICATE OF DISSOLUTION.

To all to whom these presents may come, Greeting:

Whereas, it appears to my satisfaction, by duly authenticated record of the proceedings for the voluntary dissolution thereof by the unanimous consent of all the stockholders, deposited in my office, that the Schepflein Clothing Manufacturing Company, a corporation of this State, whose principal office is situated at No. 320 West Front Street, in the City of Plainfield, County of Union, State of New Jersey, (Wallace M. Brown being agent therein and in charge thereof, upon whom process may be served), has complied with the requirements of "An Act concerning corporations (Revision of 1896)," preliminary to the issuing of this Certificate of Dissolution.

Now, therefore, I, S. D. Dickinson, Secretary of State of the State of New Jersey, Do Hereby Certify that the said corporation did, on the Twenty-eighth day of February, 1903, file in my office a duly executed and attested consent in writing to the dissolution of said corporation, executed by all the stockholders thereof, which said consent and the record of the proceedings aforesaid are now on file in my said office as provided by law.

In Testimony Whereof, I have hereto set my hand and affixed my official seal, at Trenton, this Twenty-eighth day of February, A. D. one thousand nine hundred and three.

S. D. DICKINSON,
Secretary of State.

Do You Wish To Borrow Money?
In order to accommodate all classes of borrowers (those who cannot borrow at a bank, as well as those who can), the Mutual Loan and Investment Company, of 118 Market street, Newark, N. J., has a department for handling quickly and confidentially loans ranging from $10 to $500 on furniture, pianos, storage receipts, etc.

The security is not removed from your possession or in any way disturbed. The honest, careful and conservative borrower will try and decide two points before borrowing. First, where he can get the best terms. Second, where he can get fair and square treatment.

This company is in a position to give you by far the most satisfactory terms ever offered by any concern or individual negotiating this class of loans.

With this company you are assured of getting the lowest rates, easiest payments and longest time for repayment. The whole transaction from the time the application is made until loan is paid is entirely confidential. We give you another advantage in case you take the loan out for six months or a year, and wish to settle the same before the time expires: we charge you only for the time you have had the money. We also take up loans from other companies and advance more money.

Kindly call and let us explain our simple and up-to-date methods If not entirely convenient for you to call, please write and our representative will call and give you any desired information. Remember it costs nothing to make application. Loans promptly made in Elizabeth, Plainfield, Westfield, Roselle, Rahway, Perth Amboy and all suburban towns.

A TOWN SUBMERGED.

Backwater From Crevasse Floods Greenville, Miss.

GREENVILLE, Miss., March 30.—The backwater from the Lagrange crevasse is slowly rising, and nearly all of the city is submerged. Business is paralyzed, and people are moving about the streets in the southern section in skiffs. The rise in the last twenty-four hours is two inches. The sensational reports sent out from here that the city is in danger of destruction are highly exaggerated. The facts do not warrant any such statement. Rumors of great loss of life are absolutely without foundation so far as is known here. Relief parties with boats have been at work rescuing people in the path of the flood, and the refugees are brought here.

It was said that the mayor had instructed the city engineer to cut the protection levee in the northern part of the city, as it is believed it would be the means of letting the water out through Fish lake. The country beyond the lake is much lower than the city, and if the levee is cut it will stop the rise in Greenville and carry off much of the water now in the city.

The shut down of the electric light plant is a serious inconvenience to the people, and lanterns in skiffs may be seen throughout the town at night.

The flood situation outside of Greenville remains practically unchanged. The waters have covered thousands of acres of fine delta farms and is sweeping south to Vicksburg. The loss will be heavy, but it is impossible to give anything like a correct estimate of the damage wrought by the flood.

Flood Blocks Railway.

NATCHEZ, Miss., March 30.—The report that the Arnolia levee, two miles below Vidalia, the parish site of Concordia parish, La., was boiling and in imminent danger of breaking attracted hundreds of sightseers from Natchez. The officials of the Natchez, Red River and Texas railway, running from Jonesville to Vidalia, have given notice of a discontinuance of train service on their roads. A message from Clayton Station, La., says the Tensas river is rising very rapidly and the back levee is under water. The canal at that place is closed.

An Alleged Dynamite Plot.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., March 30.—Deputy United States Marshal Dan Cunningham has returned from Raleigh county, where he has been serving writs upon the strikers who were indicted by the recent special grand jury in connection with the trouble at Stanaford. Marshal Cunningham states that he has in his possession evidence in the shape of an affidavit from a former member of the miners' union of an alleged plot to dynamite the drift mines of W. P. Rend on Arbuckle creek, Fayette county, while the mines were filled with men and mules and also to surprise and attack the mine guards on duty at the Rend works. The affidavit is made by James Young, a miner, who attended the meetings of the strikers, where the alleged plans were said to have been discussed and adopted. The affidavit was made to S. L. Walker, a notary public of Fayette county, and the names of a number of strikers who took part in the meetings are given.

Another Transcontinental.

TORONTO, Ont., March 30.—Canada is to have another transcontinental railway. Its terminal will be at Quebec in the east and Port Simpson, B. C., in the west. The road will run parallel with the Canadian Pacific, but will be from 200 to 400 miles farther north, traversing the very heart of Canada through the wheat and pulpwood belt. The road will be called the Transcanada railway. The Dominion government has granted the promoters a charter, and prominent capitalists of Great Britain and Canada are interested in the project. The proposed line will shorten the distance between England and Japan and China by over 700 miles. Canada now has one transcontinental line, a second rapidly nearing completion and two, the Grand Trunk and the Transcanada, under promotion.

Riots In Russia.

ST. PETERSBURG, March 30.—The Official Gazette at Tiflis announces that rioting took place recently at Batum and Baku, the center of the petroleum industry in Russia, and was suppressed by the troops. During the riots the vice governor of Baku was slightly injured. Many persons were arrested and sentenced to various terms of imprisonment. The Official Gazette gives only meager details of the disturbance, leaving it to be surmised that they were more serious than would appear from the official account.

Large Catches of Seals.

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., March 30.—The sealing steamers Virginia Lake and Aurora have arrived here from the ice-fields, the former with 25,000 seals and the latter with 23,000. They report catches aggregating 238,000 seals for two-thirds of the fleet, and this year's catch is likely to reach 360,000 seals altogether.

Bituminous Miners Accept.

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., March 30.—From reports received here a majority of the 10,000 bituminous miners of Indiana have voted to accept the operators' demand that last year's agreement be accepted, with an advance of 12½ per cent in wages.

SPORTING NEWS

VARIOUS SPORTS.

An inter-association athletic contest will be held at Orange on April 15. Four mebmers of each Y. M. C. A. in the State are to be entered and a notice has been posted in the corridor of the local Y. M. C. A. notifying all members who wish to enter to post their names with the physical director, C. E. A. Heywood.

A shuffle board is soon to be added to the various games at the Y. M. C. A. Several weeks ago an order was placed with a firm in Springfield, Mass., for a regulation sized table with all the latest improvements. It has been delayed in transit but will probably arrive here in a few days. It will be installed in the small hall and as soon as the men and boys become proficient in the game, tournaments will be arranged.

GOLF.

The team championship schedule of the New Jersey Golf Association has just been announced by Secretary F. W. Thompson. Matches will begin on May 9, and in some cases will not conclude until October 10. Save for the shifting of one date, the Canoe Brook Country Club, which takes the place of the East Orange Golf Club, adopts the latter's schedule. In this association a team consists of not less than five nor more than seven men, and in case the home team does not have at least five men, the match shall be forfeited to the visiting team, provided the latter is on hand with at least four men. The Nassau system of scoring shall be used. This is a point for the winner at the end of the first nine holes, another point for the player up at the end of the round, and a point for the winner of the match.

ON THE DIAMOND.

The Watchung Field Club was defeated at its first game of baseball Saturday afternoon by Jackson Avenue A. A. The game was played on the Mountain avenue grounds and the final score was 2 to 1.

Quietly Married.

A quiet wedding was solemnized Saturday evening at the home of Rev. Dr. E. L. Earp, pastor of Grace M. E. church. The contracting couple was Harry Yawger, of Morristown, and Miss Florence Louise Annese, of this city. The witnesses were Charles Messersmith and Miss Olga K. Lockers. After the ceremony had been performed the newly married couple took a train for an extended wedding tour in the south.

Messrs. Paul and Robert Brokaw, of Princeton University, were guests over Sunday at the home of D. N. Groendyke, of Mercer avenue.

TOOK SHOES.

S. Taub Says Zebedee Johnson Went Off With Footgear He Didn't Buy.

Zebedee Johnson, colored, who says he is employed by Tobin, the plumber, of North avenue, was arrested Saturday evening on Somerset street on complaint of S. Taub, a shoe dealer, who claimed that the man had robbed him of two pairs of shoes. He will be given a hearing this evening.

Johnson, Taub says, entered his store early in the evening and while he was waiting upon a customer, the colored man took a pair of shoes and departed. At the time Taub did not know the man stole his stock but later he returned and said that he bought the shoes there and wanted to change them. While Taub had his back turned Johnson, it is alleged, stole a box of expensive shoes and ran up the street. At Harmony street the shoe dealer caught the man and turned him over to the police.

A hearing will be given this evening to Lyle Rapp and William Hewitt, who were arrested for being drunk and disorderly Saturday evening.

PLUCKY CAPTURE.

Maddened Horse Drags Henry Voehl a Block Before He Was Stopped.

Henry Voehl, of Somerset street, bravely stopped a runaway horse this morning. The animal was attached to a milk wagon belonging to H. F. Phillips and was dashing up Somerset street narrowly missing several carriages and wagons. As the horse passed the bakery Mr. Voehl ran out and caught it by the bridle and endeavored to bring it to a stop.

The animal tried to throw him off but Voehl clung to the harness and, although he was dragged along the street for almost a block, he brought it to a standstill halfway between Somerset street and Watchung avenue on Race street.

Missionary Tea.

The Missionary League of the Ladies' Christian Work Society, of Trinity Reformed church, will hold a missionary tea in the lecture room of the church on Thursday afternoon, between 3 and 5 o'clock. An offering of twenty-five cents will be acceptable at the door. Aside from the tea and the social features, there will be an address by Miss Conklin, of Belleville, a returned missionary from Japan, who will be present and tell of her work in Japan. A cordial invitation is extended to all interested.

Home From Long Trip.

Captain and Mrs. Stuart and daughter, Miss Inez Stuart, of Orange place, returned home Friday from a long trip on Captain Stuart's sailing vessel the "Virginia." While away the party visited the Canary Islands and the last port touched before reaching home was Santa Cruz, Cuba. Captain Stuart and his family started on the trip last November and it was a delightful one throughout.

Wont Accept Money.

Because of his conscientious scruples, Walter Hardingham, of Dunellen avenue, father of Fred Hardingham who was killed in the Westfield wreck, refuses to accept any money damages from the New Jersey Central officials, for his son's death. He believes the boy's death was an act of Providence and will not allow himself to profit thereby, although he has been offered a large sum by the company.

SEVENTH-DAY BAPTISTS MEET

D. E. TITSWORTH AGAIN MADE SUPERINTENDENT—THE OTHER OFFICERS.

Reports Presented—All of Encouraging Character—Many Contributions During the Year.

The annual Sabbath-school meeting was held last evening at the Seventh-Day Baptist church, when reports for the past year were received and officers were elected. Superintendent David E. Titsworth called the meeting to order, after which J. P. Mosher was made chairman and George L. Babcock secretary. The reports were all of an encouraging character. The average attendance of the school each week has been 100 and during the year there have been eighteen additions to the school. The treasurer reported all bills paid and a balance on hand.

In the election of David E. Titsworth as superintendent, this marks the beginning of his twentieth year of consecutive service in this office. The other officers chosen are as follows: Assistant superintedents, H. M. Maxson and Asa F. Randolph; recording secretary, Miss Louella Clawson; treasurer, Miss Ernestine C. Smith; librarian, Charles Neagle; pianist, Miss Mabel Maxson.

The superintendent took occasion to refer to the contributions made during the year to all the city charities, as well as to many outside appeals.

WANT PLUMBERS' LICENSES

BILL NOW BEFORE THE LEGISLATURE PROVIDES FOR THEM.

Would Establish Board in Plainfield to Examine and License the Plumbers.

Journeymen plumbers of this city are greatly interested in a bill that is now being considered by the Legislature. It provides for the appointment of a board for the examination and licensing of plumbers and the inspection and licensing of all plumbing work in cities and boroughs having a population of over 15,000, and would include Plainfield. The bill has the indorsement of the State Association of Journeymen Plumbers, which is affiliated with the national association and which includes steam fitters, helpers and gas-fitters.

The new bill requires that in municipalities of the kind stated above the Board of Health shall appoint a board consisting of four members, one of whom shall be the chief health officer of the municipality, one the plumbing inspector, one a journeyman plumber and one a master plumber. In cities or boroughs where the position of health officer of plumbing inspector already exists these officers shall serve on the board without additional compensation. The journeyman and the master plumber on the board shall each receive $5 for each day they are engaged in performing the duties of the board, provided that not more than $200 shall be paid to either in any one year. If necessary the board of health of any city or borough may employ one or more assistant plumbing inspector.

The board shall have the power to enact ordinances not inconsistent with ordinances already in effect for the sanitary construction, alteration and inspection of plumbing and sewerage connection with every building in the municipality. It shall describe the kind and size of materials to be used and the manner in which such work shall be done. The board shall have the power to compel owners or contractors to first submit and specifications of the work that is to be done for the approval of the board.

The bill also provides that the plumbing boards shall adopt rules for the examination of all persons who desire a license to do work at the construction or repairing of plumbing, or to engage in the plumbing business. Licenses shall be granted only to applicants who show upon examination that they have a practical as well as theoretical knowledge of plumbing, house draining, ventilation and sanitation. Original licenses shall be renewed every year, unless it is shown that the applicant has become unfitted to properly carry on his occupation or business. The fee for the original license to a journeyman plumber shall be $1, and that of a renewal license shall be fifty cents. This would make it unlawful for any person to do such plumbing unless he held a license. Another provision is that any person violating any of the ordinances of any board established under the provisions of the act shall be liable to a fine of not more than $50 nor less than $5 for each violation.

Teachers to Meet.

The annual meeting of the Primary and Junior Sunday-school Teachers' Union will be held in the Y. M. C. A. building this afternoon, when officers will be chosen for the coming year.

Mrs. W. L. Force, of Duer street, was called to Philadelphia, yesterday, by the serious illness of her sister's husband, N. C. Dunn.

HOW TO SEND PACKAGES

ARMY OFFICER EXPLAINS METHOD OF SHIPMENTS TO PHILIPPINE SOLDIERS.

Government Bears Cost of Transportation to Manila, But Places Restrictions.

D. D. Wheeler, assistant quartermaster general, U. S. Army, with headquarters at the Army Building, Whitehall street, New York, has issued a letter which will be of interest to many persons, including church societies in Plainfield. The letter reads as follows:

"Owing to the fact that many persons write for particulars relative to forwarding of reading matter to the soldiers in the Philippine Islands, the following information is given for the guidance of all concerned:

"At this depot no reading matter of any kind is accepted by the Government for shipment unless all delivery charges from initial point of shipment to the Army Building, 39 Whitehall street, New York City, are prepaid. As the charges for freight between New York and Manila are borne by the Government, the reading matter must consist only of standard books and good novels and magazines of recent date, otherwise the property would not be worth the cost of transportation. Packages may be consigned to the various organizations on duty in the Philippines, to the general hospitals or to the American Library, Manila, P. I., but in no case can packages be accepted when addressed to individuals, neither will the Government assume any charges for transportation beyond the City of Manila.

"All packages are to be plainly marked, properly packed for so long a voyage and sent in care of the 'depot quartermaster,' New York City, and the prepaid receipt forwarded to this office by mail. The above conditions cannot be deviated from for any cause."

Aged Woman Dies.

Mrs. Henrietta Cuff, colored, who lived in Plainfield a long time, died at her home in Fairchild's alley, yesterday afternoon. She was sixty years old and leaves seven children. The funeral will be held from the residence of her son-in-law, James Babitt, tomorrow afternoon.

Funeral Services Arranged.

Funeral services over the remains of Mrs. Nelly Uhdelle-Smith will be held from her late residence on Belvidere avenue Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock. The interment will be at Newark.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Ross, of East Front street, are happy over the arrival of a young daughter.

BOARD OF AGRICULTURE HOLDS QUARTERLY MEET

Grangers of Somerset County Hear Instructive Address on Preparing Soil.

BY PROF. E. B. VOORHEES

HE TELLS HOW GOOD CROPS CAN BE RAISED BY PROPER METHODS.

Members Afterward Hold Discussion and Partake of Refreshments—Seeds of All Kinds Were Distributed Gratuitously.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, March 31—The regular quarterly meeting of the Somerset County Board of Agriculture was held in the Court House here Saturday afternoon. The attendance was particularly large. President Edward E. Cooper, of Warren township presided. The representatives to the State Board of Agriculture and State Horticultural Society made very interesting reports.

The principal address was made by Prof. Edward B. Voorhees and his remarks were entertaining and timely. He had for his subject "The Preparation of the Soil for Spring Seeding." He said he had selected a number of crops to discuss, which were more interesting to the farmers of this section, and that he would discourse principally in reference to the soil and its preparation. The oats plant requires cool, moist climate for its best development.

"We must, in this State, have our soil well prepared and get our oats in as early in the season as possible. We must not only plow the ground and roll it, but must do the cultivation before we plant the oats, as we do not have a chance to cultivate it after it is planted. Cultivate deeply, so that the roots can get more moisture. As to the matter of variety we can say very little. Seed oats from a northern climate would give you better results than seed bought here. Oats that yield well one season here will not do so the next. Sow a minimum of two bushels to an acre, if the soil is first class and well prepared.

"Because oats is a crop that is not very profitable many think it does not pay to fertilize, but I think we ought to see that it has proper food to make it thrive. Fresh manure put in just before you seed is probably the best thing to make the oats grow. Acid phosphate and muriate of soda are as good as manure, which can be saved for something else to a better advantage. If you will start in the spring of the year and put the material on that the oats wants, it will not pout, but it will laugh and grow fat.

"The next crop to plant early is the corn crop. It is one of the valuable crops. In reference to the preparation of the soil for corn, we can't get soil ready too early. It is best to plow the ground early, thoroughly compact it and cut in deeply so as to get a good seedbed. For silage the best variety is the Southern White and for forage the Thoroughbred White Flint. Old manure is all right for corn, which should not be put in the ground before the warm weather, because it will not grow before that anyway. It makes its maximum growth in July and August. You should cultivate largely before you plant; cultivate deep the first time after the corn is up, but after that shallow, so as not to cut the roots.

"The question of the potato is relatively an important one. It takes less land to grow them on and they are pretty nearly all water anyway. The soil must be in excellent condition for the growth of the potato, as it must have a chance to push the soil away as it grows under the ground. You can't get the soil too deep; it must have first-class cultivation. The character of the season has a good deal to do with the preparation of the ground and food for the potato. If we are going to get a maximum crop we must see that the potato has plenty of good manure. If we study these things and put them in practice they will give us a much larger return than we would get if we did not take advantage of them."

A vote of thanks was tendered Prof. Voorhees for his instructive address.

Secretary Sutphen then appeared and said that some refreshments that has been prepared were ready for serving. Delicious ice cream and cake were handed about. The members and guests enjoyed this innovation immensely. After this had been disposed of, cigars were served.

A select stock of seeds that Joseph Fitzga had sent up were distributed among the audience.

MASONIC RECEPTION.

Anchor Lodge Will Present Loving Cup and Entertain Visitors This Evening.

After the third degree is conferred on two candidates, Anchor Lodge, No. 149, F. and A. M., will hold a reception this evening. A loving cup will be presented to the retiring treasurer and this will be followed by an entertainment and supper.

Among the visiting brethren will be Astor Lodge, of New York; Bedford Lodge, of Brooklyn, and Jerusalem Lodge, of this city.

Jerusalem Chapter, R. A. M., and Trinity Commandery, Knights Templar, of this city, have been invited. Several district deputies as well as grand lodge officers are expected.

LECTURING TOUR.

Mrs. Florence Howe Hall Home From Long Trip Through Western New York State.

Mrs. Florence Howe Hall has returned from the western part of New York State, where she gave several lectures last week and was the recipient of many kind attentions. At Geneva, she read "Current Events from a new stand-point," before the Political Equality Club. At Rochester, the Women's Educational and Industrial Union gave a reception in her honor on Saturday afternoon, and in the evening Mrs. Hall gave her lecture "Personal Reminiscenses of Distinguished People." On Monday, she addressed the Political Equality Club of Buffalo, a reception being also given in her honor at the residence of Mrs. Rowsey. On Tuesday, Mrs. Hall read "Personal Reminiscenses etc" before the Fortnightly Club of Jamestown, N. Y.

SAME GROUNDS.

Cedar Brook Tennis Club Will Occupy Its Present Courts for Another Year.

A special meeting of the Board of Governors of the Cedar Brook Tennis Club was held last evening at the home of J. Hervey Doane, of East Seventh street. Fred M. Letson, the president of the club, announced the following committees to serve during the coming season: Grounds committee: John H. Doane, chairman; Fred T. VanAuken, Vincent B. Miner and Alden E. Moore; entertainment committee: Miss Agnes B. Freeman, chairman; Mrs. Chas. H. Hall, Mrs. John H. Doane, Mrs. J. Hervey Doane, Mrs. W. K. Browning, Mrs. Fred M. Letson; tennis committee: J. Hervey Doane, chairman; Charles B. Morse, Lindsey Best, W. K. Browning and Ira W. Travell; membership committee, Willard M. Miner, chairman; Fred Pope, Harold A. Nomer and Charles H. Hall; auditing committee, William Sebring and Alden E. Moore.

It was decided to use the same grounds on East Seventh street, near Richmond, for playing as last year and the grounds committee was authorized to go ahead with the repairing of the courts and put them in condition for play by April 15.

TO EXAMINE 'PHONES.

Councilmen Will Inspect Independent 'Phone Co.'s Plant at Trenton.

Nearly all of the members of the Common Council will go to Trenton today upon the invitation of the Central New Jersey Telephone Company, which has asked for a franchise to establish its system in Plainfield. The purpose of the visit is to show the officials the success attained at Trenton with this system. While the Council goes to the State capitol chiefly to learn about the new telephone system, the members will make it a point to see their friends in the Senate and use their influence for the passage of the armory bill, which will benefit Plainfield. This announcement was made last evening at Company K's dinner.

Wasn't Regular Time Blow.

While the men were at work yesterday afternoon in repairing the telegraph wires of the fire alarm system, the gong sounded ten minutes before 5 o'clock. This led many to believe that their clocks and watches were wrong as the alarm was not sounded at 5 o'clock as usual, as the circuit was cut off temporarily at that time.

After Delinquents.

Saturday was the last day in the borough when the taxes for the year of 1901 were payable in Collector George F. Brown's office. All delinquents will have their property sold, in accordance with the power vested in Collector Brown at a recent meeting of the Borough Council, to collect the taxes.

Charles B. Morse, city editor of The Daily Press, returned this morning after a brief visit with relatives at Syracuse and Manlius, N. Y.

Report Prepared for the Common Council, in Which Many Reforms Are Suggested—The Criticism in Detail.

A meeting of the local committee of the State Charities Aid Association was held Sunday at the home of Mrs. Dexter Tiffany, of Crescent avenue, when a report, which was prepared for the Common Council last December, was read. The report was addressed to the alms committee which comprises W. L. Gloak, E. E. Pray and W. A. Garrigues.

The local committee of the association comprises: Mrs. Dexter Tiffany, chairman; Mrs. C. C. Ryder, Mrs. J. K. Myers, Miss Z. M. VanBoskerck and Henry M. Maxon. In their report they charge that when the committee made their investigations last fall they found "several women more or less under the influence of liquor," that the discipline was not what it should be, that the sanitary arrangements were poor, that there is an inadequate supply of water and that the sewer system is very poor. The committee recommends certain reforms and suggests that a method of pumping be adopted so that the sewage system of the city could be used.

The report in detail is as follows:

To the Alms Committee of the Common Council of Plainfield.

Gentlemen:

"For many years members of the Union county branch of the State Charities Aid Association visited the penal and charitable institutions of the county and were thus enabled to note improvement or retrogression in their management and to draw just comparisons.

"During the past autumn members of the above recently appointed committee have visited the Plainfield Industrial Home. Its quiet location, country surroundings, good garden, plan of construction and the kind care given to its inmates by the matron are very satisfactory. However, there are defects in its management which invite serious criticism. With the complete plumbing arrangements it is unfortunate the building should not have an adequate supply of water so that the inmates may have the full benefit of the bathing and toilet convenience. Now that the water company's pipes have been extended within so short a distance of the home, it would seem practicable with some outlay of money to give the place a full supply of water.

"The inadequacy of the cess-pool system to meet the larger supply arises as an obstacle. Probably some method of pumping could be instituted whereby the sewage of the Industrial Home could be brought in direct connection with the city sewerage system. Fullness of water supply and facilities for bathing are considered prime essentials if an institution would maintain a high grade in its management.

"As regards the neatness of the home, the committee was forced to admit the contrast to the Elizabeth alms house, the walls and floors of which are scrupulously clean. If the inmates of the home are too disabled to do the work of the house, other means should be provided; if able to work, what is reasonable should be required. The matron at times must be greatly overtaxed, often having the care of the sick and the cooking added to the work of the house. Apparently the overseer of the poor does the best with the means provided, and it would be strange if he did not share the general feeling of the community, that the official rises in the estimation of the taxpayers the less he spends of their money. However, we well know that here is an economy which is waste in the end.

"The fact that at the time the committee visited the home, there were several women more or less under the influence of liquor does not reflect creditably on its management. If the overseer of the poor had done his duty as he had given orders such women should not be allowed to go abroad. There should have been some way of disciplining these inmates who dis-

NOW FOR NEW HIGH SCHOOL

Supreme Court Justice Dixon Declares That McKee School Law is Constitutional.

ARMORY BILL PASSES

Collector's Bill Passes With Practically No Opposition—Lively Fight Over Primary Elections Bill by Politicians — Mr. Swackhamer Up Against Railroad Committee.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Trenton, March 31—Of great import to Plainfield was the decision filed by Justice Dixon in the Supreme Court. yesterday in reference to the general school act, commonly known as the McKee act. He declares that the act is constitutional. This will enable the Plainfield Board of Education to start a new High School without delay.

It will be remembered that the Stokes law, which contained the recommendations of a commission to codify the school laws, was declared unconstitutional and that the McKee law was passed by the Legislature a year ago in order to achieve the same ends and yet comply with the terms of the constitution. The constitutionality of the McKee law was questioned and the law was taken into the courts by Hoboken in order to determine the question without a doubt. Trenton, Plainfield and a number of other cities were greatly interested in the contitutionality as they were anxious to build new schools under the provisions of this act.

Of special interest to Plainfield also was the passage of the bill which will enable the State to appropriate funds for an armory for Company K in Plainfield. This bill was defeated several weeks ago but was subsequently reconsidered and passed by the House last night by a vote of 36 to 5.

Assemblyman S. S. Swackhamer, of Somerset, made a vigorous but fruitless fight to get his two-men-in-a-cab measure out of the House committee on railroads.

Just before adjournment the Senate took up the House bill which permits the Plainfield Common Council to elect the tax collector. Senator Cross spoke briefly for it and it was passed with only four votes against it. It now goes to the Governor.

The "repealer" to the annexation law was sent over from the Senate to the House last night. Instead of being referred to Mr. Newcorn's committee on boroughs and townships, it went to the committee on corporations and municipalities of which Mr. Leavitt, of Mercer, is chairman. It is expected a hearing will be held shortly. Two appropriation bills came last evening from the joint committee on appropriations. The increase is $678,388.

There was a hearing on the primary election bill and the politicians from far and near, including Hamilton Fish Kean, chairman of the Republican county committee, appeared against it. Its fate is not undetermined. Col. Carl Lentz, the Essex county leader, has a substitute measure which eliminates all the features to which the politicians object and the advocates of good government urge.

Governor Murphy's special message asking for a commission to investigate the Morris canal abandonment resulted in a joint resolution being introduced into the House by Mr. Boyd. It was defeated 29 to 22.

The opening prayer in the House last evening was made by Rev. Father Egan, of St. Mary's church, Plainfield.

Both houses are in session today.

Porto Rico Experiences.

An important sewing meeting under the auspices of the Woman's Association of the Congregational church will be held in the parlors of the church Thursday afternoon, at which time Mrs. J. M. Whiton will relate some of her recent experiences while in Porto Rico. A full attendance of the members is desired.

Fad Social.

A "Fad" social will be held this evening at the Congregational church, when those attending will be expected to be present in some sort of attire carrying out the idea of a fad. Refreshments and a social time will follow.

Closed During Funeral.

Owing to the death of G. F. Swift, of Chicago, the local beef house of the company is closed this afternoon during the time of the funeral.

BRIGHT FUTURE FOR CITY'S SOLDIER BOYS

While Banquetting, Company K Hears of Passage of Armory Bill by the Assembly.

MEDALS FOR SHOOTING

SECOND ANNUAL DINNER OF COMPANY K IS A GREAT SUCCESS.

The Soldier Boys and Their Friends Gather at Hotel Rosell—Captain Martin Acts As Toast-Master—Those Who Receive Medals.

Amid stories, cheers and a feast of good things the members of Company K recounted its successes and disappointments and incidentally built a new armory at the second annual dinner, given last evening at the Hotel Rosell. It was a great night for the soldier boys and everyone, including the honored guests, enjoyed themselves fully. Plainfield's military company was praised to the echo for its good work in the past, and when, during the dinner, Captain Martin announced that he had just received word from Assemblyman Newcorn at Trenton that the armory bill, which was reconsidered, had passed the Lower House by a vote of 36 to 5, the applause and cheers were deafening. Congratulations were sent at once to Mr. Newcorn.

This news stirred the hearts of all and revived an interest in Plainfield's chances for an armory. It seemed to be the unanimous opinion that these chances are good, as city and county officials present assured the officers and members that they would do all possible for the success of the movement.

Captain Martin was the toast-master for the evening and he made a few happy introductory remarks in which he praised his company and spoke of the excellent record made since he took command. He said that during the first month the average attendance at drills was forty-five, the second month forty-three and he believed this month it would be still better. He said he was proud of the company and he wanted Plainfield to be also, and he said that he would not be satisfied until it is second to none in the State.

Mayor O. L. Jenkins, who occupied a seat of honor, was the next speaker and he, too, praised the company for its success. He was glad the armory bill had passed the Lower House and was sure that if it became a law, the people of Plainfield would do their share in supporting such a project. He promised his support and said he would write a personal letter to Senator Cross urging the passage of the bill in the Senate.

Col. Collins, of Elizabeth, was then introduced and he made one of the best speeches of the evening. He joined heartily in Company K's festivities and at the same time gave some excellent advice. He said it was possible for the company to be the leading one in the State. He hoped that the members would never forget to be gentlemanly at all times and thus honor the uniform they wear.

Other excellent speeches followed by Freeholder Wm. A. Westphal, Councilmen J. F. Buckle, Robert L. Lee and Clarence L. Murphy, in which they promised their influence and support for the new armory. They said that they were proud of Company K's showing. The former captain of the company, Dr. W. Kempton Browning, was called upon and he gave an interesting review of the work during his command. In conclusion, happy and appropriate remarks were made by Former Lieutenant J. P. Mosher and Captain John Wherly, of Company M, of Somerville, who were guests also.

All of these pleasantries followed the most excellent dinner served by Proprietor Rosell, for which there were nothing but words of praise.

Prior to the dinner and after the company drill at the headquarters on East Second street, marksmen's decorations were presented to those who won them last summer at Sea Girt. This work was particularly gratifying by reason of the fact that Company K stood first in marksmanship, leading the other fifty-three companies in the State. The presentations were made by Col. Collins.

Those who won decorations are as follows:

Experts—Captain W. B. Martin, Captain W. Kempton Browning, Sergeant A. I. Littell, Corporals A. R. Phillips and Eugene Searing. Sharp-

ANOTHER LEAGUE?

Baseball Clubs Outside of the City League Discuss Another Organization.

Representatives from four baseball teams met in Reform Hall, Saturday evening, and discussed the advisability of forming a second city league. The organizations represented were the Reform A. A., Clinton Avenue A. A., the Cuban Giants and Orange Field Club.

The Alis Club, one of the four applying for admission to the City League, refused to enter into the scheme. As the others depended upon it largely for support nothing in the way of a definite organization was accomplished. Another meeting is to be held Saturday night.

NEW DIRECTORY.

City Directory for 1903 Distributed Yesterday—Prepared by R. J. Wand.

The directories for 1903 were distributed yesterday. They are very attractively gotten up this year and their appearance from that of last year is almost identical save for a brown cover instead of a green one.

The work of compiling the book was done by R. J. Wand, who has done that work in this city for several years. His canvassing has been done during the winter under the direct supervision of Mr. Wand.

The directory embraces Westfield, Mountainside, Dunellen, Fanwood, Scotch Plains, and a business directory, of Plainfield, North Plainfield, and the above mentioned towns. In the appendix there is to be found a list of the city and borough officials and the names of organizations in this city.

TAX RATE.

Council Members Believe That It Will Not Go Above 2.50 This Year.

There was a meeting of the Common Council, as a committee of the whole, last evening, when matters pertaining to the tax budget for the coming year were discussed. While there will be increases in nearly all of the departments and some salaries have been raised, the Council does not believe that the tax rate will be over 2.50 for the coming year.

Of course, the county rate may be the means of increasing Plainfield's rate, but the Council is hoping that this will not be true. The members feel quite proud of the past year's record as to finance and it will be the effort to maintain that record.

MORE THAN A THOUSAND.

Depositors of the Plainfield Trust Company Increasing in Number.

The Plainfield Trust Company reports that the number of its depositors has now passed the thousand mark This institution has in its ten months of business had a remarkable growth; its assets now amounting to nearly $600,000. It transacts a regular banking business and allows three per cent. interest on balances of $200, or more, subject to check. This liberal interest feature has induced many to place money awaiting investment on deposit with the company. The steady and rapid growth that the trust company has experienced is undoubtedly due in a great measure to its very strong and influential board of directors.

THREE YEARS PAST.

Anniversary of Marriage Was Celebrated With a Surprise.

A pleasant surprise was given Mr. and Mrs. John Auten, of East Front street, Friday evening, the occasion being the third anniversary of their marriage. When Mr. Auten went home early in the evening he found that a number of his friends had taken possession and were making themselves perfectly at home. Before the guests departed, refreshments were served.

Fell Twenty Feet.

Edward Hobby, of West Third street, is detained at home with a severely sprained wrist and numerous bruises recived by an accident, Saturday afternoon. He was standing on a ladder when it turned suddenly and threw him to the ground a distance of twenty feet. He was attended by Dr. VanHorn.

D. of P. Dance.

The members of the Daughters of Pocohontas will give a dance tomorrow evening in Red Men's hall, this city. Members of the local lodges of Red Men will be present and a most enjoyable time will, no doubt, be had.

His Seventy-Second.

Wm. B. Martin, of Clinton avenue, is today quietly celebrating the seventy-second anniversary of his birthday. Mr. Martin is hale and hearty and enjoys excellent heath.

BOROUGH SCHOOL BOARD STARTS FISCAL YEAR

List of Committees Prepared by President Joy Submitted —The Routine Business.

DR. BUCHANAN'S REPORT

WATCHFULNESS OF TEACHERS HAS PREVENTED SPREAD OF DISEASE.

Report From Tax Collector Brown Shows Neat Balance on Hand—Adjournment Until Special Meeting Monday Night.

Besides appointing the standing committees for the year and paying some bills, nothing of importance was transacted at last night's meeting of the Borough Board of Education when it met in its first regular meeting of the new fiscal year. In spite of the inclemency of the weather all the members were present.

President of the Board James R. Joy named his committees as follows: Finance, John Valiant, chairman; Samuel Townsend and Robert Fountain; teachers' salaries and text books, James R. Joy, chairman; John Valiant and A. V. D. Honeyman; supplies, Hiram A. Woodruff, chairman; Dr. Cooley and Robert Fountain; grievances and truancy, Samuel Townsend, chairman; Edwin A. Overton and Murray Burtis; buildings and grounds, Dr. J. H. Cooley, chairman; E. A. Overton and Murray Burtis; auditing committee, John Valiant, chairman and Hiram A. Woodruff. A special committee was appointed to arrange for the commencement exercises. It comprises Dr. J. H. Cooley, A. V. D. Honeyman and the supervising principal, Homer J. Wightman, who is an ex-officio member of the committee.

The finance committee looked over a number of bills and offered a resolution that warrants be drawn by the president and clerk for their payment. The bills amounted to $355.56 for general expenses; $44.47 for manual training and $13.84 for library purposes.

By request of Superintendent Wightman a helper was ordered secured for the janitor of the Somerset street school at a sarlary not to exceed $20 per month. A communication in the shape of a report of the school physician, J. Hervey Buchanan, was received and read by the clerk.

It showed that during the past year, 628 cases were examined through the blanks furnished by the board. The result of the investigations were that eight pupils were found to have enlarged tonsils, 22 had an affection of the sight and three showed symptoms of having a defect in the hearing, and a few cases were found of mild illness of a varied character.

Dr. Buchanan closed his report by saying that the care of the teachers in looking after the health of the children and detecting the first stages of any contagious diseases, had prevented their spread in the school.

A report from Collector George F. Brown showed that there was a balance on hand of $9,884.50.

A special meeting of the board is to be held Monday evening.

RAIDED HOUSE.

Borough Police Capture Two Women and a Man—Charge Disorderly.

Chief Marshal Campbell and Marshals Wise and Fahn raided an alleged disorderly house on Race street last evening and arrested the proprietress, Eva Carter, and Maria Matthews and Walter Britton, who were in the house at the time. All were lodged in jail pending a hearing this evening.

Fritz Beckle was arrested last evening by Marshal Weiss, charged with being drunk and disorderly.

Charles Latourette and James Hewitt, who were arrested Saturday night for disorderly conduct, were brought up before Judge Dond last evening and each fined $5 and 5 days in jail.

Judgment Rendered.

Judgment was rendered Friday in Justice Mosher's court in favor of William G. DeMeza, who was the complainant in a suit for $100 against Charles Bock. Execution from the Court of Common Pleas has been issued against Bock's property on East Front street.

Dr. Hall Spoke.

Instead of the regular lesson review, the members of Hope chapel's Sunday-school, listened Sunday afternoon, to an address by Dr. Thomas C. Hall, of Union Theological Seminary. Solos were rendered by Miss Elizabeth Long, of the Crescent Avenue church choir.

PEOPLE WE KNOW.

They Are Plainfield People and What They Say Is of Local Interest.

When an incident like the following occurs right here at home, it is bound to carry weight with our readers. So many strange occurrences go the rounds of the press, are published as facts, people become skeptical. On the subject skepticism is rapidly disappearing. This is due to the actual experience of our citizens and their public utterances regarding them. The doubter must doubt no more in the face of such evidence as this. The public statement of a reputable citizen living right here at home, one whom you can see every day leaves no ground for the skeptic to stand on.

Mr. C. E. Hepburn, of 123 Duer street, formerly of Canada where he first heard of Doan's Kidney Pills, says: "Doan's Kidney Pills have my endorsement for they cured me of a long standing case of backache which annoyed me very much, especially if I took cold for at such times I was in pretty bad shape. I heard different people speak very highly of Doan's Kidney Pills, concluded to try them, got a box from my druggist, Mr. L. W. Randolph, and used them according to directions with the above results. I do not hesitate to give my endorsement of a preparation like Doan's Kidney Pills."

LITERARY.

G. W. Orton, who won the American cross-country championship in 1897, and who is the two-mile world's steeplechase champion, in the April St. Nicholas tells his young readers about "Training for Interscholastic Athletics," with some helpful points for instructors and parents as well. Howard Pyle's April installment of "The Story of King Arthur and His Knights" gives the famous adventures a humorous turn, telling quaintly how King Arthur's knights served him under protest, believing him to be a kitchen drudge. "The Little Brown Pitcher" is the story of a true and charming incident of the Austro-Prussian War. Kate Dickenson Sweetster's "Marooned." Temple Bailey's "The Good Fortune of Molly Van," and Eleanor Gate's "A Race and a Rescue" round out the stories of the issue. "Straight Lines and Circles" show by description and dozens of drawings how unskilled fingers can get astonishing results very simple and easily. Ernest Harold Baynes describes "My First Hawk's Nest," with photographs made at some risk under trying conditions.

THEATRICAL.

"The Sultan of Sulu," Henry V. Savage's successful musical satire, has entered upon its fourth month at Wallack's Theatre in New York and the theatre has been filled to capacity at every performance. New Yorkers stamped the seal of approval on the merry George Ade satire at the first performance and the piece is sure to continue to reign at Wallack's for many months to come. The anniversary of the 100th performance in New York was celebrated March 23. No changes have been made in the big cast since the metropolitan engagement began.

There are so many good things on the bill at Keith's for the coming week that one must go very early and stay late if he wishes to see all that is worth seeing. Variety is a good name for the entertainment for all tastes are catered to in the lengthy programme. An especial pleasing feature for the younger patrons is the Gilletti troupe of trained dogs. Animal life always appeals to youth, and some of the tricks performed by these dogs puts human intelligence to the blush. Comedy will be afforded by Williams and Tucker, and Jones and Sutton, the latter sketch being entitled "Cream of Colorado Aristocracy." Moore and Haight is another turn in the lighter vein, the "Change your act or back to the Woods," being full of comical situations. Music lovers will be pleased with the work done by West and VanSicklen, while the power of mimicry displayed by both Sam Drane and Lotta Gladstone is very marked. Reed and Shaw, and the four Brothers Brady will show what skill can be attained in acrobatic work, and Zimmer's juggling is wonderfully dexterous. Others who will appear to advantage are Hodgkins and Leith, Kline and Clifton, and Adele P. Onri.

SOME OF ATTRACTIONS TO BE FOUND AT LOCAL STORES.

A Few Interesting Items Concerning Greater Plainfield's Merchants

Warnock's bakery on West Front street continues to be the mecca for all lovers of good bread, cake and pastry. It's because Warnock has them strictly fresh, made right and delivered on time.

It's a delight to visit Gavett's store. The wealth of pretty articles in crockery and silverware never fail. And there is another side to it. They can be purchased at prices that place them within the reach of all.

If your spring and summer gowns are trimmed with Peck's laces and embroideries, you can be sure that they will be stylish and they will wear longer than the ordinary kind. His assortment is large and complete.

G. H. Kenyon, the piano dealer, now has his warerooms at his home on Kensington avenue, where he will be pleased to show those interested some of the finest pianos made. His plan of easy payments makes it possible for everyone to have a piano.

Several of Plainfield's baseball teams have been equipped with uniforms and paraphernalia by Harry Dreier, whose store is headquarters for everything in the sporting goods line. He is exclusive agent for the celebrated Spalding goods in this city and the sole handler of the Imperial bicycle.

F. H. Firstbrook, the Liberty street grocer, has received a large shipment of potatoes which are the finest he has had in his store in some time. He always has a large stock of fresh vegetables on hand and this week he will have some of the very best spinach and kale in the market. He has some fine Boston and Roman lettuce.

Woodhull & Martin have started a big removal sale and there will be plenty of bargains for a few weeks to come. The firm is gradually preparing to move into its handsome new building on East Front street, and the stock of goods on hand at present will be offered at a sacrifice. If you want to get big values now is the time to make your purchases.

PERSONAL.

H. B. Ayers, of Manchester, N. H., is visiting friends in Plainfield for a few days.

Miss Mary Ross, of West Fifth street, is home from Alfred University for the Easter vacation.

Miss Cornelia Howlett, of Morristown, N. J., spent yesterday in Plainfield with relatives and friends.

The young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Calkins, of Madison avenue, is quite ill. Dr. Endicott is in attendance.

Rev. and Mrs. George Angleman, of Piermont, N. Y., have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. John Cory, of West Front street.

Miss Olive Sampson, of Fairview avenue, who has been visiting friends in New York for several days, has returned home.

The Misses Kearns, of Brooklyn Heights, have returned home after a visit with Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Buckley, of Watchung avenue.

Harry North, of East Sixth street, who has been employed by the Aluminum Press Company, sailed today for Manchester, England, to reamin permanently.

Rev. F. E. Whiteside, of Drew Theological Seminary, has been spending a few days in Plainfield. Tomorrow he will leave for Newark to attend the annual session of the Newark conference, where he will likely receive his first charge.

IMPROVING SERVICE.

The Western Union Has Established Sub-Telegraph Stations.

For the good of the service, F. G. Sherman, superintendent of telegraph on the New Jersey Central, has made arrangements whereby telegrams for transmission will be received at the Clinton avenue, Grant avenue and Netherwood stations, the freight house on Richmond street and the new eastbound station, as well as at the North Avenue station. This is done for the convenience of people living away from the centre of the city and the same quick disposition of messages will be given as at the main telegraph office. At the eastbound station, as well as at the other stations the ticket agents will receive the messages. Owing to the rapidly growing sections in the outlying districts, it will not be long before permanent telegraph offices will be established at the Clinton and Grant Avenue stations.

—Queen City Lodge, No. 26, I. O. O. F., worked the initiatory degree on two candidates last evening.

—William McDonough has left the employ of Horace Martin and is now at Adam Blair's stables on East Sixth street.

ONE STRIKE AVERTED

Grievances of N. Y., N. H. and H. Trainmen Nearly Settled.

A TEN HOUR DAY AND BETTER WAGES

This Desired End Seems to Be Practically Attained—A Hopeful Statement Issued by the Brotherhood's Representative.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., March 31.—After a conference which lasted until late last evening the grievance committee of the trainmen of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad and the committee of the directors who have been considering changes in the schedule adjourned until 10 o'clock tomorrow morning. In behalf of the men Valentine Fitzpatrick, the representative of the Trainmen's National Brotherhood, who took part in the conference, gave out the information that an understanding had been reached on many points, but that the question of wages still remains unsettled. He expressed a hope that this important matter might be adjusted at the meeting tomorrow.

No statement was issued by the road officials, President Hall declaring that there was nothing to be said at the present stage of the proceedings.

Mr. Fitzpatrick's statement contains the following:

"It is probable that the company will concede to the men in the freight service a ten hour day. The men in the passenger service will be graded according to mileage, and we think the company will concede a certain number of hours to constitute a day's work. The conference throughout was very pleasant, and every disposition to be fair was shown on both sides. The men at the Harlem river yards sent two men here to find out what the delay was about. The company and we, too, are anxious to have them know the exact situation. We wish to tell them that all is being done in their interests that can be done, and I personally wish to assure them that they will soon be working under better conditions than ever before. The disparity between their wages for eight hours and the wages paid to men on the Jersey side of the river for a few more hours has caused them discontent. But it will not be long before they will be satisfactorily readjusted as to their hours and wages.

"With regard to the question of rules and regulations governing the work of the men, I can safely say that that matter has been settled up satisfactorily to the men.

"The men ask as to wages in the readjusted demands made to the directors that freight trainmen receive 2 cents per mile and that flagmen receive 2 1-10 cents. With regard to the passenger men, they have been so graded that their hours of service will be in accordance with a miles run schedule and compensation given accordingly.

"The committee concedes to the company the right to haul as many cars to a train as the law permits and to put as many men in the crews to operate those trains as the company finds necessary."

Many Want Guayaquil Job.

WASHINGTON, March 31.—Despite the bad name that the place has received, a dozen American citizens have applied to the state department for appointment to the vacant office of consul general at Guayaquil, Ecuador, where one incumbent was removed under charges, another died after a brief residence, a third came home after a stay measured by hours, and a fourth failed to get his commission on account of something he did thirty years ago.

King Edward to Visit Ireland.

LONDON, March 31.—The king and queen will visit Ireland in July or August of this year. The announcement of their majesties' intended visit has been received with great satisfaction in Dublin and Belfast, where it is predicted the visit will be a triumphant success, as they will see Ireland in a happier frame of mind than she has been for many years. Nothing is known yet regarding the itinerary that their majesties will follow.

Professor Turner's New Star.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., March 31.—The Harvard college observatory has received information from the United States Naval observatory and from the Yerkes observatory concerning the new star discovered by Professor Turner. The Naval observatory states that the field of the nova discovered by Professor Turner was photographed Friday night, and the discovery was confirmed. Magnitude, 8.5; color, red.

A Submarine Explosion.

MARSEILLES, March 31.—The Italian steamship Nina, which has just arrived here, reports a violent submarine explosion some distance from the vessel when she was thirty miles off Cette. The explosion was followed by a great outburst of what appeared to be flames. A wave threw the vessel almost on her beam ends. The explosion is supposed to have been of volcanic origin.

Amnesty For Prisoners.

WASHINGTON, March 31.—President Roosevelt has issued a general order in the nature of an amnesty toward a certain class of prisoners which will affect more than a hundred prisoners confined in the new United States penitentiary at Atlanta, Ga.

John D. Long Able to Be Out.

BOSTON, March 30.—Former Governor John D. Long, who for nearly three months has been a patient at St. Margaret's infirmary, is now able to go out of doors, taking short walks in the vicinity of the hospital.

WELCOME TO BOOTH

Vast Throngs Greet Salvation Army Leader In London.

ENGLISH NOBILITY IN THE AUDIENCE

Hosts Pass In Review Before Their Commander—The General Speaks In Praise of Americans and of His Recent Visit.

LONDON, March 31.—London accorded General William Booth, commander in chief of the Salvation Army, a great welcome home at the Albert hall last night. The immense auditorium was packed from the floor to the roof. There was not a vacant seat in the building, which has a capacity of 9,600 persons, and in spite of the rainy night hundreds were turned away from the door.

The audience included Lord Rothschild, Sir Edward Clarke, Sir George Newnes, Lady Pender, Lady Murray, seven metropolitan mayors and mayoresses, the Right Hon. H. H. Asquith and a number of other members of the house of commons, while two boxes were filled with members of the Stock Exchange. Ambassador Choate and other persons of prominence who were unable to attend sent messages of regret. Four hundred uniformed musicians drawn from the Salvation Army bands in London were massed around the great organ at the end of the hall.

General Booth's appearance on the platform was the signal for a remarkable demonstration. The audience rose as one man, fluttering handkerchiefs and programmes and cheering for several minutes, while the bands and the organ added a harmonious note to this thunderous welcome. The white bearded veteran, accompanied by Mrs. Booth and the international headquarters staff, stood bowing his acknowledgments until the uproar ceased. A spectacular feature of the meeting followed in the form of a review of the various departments of the Salvation Army. These marched in and crossed the stage, saluting the general as they passed, each department bearing a distinctive banner and wearing costumes according to the various branches of work in which the members were engaged.

In this review were included the editorial and printing house staff, the foreign converts, Hindoos, Zulus, Sudanese, Japanese and Chinese, all in their native costumes; cadets, field officers, slum workers, men, women and children from the slums before and after their rescue, soldiers, sailors, representatives of the various trades taught in the Army homes, colonists who are training for foreign settlement and many others.

General Booth's speech was frequently interrupted by applause. "Fellow workers," he said in part, "I can report well of the Army both in the United States and Canada. The Salvation Army has made great and real progress in America since my last visit, and I see a striking promise of the creation on that continent of one of the most powerful sections of the Army."

The general spoke touchingly on the reception accorded to him throughout America, and the reference he made to the kindliness of his reception by President Roosevelt and the distinction shown him as the representative of the Salvation Army by the United States congress evoked repeated applause.

"I like the American," said General Booth, "and I believe he likes me. He is willing to risk something to gain his end and does not let prejudice or tradition stand in his way."

The meeting concluded with an exhibition of moving pictures of incidents in General Booth's American tour.

Monuments on Shiloh Battlefield.

WASHINGTON, March 31.—Extensive preparations are making for the dedication of nineteen monuments by the state of Indiana on the battlefield of Shiloh, Tennessee, April 6 and 7, the forty-first anniversary of the great battle at that place. The governors of Indiana and Tennessee, together with militia from those states, will take part in the ceremonies. Assistant Secretary Sanger of the war department will represent the secretary of war, who will be unable to attend, and will accept the monuments in behalf of the federal government.

Wreck on the Erie.

CORRY, Pa., March 31.—The Erie railroad fast Cleveland train was wrecked at Concord, six miles west of this city. The train, made up of a baggage and cafe car, three Pullmans and two coaches, jumped the track and turned over. Mrs. C. T. Hennesy of New York, an occupant of the cafe car, was slightly injured. Others are suffering from shock, cuts and bruises. As several cars were smashed up it was a miraculous escape from death.

Pennell Inquest Put Over.

BUFFALO, March 31.—Justice Murphy is to announce his findings in the Burdick inquest in police court today. No arrests will be made, and no warrants will be issued. The court's findings will be interesting as a closing commentary on the famous case. The Pennell inquest, which Judge Murphy had announced would begin yesterday, was postponed indefinitely. The reason announced was the absence of witnesses from the city.

Murder and Suicide.

CHILLICOTHE, O., March 31.—Forest McCord, a barber, aged twenty-four years, living at Bournville, this county, killed Charity Storts, aged twenty years, by cutting her throat from ear to ear, after which he cut his own throat in a like manner. The deed was done at the girl's home, near South Salem.

WANTED—A THEATRE.

In the little city of Burlington a handsome playhouse has just been opened and such productions as "Mr. Pickwick" with DeWolf Hopper in the leading role, are mentioned in connection with it. New Brunswick residents continue to have the best road productions offered for amusement at their own doors and there is not a town of any importance within a radius of fifty miles but is boasting of its theatre.

Plainfield has nothing. Announcements continue to come in declaring the building boom is steadily progressing. New factories each with its complement of employes herald the fact that wage earners are multiplying but all to no purpose in one direction. The one thing needed to stamp the city as an up-to-date community is lacking. There is no theatre, no home for the drama, light comedy or heavy production and lovers of the histrionic art must go elsewhere for their favorite amusement. There is argument that when the town did possess an opera house it was not properly supported. True enough, but there were times when it was the fault of the promoters and not the public. A community of 23,000 people is well able and anxious to support such an institution conducted on clean lines and devoid of humbug and when capitalists awake to this realization, there is money in store for them. Music Hall, once the pride of the city, remains useless. Another season is approaching and the play-hungry people are wondering what is to be done. It's up to an enterprising manager to solve the problem—where is he?

Announcement in yesterday's Daily Press of the coming to this city of another manufacturing concern makes it plain that Plainfield is looked upon by outsiders as a desirable place for the location of a factory. Within the past few years several reputable firms employing large numbers of men have removed their industries here without any semblance of solicitation on the part of the citizens. Once looked upon as merely a "roost" for commutors it is rapidly striding to the fore in the manufacturing world and that, too, without interferring with the citizens who love it for it's residential beauties. Good concerns are always welcome and there is room for many more.

A successful merchant says too much attention cannot be paid to advertising, declares the Philadelphia Record. Thus he watches the weather prognostications and when they say rain, for example, his advertisement in the morning paper deals chiefly with umbrellas, mackintoshes, rubbers, etc. He always finds something to suit the predicted weather. It shows enterprise.

Westfield is beginning agitation for another series of public band concerts to be given during the coming summer. This is only mentioned as a reminder that there was a time when Plainfield used to do the same thing. But then, Westfield sometimes gets what it strives for.

Word comes from Eastport, N. Y., that the leading duck raisers of New England, Pennsylvania and Long Island are forming a trust. It will probably mean an exemplification of the saying that "the goose hangs high" with the quackers in the title role.

TO HAVE NEW SCHOOL.

Somerville's Board of Education Contracts for Plans.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, March 31.—The Somerville Board of Education has organized by the election of A. G. Anderson as president and A. P. Sutphen as district clerk. Both of these were selected unanimously.

The matter of the new school building was virtually settled by the introduction of a resolution by Charles H. Bateman to the effect that the board enter into contract with Mr. Towner, the architect, for plans for a building to be erected in the rear of the one known as building number one. This was done in response to a vote at a citizens' meeting some time ago, when some $24,000 was voted for this purpose.

PERMANENT CLUBS.

Glee and Mandolin Clubs Will be Continued at City High School.

At a meeting of the City High School Glee and Mandolin Clubs held this morning it was decided to make these clubs permanent organizations of the school. The proceeds of the concert Saturday evening did not amount to more than $40 and for this reason it has been decided to give an other club concert Monday of Easter week. Francis K. Anderson, Arthur F. Conant, G. Archibald Brakeley and Alden E. Moore were appointed as the committee to take charge of the affair and to arrange the programme for the evening.

SHOES TAKEN.

Robert Vanderbilt Held for Grand Jury on Charge of Stealing Them.

Robert Vanderbilt, alias Robert Johnson, who was arrested Saturday evening by Marshal Weiss, was arraigned this morning for a hearing before Justice W. E. Mattison on a charge of larceny. Vanderbilt is charged with stealing a pair of shoes from the store of S. Taub on Somerset street. Justice Mattison, after hearing the evidence in the case, held the man for the Grand Jury. In default of bonds he was committed to the county jail at Somerville.

The Plainfield Medical Society will hold its quarterly meeting and banquet at Hotel Rosell tomorrow evening.

BOUGHT HARNED ACADEMY

SUMMIT MAN ACQUIRES PROPERTY AND WILL MAKE ALTERATIONS.

To be Opened in Fall As a Preparatory and Boarding School for Youths.

Negotiations were completed yesterday, between James E. Martine and R. M. Huse, of Summit, whereby the latter became the owner of the Harned academy building on Park avenue. The purchase price was not made known.

Mr. Huse is a well-known instructor and has been conducting a school for boys at Summit. It is his intention to thoroughly renovate and remodel the interior of the structure and open it in the fall as a preparatory and boarding school for young men. In addition to the building, the purchaser has made terms with Mr. Martine for a large part of the common off Park avenue. He will have it transformed into an athletic field for the exclusive use of his pupils.

Hurt at Factory.

An employe of the Levering & Garrigues factory at West Dunellen was severely injured while at work in the plant this morning. He was brought to Muhlenberg Hospital. His name could not be ascertained.

A Tempting Offer in

MILLINERY

Beautiful Trimmed Hats at $4.98.

We will have ready for sale tomorrow thirty trimmed hats that are marvels of beauty and style at a price that is rarely heard of in fine millinery work. These hats are trimmed of fine materials according to the newest ideas, the workmanship is of the highest order. The regular milliner's profit has been eliminated. It's to give our patrons an idea how very reasonable they may purchase hats here. Women who know the true value of trimmed hats will marvel at the very low price at which they are offered—$4.98. Equal in every respect to hats sold in other millinery stores at 6.50 to 7.50.

SUBURBAN NEWS

A Department Devoted to the Minor Events in Greater Plainfield's Suburbs by Our Own Correspondents.

DUNELLEN.

It was stated by mistake yesterday that an entertainment would be given by the Mandolin Club this evening in the Methodist church. The entertainment, however, will not be held until Thursday evening and will be an elaborate affair.

Miss Ethel Rogers, of New Market, Miss Majorie Burke, Charles Doolittle, G. A. Brakeley and Michael Moynihan are all in this year's graduating class at the Plainfield High School.

Wilson Fredericks still continues a slow but steady improvement at Muhlenberg Hospital and prospects are bright for his release before long.

A carriage and horse sale was held at Taylor's Hotel on Saturday afternoon and a number of vehicles and animals were disposed of.

Nothing has been heard lately of the erection of the proposed new saloon and it is probably that the matter will fall through.

Miss Gertrude Badum has left the Trenton Normal School and will shortly enter the Newark Business College.

The manager of the Dunellen A. C. is busy arranging a strong schedule of games for the coming season.

The Ladies' Aid Society held its usual cake sale on Saturday afternoon in the W. C. T. U. rooms.

A meeting of the trustees of the Methodist church was held last evening in the parsonage.

The last March meeting of Court Dunellen, I. O. F., was held last evening in Apgar's Hall.

Frank Humpston has taken a position with G. W. Day in the Call office.

Vincent Ward, of Roseville, has been spending several days in town.

A meeting of the Juniors will be held this evening in Apgar's Hall.

Adam Dealaman's condition was not quite so good last evening.

Randolph Vail entertained out-of-town friends over Sunday.

George Schenck is having his grocery wagon painted.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

The first sign of city water in town was the distribution, yesterday, of the fire hydrants. Fourteen hydrants in all are to be put in at present, distributed as follows: Stanbery avenue, two; Mountain avenue, three; Stout avenue, one; Front street, three; Westfield avenue, two; Bartle avenue, two; corner Park and Mountain avenues, one. As nearly all hydrants on the side streets are located on corners they give ample protection to every part of the village proper. The work of laying the mains will begin as soon as the company is able to procure the necessary pipe.

The High School baseball team will cross bats again tomorrow afternoon at 3:30 o'clock on the local diamond with the Westfield High School team. The two teams met Saturday afternoon and the local won quite handily. Westfield promises to wipe their defeat out in tomorrow's game.

Fanwood Council, R. A., will hold a special meeting tonight for the purpose of initiating candidates. Three candidates are expected to be initiated into the mysteries of the order. A full attendance of members is desired.

Mr. and Mrs. John B. Stiliger and children, who have been visiting Mr. Stiliger's parents, have returned to their home at Roselle.

Miss May Shott and Miss Mary Westcott are spending a short vacation from their studies at Peddie Institute, Hightstown.

Chas. Reick, who is employed in New York, spent Sunday with his father, John Reick, of Forest avenue.

John Rickerson is riding a new wheel purchased through the agency of Roy Day.

Miss Ivy Marsh has returned from a week's visit with her grandparents at Westfield.

NEW MARKET.

An auction sale of the farm materials and utensils of Robert Patterson, was held yesterday afternoon at the old Martin Dunn place at West Dunellen. Owing to the rain the attendance was small but a considerable was disposed of at fair prices. G. W. Day was auctioneer. Mr. Patterson proposes removing from here soon.

The junior baseball team has been organized for the season and a series of games has been arranged with the Silver Leaves of Dunellen.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

Rev. J. A. Cubberley attended the Baptist ministers' conference, of New York and vicinity, at New York, yesterday.

William E. Smith has secured a farm laborer and tenant from Plainfield.

Mrs. O. E. Thorn has recovered from an attack of tonsilitis.

DEATH OF E. S. DALLEY.

Contracting Mason, Formerly of Plainfield, Died at Newark.

The death of Ebenezer S. Dalley, a former well known resident of this city, occurred at Newark, Saturday night. He formerly resided on West Front street and was a contracting mason. H. B. R. Dalley, of West Front street, is a son.

The funeral services will be held from the residence of his daughter at Somerville, tomorrow afternoon at 3:30.

Nothing Important.

The regular meeting of the Board of Governors of Muhlenberg Hospital was held last evening, but beyond routine matters, no business came up for transaction. The report of the superintendent, Miss Veaner, showed the past month to have been an unusually busy one at the institution, the wards being filled to their capacity all the time.

Broke Three Ribs.

Mrs. John S. Wikoff, of Richmond street, is detained to her room as a result of a fall a few days ago, when three ribs were broken. Mrs. Wikoff was standing on a chair reaching for something, when the chair tipped and threw her over. For a few days she suffered much pain, but is now resting comfortably.

Moving to City.

William L. Smalley & Co., the butchers, who for several years have conducted a business at the corner of Race street and Somerset street, is moving from the borough to this city where he will have his store at the corner of Park avenue and Fourth street.

—The Sunday-school of the First Baptist church is preparing for an elaborate Easter service, when special music will be rendered.

PRESS AND PUBLIC.

Praise the Mozart Symphony Club Which is to Appear Here Soon.

The Mozart Symphony Club, of New York, will be at the Casino on Friday night, of next week. The great success of this organization during the past eleven seasons, the unbounded praises of the press and public, and repeated requests for return engagements is evidence that the club is held in the highest estimation. The Mozart Symphony Club consists of an excellent string quartette, and owe their renowned reputation to the fact that they are the only musical organization who play solos on such obsolete instruments as the viola d'amour (often called viola of love) and the da gamba. Theo Hoch, with his golden cornet, set with precious stones, and Roman triumphal trumpet (five feet in length), will also introduce the Alpine echo horn. This instrument is uniquely constructed with two tubes, one of which produces the full round tone and the other the echo. These solo instruments enable the club to give a programme more varied than any other company with three times as many members, with selections which are calculated to please the general public as well as the most fastidious listeners.

Missionary Anniversary.

Members of the Grace and Monroe Avenue M. E. churches will join the people of the First M. E. church in a missionary anniversary which will be celebrated at the last named church Wednesday evening. The music will be a special feature and Miss Jefferson, a colored speaker from Morristown, Tennessee, will speak.

STRIKERS ARRESTED

Waterbury Police Take Suspected Lawbreakers.

HOPE TO FIND POLICEMAN'S SLAYERS

Charge of Assault With Intent to Kill Preferred Against Prisoners—Pinkerton Detectives Assisting the Police.

WATERBURY, Conn., March 31.—Eighteen men have been placed under arrest on the charge of assault with intent to kill by the police in their efforts to discover the authors of some of the outbreaks of violence which have occurred since the beginning of the strike of motormen and conductors of the Connecticut Railway and Lighting company eleven weeks ago.

The men arrested are charged in the warrants with assault on William T. Merner and George Morrissette on the night of Feb. 26 with intent to kill. These two men were the nonunion employees of the trolley company who had charge of a car which was attacked at a lonely spot on the Waterville line on the night mentioned. Both were assaulted, and one was beaten into insensibility and left lying on the rails in the path of the cars.

This disturbance occurred a little more than a week prior to an attack of a similar nature on a car at Forest park, when Policeman Paul Mendelssohn was killed by a bullet from a mob of masked men. Since the murder was committed detectives, attracted by the large rewards offered, have been quietly at work.

Colonel L. F. Burpee, attorney for the Connecticut Railway and Lighting company, said in an interview that he had strong evidence against the men arrested for the Waterville assault and that he felt quite confident of tracing out the murderer of Officer Mendelssohn. Colonel Burpee added that warrants for twenty-two men had been issued and that he expected that the whole number would be under arrest soon. The credit for the arrests, he said, was due to Pinkerton detectives, acting in co-operation with the local detective bureau.

Of the arrested men seven are members of the trolley men's union now on strike. These are Charles T. Ross, Harry W. Warren, Clifford Vandermark, Willis Vandermark, David C. Marsh, Edward B. Winnegar and John McGuire.

Counsel was secured for the arrested strikers, and efforts were made to secure bail, the amount required being $2,000 in each case.

Although the officials decline to indicate the nature of the evidence on which the arrests are based, a report which seems to be reliable is current to the effect that one man will turn state's evidence. One of the attorneys for the defense said he had heard this report, but that it was not true of any of the three or four men for whom he had been retained.

Gold Medals For Three.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Colo., March 31.—A feature of the dedicatory exercises of the Louisiana Purchase exposition will be the presentation by the Colorado state board of commissioners of three solid gold medals, one to Theodore Roosevelt, president of the United States; a second to Emile Loubet, president of France, and a third to President David R. Francis of the St. Louis exposition. The presentations will be made April 30. Gold for the three souvenirs was contributed by a Cripple Creek mine.

Broker Killed a Clerk.

NEW YORK, March 31.—William J. Peppler, a clerk, twenty-six years old, was shot and instantly killed late yesterday at his home, 60 East One Hundred and Nineteenth street, by William E. Dobson, a broker, who made his escape and is being searched for by the police. The shooting was the result of a jealous quarrel in the rooms of Peppler, where on returning from business he found Dobson with his wife.

A. B. Clay Killed by His Wife.

PARIS, Ky., March 31.—Junius B. Clay, one of the largest land owners of this county, was accidentally shot and killed by his wife while they were at target practice at their home near here. The shooting was done with a shotgun. The charge severed the jugular vein and then entered the left lung. He was a son of Hon. Cassius M. Clay, president of the late Kentucky constitutional convention.

Warmest March Known.

NEW YORK, March 31.—According to the official records, the mean temperature for this month in this city for thirty-two years has been 37 degrees. The average of the daily mean temperature of the last thirty days is 47.7 degrees. In 1894, the year of the next warmest March, the sum of the mean temperature of the month was 1,370 degrees. This gave a daily average of 44.2 degrees.

Wanamaker Sells Magazine.

NEW YORK, March 31.—Papers have been signed by which John Wanamaker ceases to be a magazine publisher. He has sold the rights and title of his publication, Everybody's Magazine, to the Ridgway-Thayer company, which is composed of Erman J. Ridgway, John Adams Thayer and G. W. Wilder.

Kentucky Distillery Burned.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., March 31.—The J. G. Kattingly distillery in this city has been destroyed by fire, causing a loss of $50,000, fully insured. The distillery was one of the largest in the city and was owned by the Kenucky Distilleries' and Warehouse company.

NEW JERSEY'S BUDGET.

A Large Increase Over Last Year's Appropriations.

TRENTON, N. J., March 31.—The joint committee on appropriations made its report last night in the form of two appropriation bills. The annual appropriation bill totals $3,979,300 and the supplemental bill $1,021,056. This makes an aggregate of $5,000,356, an increase of $673,388 over the two bills of a year ago. This increase is accounted for by these items:

For the sanitarium for consumptives, $300,000; increased appropriation for the cure of the insane, $160,000; voting machines, $50,000; Rutgers college, $80,000; Louisiana Purchase exposition, $70,000; payment to Jersey City of taxes improperly collected from the Erie Railroad company, $58,967.

The primary election bill, which is so much favored by Governor Murphy, was the subject of a committee hearing by the house committee on elections and was discussed by the Republican assemblymen in caucus last night.

Governor Murphy sent to the two houses of the legislature a special message suggesting the appointment of a special commission to investigate and report upon the proposed Morris canal abandonment scheme. Immediately following the reception of the message Mr. Boyd, the Republican house leader, offered a concurrent resolution for the appointment by the governor of three commissioners to investigate the matter and report to the present or next legislature.

TWAIN FAVORS RACE.

Old Time Boating Contests on the Mississippi Recalled.

NEW YORK, March 31.—Mark Twain has recalled the days when he was a pilot on the Mississippi river in a letter to ex-Governor David R. Francis, president of the St. Louis exposition commission, in response to Sir Thomas Lipton's suggestion that a series of old time steamboat races be inaugurated as a feature of the exposition.

Mark Twain wrote a genuine reproduction of the old time race, with negro roustabout charity singers, the use of the torch basket rather than the searchlight and the extinguishment of the latter day government lights so that the quality of the piloting would count where the boats are evenly matched in speed.

"As a spectacle," writes Mark Twain, "nothing could add to it except an old time blow up as the boats finished the homestretch. But this should not be arranged. It is better left to Providence and prayer."

New Orleans Flood Situation.

NEW ORLEANS, March 31.—The carrying away of additional cribbing at the Hymelia crevasse has brought the forces that have been at work there to the verge of abandonment of attempting to close the break. Later in the day, however, as a result of several conferences it was agreed to continue the undertaking. The break is close to 700 feet in width, with the ends steadily melting away. The mighty torrent is filling the lakes and bayous to the rear, and in the next fortnight the whole basin from the La Fourche to the lower limits of cultivatable land in Plaquemine is likely to go under water, causing inestimable damage and much suffering. The Texas and Pacific road is now hopelessly involved, with water running deep over the tracks and with little hope of an early resumption of traffic.

Counterfeit Notes.

WASHINGTON, March 31.—The secret service announces the discovery of two counterfeit notes. One is a five dollar silver certificate of the series of 1899 and is a poorly executed etched production on thin, soft paper, no attempt having been made to imitate the silk fiber of the genuine. The other is a five dollar national bank note, reading, "United States The Citizens' International Bank, New York, pay to the bearer on demand $5." It bears a portrait of Garfield. The seal appears to be that of some secret order. The note bears no signature either of United States or of bank officers.

Food For Finlanders.

PORTLAND, Me., March 31.—The Eldar-Dempster steamship Yola sailed today for Hango, Finland, with a cargo consisting of 163,822 bushels of oats, 10,000 bushels of rye and 30,715 bushels of barley and a large supply of clothing, money and other articles contributed for the famine stricken Finlanders. This is the third shipment of the kind, each of which came from Canada. The grain will be used for seed next season.

Many Chinese Rebels.

HONGKONG, March 31.—A Chinese military officer who arrived at Canton from the interior reports that the province of Kwangsi and parts of the province of Kwantung are infested with rebels, who number at least 100,000. They are mostly discharged soldiers and banditti. They are well armed.

To Start Bank at Tientsin.

VIENNA, March 31.—The Austria-Hungarian government is supporting a powerful financial and commercial syndicate which is arranging to establish an Austro-Chinese bank at Tientsin, with a capital of $4,800,000, to develop Austria-Hungarian trade with the far east.

Rioting In Agram.

BUDAPEST, March 31.—According to advices from Agram, capital of Croatia-Slavonia, riots broke out there last evening, and the entire garrison was called out to clear the streets.

Greek War Minister Resigns.

ATHENS, March 31.—The minister of war has resigned. He announces that his reason for resigning is that the premier refused to support his army reform plans.

SMART TRIMMINGS.

Laces Dyed to Match Gowns—The Useful Black Lace Coffee Coat.

The greatest innovation in the way of trimming is the fashion of dyeing lace to match or contrast the material. Thus motifs of pale green lace are inserted or applied on brown cloth or pale blue on a deeper blue. It is decidedly original in effect, but the lace loses much of its daintiness and softness in the dyeing process.

The black lace coffee coat is unfailingly useful for home evening wear. It can be worn over colored blouses which are a little shabby, and if the collar band of the blouse is removed and a small V turned down in front quite a pretty demitoilet effect may be produced.

Fashion ordains that the well dressed woman should match her hats to her gowns, and this is comparatively easy in these days of ready made frames artistically covered and of trimmings all ready to slip on the hats.

The cap or pelerine effect is here to stay for some time. All the fashionable coats are made with it and quite a few of the bodices. For instance, a blouse of lace will be ornamented with a large cape effect of lace and applied silk, with touches of the same silk on the cuffs.

One of the most fashionable sleeve models is the three-quarter bell sleeve curved wide over a puffed sleevelet. This is a charming vogue for the lighter wool stuffs, and it works out prettily in voile. The whole affair is made on one foundation.

The cut shows a gown of black crepe de chine with the collar, epaulets and cuffs of ivory guipure.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

FASHION HINTS.

Light Tones In Cloth and Zibeline. Dull Pastel Blue Tints.

Very light tones in cloth and zibeline will be worn this spring, and these are most attractive with a touch of black in the shape of a tulle boa.

A pale dull blue of the pastel order will undoubtedly be much worn, and just now a combination of light and dark blue is greatly in request and a welcome change from the black, emerald, brown and green which have been so general.

The all over lace waist will be much worn this spring and summer. The texture of the lace is somewhat heavier than last year. Little lace coats or blouses, the lace coarse of quality or bold of pattern, tinted to harmonize with neutral toned cloth skirts, will be among the season's most distinguished creations.

Soft satin is quite a popular fabric for evening gowns, and chiffon is the favorite trimming, although much lace is worn. Ribbons are used for a variety of purposes and chiefly for choux, which are now very large and often of two or three colors. Ribbon sashes are arranged on many of the new gowns.

The flowers on evening dresses are all mixed up with loops and trails of ribbon, and baby ribbon is still much used on net gowns.

The cut shows a cloth costume with collar and cuffs of plaid silk.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

[Copyright, 1900, by A. N. Kellogg Newspaper Co.]

"But, papa"—Evelyn stood holding to Mrs. Lancaster's hand, and as she spoke her voice trembled—"but, papa, you must do something—you really must. The man has not been proved guilty; he may be absolutely innocent."

"Ah, there you go!" laughed the colonel as he touched her chin playful-

SHE WENT OUT ON THE VERANDA TO GET A BETTER VIEW.

ly. "You think your old father ought to run the world. Why, I am absolutely helpless. If I telegraphed the governor to order out the state militia, they couldn't get here in time, and if they could these determined mountain men would make it hot for them. Twenty lives would be lost instead of one."

Just then breakfast was announced. The colonel gallantly offered his arm to Mrs. Lancaster, and as she took it she started to draw Evelyn along with her. But the girl drew back.

"I don't care to go in now," she faltered. "I had a cup of coffee in my room. Oh, I am so afraid they will hang him!"

"Well, I shall come out to you soon, dear," said the widow, tenderly. "Wait for me."

Seated at a window in the drawing-room—she felt too nervous to remain on the veranda alone—Evelyn had a good view of the road running along the edge of the swamp. She could see the ever-strengthening chain of men, their guns and pistols gleaming in the sunlight. To her the sight was more awful than had it been an army in battle array. Presently she saw a figure on a white horse moving along the line of men, pausing now and then as if in argument. She decided that the horse was Ronald Fanshaw's—that he was the rider. Something told her that he was feeling as she felt and that he was trying to influence his neighbors to refrain from illegal conduct. She watched the rider so closely that the strain on her eyes produced a blur in her vision. He was almost out of sight now, and she went out on the veranda to get a more extended view of the road bending round the swamp. She saw black Tobe, one of her father's servants, coming up the avenue from the road just traversed by Ronald. Tobe had been to the post office and was bringing back a bag of letters and papers. As he handed her the bag she observed a half-frightened look in his eyes.

"Tobe," she asked almost afraid to trust her voice to calm expression, "who is the man on the white horse?"

"De oldest Fanshaw young man, missie," was the answer.

"What is he doing?" she asked, with bated breath.

"He's powerfully upset, young miss. He is doin' his level best to try ter git um all to let de sheriff tek 'im fur a fa'r trial. My Lawd! I wish you could a-heer dat young man talk; he sho is bright!"

"Are they paying any attention to him, Tobe?"

"Not one speck, young miss; dey des laugh in his face en tell him dey will hang him ef he fools wid 'em."

As Tobe went round the house towards the negro quarter, Evelyn stood holding the bag absent-mindedly. Her heart was in the throat.

"How different he is from the rest of men!" she thought. "Ah, he is my hero! He is my hero! God bless him!"

She opened the bag and spread the letters out on the hall table, their addresses upwards. There were five or six for Capt. Winkle, all dainty pink, white or blue scented envelopes, addressed in girlish handwritings. For barely an instant a slight sneer flitted over her troubled face, and then she turned back into the drawing-room. She went again to the window. She could see the white horse and its rider coming back along the line of men. She could see Ronald gesticulating.

Sometimes he took off his hat and wiped his brow as if he were fatigued. Evelyn felt a soft hand steal round her waist and, knowing to whom it belonged, she simply pointed towards the horseman.

"Do you see him, Mrs. Lancaster?" she questioned, almost under her breath.

"Who is it, dear?" asked her companion.

"Mr. Ronald Fanshaw." Evelyn looked searchingly in the fair old visage. Her voice had almost a triumphant ring. "He is trying to persuade them to do right."

"How do you know, dear?"

Evelyn repeated what Tobe had said and added:

"I want you to give your consent to something."

"What is that, darling?"

"Come into the writing-room with me. I am afraid you will object, and yet so much may depend on it!"

Mrs. Lancaster's face wore a frown of perplexity as she followed Evelyn through the book-lined library into a little room adjoining. The girl sank into a chair at the table and took up a pen. She bit the end of it nervously as she glanced up at her friend.

"I want to send him a line, only a word, saying that I approve of what he is doing, and that I do not want him to lose heart."

Mrs. Lancaster looked dubious as she sat down at the table and leaned her white head on her thin, blue-veined hand.

"I don't think you ought to do it without your father's consent," she said, still looking down.

Evelyn sighed deeply.

"He'd never consent—never; he'd not understand my motive as you do; he'd be perfectly unreasonable, but I do not want you to oppose me—that is, I don't want to do anything without your consent."

The woman addressed now gave Evelyn a steady look.

"Remember, I am your father's guest. I know how you feel, and if I thought it would be quite right I would—"

"You have no idea how little encouragement he gets," interrupted Evelyn impulsively. "He is the only one among all those people who is trying to do right."

Mrs. Lancaster put her arm round Evelyn's shoulders and gently took the pen from her fingers.

"I love you as if you were my own child, Evelyn. You are too young and inexperienced to see where all this is leading. Oh, you must be careful! If there were no barriers between you it would not be so bad, but under the existing circumstances I should be very culpable to—to allow this. He is a noble young man, and I like him—I can't explain why I like him so much, but I do."

With an impatient toss of her head Evelyn waived all arguments.

"If an innocent man should be killed to-day," she said, firmly, "you will be sorry we did not do something towards averting his fate."

Mrs. Lancaster shrank back a little, and then she became very thoughtful. Presently she suggested a compromise.

"Suppose I write to him over my own name; will that do?"

A light kindled in Evelyn's eyes.

"Yes, that will do; oh, I'm so glad; hurry up!"

Mrs. Lancaster dipped her pen, drew a sheet of paper towards her and wrote as follows:

"God bless you and help you succeed in your noble effort. Our prayers are with you.—Mrs. Lancaster."

Evelyn was reading over her shoulder, and when the writing was done she kissed Mrs. Lancaster on the cheek. "For that one word," she chuckled.

"What word do you mean?" asked her companion.

Taking the pen, Evelyn underscored the word "our" and laughingly folded the paper.

"Perhaps it ought not to go that way," protested Mrs. Lancaster, but Evelyn only continued to laugh slyly, as she thrust the note into an envelope and held it under the old lady's eyes.

"Ronald Fanshaw, Esquire," she dictated, firmly, and with a sigh Mrs. Lancaster reluctantly complied.

A moment later Evelyn had slipped out into the negro quarter and called Tobe from his cabin.

"Take it to Mr. Ronald Fanshaw," she said, "and do not say a word about it to anyone. Mind, to no one—not a soul!"

Do You Wish To Borrow Money?

In order to accommodate all classes of borrowers (those who cannot borrow at a bank, as well as those who can), the Mutual Loan and Investment Company, of 118 Market street, Newark, N. J., has a department for handling quickly and confidentially loans ranging from $10 to $500 on furniture, pianos, storage receipts, etc.

The security is not removed from your possession or in any way disturbed. The honest, careful and conservative borrower will try and decide two points before borrowing. First, where he can get the best terms. Second, where he can get fair and square treatment.

This company is in a position to give you by far the most satisfactory terms ever offered by any concern or individual negotiating this class of loans.

With this company you are assured of getting the lowest rates, easiest payments and longest time for repayment. The whole transaction from the time the application is made until loan is paid is entirely confidential. We give you another advantage in case you take the loan out for six months or a year, and wish to settle the same before the time expires: we charge you only for the time you have had the money. We also take up loans from other companies and advance more money.

Kindly call and let us explain our simple and up-to-date methods if not entirely convenient for you to call, please write and our representative will call and give you any desired information. Remember it costs nothing to make application. Loans promptly made in Elizabeth, Plainfield, Westfield, Roselle, Rahway, Perth Amboy and all suburban towns.

JUST BEFORE THE BATTLE.

McGovern the Favorite Over "Young Corbett" at Frisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 31.—What will probably prove to be the greatest featherweight battle ever fought will be the one here tonight between "Young Corbett" of Denver, champion featherweight pugilist of the world, and Terry McGovern of Brooklyn, the former holder of the title. The men are schduled to fight twenty rounds at 127 pounds.

Interest in the battle is intense, and many thousands of dollars have been wagered on the result of the battle.

Eddie Graney has been selected to referee the battle. There was no dissenting voice in the matter

"Young Corbett" and McGovern have had one previous meeting at Hartford, Conn., on Nov. 28, 1901, when "Corbett" knocked out McGovern in less than two rounds and secured possession of the championship. The result of the memorable battle at Hartford was one of the greatest surprises in ring history.

McGovern is the favorite in the betting for tonight's contest, but this is easily explained in view of the poor showing made by "Young Corbett" in his contests since he won the championship. He has participated in eight fights since then and only succeeded in winning three of them. This poor showing is undoubtedly due to "Young Corbett's" dislike for arduous training.

Good Racing at Memphis.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., March 31.—The Montgomery handicap, the first big all aged stake of the year, was won by John W. Schorr's aged chestnut gelding Ordnung in a driving finish with Harry New. Witful, the New Orleans Derby winner, finished third, two lengths away. McChesney, the odds on favorite, was outrun from the start. One of the largest crowds ever seen at the local track was on hand when the handicap was called. The weather was all that could be desired, and the track was in excellent condition. The fourteen starters lined up in perfect order and were sent away at the first attempt.

Results at Bennings.

WASHINGTON, March 31.—The races at Bennings yesterday were run in a driving rain. The track was a sea of mud. Two favorites, two second choices and two outsiders captured the events. Mrs. Frank Foster, at odds of 1 to 4, took the fourth race in impressive style. Daly beat Yellow Tail, at odds on favorite, in the fifth. Jockey Redfern rode two winners.

McCoy Signs With Root.

NEW YORK, March 31.—Charles ("Kid") McCoy, the light heavyweight, and Jack Root, the hard hitting Chicago middleweight, have been matched by Billy Considine, matchmaker of the Metropolitan Athletic club of Detroit, Mich., for April 22. They are to go ten rounds at catch weights, in which the "Hoosier Kid" will have a slight advantage.

O'Brien Whipped Choynski.

PHILADELPHIA, March 31.—Jack O'Brien of this city last night outpointed Joe Choynski in a six round bout at the Washington Sporting club. Choynski was no match for O'Brien, whose failure to score a knockout was due to the lack of force behind his blows.

Big Money For a Filly.

LIVERPOOL, March 31.—The Liverpool Post states that the price paid by Captain Bass for Mr. R. S. Sievers famous filly Scepter was £25,000.

Battle in Dominica.

CAPE HAITIEN, Haiti, March 31.—A serious engagement took place Saturday between the Dominican government troops and the revolutionary forces at Juan Calvo, near the town of Dajabon. The losses on the government side were twenty-seven killed and forty-three wounded, while the revolutionaries lost five killed and eleven wounded. The telegraph line is interrupted beyond Cotui. It is rumored here that the government troops have surrounded the capital, Santo Domingo, and that a battle is imminent.

Confederate General Dead.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., March 31.—General William H. Jackson, a noted Confederate cavalry leader during the civil war, when he bore the sobriquet of "Red" Jackson, is dead at his home, Belle Meade, near here. He was in his sixty-eighth year.

New Bank In New York.

NEW YORK, March 31.—Metropolitan Street railway interests are the organizers of a new state bank which will soon begin business in the neighborhood of Fifth avenue and Twenty-third street. It will start with a capital of $1,000,000.

The Sheridan Sails Tomorrow.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 31.—The transport Sheridan, leaving tomorrow, will take the Thirteenth cavalry and the Eighteenth infantry to Manila.

ON THE DIAMOND.

Sunday's Philadelphia North American contained two excellent half page pictures of the Philadelphia baseball team in action at Richmond, Va. In both of them "Warrie" McLaughlin, of this city, was well in the foreground, occupying the pitcher's box.

Aspirants for position on the Hope team were out in full force on the Common, Saturday afternoon. Manager Cose was on hand and put everyone through the paces with a view to making selections. He will announce the make-up of his team within a few days.

"Art" Lederer, who occupied several important positions on the St. Mary's last season, will in all probability be seen with the Safe Works this summer. The management has been negotiating with him for some time and he has about consented to wear the uniform.

WHIST.

The monthly meeting of the New Jersey Whist Association will be held at Jersey City Friday evening. There will be what is known as a "merry go round" in which a number of players are expected to take part. The Plainfield Camera Club will be represented by its team.

Death at Springdale.

Mrs. Nischwitz, the mother of Henry Nischwitz, the hay and grain dealer of Watchung avenue, died last evening at her home in Springdale, Somerset county. Mrs. Nischwitz has been ill for a long time. She has resided in this part of the State for many years and was very well known both in this city and throughout the county. Notice of the funeral will be made later.

Date for Annual Meeting.

At the regular meeting of the Primary and Junior Sunday-school Teachers' Union, yesterday, Mrs. G. H. Batchelor led the devotional exercises and Mrs. J. S. Powlison taught the lesson. The annual meeting for the election of officers will take place Monday afternoon, April 6. It was announced yesterday that a Sunday-school Institute will be held at the Scotch Plains Baptist church on Thursday.

Death of Infant.

The death of William H., the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. James Bremble, of East Seventh street, occurred this morning. The funeral will be held Thursday morning and interment will be at Hillside.

GUARANTEED.

That word means something, when it is backed by the $5,000,000 capital and surplus of the

FIDELITY TRUST COMPANY.

It means for you an easy mind if you have one of those guarantees covering the title to your premises.
The man, who does business the way it was done a generation ago, is surely on the road to failure. This is an age of progress. There has been progress in methods of conveyancing as well as in other lines. Out of the need for something less uncertain than a lawyer's certificate and a lawyer's responsibility, has grown up the system of policies of insurance, or guarantees of title by companies with large capital and a force, specially trained in the work.
There is none better in this line than

THE FIDELITY TRUST COMPANY OF NEWARK, N. J.

It has an agency at Elizabeth for conducting Union County business. Rates will be given on application at its office, No. 215 Broad Street, and an investigation of its resources and methods is invited.

ATTACKS MANAGEMENT OF INDUSTRIAL HOME

obey this rule and those who become intoxicated should be promptly arrested. There would seem to be a lack of decided and forceful action in the management of the institution. The general comfort of the building might be increased by a sitting room provided with table and rocking chairs; some provision for keeping clothing in the bedrooms; and various devices to give more homelike tone to the place. The province, I may add, the duty of the State Charities Aid Association is to visit all county, city and town institutions of a penal or charitable nature for the purpose of investigation, with a view to recommending needed reforms.

"We desire you should know we appreciate the responsibilities of your position and that we earnestly wish to co-operate with you in making the Industrial Home a model institution. The suggestions made in this report are mentioned with that purpose only in view." Elizabeth Tiffany,
Chairman of Committee.

After the meeting Sunday, several of the committee went to Street Commissioner Andrew J. Gavett, and asked him to drive to the Home and see the conditions there. The visit was made with a view of ascertaining what could be done towards making the local Home a model institution.

Superintendent TenEyck, of the Home, when interviewed this morning, said that it was true the inmates at the home were often intoxicated but he was powerless to prevent it. The men and women have regular days on which to visit friends in the city and during these trips they secure liquor to smuggle in. They often return to the home in a drunken state and they have to be taken in or sent to jail. On numerous occasions the latter has been resorted too, recent offenders appearing in the city court being Johanna Haley, Bridget Cunningham and Mary Luke. In regard to the cleanliness of the home, Mr. TenEyck said, it compared with any in the State and he was powerless to improve any of the sanitation methods.

CENTRAL'S NEW FREIGHT YARD

A BIG ONE SOON TO BE BUILT AT COMMUNIPAW.

Filling in the Bay for a Mile—The Extensive Alterations Now Under Way.

Wonderful indeed are the improvements being made by the Central Railroad at Communipaw. So extensive are the plans that the entire bay for a distance of a mile is being filled in, and within a short time boats will no longer be able to touch the shore at Communipaw. Even at this time the work has gone so far that boats have only a channel about forty feet in which to pass through in order to reach the shore.

Communipaw has long been the home of hundreds of fishermen, who make a living from their boats. It is only a question of a short time when these fishermen will be forced to abandon their mooring places. All the yacht clubs and boathouses have been closed and other quarters secured. The old shore front will soon be abandoned altogether and the life that once abounded there stilled forever.

The purpose of filling in the bay is to build a freight yard, which, when completed, will doubtless be the largest in the world. About ten square miles is to be filled in. This takes in about five miles of New York Bay. Work has been going on for about four years, from time to time, but now the work has been resumed on a far more extensive scale. It will take about a year more to complete the work. At least fifty miles of tracks will be laid. This will provide space for thousands of cars. Freight stations will be built at many points.

This improvement will cost millions. There are now several small drill engines employed carting dirt for filling in purposes and a large force of laborers is busy scattering the piles of dirt dumped at various points.

The Lehigh Valley road shut the railroad off from stealing the right of way along a certain part of the shore near the abattoir a short time ago by purchasing a large piece of property. The Central built a road along the shore with the object of connecting with the main line by crossing the Lehigh Valley tracks. This move was blocked, and the road built by the Central is practically useless.

Pleasure seekers no longer visit this point. There was a time when it was a popular and beautiful resort.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Rowley, of North Plainfield, have returned from Lebanon, N. J., where they went to attend the funeral of Mrs. Rowley's mother.
